WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Dehyit who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your preju ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

CONTINUED.

Mr. Pomeroy was sitting at his desk, engaged, I believe, in the soul-elevating work of making out bills of costs. Nothing so develops the best and most generous side of a man's character as that form of labor. I believe that lawyers who have a good deal of this work to do always employ for this branch of bills young men of broad benevolence and philanthropic aims, whose object in life is to advance the name of humanity by an example of private generosity. Mr. Pomeroy, no doubt with the noblest of motives, kept the department entirely in his own hands, and this morning he was engaged upon it. There is no doubt in his own mind that his ledger's book would shortly show a very large increase—a sweet and lofty thought in itself.

"Can I interrupt you for a little while, sir?" asked John.

Mr. Pomeroy looked up from his work. His white stubbly hair stuck up all over in a more determined manner than ever—perhaps because he was insisting in his bills on more than a usual amount of generous consideration—and his sharp, keen eyes were sharper than ever.

"Interrupt me?" he replied. "Yes, if it is a matter of business; not otherwise. These are business hours."

"It is a matter of very important business. Not a money transaction, but much more important."

"Now, that's nonsense, Ashton," Mr. Pomeroy replied, good-humoredly; "only a very young man, like yourself, could say that any transaction could be important which was not connected with money. Love and affection, I suppose you would say. Stuff! no one loves any body but himself in the world. If they pretended otherwise, I make the proper deductions—the largest deductions—and go on your own way."

"Well, sir, you will see. First of all, you will be glad to hear that young Langton has been found. He did not steal the money, which was stolen from him, and has all been recovered."

"Why did he not pay it into the bank?"

"He stopped talking in the streets till it was too late. Mr. Halkett has very kindly promised to inform the servants of the firm of his innocence. But he will not go back there, and I want your sanction to his going home with me."

"To Arcadia?" "Well, it could take him out of the way."

"You do not like the boy?"

"I dislike all boys. Remember, Ashton, these two children of my old friend Langton—who, as perhaps you know, got into a mess with his accounts and cut his throat—have no claim whatever upon me. Because he was my friend once, and because he once did me a great service, I have educated his orphans. The girl behaves well; she never talks, and gives no trouble. The boy I mistrust."

"Why do you mistrust him?"

"Because I like to know what is the private life of my people, and I find that he has got into bad company."

"It is true Mr. Pomeroy. He has got into the worst possible company. It is to save him from more trouble that I propose to take him with me. Do you agree?"

"Take him by all means. He is now about seventeen. I have been allowing him forty pounds a year. I will give him—no, I will give you for him, which will be better—that amount paid in advance for four years. I never intended doing any thing for him after he was one-and-twenty. So that is settled."

"Then you do trust me, sir! Remember you know very little about me—you have only known me for a fortnight."

"I do trust you, Ashton. At least I trust that you are what the world calls honest. Of course you have got your own purpose to serve, else you would not have come over and force yourself upon me. Well, I have taught you something, and you have pleased me by your talk. It is not often one gets a man unspoiled by town life. It is refreshing, I confess, though I am not a soft man. You have found out—"

"At all events you are never tired of saying so."

"No; I warn people beforehand. There is nothing soft about John Pomeroy." He banged the table with an air of decision. "Nothing soft in this office, young man. You come here, state your business, pay your money, and go. However, we waste time. Come to the important point—important—without money being concerned in it. Ho! ho!"

"It is so important, sir," said John, hesitating, "that I must ask you to come with me into your private room, and hear what I have to say—out of this office. I have a reason for the request. What I have to say has nothing to do with business—nothing whatever. It belongs to your private life."

"Well, well; you are a persistent lad. Have it your own way."

Mr. Pomeroy locked his office door very carefully and followed John into the room at the back—the room which was Lettice's cage, and his own dining, breakfast, and only sitting room.

"Lettice," said Mr. Pomeroy, "we have to talk business, Mr. Ashton and I. Will you leave us alone?"

"No; Lettice," said John, "do not leave us: my business very nearly concerns Lettice, Mr. Pomeroy. And to show you that it does, I must first tell you that she has this morning promised to be my wife. Will you let me take her away with her brother, to Arcadia?"

"This was your important business, was it?" asked Mr. Pomeroy. "Well, you are young. You think that marriage is the only business worth anything in life, I suppose. Ah, what enormous deductions! Only an episode at best, and an unpleasant one. Well, Lettice," his voice was not unkind, though it was cold, "what do you say?"

"I have promised," she said, "to go with him."

"Well, then, you will go, of course. You understand, Ashton, from what I have told you, that neither Lettice nor William Langton has any expectations from me—none whatever. My money will not be left to either of them."

"I quite understand that, sir; and in Lettice's name I thank you for the kindness you have shown both to her and to her brother—"

"There—there—gratitude—professions—deductions. You will not have any wedding fuss; no bride-maids or nonsense, you know, Lettice. You can go and get married any morning you like. If I have time I will give you away. If not, the clerk can do that just as well. Wedding bells, indeed! If most people knew what was before them, the bells should be a knell, a mourning-coach should be the bride's carriage, and the priests should all be dressed in black, with crape gowns and hat bands. Wedding cake and rejoicings! Pah!"

This was not encouraging, but John only laughed, and put his hand round the girl's waist.

Terrible Disaster at Sea.

LOSS OF FORTY SEVEN LIVES ON THE AUSTRALIAN COAST—A LADY PASSENGER AND ONE OF THE CREW SAVED.

AUCKLAND, N.Z., June 25.—The British ship Loch Ard, Captain Gibbs, from London for Melbourne, with a cargo valued at $320,000, was last seen Cape Otway on the morning of June 1. Miss Eva Carmichael was the only passenger saved out of seventeen, and a midshipman named Thomas Pearce is the only survivor of a crew numbering thirty-two. For two days previous to the morning of the 1st June the sky was so overcast that the captain was unable to take observations. At four o'clock morning of that day he saw Danger Reef, being at that time scarcely half a mile from the shore, the ship being under close-reefed topsails and running before the wind. When 150 yards from the rocks the captain slipped both anchors and tried to put on sail, but only got the mainsail set when the vessel struck on her starboard quarter. This was just when it was breaking day, and immediately the topsail fell over, killing two seamen. The captain at once ordered the crew to get the boats out for the lady passengers, but this was not done, as the waves were washing over the decks. Pearce and five other seamen got into the life-boat, but were washed over. Pearce swam to the boat and kept on it while it drifted into a small bay, where the ship had struck. At daybreak he found himself drifting toward the beach and managed to get on shore. At this time the beach was strewed with wreck and drift wood. After he had recovered he walked about to see if there were any of the passengers or crew. After a little while he heard a cry, and saw a lady about fifty yards out. He swam out to her. She appeared to be insensible, but was clinging to a spar. From her statement it appeared that she was nearly the last on board, being in conversation with the captain just before the ship went down. The Captain told her, if she should survive, to tell his wife that he died like a seaman at his post. Before Pearce came to her rescue there were two others clinging to the same spar, but she saw them washed off. This young lady was Miss Evelyn Carmichael. He dragged her ashore and pulled her into a cave, gave her some stimulant and covered her up, and laid down himself to sleep, being exhausted. He thinks he must have slept about two hours, and on awakening found the young lady apparently recovering. He then started to get help, and after some considerable difficulty climbed the cliff, which is upwards of one hundred feet high. After he got on top he walked about till he luckily found a track, and started on in the direction of Mr. Gibson's Glenample station. After walking on the track about two miles he was met by a man in Mr. Gibson's employ, named George Ford, who started back to the station and brought Mr. Gibson back with him, Pearce having gone back to the lady to give her the good news that help was at hand; when to his horror, on arriving at the cave where he had left her, she was not to be found. He searched about till Mr. Gibson came and then they together searched; but she evidently had strayed away, and they were afraid she had got washed into the sea again; when, just as it was getting dark, G. Ford, who was searching among shrub, heard a faint cry "Oh, I am dying!" He went to the spot and found the young lady. After Mr. Gibson came up they at once endeavored to get her to the top of the cliff. She was nearly bare of clothing. Mr. Gibson took off his own boots and stockings and put them on her and got her into his buggy, which he had sent for, and drove her to the home station, arriving there about 2 a. m., when Mr. Gibson very kindly took charge of her and has since continued to take every possible care of her.

The son of Hackstoun of Rathillet was a Jacobite, and turned out in the "Fifteen." A future representive married into the family of Hay of Naughton, which was unfortunately tainted with a strain of madness. The offspring of this marriage was a son, named Helenus, who, along with the talent inherent in his father's family, had, moreover a great portion of the insanity of his other parent. Old Hackstoun used to say to this youth, on observing any symptom of extravagance—"Helenus, ma man, I doot ye've owre muckle mither wit."

HOW TO TREAT BURNS.—Dr. Waters of Boston, author of the alkaline treatment for burns, recently said in an essay read before a medical society, "Apply to the burned surface bicarbonate of soda, if it is a wet surface, in fine powder; but if it is a dry burn, use a paste of bicarbonate of soda and water, and apply to the burnt surface. This relieves sunburns as well as burns from hot coals, melted sulphur, hot iron, and steam. Always dispose the burned surface so that the blood can gravitate toward the heart, if possible, as otherwise a continuous pain may be felt, due to the dilation of the blood vessels, from the weight of the contained blood."

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America. 175y

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG 1.

The Price of Sugar.

It is a favorite defence of the Ministerial party, when discussing the question of Sugar refining, to assert that the price of that article is less now than it was when our own refineries were in full operation in Montreal and Halifax. Mr. Alexander McGibbon, of Montreal, in discussing this question in a letter to the Montreal papers, points out the fallacy of such a statement, and shows conclusively that we pay a higher price for sugar than we should do, if we had pursued a wise and judicious policy in maintaining and sustaining an industry in Canada which would have given employment to hundreds of our artizans. Mr. McGibbon says :—"The price of this [cane sugar] is now 8¼c. "to 8¾c. Raw sugar, 8¾c. In Redpath's "time, when raw sugar was 7 cts., he sup"plied the finest yellows at 7½ and 8 cents, "showing a difference in favor of Redpath "of fully ½ cent a pound. Canadian cus"tomers are, therefore, paying 1 to 1½ cts. "on white, and ½ to ¾ cents on yellow su"gars, more now, in proportion to the raw "article, than they did when it was manu"factured by ourselves, besides retaining "the direct trade. * * * But, then, the "Hon. Mr. Mills says all this is an advan"tage to the country, and when these di"rect descendants of the wise men of the "East speak, even on the sugar question, "common people are supposed to take all "in as gospel and be silent."

This is another illustration of the adage that an ounce of experience is better than a pound of theory.

Mr. Mackenzie's Management of Public Affairs.

In the hope of leading people from the consideration of the wilful extravagance of the present men in power, the Ministerial press is singing the praises of the Premier and holding up his "carefulness in dealing with the public interests," as a marvel of statesmanship. The Mail takes the kernel out of this shell so completely that its article is worth reproducing :—

"It is safe to say that no first Minister in our history paid away so much money illegally, unconstitutionally or unprofitably as has been paid away under Mr. Mackenzie's Government. The $2,938,900 paid for steel rails was unconstitutionally paid, for Parliament was not asked to sanction the payment until the rails were bought. It was also an unprofitable transaction, inasmuch as the same quantity of rails could be bought to-day for $1,800,000. The rails, moreover, have suffered terribly from oxidation ; experts say the loss on that account is fully thirty per cent. The $100,000 payment to Mr. A. R. Foster was an illegal payment, because by the terms of the contract Mr. Foster forfeited all claim for the work done on his abandoning the job ; an unconstitutional payment, because the contract was let and this money paid on it without the knowledge or consent of Parliament ; and an unprofitable payment, because the surveys for which the payment was made will be of no future use, the new route selected lying far away from the Foster route. Of the $107,850 paid to Mr. David Glass for telegraph construction, nearly $70,000 was paid away unprofitably—without value being received by the country—for Mr. Fuller, the contractor for the adjoining section, offered to do the work for $38,750. So, also, there was a loss to the taxpayers of $30,000 on the Goderich Harbor contract. The $18,390 payment to Mr. Speaker Anglin was made in direct violation of the Independence of Parliament Act ; and the same is true of the $24,477 paid to Messrs. Vail and Jones of the Halifax Citizen, the $42,000 Mr. Norris, M.P., received for his share in the steel rail carrying contract, and the $34,000 paid to Mr. Bannatyne, M. P., for supplies in 1876 and 1877. The $63,380 paid for the Government buildings at Fort Pelly was unprofitably paid; the works having been abandoned there, and new buildings put up at Battleford. The $250,000 being sunk at Fort Francis is an illegal payment, because the work is being done not by contract, as provided by the Pacific Railway Act, but by day's labor under the direction of a Government officer. Lastly, the $68,708 paid for the Kaministiquia site was an illegal payment, inasmuch as the principal vendor was the third valuator and agent for the Government ; and an unprofitable payment, because gross frauds and overcharges were permitted. Here is the sum total of these illegal, unconstitutional and unprofitable payments :—

Steel rails	$2,938,900
The Foster payment	109,000
The Glass contract	70,000
Goderich Harbor	30,000
Mr. Speaker's contract	18,390
The Vail-Jones' contract	24,477
Mr. Bannatyne's supplies	34,000
Mr. Norris' contract	42,000
Fort Pelly buildings	63,286
Fort Francis lock	250,000
Kaministiquia site	68,708
	$3,648,761

"If this constitutes "carefulness in dealing with the public interests," what is recklessness ?"

THE BOUNDARY COMMISSION. —An Ottawa report says :—"The arbitrators appointed to settle the boundary question between the Dominion and the Province of Ontario are assembled here to-day. The arbitrators are Sir Edward Thornton, Sir Francis Hincks and Chief Justice Harrison. The Hon. O. Mowatt, Q. C., and Mr. Hodgins, Q. C , are the counsel for the Province ; Mr. Hugh Macmahon, Q. C., and C. E. Mosk, Q. C., for the Dominion. The claim of the Dominion is that the meridional line drawn due north from the junction of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers forms the western boundary of Ontario, and that the land's height of the northern water-shed of the St. Lawrence is the northern boundary. The Government of Ontario contend that the western limit of the Province is the Rocky Mountains, that the northwesterly limit line lies north of the Saskatchewan, and the northeastern line lies in the vicinity of Hudson Bay. The claim of Ontario rests upon the supposed title of France to that country as the first discoverers thereof. The case put forth by Mr. MacMahon retraces the history of the discovery of Hudson's Bay and the adjacent country, as well as the various proclamations, commissions, laws and regulations relating to the Northwest issued by both French and British authority. The question is one of vast extent, and Mr. MacMahon has shown great research and labor in the clear and explicit case which he has prepared. The arbitrators are allowed the use of the Supreme Court room."

—The Norwich Gazette says of its contemporary, the London Advertiser :—"It will shout for temperance, write for temperance, and sometimes lie for temperance, but never ceases to oppose a staunch temperance man if he happens to be of opposite political opinions."

England, with a population of 37,500,000 has 392 serviceable men-of-war, and a mercantile marine of 574,000,000 tons ; France, with 38,600,000 inhabitants, has 339 men-of-war and a mercantile navy of 1,000,000 tons, while Germany, with 46,000,000 inhabitants, has only fifty serviceable men-of-war and a mercantile marine about equal to that of France.

GOLD IN QUEBEC.—A Quebec report says :—" Messrs. St. Onge Bros., of the Chaudiere gold diggings, arrived in town to-day with seven pounds of gold, valued at $1,400, which was taken out of the diggings in six days by fifty men."

OUR NEW GOVERNOR-GENERAL.—The London Daily News of the 31st, is informed that the Marquis of Lorne will not leave for Canada until after the elections in the Dominion have been held. He will probably arrive there in November. In the possible event of an interregnum the Commander-in-Chief of the forces will act as Governor-General.

THE NATIONAL POLICY.—An immense meeting was held on Tuesday night at the new Amphitheatre erected in Toronto for the purpose of holding election meetings. It was in favor of the "National Policy," and about 6,000 persons were present. Addresses were delivered by Mr. R. Hay (who presided), Sir John Macdonald, Messrs. N. F. Davin, W. H. Frazer and others. The meeting was a great success, and others will be held.

THE ARMY EXPENSES.— The supplementary army estimate—amounting to £1,545,000—voted in consequence of the recent threatening aspect of the relations between England and Russia, was brought down in the British House of Commons yesterday, when Capt. Hayter, Liberal member for Bath, gave notice of a resolution that the expenditure is extravagant and burdensome to the ratepayers, and ought not to be sanctioned by Parliament.

The Postal Union.

UNIFORM RATE OF POSTAGE—TAKES EFFECT FROM 1ST AUGUST.

On the 1st July inst., the Dominion of Canada was admitted into the General Postal Union formed under the Treaty, signed at Berne on the 9th October, 1874. The provisions of this Treaty, so far as Canada is concerned, will be carried into effect thio day, the 1st of August. Its main features are as follows :—

All countries which are parties to the Treaty form, under the title of "General Postal Union," a single territory for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence.

Between these countries are established, practically, uniform rates of postage, together with full and entire liberty of exchange of postal matter, either by means of closed mails or by the ordinary mails of the countries through which such postal matter may be sent in transit.

No additional postage is charged for the retransmission of any article received from one Postal Union country and re-directed to another Postal Union country, provided that such article has not been delivered out of the Post Office.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

To all European countries, the rate on letters will be 5c. per half-ounce.

Postal cards, 2c. each.

Newspapers, 2c. per four ounces.

Printed matter and samples of merchandise, 2c. per two ounces.

To distant countries, East Indies, China, Ceylon, Brazil, Mauritius &c., double rates.

The Australian Colonies are not in the Confederation. Registration fee for Europe 5 cents. To distant countries, 10 cents.

"THE "MEGANTIC."

Further Particulars of Her Loss.

A telegram from Gaspe to the Chronicle respecting the wreck of the Lake Megantic, states Capt. Battersby says she went ashore at 12.30 a.m. on Monday the 22nd inst. The weather was hazy with rain. He passed five miles on the south point of Anticosti, and shaped the course to clear the shoals, but was deceived by the action of a strong current of four or five knots, getting in shore, which was not stated in the book of sailing directions. The passengers were all well and taken off by the steamship Erl King, after sailing 48 hours, with 23 of the crew, in a small schooner of sixteen tons. Nine ladies, three children, and two gentlemen, also one drover of cattle, Mr. Woodley, were the passengers who went on board the Erl King, bound for Glasgow. They saved all their luggage. The crew will go up in the steamship Miramichi on Wednesday.

The steamship Napoleon has just returned from the wrecked Lake Megantic, and has brought over the balance remainder of the crew and the men in charge of the cattle. Capt Despres reports her a total loss.

LAMPTON.—At a meeting in the east, Mr. Mackenzie said, "as he would not be needed to do canvassing in his own constituency, as it was perfectly safe, he would be able to give the whole of his time to his friends." After visiting his constituency he seemed to have changed his mind about its safeness, as he said at a meeting in Moore, he "would give his whole time to his own constituency."

LARGE SHIPMENTS OF LIVE STOCK.—The following shipments of live stock will be made from Montreal to Britain during the present week. S. S. Manitoba, for Glasgow, 70 cattle and 1,500 sheep ; S. S. Eirene, for Glasgow, 300 cattle and 400 sheep ; S. S. Borussia, for Liverpool, 300 cattle and 850 sheep ; S. S. Lake Nepigon, for Liverpool, 222 cattle and 500 sheep ; and the S. S. Clyde, for London, 100 cattle and 500 sheep, making a total of 922 cattle and 3,750 sheep.

THE WOOD-STAFFORD LETTER.—The Globe is not kind to Mr. Wood ; it says that the Tribune "never received the encouragement Mr. Wood's letter referred to." This is equivalent to saying that the Hon. S. C. Wood, when writing to ask the Rev. Father Stafford to assist him in buying journalistic support, made a false assertion in saying that the members of the Mowat and Mackenzie Governments had already contributed to do the same. The Globe may try to make out that the Provincial Treasurer is a liar, but we cannot believe it.

THE CROPS.—The Montreal Witness says :—"Hon. T. N. Gibbs, of Oshawa, is one of Canada's largest millers, and also buys wheat for export. He was in the city to-day, and talked in a very "bearish" strain of the prospects of the spring wheat crop in Ontario, more particularly in that district between Port Hope and Brampton, with which he has a more intimate acquaintance. He intimated that the prospects of three weeks ago would by no means be realized. During the past ten days the farmers were talking most dismally of the injury done by the fly and the unpropitious weather. The crop will scarcely be an average one. The barley, too, was very much discolored and in other ways injured."

JUG HANDLED FREE TRADE.—A Contemporary remarks that the Americans see quite well the advantage to them of crushing out the Canadian woollen trade, even at a present loss, in view of a prospective gain, for just so soon as their object is accomplished their price will go up and they will make the Canadian wearers of tweeds pay dearly for the temporary cheapness with which they induced them to "kill the hen that lays the golden eggs." What is it that causes even this temporary cheapness in tweeds ? Why, it is the presence in Canada of competitors in the same line with the Americans. If there were none of these there would be no lowering of the price to Canadian customers, and if, by a suicidal policy, we drive these competitors out of the field, we shall no longer enjoy even the delusive advantage of excessive cheapness in times of depression. The same may be said with respect to other industries which our neighbors wish to starve out, no matter the cost, and having crushed them out effectually have the whole market to themselves, as one of the results of jug-handled Free Trade.

—Texas will send North half a million of beeves this year. Its cows introduced from Schleswig-Holstein stock are making a fine dairy record.

The Twelfth of July in Ireland.

(From the London Daily News, July 13.)

The anniversary of the battle of Aughrim was celebrated yesterday by the Orangemen over the province of Ulster, several of the principal meetings being held in Antrim and Down, notably at Lambeg, Banbridge, Warringstown, Donaghcloe, Banbridge and Downpatrick. The Belfast lodges proceeded to Lambeg, where a demonstration was held in the grounds of Mr. Richardson, Glenmore. The procession was three miles long, and occupied nearly two hours in entering the grounds, in which forty to fifty thousand persons were present. Lord Arthur Hill Trevor, M.P., presided. A resolution of confidence in the government was passed. Everything passed off peacefully. On the return of the Orange processionists from Lambeg some rioting occurred in Belfast, where a contingent passing over Queen's bridge was attacked by a mob, and two drums were broken. While detached sections of Orangemen were proceeding through Donegall street to their lodge rooms, they were several times assailed by stone-throwing crowds, and had to defend themselves with their javelins. The police charged the mob with batons, but the streets remained in an excited state. During the progress of the procession near Lambeg, a boy was run over by a car and killed. Much anxiety was felt in Dublin as to the Orange celebrations in the north of Ireland, and satisfaction was expressed during the afternoon that they had passed off without serious disturbances. Some apprehension prevailed with respect to the Lambeg demonstration under the presidency of Lord Arthur Hill Trever, M.P., but the reports of the evening papers declaring that peaceful issue of the meeting set the public mind at rest. The promptitude displayed in despatching bodies of the constabulary force to the processionist districts is considered to have been of great value in preserving general order.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 1.

City and Vicinity.

NO PAPER.—To-morrow being the annual civic holiday, no paper will be issued from this office.

MUSIC TO-NIGHT.—The 15th Battalion band will give their usual weekly performance on the hospital lot this evening.

ARRIVED.—The yacht Merlin, of Kingston, which is to sail in the race for Kelso Cup to-morrow, arrived this morning.

VITAL STATISTICS.—The following is the Division Registrar's return of vital statistic for the month of July: Births, 7; marriages, 3; deaths 8.

DOMINION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—The Dominion Telegraph Company, have opened an office at Bloomfield, County of Prince Edward.

SPORTING NOTE.—The close season for woodcock expired yesterday. Doubtless the "long bills" suffered to-day at the hands of some of our local Nimrods.

THE friend of temperance and sobriety, SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

SEE G. W. Hotchkin's Springless Truss and Supporter advertisement, in another column of this paper. 68

CHANGEABLE.—The weather has been very changeable of late and highly unfavorable to harvesting operations. There is now however, a prospect of good weather for some days to come.

HEAVY RAIN.—The northern part of the country was visited with a very heavy rain storm during last night. Our informant, who is from Hungerford, says that the rain came down in perfect torrents, and the shower lasted nearly an hour.

FOUND DEAD.—A Napanee report says: "Wm. Grange, mail contractor for carrying the mails between Napanee and Erinaville for several years past, was found dead this morning in a vacant house adjoining the house he lived in."

DEATH IN THE TEA.—Iced tea is classed by some medical authorities among the seductive and dangerous beverages. The astringent power of the tea, united with the cold of the ice, soon overcome the powers of the strongest stomach, and hosts of melancholy dyspeptics owe their troubles to this source.

BIG WORK.—John, son of Mr. Samuel Fisher, of Hungerford, in eight hours cut three acres and a half of wheat with a cradle, making 1,332 large sheaves of wheat. These were all bound by his father, and the whole field of wheat was standing in shock at sundown. This is what we call big work.

THE CHAMPION FLAG.—The beautiful silk challenge flag of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, which was won by the Dauntless at the last fall regatta, and for the possession of which she and the Madcap will sail to-morrow, was on exhibition in the window of Mr. Spangenberg's jewellery store this afternoon.

CROPS IN HUNGERFORD.—One of the leading farmers of Hungerford reports the bulk of the barley and rye crop of that township as already harvested. Barley is somewhat shrunken, but is of a beautiful bright color. The pea crop in that township will be above an average. Grasshoppers are doing considerable damage to oats. The late rains have done a great deal of good to potatoes and root crops.

SUMMER DRINK.—If the virtue of oatmeal and water as a summer drink was better known it would be generally drunk in summer in place of spirits or beer, or even simple ice-water. In the navy, in hot weather, especially in the Engineer Department, it is regularly served out to the men. On land, especially to those exposed to excessive heat, it is very grateful—say, a cupful of oatmeal to a pail of water.

THE LATEST FASHION WRINKLE.—Wide leather belts are very fashionable with all styles of dresses; these having attached to them the small bag, the chatelaine on which hangs the fan, and the small portemonaie containing just change enough to be of service, whether one is shopping, or at church, or passing toll-gates. In England these belts and their accompaniments are called "passepartouts."

POLICE RECORD FOR JULY.—During the month ending 31st July, 40 persons were arrested by the police, charged as follows: Aggravated assault, 1; Drunk, 10; Drunk and disorderly, 17; Exposing the person, 1; Fighting, 1; Larceny, 4; Picking pockets, 1; Trespass, 1; Shooting a cow, 1; Vagrancy, 3. 23 persons were summoned for the following offences:—Assault, 2; Bathing in exposed place, 5; Breach of Liquor Act, 1; Breach of Cow By-law, 1; Carting without license, 4; Fighting on public streets, 2; False pretences, 1; Libel, 1; Wages, 1. 12 persons (tramps) were granted protection. Total number of arrests in corresponding month of 1877, 71; 1878, 40; Decrease, 31.

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW.—The July issue of this Review presents the following table of contents:—Taine's Philosophy of Art; Ethics of Evolution; Bryan Waller Proctor; The Russian and Turkish War; Future Punishment; Recent History of the Burials Question; The Latest Greek Nation; The Congregational View of Religious Communion; Contemporary Literature. Published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 41 Barclay Street, New York, at $4 per annum.

INCENDIARY FIRE.—At about 1 o'clock this morning a large frame house on Yeomans' Hill, near Yeomans Street, was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was sounded, but as it was thought that the scene of the fire was beyond the limits of the Corporation, the steamers did not turn out, though the chemical engine was taken thither. The house was, however, burned to the ground. It was the property of Mr. Harris, and as it was untenanted there can be no doubt that the fire was the work of an incendiary. Loss $500. Insured in the Hastings Mutual for $300.

THE UNION PIC-NIC.—An arrangement has been come to with the Committee, whereby the steamer Hastings will call at Massassaga Point to take on passengers who wish to view the regatta. She will be the only steamer accompany the yachts around the course. Fare from Belleville, for trip around the course 25c; from the Point out and return 15 cents. The steamer will make two trips, namely at 10 a. m., and 1 p. m. Tickets issued for the morning trip will be good for the afternoon as well. Parties wishing to land on the Point after witnessing the regatta can do so for an additional fare of 10 cts. 1t

THE CIVIC HOLIDAY.—The annual civic holiday will be held to-morrow, and no doubt business will be generally suspended. The great attraction of the day will be the pic-nic and regatta at Massassaga Point, with the programme of which our readers are doubtless familiar. It includes races for first, second and third class yachts, single and double sculling races, an interesting match of lacrosse between the local Clubs, athletic games, punt and tub races, &c. The brass and string bands of the 15th Battalion will furnish music on the grounds, and every attention will be paid to the comfort of families, whilst order will be strictly enforced by a numerous Committee. Steamers will make trips at 9:30 and 11 a.m. and at 1 and 1:30 p.m.

TO-MORROW'S YACHT RACES.—The Dauntless and Madcap will sail their race for the challenge flag to-morrow. The entries for the Kelso Cup are the Emma and Merlin of Kingston, the Surprise of Trenton and the Katie Gray and Kathleen, of Belleville—sufficient to ensure a splendid race, as will also be that for the flag. The starters in the third class race will probably be the Ailsa Craig, Whisper, Mabel and Minnie A., of Belleville, and the Wideawake, of Trenton, which boats will make a good race. The course has been shortened so that the first class boats will make four circuits of it, the second class three and the third class two, and the races will be started shortly after 12 o'clock, so that those who wish to see the start must go to the Point by either the 9:30 or the 11 o'clock trip of the City of Belleville.

EXPERIMENTS IN ELECTRICITY.—A novel application of electricity to prevent the possibility of collisions on railways, is now the subject of experiment. It consists of an electric mirror, in which all the movements on a line of one hundred kilometers in length are brought vividly before the eye, enabling the station-master to follow exactly the progress of every train. By this means it is hoped that all accidents resulting from delays or too rapid running can be entirely avoided. Could this only be accomplished what a discount would there not be on the business of coroners; though it is true that latterly accidents from this cause have not been so frequent as formerly owing to the utilization of the telegraph.

WHEAT SPECULATION.—The Oswego Times says:—"The price of wheat at Milwaukee has advanced ten to twelve cents within a few weeks. This year's crop of spring wheat is larger than any previous one, but is poorer in quality than last year's. A legal contest is threatened between the 'shorts' and 'longs' in the wheat market, to determine whether parties can sell wheat which they have not; but a compromise will probably be effected. At Chicago there is deep interest manifested in the result of the great 'corner' on wheat now being run by Chicago and Milwaukee commission merchants. The price has been steadily advancing for two weeks, with the prospect of being maintained at the present rates or at still higher ones during the remainder of the month. The visible supply of wheat is now but about four millions, and it is stated that 'shorts' sales for August delivery aggregate nearly twenty millions. Meanwhile, although some damage has been done to crops in some localities, it is believed by competent judges that no widespread or great injury exists."

Seasonable Topics.

The latest name for the pious people who are active only during revivals is "grasshopper Christians."

Truthful sign on a cheap store which doesn't advertise:—"Don't go anywhere else to be robbed—step right in here."

The farmers can't hire all the "help" they need, and no money can induce the tramps to take a hand at the honest labor of a farm.

During the continuance of our heated spell eat plenty of lemons, is the advice of one of our physicians.

Now is the eventful season of the year when boys fall out of apple trees, get drowned in creeks and rivers, and have their limbs cut off in the harvest field.

Now is the season when a man bearing a large watermelon is seen advancing towards a newspaper office. He enters, places the melon on the editor's table, stands back to observe the effect, and retires with the remark: "No thanks—no thanks. You may send me the paper for a year."

FROM ST. JOHN N. B.

THE HANLAN-ROSS MATCH.

RIVERSIDE, N. B., July 31.

From 4 to 5 o'clock the water was in excellent condition, hardly a ripple disturbed its surface.

The wind was blowing from the south-west, but was a very light breeze, and everything seemed to conduce to have the great boat race take place.

At last, under the most favorable circumstances, at 4:40 Sheriff Harding arrived on an engine, and landed amidst the loud and continued cheers from the throng on shore. A row-boat being in readiness, the Sheriff was soon taken on board the Judges' boat, and at 4:45 she steamed down to Torryburn cove.

The signal to come out was at once sounded, and in three minutes Ross was out in his boat stripped to the buff as in the morning. Hanlan appeared two minutes later with a blue shirt as before, and received loud cheers from the crowd on shore.

At 5 o'clock the men were given the word, and ordered into line.

The water was in good condition, when at 8 minutes and 20 seconds past 5 the men were sent off, Hanlan being inside. Ross took the load and struck out vigorously, pulling 32 to the minute.

Hanlan followed to the same place, but pulling a long stroke soon got even, and before he reached Appleby's Wharf he had passed Ross.

Above the wharf Hanlan was pulling 32 strokes, going along beautifully, Ross following at 30 strokes.

Three hundred yards from Appleby's, Ross' boat was seen to capsize, and for a moment it was feared he had been drowned. It was soon seen, however, that he was clinging to his boat, and a boat went off and picked him up.

Ross says the spring of the row-lock worked out and he upset, breaking the box of the boat.

The accident did not appear to do Ross any harm; when taken on board the judges' boat he was very reticent, feeling very badly over the way he lost the race. He says the boat got in a bad condition soon after the race started, and that he was watching the boat and not Hanlan.

General regret was felt at Ross' misfortune, but the prevailing opinion was that he was overmatched: at Appleby's wharf, three-quarters of a mile from the start, Hanlan was a length ahead. Ross struggled gamely while rowing.

Hanlan in the mean time went up the course, taking his time however, and went around the stake about at 5:28. On his return he showed some fine rowing, but did not over exert himself. He reached the Point in about 32 minutes.

Hanlan's time to the scene of the accident was about six minutes. Hanlan is to be given a reception this evening at the Dufferin Hotel.

The official time in the race is 36.58.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 1.—Hanlan and his friends will be entertained at a banquet this evening, at the Dufferin Hotel.

It is the intention of Ross to participate in the Barrie, Ont., regatta. He will also likely go to Silver Lake, and row in the regatta. His new English boat is expected in the English mail steamer due at Halifax to-morrow. Ross does not consider yesterday's race as a settlement of the question of the better man, He says he was not rowing his best when the accident happened, and that he still believes he can beat Hanlan.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, August 1.—The Bank of England's rate of discount is fixed at 4 per cent, being an increase of ½ per cent.

ROME, August 1.—Cardinal Alessandro Franchi, Pontifical, Secr. tary of State and Archbishop of Thessalonica, died this morning. He was a native of Italy, born in 1818, and nominated Cardinal in 1873.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—The Times vehemently attacks Gladstone this morning. Great preparations are making in London for civic honors to Beaconsfield and Salisbury on Saturday, when they will be entertained at a banquet by the Lord Mayor.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 30.—It is reported that Gen. Todleben is to be succeeded by Gen. Kauffmann. The Courier de L'Orient has been suspended for announcing that the wife of the Turkish Minister of Marine was present at a ball given by the Russians.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A Pera despatch of 30th July says, the Austrian occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina threatens to produce a ministerial crisis in Constantinople. The minister of war, and minister of public instruction think it should not be submitted to without a formal convention. The Grand Vizier, Safvet Pasha, who wishes to avoid difficulties with Austria, is at variance with his colleagues.

SARATOGA, Aug. 1.—Races postponed till to-morrow. Bad weather.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 1.—Arrived out, the Wyoming and Othello, from New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Fifty thousand dollars worth of goods belonging to Hahn, Benjamin & Co., importers of cloaks, shawls, &c., were seized yesterday by the Collector as security for alleged undervaluations.

Only two hundred and eighty cabin passengers sailed in four steamers for Europe yesterday. During the season twenty thousand Americans have sailed, the largest number ever known.

A new Roman Catholic Cathedral on 5th Avenue will be opened in about two months.

JAS. Kelley, a noted pool seller, was arrested yesterday as a test case for selling pools on the Saratoga races.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 1.—The coroner's verdict in the milk poisoning case at Madame Somer's dressmaking establishment, which culminated in the death of Mary McDevitt, was that the deceased came to her death by her own hand while insane. She was a general favorite among the girls, and why she should wish to poison them remains a great mystery.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 1.—Yesterday at a pigeon shooting, Samuel Donahue, aged 50, was accidentally shot and killed.

LANACONING, Md., Aug. 1.—On Tuesday Miss Mary Pitchard, aged 19, was thrown from a swing and killed.

BALTIMORE, August 1.—Tomas Kelso's will, bequeaths to the Kelso Orphan Asylum, in addition to property on east Baltimore St. $5,000 per annum, to the Methodist Episcopal Preacher's Aid Society, of which he was President, $10,000, to the Trustees of the Dickinson College, $10,000, to the Maryland State Temperance Alliance, $30,000, and to other charitable and religious institutions, $9,000. Real estate estimated at half a million, devised to children and heirs at law equally.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The Herald's Denver special states that Prof. Watson feels hourly more positive as to his discovery of Vulcan. Within three weeks he expects to locate it so exactly that it may hereafter be found by any powerful telescope. Edison, before leaving for California, advanced a plan for finding new stars that caused astronomers to listen with much interest. His plan is to adjust his taximeter to its extreme sensitiveness, and attach it to a large telescope, which moves slowly in a semi-circular direction. Whenever the telescope points at a star, the same is evidenced by the sensitive little instrument. He states it will be possible to discover stars too remote to be seen; when he cannot see them, he will feel them.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate to fresh southerly to westerly winds, and partly cloudy weather, with light rains in some localities. For the St. Lawrence: no lerate southerly to easterly winds, and partly cloudy weather, with light rain in some localities. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate winds and partly cloudy weather, with light rain in some localities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Indications—cloudy, rainy, warmer.

The Price of Sugar.

It is a favorite defence of the Ministerial party, when discussing the question of Sugar refining, to assert that the price of that article is less now than it was when our own refineries were in full operation in Montreal and Halifax. Mr. Alexander McGibbon, of Montreal, in discussing this question in a letter to the Montreal papers, points out the fallacy of such a statement, and shows conclusively that we pay a higher price for sugar than we should do, if we had pursued a wise and judicious policy in maintaining and sustaining an industry in Canada which would have given employment to hundreds of our artizans. Mr. McGibbon says :—

"The prices of this [cane sugar] is now 8¢c.
"to 8¢c. Raw sugar, 8¢c. In Redpath's
"time, when raw sugar was 7 cts., he sup-
"plied the finest yellows at 7¾ and 8 cents,
"showing a difference in favor of Redpath
"of fully ½ cent a pound. Canadian cus"tomers are, therefore, paying 1 to 1½ cts.
"on white, and ½ to ¾ cents on yellow su-
"gars, more now, in proportion to the raw
"article, than they did when it was manu"factured by ourselves, besides retaining
"the direct trade. * * * But, then, the "Hon. Mr. Mills says all this is an advan"tage to the country, and when these di"rect descendants of the wise men of the "East speak, even on the sugar question,
"common people are supposed to take all
"in as gospel and be silent."

This is another illustration of the adage that an ounce of experience is better than a pound of theory.

Mr. Mackenzie's Management of Public Affairs.

In the hope of leading people from the consideration of the wilful extravagance of the present men in power, the Ministerial press is singing the praises of the Premier and holding up his "carefulness in dealing with the public interests," as a marvel of statesmanship. The Mail takes the kernel out of this shell so completely that its article is worth reproducing :—

The Manatee.

THE STRANGE MONSTER NOW ON EXHIBITION IN LONDON.

The London Telegraph thus describes this curious creature, which is supposed to be the original of the fabled mermaid. For eyes it has circular apertures which can neither remain wide open nor shut up tight, but are constantly re-acting and changing, perhaps at the will of the manatee, though apparently of their own motion. For nose it has two holes with lids, and when it rises to the surface of the water for breath the lids open, and when it sinks again they shut. The earholes are too small to be seen without keen searching, and are simply such holes as might be made anywhere with a gimlet. For mouth it has an opening with a flap over it, convenient as preventing things from going down its throat when the owner is not hungry, but sufficiently ugly to make the manatee the most humble of creatures; and humble, indeed, it looks. Having no legs, it stands on the tail, and to keep its balance has to bend the head forward and bow the body. In this attitude of helpless humility the strange thing stands motionless many minutes together, and then with a ghostlike, dreadful solemnity it begins slowly to stiffen and straighten its tail, and thus, gradually arising into an erect posture, thrusts its nostrils above the surface. But only for an instant, for ere it seems to have had time to take a breath, the great body begins to sink back into its despised position, and the small paddling paws drop motionless as before. Except for this deliberate sloth with which the manœuvre is executed has something of a dignity in it, but otherwise the manatee is as ridiculous as it is helpless. The clumsy snout is constantly twitching like a rabbit's, but the gesture that seems so appropriate in the nervous, vigilant but little rodent is immeasurably ludicrous in the huge monstrosity. The eyes, again, now contracted to a pin's point, now expanded so as to gaze at you with expressionless pupils, seem to move by a mechanism beyond the creature's control. Voiceless and limbless, the bulky cetacean sways to and fro, the very embodiment of stupid, feeble heplessness—a thing for shrimps to mock at and limpets to grow on. A carcase of such proportions, such an appalling contour, should, to satisfy æsthetic requirements, possess some stupendous villainy of the character; should conceal under this inert mass of flesh some hideous criminal instinct. Yet this great shapeless being, this terror of the deep sea, is the most innocent of created things. It lives on lettuce. In its wild state it browses along the meadows of the ocean bed, cropping the sea weed just as kine graze upon the pastures of earth, inoffensive and sociable, rallying as cattle do for mutual defence against a common danger, placing the calves in the middle, while the bulls range themselves on the threatened quarter. These are the herds which the poets make Proteus's sea calves to tend, the harmless beeves with whom the sad Parthenope shared her sorrows. These are the actual realities that have given rise to so many a pretty fiction, the final carcase from which have warmed the bees. The discovery is disappointing enough to those who cherish old world fancies; but to science, the lazy, unsouth manatee is a precious thing. Science, indeed, has seldom had such a pleasing labor as the examination and identification of this animal, for, though so ludicrously simple in appearance, the manatee is a veritable casket of physiological wonders. It is the only creature known that has three eyelids to each eye and two hearts. In most of its points it bears a close affinity to the elephant, but in others of equal importance it is unmistakably a whale. Its teeth, its bones and skin are all delightful studies to the naturalist, and he is thankful, therefore, that the manatee is what it is, and not the veritable mermaid that less prosaic minds would have it.

Death of Minnie Warren.

Minnie Warren, the youngest and prettiest of Barnum's dwarfs, died on Tuesday evening, in childbed. She was the youngest of a family of eight children, all of whom except herself and her sister, Lavina, now Mrs. Tom Thumb, were of ordinary size. When Minnie was 11 years of age she joined the Tom Thumb troupe, and for fifteen years she travelled almost continually, visiting nearly all the civilized parts of the globe. She was 40 inches in height, and never attained a weight to exceed 45 pounds, being considerably shorter and more slender than Mrs. Thumb. She was 27 years of age at the time of her death. To a pretty face she added pleasant disposition and winning ways, and become the fast favorite of Mr. Barnum as well as of the public. When Tom Thumb was married to Lavinia Warren the general opinion was that Commodore Nut would take Minnie for his bride; but the little Commodore had set his affections on Lavinia, and the little heart was blighted when Gen. Thumb won her from him. "Never mind, Commodore," the jovial Barnum said, "Minnie Warren is a better match for you. She is younger than you, while Lavinia is several years older." "Thank you, sir, "the Commodore said, stiffly, "I would not marry the best woman living. I don't believe in women any way." Time lessened Commodore Nut's grief, and he partly renewed his attentions to Miss Minnie. But, after his first disappointment, it is said he became a fast young man, and Minnie, like a wise young lady, discouraged his addresses. A few years ago Barnum found another Liliputian, Major Newell, who was rechristened Gen. Grant, jr., and added to the Tom Thumb combination. The Major and Minnie became great friends. About a year ago they were married, and lived happily together with Gen. Thumb and wife in Middleboro.

The secret had been closely kept by Minnie's family, but the New Heaven women soon discovere the purchased of little bits of muslin, lace and flannel by members of the Warren household, and secrecy became impossible. A lady friend who visited the Warrens described the little garments as "too comical for anything." Dolls' patterns were used but the little lips and wrappers were made one-sixth of the size of garments for ordinary babies.

The child died at birth. It weighed five pounds and ten ounces. Four hours later the mother died from exhaustion.

Major and Mrs. Newell were the smallest wedded pair that ever lived.

"Pulmonary Consumption arises from a decline or deficiency of vitality in the natural blaplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in the general wasting athrothy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, low-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the function and integrity of the lungs (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaining the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus provide for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

MORTGAGE SALE
OF
FARM AND MILL PROPERTY,
IN THE TOWNSHIPS OF
THURLOW AND SIDNEY.

UNDER powers of sale in Mortgages to the vendors, which will be produced at the time of Sale, default in payment having been made, there will be offered for sale by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878, at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows :

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight, in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom that portion thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Cheese Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

This parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 9 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn ; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine ; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, more particularly described as follows :—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 124 links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Latimer Street, thence north 15° 45' east along said Boundary Commissioners line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore deeded to John Bell, Esq ; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane ; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches ; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Farwell, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter A, and which may be better described as follows :—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioner line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 124 links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Latimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48¼ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30 west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ½ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows : Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John street, as laid down on H. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 57 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 30 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street. This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of 10 per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, C. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

IN CHANCERY.
CLARK v. BOGART.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated the 13th day of June 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at the Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely :

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the Bill of Complaint herein. This parcel has a frontage of 87 feet 9 inches, and comprises the handsome two-story brick dwelling house at present occupied by Dr. Willson, with grounds, stables, and out-buildings attached.

PARCEL 2.

Part of lot 15, on West side of Pinnacle Street, according to said plan of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described as follows :—Commencing on the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street, at the southeast angle of lot No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 35¼ links, thence westerly, parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, to the east stable wall, thence southerly, in line with the outside of said stable wall, 96 links to a point 2 feet 10 inches south of the southerly limit of lot 25, thence easterly along the northerly limit of a lane 83¼ links, more or less, to the easterly limit of a small lot, No. 6, as shown on a plan of the sub-division of lot 24, by J. J. Haslett, P. L. S., registered the 14th day of November, 1852, thence northerly along the easterly limit of said lot 6, 22 feet, 10 inches, to the southerly limit of lot 25, thence along the southerly limit of lot 25, 13⅔ links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Dafoe House, now occupied by Dr. Hamilton. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Haslett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall. On the premises in the rear are extensive storehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Haslett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 15th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ½ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 176 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Weller, Esq., and is a first-class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 66 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows : Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in 1st Concession of Township of Thurlow, 124 links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Latimer Street ; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane ; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches ; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Farwell, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter A. and which may be better described as follows :—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioner line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 124 links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Latimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48¼ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30 west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ½ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows : Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John street, as laid down on H. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 57 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 30 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street. This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of 10 per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, C. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy

Before Taking. After Taking.

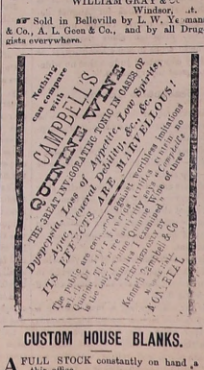

is commended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.
EMPRESS RELIEF.
THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.
AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.
BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Don't it who can.

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your pain ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, given instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Whole sale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

WHO KNOWS?

Why must we, then, be sad,
When Love is so joyful?
Not half can utterance all her joy unfold,
Though she runs o'er and o'er
The strings tired long before,
To body forth the life that's never old.

Not for our sakes arrayed,
Though we would fain persuade
Our foolish hearts that she, in servant guise, Spreads all her varied show
Before us as we go,
To win approving glances from our eyes.

Ah, no! Though in broad glee
She laughs where all can see,
In leagues of dandelions all dewy wet,
All to herself she smiles
In far-off ocean isles,
And in dim nooks in shy blue violet.

And though she dances still
Along the sheer brown hill
In scarlet glow of swinging columbine,
In gentian she smiles slow,
As happy maid might go,
Who sings, "I love him, and his heart is mine!"

She wants no added bliss,
No praise for this, or this;
Simply she is so glad she can not rest,
But still must evermore
In every way outpour
The exceeding bliss that stirs within her breast.

No care for us has she;
And we, alas!—and we
Can look but sadly at her innocent play;
Shut out from Paradise,
We see with other eyes;
The flaming sword has rent all veils away.

Is there then for us too
No life forever new?
Or is that life new but in lying care,
Till on His far-off throne
Our God shall hear alone
One cry of pain uprising ever where?

Yet had it better been
We still had staid within,
Nor tasted fruit that lets us not forget!
God knows if it be so.
The days go on below,
And overhead the stars, they rise, they set.

—ANNA C. BRACKETT, in Harper's Magazine for August.

ASSIST EACH OTHER.

Lend a hand to one another,
In the daily toils of life;
When we meet a weaker brother,
Let us help him in the strife;
There is none so rich but may,
In his turn be forced to borrow,
And the poor must ask to-day,
May become our own to-morrow.

Lend a hand to one another;
When malicious tongues have thrown
Dark suspicions on your brother,
Be not prompt to cast a stone.
There is none so good they may
Run adrift in shame and sorrow,
And the best of men to-day
May become the worst to-morrow.

Lend a hand to one another,
In the race for honor's crown;
Should it fall upon your brother,
Let not envy tear it down.
Lend a hand to all, I say,
In their sunshine and their sorrow,
And the prize we've lost to-day
May become our own to-morrow.

Sunday Reading.

Retribution.

BY REV. JOHN HALL, D.D., N.Y.

When a mother disregards the laws of health in the treatment of her little one, no matter from what cause, she suffers in the care, toil of nursing, anxiety regarding the child in whose sufferings she allowed to be laid the foundation of disease. And it will not alter the case that she did not know the laws she violated, or did not think of them, or was so placed that she could not pay to them deserved respect. Inexorable law is asserted, and she is punished.

When a man eats or drinks what does not conduce to the healthy nourishment of the body, he suffers for it sooner or later. Nor will it avert the penalties that he can plead his ignorance of the effects of his indulgence. The diseased brain or disordered stomach vindicates the dignity of law.

When a lady deceives her husband in the matter of expenses, buying goods on credit, where he wishes to buy only with cash, she endures the consequences when the bills come at length, in the just disquiet of her husband, in the loss of his confidence, and perhaps, later, in the evil influence of her example on her children. That she has excuses, reasons of her own, and the like, will not avert these sore evils.

When parents make the one son a plaything, forget their obligations to train and restrain him, in order that his every whim and foster every form of self in him, in self-assertion, self-pleasing, self-will and self-indulgence, they reap as they sow, and the young tyrant who rules them before he is in his teens, and breaks their hearts before he has attained his majority. That he loved him, or did not think of the future, or had but the one, is no barrier to the flood of misery. Men can see this principle in operation on the narrow field of individual or family life; but they are slow to notice it, and still more slow to lay it to heart for practical uses, on the border field of social and national life.

When we allow an ignorant and vicious population to grow up in the community, we are punished for the impurities contaminated atmosphere, the injuries inflicted, the costly defences against the evil, or the expensive machinery for detecting and punishing the criminals. The school is cheaper and better than the jail; the Sunday-school and church are better than the police court. Let us ignore the cheap and needful agency, and we must, in tardy self-defence, provide the costly and imperfect remedies for the consequences of our neglect.

When the rich and influential keep away from the poor and obscure—as they do in Europe to a degree like which we have nothing here—when their bearing is supercilious, when they assert themselves on all hands as the "privileged classes," the folly, whether it be the folly of thoughtfulness or of vanity, brings in time its penal consequences. Alienation follows, distrust is bred, envy and jealousy spring up, the poor become sensitive to the exercise of even just authority, the less favored come to count the more favored their natural enemies, and there is ever-growing mass of inflammable material to which the torch of an incendiary passion has only to be put to produce a conflagration fatal to both, but most grave to those who have most to lose. Hence the incalculable value of the kindly efforts of the well-to-do on behalf of the struggling, by which good feeling is produced and maintained, and class is bound to class, or more correctly, the people are fused into one body, in which head and hand and foot are content in their places, and neither says to the other, "I have no need of thee."

In the United States this fact needs all the more to be remembered from the very difficulties that lie in the way of fusing rich and gentle deeds. A lady, for example, finds the young and handsome girl whom she has engaged as "help," keeping late hours, of dangerous company. She takes her into her room, says to her, "Jane, I have noticed that you are out late, that you have a friend, who, I happen to know, is not well fitted to be your friend, and being in a sort of way as a mother to you here, I feel bound to stay in and drop this acquaintance. But Jane says indignantly, "Am I not doing my work? Don't you get what you pay me for? What business have you with me after that?" Now ten chances to one the employer holds her peace, lets the girl take her way, dismisses her when it suits her, and to the voice of conscience or of friendly admonition from an outsider, say in all future cases, "It's no use trying to interfere. They are so absurdly independent they will likely give you insolence. I tried it."

On the large scale, the consequence of neglected duty in this one relation is the growth of a class of poor and ultimately wretched, ruinel persons, the tempters of others—even of the sons of the employers, who, in a right state of things, might have saved them—and the too many inmates of prison, penitentiaries, asylums that in their name libel Mary Magdalene, and in the shocking suicides which prove the hardness of transgressors' ways.

At this moment, attention is called to an indefinite danger to the common peace, which is known vaguely by the name of Communism and Socialism. It is well enough as a piece of immediate police-effort to guard against local and irritating out-breaks; but it will be bad enough if the dormant evil rests there. Error is bad, but it is often the result of neglecting a great truth. Political corruption is bad; but it comes on the small errors, over which absolute control is impossible, and in which both employers and employed suffer; but their power to inflame hatred, rouse envy, and provoke violence of language and of action would be little indeed if those who have means, intelligence and social advantages uniformly did what they could, socially and in common, to diffuse the benefits they enjoy. The alarm of the hour—well or ill-founded—will have wrought good if it should deepen this conviction. And if we sow the wind, what can we reap but the whirlwind?

Yet it would be only a refined selfishness that led to kindly benevolence, lest we should suffer in the end. We do not mean to urge love, help, sympathy and effort on this low ground. Let them exist and abound because they are right in themselves, by the will of Him who makes all abiding law. We urge the foregoing considerations that they who think the obligation right, not to be set by taste or whim—may see its importance in the light of the results which its neglect renders possible.

"The Buyer has Need of an Hundred Eyes, the Seller of but One."

So says the old Italian proverb. The one eye needed by the seller is to see the money, doubtless; and, assuredly, in these latter days, the buyer has need to look about him. To get the highest price for the least value in the object of every one who sells; to hide flaws, to impose upon those who are ignorant of the goods they are purchasing, to tell any falsehood that will make a sale, appears to be the rule of trade.

Misrepresentations and misstatements drop from the lips of men and women who consider themselves eminently genteel, and bowed to congregations of various sects.

"This is all silk, lady," bursts spontaneously from the lips of a saleswoman who exhibits a black, cotton-lace scarf; and "Every thread linen," is descriptive which the house-keeper receives of towels into whose composition not a thread of linen enters. The fibs told in second class dry goods stores are so enormous that they carry no weight on the part of the salesmen, and utter idiocy on the part of the buyers.

Why should any one desire to make the statement that all the goods in his establishment are sold at cost price, or expect any one to believe that he entered into trade for the purpose of clothing the naked poor, if a fair profit is the right of one who sells. It is the motive of his selling.

"Upon my word, I am giving this away," is another common lie. Why it is so often uttered is a mighty mystery, and must remain so.

Then, too, if one desires a certain style of collar, of scarf, of veil, of shoe, quite in the mode, and well known to be so, and inquires for the article at a store where they do not happen to keep it, the negative to the question, "Have you so and so?" is always followed by the remark, "Nobody wears those now; they are entirely out of fashion."

We will say nothing about the bad taste of the comment, but the utter want of truth it generally displays is surely astonishing. I doubt whether the sales made by these fibs are large enough to pay for them; for most women are obstinate, and when they want a certain thing nothing else will content them.

But even if they "do pay," in the mercenary sense, they must give the person uttering them a habit of dishonesty—make him more a less trustworthy employee, and so less valuable to the employer at whose desire he transforms the honorable act of buying and selling to a tricky performance, in which one party is swindled and the other is a swindler.

Charity.

Of the virtues which grace the human character, charity, in the simplicity of its beauty of its means to elevate, ennoble and lift up to a higher standard of life, far surpasses all others—gleaming forth from the cluster of other virtues, as a diamond among pearls. If we possess it, we should greatly prize it; if we do not have it, we should strive to become possessed of it by cultivating charitable feelings for every one, however little they may seem to deserve it. But, alas for charity! how rarely do we see it manifested. How very different this earth would be if we all practised it. Some people excuse their want of charity for others, because they say, no one has charity for them; while others, who by fortune's favors enjoy all the comforts of this life, make no allowance for the failings or misfortunes of those in less favored circumstances. Others are too selfish to think or care for any one but themselves. Charity consists of a willdo good, friendly feeling, benevolent impulses and acts, a kind word, a look of sympathy, an outstretched hand, to cheer up that of a distressed brother and sister and raise them up and encourage them to believe there is something better and brighter for them in the future. In this simple way many a cloud is lifted from the troubled and depressed, their drooping spirits revived, their hearts made to throb with new hope, and their souls imbued with fresh courage, to withstand the trials and hardships of life. Charity! what a priceless blessing to mankind! how near to heaven!

Great men undertake great things because they are great; and fools, because they think them easy.

Miscellaneous.

Gossip entails upon those who encourage it absolute dishonor—we mean the dishonor of repeating conversations, opinions, circumstances, not made under promise of secrecy, but which a high sense of honor would treat as confidential, if haply a high sense of honor were the rule. It is odd that one of the best things a boy learns at school is to eschew tale-bearing and keep faith with his companions, while one of the most common practices of society is to betray the trust contained in talk and repeat to all what has been told in implied confidence to one. This habit of repeating what we hear is as fatal to the best intercourse of minds as to the finer feelings of integrity.

We must regard every matter as an intrusted secret, which we believe the person concerned would wish to be considered as such. Nay, further still, we must consider all circumstances as secrets intrusted, which would bring scandal upon another if told, and which it is not our certain duty to discuss, and that in our own persons to his face. The divine rule of doing as we would be done by is never better put to the test than in matters of good and evil speaking. We may sophisticate with ourselves upon the matter in which we would wish to be treated, under many circumstances; but everybody recalls instinctively from the thought of being spoken ill of in his absence.

In all the actions which a man performs, some part of his life passes. We die while doing that for which alone our sliding life was granted. Nay, though with no nothing, time keeps his constant pace, and flies as fast in idleness as in employment. Whether we play, or labor, or sleep, or dance, or study, the sun posts on, and the sand runs. An hour of vice is as long as an hour of virtue. But the difference between good and bad actions is infinite. Good actions, though they diminish our time here as well as bad actions, yet they lay up for us happiness in eternity, and will recompense what they take away by a plentiful return at last. When we trade with virtue, we do but buy pleasure at the expense of time. So it is not so much a consuming of time as an exchange. As a man sows his corn, he is content to wait a while, that he may, at the harvest, receive with advantage.

Some people are very fond of talking about women's influence over men. It is powerful for good or evil, they say. Many a man has filled a drunkard's grave who might have lived to an honorable old age had his wife been a better woman. And so on and so on. Are men, then, so wofully weak? How can men of fixed principles be so unstable? Men who can stand alone and do battle firmly for the right are the men that I believe in. If mothers would so train their children as to develop an intelligent conscience and a firm determination to adhere to the right at all hazards, when they become men they could play a manly part in the world without depending on the influence of a good wife to restrain her husband from evil, or to confirm the well-disposed in the right path, or to help to be despised. But let us hear more about noble rock-rooted qualities inherent in the heart of man; where these are wanting, "influence" only makes a man's weakness more conspicuous.

The bustle and hurry of modern life quite precludes the possibility of cultivating fine manners, for fine manners require time. A person of fine manners may himself always be punctual; but he can scarcely preserve his fine manners while laboring to compel other people to be so. Fine manners are absolutely incompatible with fussiness. Fine manners take their time over everything. This is not to say that they are inconsistent with exertion or even great energy. But the exertion must be equable; the energy must be uniform, not spasmodic or hysterical. Watch different orders of persons proceeding to take the train from one place to another. Persons of an inferior condition of life appear to be deeply tormented with the idea that they will fail to catch it. They arrive out of breath, though they are ten minutes before the time fixed for starting. They bustle over the taking of their tickets, they scramble for a place in the car, the whole business is with them one of haste and disquietude. People of a higher grade, but still of what is ordinarily termed a middle condition of life, do not manifest so much incoherent solicitude as all this. But even they have not learned to take things quietly, and are fidgety and uncertain. People of fine manners take things moderately. They fully understand the value of time. There is perfect repose in the taking of their tickets, in the dispatch of their baggage, in the selection of their places. Persons who do not understand that this method of procedure is a second nature with many, and a first nature with some, half-playfully denominate those they see practising it as "cool heads." But where in the world is there any necessity for heat, or for that feverishness of agitation which accompanies the similar movements of people who have not learned that "there is nothing so tedious as haste?"

Gems of Thought.

Few minds wear out; more rust out.

After crosses and losses, men grow humbler and wiser.

Not all who know their own minds know their own hearts.

Always tell the truth; you will find it easier than lying.

He is happiest, be he king or peasant, who finds peace in his home.

It is not wisdom, but ignorance, which teaches men presumption. Genius may be sometimes arrogant, but nothing is so diffident as knowledge.

The crier of the poor never enter the ears of the covetous man; or, if they do, he has always one ear readier to let them out than the other to take them in.

If a man be gracious to strangers, it shows that he is a citizen of the world and his heart is no island, cut off from other islands, but a continent that joins them.

The thoughts we have had, the pictures we have seen, can be again called back before the mind's eye and, before the imagination; but the heart is not so obliging; it does not reproduce its pleasing emotions.

What a blessing to the household is a merry, cheerful woman—one whose spirits are not affected by wet days and little disappointments, and whose milk of human kindness does not sour in the sunshine of her prosperity.

Politeness is the spontaneous movement of a good heart and an observing mind. Benevolence will teach us temperance towards the feelings of others, and habits of observation will enable us to oblige promptly and easily what those feelings are.

All rational happiness consists in a proper and just exercise of those abilities and graces which our Heavenly Father has mercifully bestowed upon us. The higher we rise, and the broader we extend in the knowledge of moral holiness, righteousness and truth, the more happy we are capable of being.

When he had called the meeting to order, Brother Gardner arose and said: "Gem'len, if it wasn't for de wheels on a wagin de waagin wouldn't move. When de wheel am on, den what?" "Grease!" solemnly exclaimed an old man. "K'rect!" whispered the President, softly, rubbing his hands together. "We hez the wagin an' de wheels. We will now pass do hat aroun' fur de grease."

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUG 3.

ORANGEISM IN IRELAND.

Now that the question of Orangeism is occupying no little attention in this country, particularly in Montreal, where it is denounced as intolerant and persecuting in its character, it is well to have the opinions of prominent Orangemen in Ireland, who on the 12th of July last spoke freely upon this point.

We have before us the Downpatrick Recorder, containing an account of a 12th of July demonstration at Ballydugan, the residence of Richard Keown-Boyd, Esq. J. P., who occupied the chair, and in closing his speech made the following remarks, which it would be well for all to bear in mind when discussing the question of Orangeism ; and particularly would we recommend them to Sir Francis Hincks, who, judging from his letters of last year, has the idea that Orangeism in this, as well as in the old country, means nothing more nor less than "Protestant ascendancy" at the expense of the liberty of all other classes of Her Majesty's subjects. Mr. Richard Keown Boyd sets this question at rest in well-timed and forcible language. He said :

"Gentlemen, let us beware, let us be most cautious that when we speak of freedom, we mean freedom to all. It is not freedom if we do not respect the persuasions of others, and any man who affronts, or wounds, or insults one of a different persuasion does an injury he can never repair to the cause he professes to have at heart. (Cheers.) I will put what I mean strongly to you, in, as nearly as I can the words of an amusing American writer ; at any rate this is the substance of what he says—'I am a descendant of those pilgrim fathers who, being debarred from worshipping God after the dictates of their own hearts in England, left the mother country to seek a new home ; and here they landed on the shores of the golden west, where they might in deed, in perfect freedom, worship God after the dictates of their own hearts, and prevent all others from doing the same." I just quote this as a forcible illustration of what I mean, because we cannot be too careful to avoid in actions any breach of principle, and freedom and toleration are our very watchwords. (Loud cheers.) The end our fathers again freed their opponents and ours from moral, as it freed them and us from a physical, bondage and inequalities. So the object we aim at is their ultimate good as well as our own ; and if we drop the veil of personality and think of the sorrows and trials they, as we have to bear, how can we but love them ? I wish to-day the whole Orange cause well, as I wish our country and all men well, and I congratulate you on belonging to a cause which seeks not your own good alone, but that of a universal brotherhood. (Loud and prolonged cheering.)"

Mr. William Johnston, of Ballykilbeg, a name better known in Canada than Mr. Boyd's, followed in somewhat a similar strain. He remarked :—

"We have liberty—let us value and guard it. If in other lands the is not liberty, let us pity them, and let us endeavor to secure for our brethren in other parts perfect civil and religious liberty. There are some in these days, in private and in the press, who preach a preposterous doctrine. They say that liberty must be partial ; that it cannot be general ; that we cannot have liberty for all ; that there must be only liberty for some. If I had advocated in the Commons House of Parliament such a preposterous doctrine, the banners of orange and blue would not have been free today. But this we must endeavor to guard against—we must endeavor to prevent our opponents who are in a tremendous majority from infringing on the liberty of the minority. We as Orangemen give the same freedom to others that we claim for ourselves, and for the disloyal men and the traitors we leave the Government to deal with them. With them Orangemen have nothing to do."

The Rev. John Bowden, in seconding the following resolution :—"That we re- "cognise in the Orange institution a use- "ful and necessary organization, having for "its object the maintenace of Protestant- "ism, the only safeguard for the nation's "welfare ; and combining liberty and pro- "gress with stability and order," said "orange colors with which they are surrounded were not the emblems of intol- "erance ; but, as an illustrious Whig "historian had said, symbols of toleration, "liberty, and Protestantism." * * * "While Roman Catholics charged them "with intolerance, all they asked was that "they get the same liberty which they extended to them."

Contrast these utterances with the ravings of the Post and True Witness, of Montreal, and the Tribune and Irish Canadian, of Toronto, and people will have little difficulty in coming to a conclusion as to where true liberty is to be found, and who are the most liberal in sentiment.

A Sad Drowning Case.—On Wednesday last two sons of John Carter of Aylmer, Ontario, aged sixteen and eighteen respectively, went to a mill pond for the purpose of bathing. The elder fell into the pond, and the younger jumped in to rescue his brother, when both were drowned.

Party Selfishness.—Speaking at the Montreal Harbour Commissioners' fete in honour of Mr. Mackenzie the other day, M. Joly, Premier of Quebec, said :—"After his experiences of the last few weeks he could join in a gathering like that with real good will. Purely party politics had in them, he thought, a good deal of purely party selfishness." And no one knows this better than M. Joly, except, perhaps, it be his purchased Speaker, M. Turcotte.

Accepted.—A Montreal despatch says: "Mr. M. H. Gault has just met a deputation of Conservative leaders and announced his intention of accepting the nomination to stand as the party candidate for the western division of the city at the approaching general election. This completes the number for the city, Judge Coursol and M. P. Ryan having accepted for the East and Centre divisions." With such strong candidates there is little doubt that the Opposition party in Montreal will carry all the divisions. Private advices from that city indicate that the best of feeling prevails throughout the Opposition ranks, that the Ministerial party are thoroughly demoralized, and that the success of the Opposition candidates is conceded by all parties.

THE CIVIC HOLIDAY.

HOW IT WAS CELEBRATED.

Great Success of the Pic-Nics and Regatta.

The annual civic holiday, which occurred on Friday, August 2nd, was celebrated with great spirit by the inhabitants of Belleville, business being universally suspended and the population as a whole making holiday.

The weather in the early part of the day was not so favorable as could have been wished, being cloudy and rather threatening in appearance, but after a rain squall of brief duration, which took place at about 1 o'clock p.m., the weather was all that could be desired. The great event of the day was the at Massassaga Point, to which upwards of two thousand people were attracted, the steamers City of Belleville and Prince Edward being well filled on their trips, whilst the Hastings took out a large number of people to view the yacht race, though it turned out that she could not, owing to lack of a sufficient depth of water, land at Massassaga Point.

LACROSSE.

A match was to have been played between the Alerts and Okas, but as a suitable ground could not be had on the Point for an important match, it was agreed to play at a time to be named hereafter for the City Council prize on the old cricket field. Accordingly sides were chosen from amongst the members present of the two Clubs, and a very pretty exhibition given of the beauties of the game, much to the pleasure of the spectators,

THE YACHT RACES.

First Class.—The two competitors in the race for the challenge flag were despatched on their journey as follows :

Dauntless	12:40:40
Madcap	12:41:45

The course was the usual triangle, starting at Massassaga Point, thence to Big Island, across to Salmon Island, and back to the starting buoy, three times around. Both yachts carried full canvas and gaff topsails, the Dauntless winging out a balloon jib, as the first part of the course to be traversed, namely to Big Island, was a dead run before the wind. The leading boat increased her lead rapidly, a rain squall which came up seeming to be just what she wanted to drive her along. On the return, however, the Madcap picked up rapidly, finally, by a clever manœuvre, passing the starting buoy, first time around, ten seconds ahead. All this advantage was lost a few minutes later, owing to some accidental cause, and the Dauntless gradually increased the lead which she had gained, the competitors eventually crossing the line as follows :

Dauntless	5:35:49
Madcap	5:46:30

Deducting from this lead the time at the start and the time (4m. 46s.) which the Dauntless allows on tonnage, it will be seen that the Commodore's flag boat wins by 5m. 6sec.

Second Class.—The race between the second class yachts for the Kelso Cup was even of greater interest than that for the challenge flag, as the number of competitors was greater, and it was well known that three at least of the yachts were very close matched, namely the Kathleen, Katie Gray and Surprise, the latter boat having been overhauled since her last races and considerable improvements made in her. Shortly before 11 o'clock the starting gun was fired, but the yachts did not start, a heavy rain squall before referred to being by this time close at hand. It was a very pretty sight to see all the smart looking little racers pull off their head sail, reef and make ready for the big blow, which proved not to be quite as hard as was expected, although for perhaps a quarter of an hour it blew very hard. The starting gun was again fired, and the yachts crossed the line in the following order :

Merlin	1:07:37
Kathleen	1:09:32
Emma	1:09:30
Surprise	1:09:38

The run to the first buoy was made very quickly, the Katie seeming to have increased her lead, whilst the Kathleen had taken second place and the Surprise was third, the Kingston boats being thus early beaten, and they retired on their return to the Point. On the run to Salmon Island the Surprise, sailing splendidly, passed the Kathleen, which being in too light ballast, was obliged to reef both fore and mainsail, the breeze being fresh. The first round was completed with the Surprise twelve seconds ahead of the Katie Gray on time, though the latter still led by a long distance, the Kathleen being now 1 minute and 40 seconds, besides the time at the start, behind the Surprise. The Katie, sailing splendidly, widened the gap between her and the pursuing boats, though the contest with the Surprise was of the most exciting character, the Katie finally winning by 18 seconds only. The time taken at the finish was :

Katie Gray	4:12:09
Surprise	4:16:29
Kathleen	4:20:44

Deducting the lead of 4 min. 2 sec. which the Katie had at the start, it will be seen that she won by 18 seconds only, the race having been the closest ever sailed on the Bay. The beautiful cup, which is of genuine silver, was presented to Vice-Commodore W. H. Campbell, owner of the Katie Gray, by Commodore D. B. Robertson, on behalf of the donor, Thomas Kelso, Esq., ex-Commodore. In making the presentation, the Commodore spoke very happily, stating that we have in the Bay of Quinte, and more especially Massassaga Bay, one of the finest sheets of water in the world for yachting or sculling purposes, and he earnestly hoped that the Hanlan-Courtney race would be brought off here. Every man coming here can depend on having a fair race, hence the Kingston yachtsmen were present to assist in making up a good race, and he congratulated them on their pluck. With a few other equally pertinent remarks, the Commodore placed the cup in the hands of Mr. Campbell, whose yacht had gallantly won it. In replying Mr. Campbell said he was proud of his success and of the trophy which he had won, after very hard work from gallant opponents. Cheers were then given for Messrs. Kelso, Robertson and Campbell, and the pleasant episode was at an end.

Third Class.—There were four starters in this race, the Whisper and Wideawake being the absentees. A good start was made as follows :

Amorette	1:12:40
Ailsa Craig	1:13:55
Minnie A	1:15:00
Mabel	1:17:05

This race requires very little description, the Minnie A. outsailing her competitors, and finishing 11m. 18sec. ahead of the Mabel, which was second, a long way ahead of the other two entries. The actual time by which the Minnie won was 6m. 6sec.

SCULLING RACES.

Double Scull.—A large number of entries was anticipated in this race, but owing to accidents, the number of starters was reduced to three, namely Messrs. German and Tisdale, Barber and Whelpley and Drinkwater and Ponton. The course was from the buoy at Massassaga Point, to and around Ship Island and return. Mr. Denison, Vice-President of the Bay of Quinte Rowing Club, who officiated as Starter, got the competitors in range and a good average start was the result —Messrs Barber and Whelpley being rather the quickest to get away. A good race to the island with German and Tisdale was the result, but here the latter pair got the advantage and came away, winning by nearly or quite two minutes. The other pairs had a very hard struggle for second place, Drinkwater and Ponton rowing in good form and coming up rapidly at the close, but Barber and Whelpley finally won by rather better than a length.

Single Scull.—There were three starters in this race, namely Messrs. Jos. Tisdale, Jos. Clarke and D. Clark. Mr. Tisdale won, despite his efforts in the previous race, and Jos. Clarke was a creditable second.

Punt Race.—Five punts sailed over a course around Ship Island, the Independent winning first prize, Troubler second, and another punt bearing the terrible name of Sawdust Maid third. The little craft did some fast sailing, their youthful owners handling them with rare skill.

Quoits.—Thirteen competitors, including most of the known good players of the city, entered for the quoit match. After a long and hard contest Mr. S. C. Edwards won the first prize, Mr. Geo. Maybee taking second.

Tub Race.—Four youths contested this event, which was productive of much fun. The prize was won by a boy named Caton, who went over the course nicely, all the others upsetting.

THE GAMES.

There was a good entry and lively competition in most of the games and races set down for decision. The list of winners is as follows :

200 yards race for boys under 14—1st E. Sherwood, 2nd H. Beesley. Nine entries.

440 yards race for boys under 14—1st Ming, 2nd O'Sullivan. Eight entries.

Standing high jump, men—1st Brown, 4ft 5in, 2nd D. Patterson. Six entries.

Standing long jump, men—1st Emsley, 9ft 1in, 2nd Hibbet, 8ft 7½in. Eleven entries.

Running long jump, boys—1st Diamond, 16ft 1in, 2nd Shoultz, 15ft 5½in. Eight entries.

Sack race—1st Ferguson, 2nd Beesley. Six entries.

Three-legged race—1st Patterson and Emsley, 2nd Ferguson and Garry.

Hop step and jump, men—1st Abrams, 37ft, 2nd Ming, 36ft 10½in. Eleven entries.

Walking race—1st Beesley, 2nd Garry. Seven entries.

Running high jump, men—1st Brown, 2nd Simonds. Eleven entries.

GENERAL REMARKS.

That the pic-nic was a great success is a matter on which to congratulate the organizations under whose auspices it was gotten up. The gentlemen of the Committee to whom was entrusted the preservation of order had a difficult task to perform, but did it well. Although no liquor was sold on the grounds or in the hotel, yet a number of men brought "pocket pistols," in their pockets which could not be confiscated under the Blake Act, and the result was that a few persons became drunk, noisy and fightable. Some attempts at fighting took place, and blows were exchanged in a few instances, but in every case the attempted disturbance was promptly suppressed. Too much praise can hardly be given Mr. Pretty, lessee of the grounds, for his efforts in stopping incipient rows. He was a host in himself, and the Committee are much indebted to him for his assistance in preserving order. The reputation of the favorite Point, which had of late been bad, was certainly restored yesterday to something like what it was a few years ago. The brass and string bands of the 15th are also entitled to credit for their performances.

ACCIDENT.

But one serious accident that we have heard of occurred, namely to Henry Bell, a son of Professor Bell. He was unfortunate enough to fall from one of the swings and dislocated the wrist of his right arm. Dr. Ridley, who was on the ground, set the limb and the patient was taken to his home.

SABBATH SCHOOL PIC NIC.

The annual pic-nic and excursion of the Sabbath School of the Bridge St. Methodist Church also took place yesterday, and was, as usual, very largely attended, the Kincardine having fully eight hundred persons on board. The place chosen this year was Thompson's Point, a charming spot some 25 miles down the bay, with a large and beautiful grove running close to the bay, and affording every facility for fishing, rowing, swimming, and all sorts of games on land. After the inner man had been thoroughly satisfied—not a very easy matter after so long a trip on our beautiful bay—each one followed "their own sweet will" as to how they would spend the time. Some enjoyed the chat in the woods, others said "I go a-fishing," while the boys went off to disport themselves on the water. Then followed sack, foot, three-legged and other races, and games of Lacrosse and foot-ball. In some of these games, old-young boys (?) showed an amount of speed and elasticity for which no Professor Bell. He was unfortunate enough one—except those who had known them when they were much younger—had given them credit. These sports caused no little amount of interest and amusement, and were kept up until the hour for leaving. Just as the boat was leaving, three cheers were called for and given with a will for Mr. and Mrs. Mallory, and Mr. Mallory, Jr., who had placed their beautiful grounds at the disposal of the school, and who in many ways had contributed to the comfort of the party. The two-and-a-half hours' ride home was spent in singing the songs of Zion, and shortly after 8 o'clock the happy party arrived home, all declaring it to have been the best pic-nic they ever had. The Captain and officers of the Kiscardine were very kind and attentive to their guests, and did everything in their power to make every one happy.

OTHER EXCURSIONS.

The steamer Hastings carried a considerable party of excursionists around the course during the yacht race, and the sa no steamer made an excursion on the bay at night.

QUIET.

The night passed over in comparative quiet —only two arrests being made by the police.

The tramp won't work in the harvest field. It's far better to sit in the shade and be told by an orator that he ought to have a carriage of his own.

Bigamy.—Geo. Davis, of Kingston has been arrested on a charge of bigamy. Five months ago, he married a young girl from Inverary, and a few days ago, wife No. 1 with seven children disturbed his quiet dreams.

The Michigan Wheat Crop.—Reports from every wheat-growing country in the state of Michigan place the entire yield at thirty million bushels, a crop without precedent in Michigan. The average yield per acre is 19 to 20 bushels. The quality is fully up to the average. Corn products are much improved. Oats are not up to the standard.

A Daring Voyage.—A cable telegram from London, 2nd August, says :—"The Nautilus, a small craft only 18 feet long, arrived yesterday in Mount's Bay, on the coast of Cornwall. The two brothers from Boston, who brought the craft across the Atlantic, were greatly fatigued. After leaving America they experienced pleasant weather for a few days, but fogs, wind and rain prevailed for a considerable time. Their bedclothes got quite wet, and for four weeks they slept in wet clothes. Many days they could not sleep at all, and could hardly spare time to eat or drink. They passed in dangerous proximity to many shoals of whales."

The House of Commons Debate.—The debate in the House of Commons on the Marquis of Hartington's resolution was resumed on the 1st August by Mr. Lowe and Sir Stafford Northcote. Some lively passages at arms took place in this House, as well as in the House of Lords, where Lord Carnarvon vehemently attacked Earl Beaconsfield for certain remarks respecting the occasion of the former's exit from the Cabinet. In the Commons Sir Stafford Northcote virtually admitted that some other secret document as well as the Anglo-Russian agreement was signed on the 30th of May, merely denying that anything was signed relative to Greece. The debate in the British House of commons on the Marquis of Hartington's resolution was closed last night, the resolution being defeated by 338 to 195, and Mr. Plunkett's amendment, expressing confidence in the Government's Eastern policy, carried without a division.

City and Vicinity.

THE GUIDE.—The August number of the Parish Guide has been published and can be had at the bookstores. It is an excellent one.

ARRIVED.—The yacht Zitella, of Kingston, arrived here last evening.

ARRIVED.—The SS. Moravian arrived at Father Point at 9 a. m. to-day.

For the young, the aged, and the infirm, SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—During the heavy thunder storm which passed over the northern part of this county on the 1st Aug.; three cows belonging to Patrick Gillen, of Madoc, were killed by lightning.

ACCIDENT.—On Thursday evening a little child of Mr. Wm. Carter fell into the water at Mr. Carter's boat house. The accident was fortunately seen by the little one's father, who promptly rescued it.

UNFAVORABLE.—The weather has been so far unfavorable for harvesting operations of late that it is quite probable some of the grain which has been cut will sustain serious injury from the wet.

MEETINGS.—A regular meeting of the City Council will be held on Monday night. A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Tuesday evening.

LYNX SHOT.—The North Hastings Review says:—"A correspondent from Millbridge says that a lynx was shot near that place on the 24th, by Mr. Black. It had made quite an inroad on the sheep and lambs around that neighborhood.

FOR INEBRIATES.—A medical man sends the following cure for those who are afflicted with a depraved appetite for liquors: "Take five drops of sulphuric acid (C. P.) in one ounce of water three times a day, after meals, or oftener if the desire is very pressing, and keep clear of drinking places."

RELIGIOUS CALENDAR.—The following is the religious calendar for August:—Sunday 4th, seventh Sunday after Trinity; Sunday 11th, eighth Sunday after Trinity; Sunday 18th, ninth Sunday after Trinity; Saturday 24th, St. Bartholomew's Day; Sunday 25th, tenth Sunday after Trinity.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARLIAMENT.—Rev. John Potts of Toronto, Rev. Hugh Johnson of Montreal, Rev. Dr. Hurst—are the preachers on Sunday 18th—at the Sunday School Parliament. This will be an additional attraction for those who go with the excursion party by the Alexandra on the 17th.

CUSTOMS RETURNS.—The following is a statement of the returns at this port, for July 1877 and 1878:—Exports, July 1877, $67,458; do. for July 1878, $44,957. Decrease, $22,521. Entered for consumption July 1877, $29,203; do. July 78, $15,894. Decrease, $13,409. Duty collected, July 1877, $2,279.39; Do. July '78, $2,668.01. Increase, $388,62.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—The Trenton Courier says:—On Wednesday night Mr. Francis was alarmed by hearing some noise down stairs. He got up lit a lamp and examined the premises but could discover nothing. In the morning however he found a knife that was used in cutting one of the slats of the window blind and the window partly raised. The light in the room prevented a further attempt. A man in his stocking feet was chased off the verandah some few nights previously.

THE BARLEY MARKET.—There has been quite a change in the barley market within the last few days. It now turns out that so much of the late sown barley is light that the prospect is that good plump full weight grain, whether bright or colored, will realize good prices. For average samples not more than 60 cents can be had on this market as yet, buyers not being in the field, but there is a fair prospect of an advance for the best grades, which, however, must be well cleaned in order to realize top prices. In Toronto, barley was quoted yesterday at 70cts.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The Times' Raleigh, N.C., special says: Indications are that Republicans, Independents and Merrimon men will constitute the majority of the Legislature. The Republicans have carried a number of counties they lost in 1872 and were only divided in large negro counties.

Washington specials:—

Senator Lamar takes strong ground against the policy of violence in Mississippi, and may head an independent movement.

It is reported that Jefferson Davis wants to go to the United States Senate.

The Times says the President, while denying the rumored Cabinet changes, expressed a desire of keeping his cabinet in tact throughout his term.

Assistant Postmaster-General Tyner says when he asked Grant at Paris whether he would be a candidate in 1880, the nearest approach to an answer was, "I was heartily tired of public life, and have no desire again to enter upon it."

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A body, supposed to be John Stapleton's, was found in East river on Wednesday. During the funeral yesterday a family named Welch called at the house and proved the body to be that of John Welch. Stapleton's body was subsequently found.

A body believed to be that of the missing Edward Buckstein was found in North river last night.

No clue to the Jersey City murder mystery has been found. The rumored arrest and confession is a hoax.

An incendiary fire on Thursday, in the basement of Mrs. F. A. Moulton's residence, might have caused her death but for prompt discovery. She is a wealthy invalid. Her first husband was a brother of Gen. Robt. E. Lee. She has separated from her second husband.

The Tribune says privats despatches from Philadelphia state that the Philadelphia & Reading Coal Co. will offer an extra drawback of 35 cents per ton on coal from New York harbor on Monday. Coal men regard this as a re-opening of competition, which may result in another coal war.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—Tullis, a wealthy farmer of Grand Island, Sacramento Co., was murdered last evening by parties unknown while in an orchard. Object unknown.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Aug. 3.—On Thursday two tramps stopped at a farmer's house near Trenton, Henry Co., and after getting a good dinner from the farmer's wife and learning that her husband would not be home till evening, suddenly seized her and outraged her, and left her insensible. They had stopped the cries of the farmer's little daughter by rolling her up tightly in a blanket. When unrolled the child was nearly suffocated, and died in an hour. The neighbors are scouring the country.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 3.—A fire this morning in a building occupied by manufacturing jewellers caused a loss of $10,000.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The following is the programme of the civic honors to Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury to-day: They will arrive at 5 p.m. and be received at the entrance of the Guildhall by the city Guild co mmissioners, wearing their robes and carrying their wands of office. Their Lordships will be escorted through the temporary pavilion in the Guildhall yard, conducted to the library and received by the Lord Mayor, Lady Mayoress and city dignitaries wearing their official robes. A procession will be formed and move to the great hall, where Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury will be conducted to the dais and take their places at the right of the Lord Mayor. The members of the Common Council sitting in front of the dais. The usual formalities will be gone through with as if an ordinary court of the Common Council were held. The town clerk will read the resolutions of the Common Council for presenting the freedom of the city to the plenipotentiaries. The city chamberlain will then address their Lordships and invite them to take upon themselves the freedom of the city, and offer each of them the right hand of citizenship. Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury will reply and the court will at once adjourn.

The guests of the day leaving the Guildhall with the Lord Mayor in carriage, will proceed to the Mansion House, where a ministerial banquet will take place in Egyptian Hall. The scene at the Guildhall was expected to be very brilliant. The floral decorations are remarkable, embracing 7,000 of the choicest plants, which line every passage with fountains playing at intervals.

LONDON, August 3.—Arrived out, the Baltic and St Laurent from New York.

BELGRADE, Aug. 3.—The Cabinet Council resolved to proclaim the independence of Servia on the 22nd of August, with a cessation of the state of siege and matrial law.

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The British Pacific fleet will be reduced immediately.

A very crowded meeting of the Young Mens Christian Association was held last evening to welcome the American delegates to Geneva. There were present many New Yorkers. Several made speeches.

The division list on the Hartington resolution last night, just published, shows that seven Liberals voted against the resolution, also seventeen Home Rulers. No Conservatives voted for the resolution.

On their arrival at Guildhall this afternoon, Beaconsfield and Salisbury were enthusiastically received, and loudly cheered by an immense crowd lining the approach to Guildhall. The weather is bright.

—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Selby Smythe leaves for England next Saturday.

THE LATEST.—The fly brick is the latest contrivance for destroying the pestiferous insect. Its method of working is ingenious. First catch the fly, then hit him with the brick and the deed's done.

The papers report that "Even horses have perished from heat during the recent heated term." The odd ones probably escaped.

Mosquitoes are bred upon the waters. We ardently wish they would not return until after many days, and thus fulfill the scriptural promise.

She must have had a basket of fish on her head when he sang "Cast that shad-oh from thy brow."

"Johnny comes marching home" nowadays with his spinal column critically curved and his frenzied fingers clasped firmly between the belt. He has evidently been in the orchard, successfully testing the astringent qualities of unripe fruit.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 3.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, south to east winds, mostly be tween west and south, clear to partly cloudy weather. For the St. Lawrence, moderate to fresh winds, and clear to partly cloudy warmer weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate winds and partly cloudy weather, with local showers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Indications:—clear or partly cloudy, stationary temperature.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contains a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

McHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY, 225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 500 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

English Spoken.

THE WAY THE PARISIAN SHOPKEEPERS TAKE PEOPLE IN.

A legend that everywhere meets the eye of the pilgrim is "English Spoken." It is upon plate glass windows in gilt alto-relief; upon dirty panes, scrawled upon foul note paper, and wafred into place. One sees very rarely the information that another language is spoken. Occasionaly there is seen "Si Habla Espagnol," but never anything of the kind in regard to Italian, Russian, German or Norwegian.

It is a fair conclusion that, when fishermen incline almost wholly to a certain kind of bait, it is because the fish prefer that to any other. I fancy, then, that the French fishermen know what they are about, when they bait their hooks with "English Spoken." They get more bites, and have, consequently, a larger catch.

The hook thus baited before my eyes one day when I was in a hurry to nibble. It was on the window of an optican's shop. I wished to make inquiries of a technical nature, and was a little timid about tackling the matter in French. I entered. There was a white-haired old chap, with a velvet smoking-cap; and a buxom young woman.

"You speak English, I believe?" said I, addressing myself generally to the audience of two.

"Vat vill you?" responded the young woman with a sunny smile.

"I will look at your scale for focussing eye-glasses if you please."

"Yes," said the young lady as she moved behind the show case.

"I waited and so did she. I gazed at her rather admiringly and she gazed at me inquiringly, but made no move to show me any goods or give me the desired information. We gazed at each other for a few moments, when, finding the thing, although interesting, getting monotonous, I said:

"Well, madame?"

"Vat vill you?" was the response of my vis-a-vis, with her genial smile. I turned to the old man. His eyes were glistening and he was evidently delighted at the linguistic ability of the young woman, who was probably his daughter. A proud old parent was he at that moment!

"Can you give me an idea of the manner in which eye-glasses are numbered—that is to say whether the system is the same in French as in English? I wish to get a pair of a certain focal length."

"Yes," was her answer, but she never made any move, evidently waiting for me to make known my business. I began to doubt the verity of "English spoken."

"You speak English beautifully, Miss."

"Yes."

"You must have learned it in England."

"Yes."

"And that old duffer there speaks English, too, doesn't he?"

"Yes."

"Quite as well as you do, perhaps!"

"Yes. Mais, monsieur, vat vill you?"

"Montrez moi des lorgnons s'il vous plati."

"Ah yes!" Now she understood. She dived into the case and brought out dozens of eye-glasses. I discovered the focus I wished by trying until the right pair turned up. She charged me fourteen francs for them, and I discovered a half hour later that the same sold everywhere else for two francs and a half. I paid eleven francs and a half towards the expense of educating a young French woman to learn English sufficiently to say "Yes," and "Vat vill you?"

This case of the young woman is the worst I have met. It is an actual case, but an extreme one. In some of the shops the English spoken is perfect, because the ones who employ it are English people. In many instances, however, the claim is a sham. The person who speaks English is out at the moment, or else the English spoken is the greatett jargon imaginable. In any event, the fact that English is spoken means almost generally double or treble the regular prices. French people are close calculators; and when they go to the expense of adding English to their shop fixtures, they do it as an investment, the cost of which will be collected from every English speaking customer. In fine, my experience is to the effect that the sign "English Spoken" means when liberally interpreted, "Goods to be had within at three times their value."—Correspondence Chicago Times.

Tim's Kit.

It surprised the shiners and newsboys around the Post Office the other day to see "Limpy Tim" come among them in a quiet way, and to hear him say:

"Boys, I want to sell my kit. Here's two brushes, a hull box of blacking, a good stout box, and the outfit goes for two shillin's!"

"Goin' away, Tim?" queried one.

"Not 'zactly, boys, but I want a quarter the awfullest, kind, just now."

"Goin' on a 'scursion?" asked another.

"Not to-day, but I must have a quarter," he answered.

One of the lads passed over the change and took the kit, and Tim walked straight to the counting-room of a daily paper, put down his money and said: "I guess I kin write it if you'll give me a pencil."

With slow-moving figures he wrote a death notice. It went into the paper almost as he wrote it, but you might not have seen it. He wrote:

Died—Litul Ted—of scarlet fever; aiged three yeres. Funeral to-morrow, gon up to Hevin; left won bruther.

"Was it your brother?" asked the cashier.

Tim tried to brace up but he couldn't. The big tears came up, his chin quivered, and he pointed to the notice on the counter and gasped:

"I—I had to sell my kit to do it, b—but he had his arms aroun' my neck when he d—died!"

He hurried away home, but the news went to the boys, and they gathered in a group and talked. Tim had not been home an hour before a barefooted boy left the kit on the doorstep, and in the box was a bouquet of flowers, which had been purchased in the market by pennies contributed by the crowd of ragged, but big-hearted urchins. Did God ever make a heart which would not respond if the right chord was touched?

Little Eva's Lost Brother.

A SCENE NOT SET DOWN ON THE PROGRAMME.

(Philadelphia Press.)

During the long run of "Uncle Tom" in an eastern city, the family of the gentle Eva went to housekeeping, and during the occupation of the older forces a small boy a brother to Eva (the Eva on this occasion being Miss Lulu Prior)—strayed away and was lost in the strange city. Moving was suspended and hunting commenced, but the child was not found. Audiences must not be disappointed, however, and so the poor little sister was forced to array herself for her part, wash off the tears and try and forget that her little brother was lost. But during the evening the runaway was found and the parents, to relieve their daughters mind took him directly to the theatre.

"The death scene of Eva was on; Topsy, with her apron on her head, crouching on the floor. Seeing out of a corner the recovered youth, Topsy said in a whisper, "Hold your Nebuchadnezzer up."

Eva lay on the couch—St. Clair bent over her with the question:

"What do you say Eva darling? to which the dying child was to reply:

"Love—joy—peace," and fall back dead upon the pillow.

Just as Eva raised her head feebly, lifted her hand and commenced the broken sentences, she spied the refound brother. With a cry of joy she extended her little arms towards him and broke out:

"Oh, see—see, he's found! he's there and I never thought to see my little brother again?" Then, recollecting her part, she gave a great gulp of fright, fell back spasmodically to the studied words and cried out, "Love—joy—peace"! and dropped her head upon the pillow.

The scene was never more affecting; sobs were heard on all sids. The speech was so heartfelt that the audience felt sure it was part of the play—that the dying Eva was supposed to have a vision of a lost brother waiting on the mystic shore.

How long ago is it since Gladstone wrote "Turn the Turks out of Europe, bag and baggage"? Now he complains that the treaty "destroys the integrity and independence of Turkey." A bad case of sour grapes.

A cheesemonger sold a sailor a ham on credit, but, finding, in a few days that he had gone to sea, he growled, "If I'd a known that he wasn't going to pay for it I'd a-charged him threepence more a pound for it—the rascal.

An old bachelor picked up a book, exclaimed upon seeing a woodcut representing a man kneeling at the foot of a woman, "Before I would ever kneel to a woman I would encircle my neck with a rope and stretch it." And then, turning to a young woman, he enquired, "Do you not think it would be the best thing I could do?" "It would, undoubtedly, be the best for the woman."

It is well known that persons who have been deprived of one or more of the senses commonly acquire increased acuteness in the remaining ones. The following case cited by Dr. Erasmus Darwin is a remarkable instance: "The late blind Justice Fielding walked in my room for the first time, when he one visited me, and, speaking a few words, said, 'This room is about twenty-two feet long, eighteen wide and twelve high;' all of which he guessed with the greatest accuracy by the ear."

A Hartford man went home to dinner, and he saw part of the washing still left in the tubs. Hurrying to the yard he saw his wife braced against the fence, holding to the end of a broken clothes line to keep the newly washed garments from the ground. "Here I've been, holding this line for over an hour, sir," she snapped. "But why didn't you call some one?" he inquired. "There's that new family next door—the woman would have come over in one minute." But the wife said: "Woman next door, you big idiot, you! Hasn't she been peeking around for two weeks to see my wash, and d'ye think I'd give her a chance to find out whether the sleeves of my nightgown were pieced down with unbleached cotton? You don't know anything, sir, and you make tracks for a piece of rope, sir."

"Pulmonary Consumption arises from a decline or deficiency of vitality in the natural biaplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting athrothy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, low-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaining the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus provide for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5 00.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878, at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows:

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight, in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom that portion thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Cheese Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

This parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, and containing by admeasurement, two hundred acres, be the same more or less, together with all the Mills, Buildings and Erections on the above granted premises, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof heretofore sold to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, also to W. T. Bird, John G. Bird, Mathew Townsend and Henry Alkenbrack, also the right of way granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc runs through this lot, which is situate 10 miles from Belleville. The North half is heavily timbered with valuable Beech, Maple, Pine and Cedar. On it is a never-failing spring creek.

On the South half are a Stone Dwelling House, a Stone Store and Dwelling connected, a Frame Tavern with good Sheds and Stables connected; also a Frame Dwelling with Barn and Sheds connected with the Farm. A Stone Grist Mill touches on this lot.

These half lots will be offered in one parcel, and if not then sold will be offered separately.

PARCEL III.

That portion of the south-west quarter of lot number two, in said eighth concession of Thurlow, purchased by A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., from Thomas L. Todd and wife, together with all the mills, buildings and erections on the above granted premises.

This parcel is situate on the Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On it are a stone House and Frame Barn.

TERMS:

One-fifth of Purchase Money to be paid down at time of sale, the balance in four equal annual instalments, to be secured by a Mortgage on the premises, with interest at the rate of seven per cent., per annum. The other conditions of sale will be made known at time of sale.

CHANCERY SALE

OF

VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY.

IN CHANCERY.

CLARK v. BOGART.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated the 13th day of June 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at his Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely:

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 19th paragraph of the Bill of Complaint herein. This parcel has a frontage of 87 feet 9 inches, and comprises the handsome two-story brick dwelling house at present occupied by Dr. Willson, with grounds, stables, and out-buildings attached.

PARCEL 2.

Part of lot 15, on West side of Pinnacle Street, according to said plan of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing on the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street, at the southeast angle of lot No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 55¼ links, thence westerly, parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, to the east stable wall, thence southerly, in line with the outside of said stable wall, 96 links to a point 22 feet 10 inches south of the southerly limit of lot 25, thence easterly along the northerly limit of a lane 83½ links, more or less, to the easterly limit of a small lot, No. 6, as shown on a plan of the sub-division of lot 24, by J. J. Haslett, P. L. S., registered the 14th day of November, 1852, thence northerly along the easterly limit of said lot 6, 22 feet, 10 inches, to the southerly limit of lot 25, thence along the southerly limit of lot 25, 139½ links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Dafoe House, now occupied by Dr. Hamilton. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, it not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4.

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Hazlett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall. On the premises in the rear are extensive storehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Hazlett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 15th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ¼ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 176 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Weller, Esq., and is a first-class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 66 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in 1st Concession of Township of Thurlow, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street; thence south 15° 45' east along said Boundary Commissioners Line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore deeded to John Bell, Esq.; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Furnival, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter A. and which may be better described as follows:—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48½ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30, west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ½ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John Street, as laid down on P. L. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 157 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 20 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street. This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of 10 per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, G. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your proju ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

CONTINUED.

"We shall do our rejoicings across the pond, Mr. Pomeroy. Our wedding bells shall be the bells of the sleigh in which I shall take my bride home, the snow shall be the white cover of our wedding cake, and the maples in the forest our wedding guests. Cheer up, Lettice dear, there will be rejoicings enough in the new country over you and me, and songs and dances too, and joy for all our lives."

"Poor things!" sneered the man of experience. "When do you propose to begin this—pilgrimage of sleigh-bells and snow?"

"We will be married as soon as we can," said John. "But that, too, will depend upon you."

"I will have nothing to do with it I tell you."

"Wait a moment, sir; I have other business, sit down and listen." They had been all then standing. "You said, when you first saw me, that my face and my voice reminded you of some one. Of whom, sir?" He bent down, looking into Mr. Pomeroy's eyes.

"Of—of one I lost many years ago."

"Of one you loved many years ago, and whom you—drove away?"

"She left me, in her guilt."

"She left you, in her innocence."

"Who are you, sir?" cried Mr. Pomeroy, springing to his feet. "Who are you? and what do you know?"

"I know nothing but that fact, that she is innocent. Whose is my face?"

"It is hers," the man murmured.

"And yours," said John. "I am her son—and yours. Yes, father, it is true. I have come to tell you that you have a wife living who has long since forgiven you, that you have a son who stands before you, and that I bring with me papers which I have not read, because that would be to think of my mother what is impossible, but papers which will prove to you what I have said. She left you, driven away by you, in her innocence, and a few months later I was born. Lettice, that is my deception. In marrying me you will marry the son of your benefactor."

Mr. Pomeroy, as he listened, trembled. For four-and-twenty years he had been alone, brooding over an imaginary wrong, feeding an insatiable wrath with thoughts of revenge which might have been a manhater and a woman-hater.

"Prove your words," he said—"prove your words. How do you know you are my son?"

"You might know," replied John, "by my face and my voice. These letters will tell you more than I can prove. If they are not proof, I have no more to say; I shall leave you, as I found you, a stranger. If they are proof, you have a son and a wife."

"Give them to me."

"Before I give them, think. I am here asking nothing, claiming nothing. As regards your money, I do not know whether you are rich or poor. And as I ask nothing of you, so I owe you nothing. For the care of my childhood, for my education, for my farm, I owe you nothing, and my mother everything. Remember, then, that I am on her side, whatever you think of these letters."

"You are frank, young man. Before I was your age I had learned to pay respect to my father."

"You forget, sir; I have never had one."

Mr. Pomeroy took the bundle and tore it open. It was tied round with green tape, which he hastily untied, and began to read them one by one. There were four of them altogether.

John stood watching him.

Lettice sat beside John, waiting for the end.

When Mr. Pomeroy had read them through he began again, and read them all over more carefully.

"I know the handwriting of each," he said. "These are no forgeries. These may, however—But, no; that can not be. What is your name?" he asked, suddenly.

"John."

"John Pomeroy. My name, too. You are my son."

"And my mother?"

"I will write to her myself. There are things to say which no one but myself can say. She has been—deeply—wronged," he added, slowly. "You do not know the contents of these letters?"

"No, sir."

"You do not know the cause of our estrangement?"

"No, sir."

"Better not. There are four documents here. The first is from Eli Ramsden, the Quaker, to your mother, stating what he knew; it was not much, but it is something. The second is an account drawn up for her by her brother, Stephen Burdacomb. The third is your mother's own account. And the last is a letter, written on the morning of the day when he died, by the man who—Ah!"

He almost shrieked as he uttered the last word, and his eyes fell on Lettice.

"The man who—the man who did the mischief—who lied, and calumniated, and made up a story against the woman he had wished to marry; the man who ruined my home out of revenge; that man—that man"—his face grew purple, and his eyes shot fire—"that man is your father. Do you hear, you girl—your father!"

John laid his hand on Lettice's shoulder and kept it there.

"Patience, Lettice dear," he whispered.

"You, whom I took out of the gutter, and have brought up, do you hear? Daughter of a bankrupt, a swindler—"

"Stop, sir! This is my future wife—your son's future wife."

"Never!" said his father. "Go; leave my house within a quarter of an hour; starve; beg your bread, or steal it, for what I care. Go from my house."

"If Lettice goes, it shall be with me," said John.

"Oh, John, John," cried the poor girl, "I told you we were disgraced; but I did not know of this. Yes, sir, yes; I will go. It is not right that I should stay any longer under your roof, nor that I should think of marrying your son. Forgive me, sir. I did not know. Indeed, indeed, I did not know."

"My Lettice!" cried her lover, catching her in his strong arms as she rose in her agony and terror, and holding her tight to his heart. "Do you think I would let you go? Is this by-gone history to part you and me?"

"John, I cannot. Think of your mother."

"Yes," said his father. "Think of your mother, if, in the headstrong stream of passion, you can think at all. How will it be to go out to your mother and say, 'Here is your new daughter; the girl whose father ruined your happiness?'"

"That is not what I shall say to my mother. I shall say, 'Lettice is the sincerest daughter of a man who wronged you and died repentant.' Lettice you do not know my mother, or you would not let that be a plea. You, sir, have forgotten her."

"You are my son," said Mr. Pomeroy. "If did not think I had a son. I hardly knew—I did not care—if I had a wife. But hear me. Choose between me and that girl. Henceforth I shall think of her with that hatred that belongs to her father. Take her and leave me, never to see me again. You shall be dead to me. I give the same choice to your mother as to you. Choose between me and this girl."

"I choose, not between you and Lettice," said John, still holding the girl round the waist, "but between revenge and love. And I choose for my mother as well. Come, Lettice, we will go. You shall stay with your brother till we can be married. Cheer up, my darling; it is not you who shall suffer for your father's sin."

"Yes, and for the third and fourth generation," cried his father. "Scripture authority for you."

"There is yet another Scripture," said John, solemnly. "'The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father.' Think over that. We leave you, your son and the girl to whom you have been a protector for so long. In the solitary winter evenings, when you sit here alone, night after night, with your thoughts, you will remember sometimes the wife and son whom you have thrown away in wild revenge. The very chairs will cry out to you alone of the innocent girl you have driven away in wrath—the second woman whom you should have loved. And when you think of the things you have thrown away, remember that across the ocean we shall be all together, waiting only for the day when you will write and bid us come back to you."

"Never!" said his father. "Never! Henceforth I sit alone and trust no man again. Go."

"Shake hands, sir. Let me tell my mother that you have given your hand to her son."

"Never!" he replied. You have chosen. I have no wife and no son—I never had—I never will have. Take that girl out of my sight, lest I do her, or you, or myself a mischief."

They went together, Lettice weeping. The door closed behind them and Mr. Pomeroy was left alone. Down the stairs into the court, noisy with hurrying footsteps; out into the hurrying world, away to the hotel where Will Laugton, dressed and in his right mind, was waiting for his sister.

Clients came to see Mr. Pomeroy that day, but could not gain admission to his office. It was empty, and the tenant was in that back-room alone looking out on the wall. In his hand was the packet of letters His lips were set tight, and his eyes were angry and fixed. There was no repentance yet in old John Pomeroy's face, whatever might come later.

Two days later his son wrote to him:

MY DEAR FATHER: We are to be married to-morrow in the church of Moulsey Priors, by special license; we shall be at the church at eleven. I hope that we may see you there, and that you will give away the bride. Your affectionate son, JOHN POMEROY.

"And so, you see, Lettice," said John, when Will has told his tale and John his over again, and he and Lettice were sitting side by side, her hand in his while Will looked so marvelling, "and so it was not my doing at all; and you have not me to thank but our friend the Penman."

"I should like to thank him," Lettice replies. "Do you think you could find him?"

That was not difficult, and the hero of "L'Affaire Rugel"—the account of which made so great a sensation when it appeared in Paris—was that same day captured by John and brought to the hotel, to be introduced to the young English "mees," whose charms he so graphically described in his letter.

M. Henri de Rosnay—his real name was Francois Langlois, which he exchanged for the more aristocratic territorial title—received Lettice's congratulations in the grand style. John asked him to dinner, and they all four dined in great state and ceremony. It was an evening in which the young Frenchman loves to delight; and a great part of the conclusion of his drama which one does not put upon the stage, but imagines—the tamely happy part. Who cares to read about other people happy? Who wants to see murderers content upon the stage? He wrote very nicely about it in a subsequent letter, called "Conclusion of the Affaire Rugel," speaking of Lettice by modest demeanor after his united misfortunes; his sister's happiness innocently sparkling in her eyes; the tall young Arcadian, in whom, he said, ignorant of the circumstance, there existed still the traces of his French ancestors in his bravery, his strength, and chivalrous devotion to the ravishing "mees."

"At this time, my friend, I must owe, has one great, one very great fault. He does not appreciate the wine of our country. He is a 'tectotaler' in the language of England. The bottle of Champagne in which I drank health and happiness to the young lady was placed upon the table for my use only. I am invited to visit his estates in Arcadia. In the interests of your readers I will flinch from nothing. I will even, if that is necessary, brave the voyage across the perilous ocean, and risk my scalp among the savage Hurons among whom Atala roved, and of whom Voltaire wrote. Expect, therefore, if I survive, to hear of travels and dangers in Arcadian wilds."

The sentiments of M. De Rosnay were, it may be seen, superior to his geography.

"And are you quite sure—quite, quite sure," asked Lettice, when their guest was gone, "your mother will welcome me?"

"As sure," said John, "as I am that she is a Christian. And now, my darling, there is only one more thing to do, and that is to be married. Where would you like to be married? Here in the close and stifling city, or away where we can see green fields and trees, and breathe fresh air?"

"If it could be in the country," said Lettice.

"Then it shall be. We will go away to-morrow morning to Moulsley Priors, where Eli Ramsden will take us in, and we will be married among our own folk—at least, among their graves. There my dear before the altar we will forgive the past, and make the old wrongs impossible to be ever spoken of again. And then, by the very next ship that sails, we will go back to the dear old place beyond the sea."

"And your father, John?"

His face hardened a little.

"I had forgotten I had a father almost. Lettice, I can not pretend. I wish it had been otherwise, for my mother's sake, but I have not the feeling for him that I have for her. Remember that I have grown up with her alone, and that I have known him for a short three weeks. I am sorry, but I shall not make myself miserable over what can not be helped. And he used cruel words to you, my Lettice—"

"John," she said, "you must forget them. Promise faithfully that you will forget them. They must be as if they had never been spoken."

They were married two days afterward in the little village church of Moulsey Priors, whose holy acre holds all the buried Pomeroys, and Langtons, and Burdacombs. There were no bridesmaids and no wedding bells. But Eli Ramsden the Quaker was there, and Will Langton gave away his sister.

In Great St. Simon Apostle Mr. Pomeroy sat drawing out his bills, and making no deduction at all, either small or large.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 5.

The "Loyalty" Cry Again.

Very evidently, judging from its erratic utterances on nearly every topic, the Toronto Globe thinks that its readers should, or do, belong to that class of people who are usually considered as having memories too short for their own credit. Take, for instance, the matter of the trade relations between this Dominion and the mother country. Time was when the Globe was all concern for the interests of Canada, and denunciation of "Downing Street rule" was one of the favorite occupations of its editorial writers. But, strange to say, now that the commercial relations between the Dominion and the United States are found to be entirely unsatisfactory, owing to the changes in the circumstances of the two countries which a few years have brought about—now that the people of the country have had their eyes opened to the true state of the case, and propose returning to Parliament men who are pledged to remedy this depressed state of affairs, by legislation which will restore prosperity to the country, the Grit organ raises a terrible cry that provided the proposed legislation be carried into effect, the trade of British manufacturers with Canada will be ruined, Canada will be cast off from her connection with the empire as an erring child, and goodness knows what other serious consequences may result from our efforts to protect ourselves and prevent the ruin of our country. What is the reason of this wonderful change of front on the part of the Grit organ? This question can be answered in two words, "political capital." In a previous article we pointed out the exact nature and extent of this absurd "loyalty cry" of the Grit organ, which is from the lips outward only, its real sentiments being of a very different character, such as are common to that body of the "Liberals" who are not in reality disloyal, though chronic grumblers and utterly regardless of the real interests of the mother country, as in regard to the settlement of the Eastern question, as brought about by Earl Beaconsfield and the Marquis of Salisbury at the Berlin Congress.

As we showed previously, our trade with the mother land would not be seriously affected by alterations of the nature proposed by the Conservative party in the Canadian tariff. The object of these tariff changes will be to foster the various interests of our country, which it is proposed to do by admitting such raw material used in manufactures in Canada as we cannot produce, such, for instance, as sugar and cotton, either free or at a low rate of duty, and to increase the duty on those manufactured articles which can be produced profitably in the Dominion, in order that the manufacturing interests may be built up. But the Globe objects to this act of self-preservation, which it alleges is selfish and ungrateful to the mother country. This is the very height of party madness, and designed only to influence the voters at the forthcoming election. Trade is purely a matter of self-interest, and the first law of nature is that all men should "look out for number one." The duty of our statesmen is to foster and protect the interests of the country whose affairs they administer; and recognizing this great principle, the Imperial authorities cannot consistently object to such action on the part of the Dominion Government, as the same principle forms the basis of their own action. In fact, finding that free trade theories are very fine—for a country circumstanced as is Great Britain—that other countries, notably France, Germany, Russia and the United States, refuse to throw their markets open to competition with the cheap labor and generally speaking superior facilities of the British manufacturers, the recent utterances of some of the most eminent men amongst them, as well as those of large numbers of manufacturers opposed to them in politics, give strong reason for believing that an entire change of policy is at hand. Free trade must be reciprocal in order to be fair to the parties engaged in it. As the Globe says, in a labored attempt to reply to our former utterances on this question:—"The trade cannot be carried on from one side; there must be interchanges, or else the traffic ceases," which acknowledgment is fatal to the contention of the journal which utters it, that our present trade relations with the United States and Great Britain are satisfactory. This truism was recognized by the Globe and its friends as long ago as 1874, when Mr. Brown sought to negotiate a treaty of reciprocity between Canada and the United States. Nothing has since occurred to better the evils which Mr. Brown, as negotiator on behalf of the Dominion at the time specified, wished to remove by offering immense inducements to do so, yet that gentleman's newspaper and his friends who are in office counsel the people to be satisfied with what they in the most practical and specific manner have confessed to be an injustice to us. And now, because we propose to close our markets as far as possible against the unfair competition of those people in the United States, who will not even be bribed into dealing with us on equitable terms, and because in thus protecting ourselves, the trade of British manufacturers with Canada in a very few lines may be effected, the Grit organ gravely assures us that such a course is disloyal to the mother country and objectionably selfish. The value of this cry can be correctly estimated by those who remember the Globe's denunciation of the temporary setting aside of Canada's claim against the United States for compensation for injury done by the Fenian raiders, when the Treaty of Washington was negotiated. It was announced that this just claim was deferred solely out of consideration for Imperial interests; but that announcement did not put a stop to the frothings of the Grit organ. Thus it will be seen how widely the course of the Globe has differed on cognate subjects within a few years. This inconsistency can be attributed solely to the desire to make political capital. Thus the Globe is equally ready to disregard or to champion Imperial interests just as the exigencies of party require. Fortunately the great majority of the electorate can easily see through the flimsy arguments and detect the thinly disguised humbug which the Grit press try to hide under this specious cry of "loyalty," and will not be deceived by it. They know right well that, whilst neither party can fairly claim all the loyalty in the country, that the Conservative party have always been the upholders of British connection, and that there is no danger whatever that Sir John A. Macdonald or any one of his followers would ever countenance the taking of, much less take themselves, the first step towards severing the golden link which binds Canada to the parent state. If any one doubts on this point, let him look into and examine the condition of the Canadian Volunteer force under the Macdonald Government, and compare it with the remnant of a force which Mr. Mackenzie has almost starved out of existence. As actions speak more forcibly than words, the thinking man will herein find confirmation of our remarks, and come to the conclusion that there is not only no danger of causing irritation in England by protecting ourselves as circumstances require, but that it is a duty which we owe to ourselves to our country and to posterity. Although, as we have previously said, British manufacturers may grumble a little when a change in the Canadian tariff is made, yet as they are men of sense they cannot but recognize the fact that things cannot go on as they are now doing. The Dominion is not so prosperous as it should be, and as, under the circumstances, a change must be made, the unswerving and undoubted loyalty of the people of Canada will at once convince them that a change in our trade relations has become as necessary as it was in the case of the colony of Victoria.

Governor of Nova Scotia.—The Montreal Gazette states that Mr. Vail has been compensated for his loss of Digby, having been appointed Lieut.-Governor of Nova Scotia. This was indicated by Ministerial papers at the time of his defeat; but the desire to fix up matters with Governor Archibald has, it is understood, previously stood in the way.

True, if not Complimentary.—Charlottetown Examiner:—"Our Local Premier, Mr. L. H. Davies, during his speech in the Athenæum said, in reference to the Seat in the Cabinet, that, for his part, he thought it would be far better for this Island to have no representative in the Cabinet, than be represented by men of no influence like the representatives of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. This was rather hard on Smith, Burpee, Jones and Coffin."

The Merchants Bank.—The manager of the Merchants Bank of Canada has addressed a circular to the holders of fractional or indivisable shares of this bank. It sets forth that the owners of indivisable shares may, by now investing $33.33, exchange the fractional share for a complete one, which will carry a dividend for the current half year. This has been done in compliance with the Act authorizing the reduction in the amount of capital stock.

Plenty of Coal.—The price of coal is not likely to be exorbitant by reason of the scarcity of the article. It is estimated that the coal area of Illinois is equal to 35,000 square miles, or three times as great as the coal area of Pennsylvania and Ohio combined. The coal measures of Illinois attain an aggregate thickness of 1,400 feet, and may be divided into upper and lower measures, the latter containing the better coal. An analysis of various specimens showed them to possess average heating powers, and well adapted to the manufacture of iron and gas.

Increase in Traffic.—After many weeks of a decrease in the traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway we are happy to notice a turn in the tide, and that for the week ending the 27th ult, there was an increase, small in itself it is true, but large when compared with the twenty and thirty thousand dollars decrease in previous weeks. As an indication of business reviving the change with our great trunk line is pleasant to record. The receipts for the week ending 27th, were $147,861, and for corresponding week of 1877, $147,483—increase, $381. The decrease for week ending 20th was $23,284, so that a substantial improvement occurred last week.

False Pretenses.—The National says:—"The echo of those twelve thousand shillings says that Mr. Wood's letter was stolen, and it insinuates that it wasn't written, and it says besides that its agents send weekly one hundred new subscribers at two dollars each. Now suppose that the amount received from old subscribers and from advertisements amount to other two hundred dollars weekly, we leave it to the proprietor of any weekly paper in Canada, if the proprietor of a weekly paper like the Tribune, whose receipts are $400 weekly, would not be guilty of obtaining money on false pretenses when he asked for a party subscription, and the pretence that his paper was losing money."

Spurious Reformers.—Oshawa Vindicator:—"A West Durham farmer was in town and talked protection strongly. Some one remarked that was curious language for a Reformer and a supporter of the present Government. He said 'I once believed in Alexander Mackenzie and his friends, but I believe in them no more. They told us the Tories were ruining the country by increasing our expenditure and increasing our debt. They have continued to do the same thing, and all I can find in their speeches is excuses for doing it. They say they cannot help it. If they cannot I don't see what use they can be to the country. Then, with the evil results of their fiscal policy, plain to every body, they refuse to change. They are not Reformers, but Tories, because they persist in maintaining an evil. I am in favor of Protection, because I believe it to be a needed Reform.'"

—The ceremony of conferring the freedom of the City of London on Earl Beaconsfield and the Marquis of Salisbury took place at the Guildhall on Saturday, and was followed by a banquet at the Mansion House. Earl Beaconsfield spoke in a sanguine strain of the advantages he looked for from the Anglo-Turkish Convention.

—The iron mill owners of Philadelphia, three weeks ago, gave their hands notice that a reduction of 10 per cent. would be made in the wages after 1st of September. The hands refuse to submit, and have been allowed until the 15th of September to decide whether or not to accept it.

Party spirit ran so high at Antwerp during the recent elections in which the clerical party were defeated, that a wool merchant returned from Buenos Ayres expressly to vote, and the captain of a Red Star New York steamer was in estacies at reaching home fourteen hours before voting time.

—Captain Webb has commenced swimming thirty-six hours continuously without rest in the Thames. He dived off the parade at Woolwich at six on the morning of the 2nd inst, and is swimming towards Gravesend, on reaching which he will turn with the tidd, and swim back to Woolwich, expecting to reach there at six in the evening, when he will again turn with the tide and repeat the trip.

Sir Patrick Keenan whose subscribers were remiss in payment, lately published the following announcement in his paper: "To save our readers the trouble of sending their subscriptions by post, and to relieve two unfortunates, we shall send to each of our debtors, in the course of a few days, two collectors, one of whom has hardly recovered from small-pox, and the other of whom has just taken the itch." The delinquents did not wait to be called on, but paid their dues promptly.

A Serious Charge.

A STOCK BROKER ARRESTED FOR MISAPPROPRIATING OVER $21,000 ENTRUSTED TO HIM.

(From the Montreal Star.)

Mr. Charles Griffin, a member of the firm of C. G. Hobson & Co., stock-brokers, of St. Francis Xavier street, was arrested yesterday evening by High Constable Bissonette on a warrant charging him with having fraudulently appropriated $21,124 30 intrusted to him by Rev. James Webster, of Grenville, South Carolina, to invest in Bank of Montreal capital stock as he was intrusted to do. It appears that over two years ago Mr. Webster remitted the above amount to the accused for investment in the Bank of Montreal stock, and was sent in return a certificate of the firm to the effect that it had been so invested. Upon receipt of this certificate Mr. Webster forwarded a power of attorney to draw the dividends for him. Ever since the dividends have been regularly remitted to him. Some short time since Mr. Webster had some misgivings about the certificate which he held being in order, and consulted his legal advisor, Mr. Bryan who is now here, and was told that it was not worth the paper it was written upon so far as the Bank was concerned. The matter was then put in train for investigation, and it was discovered that Mr. Webster's name did not appear on the stock register of the bank. Mr. Bryan came here on behalf of his client, and immediately instituted proceedings through Mr. Ritchie, Q. C. The unfortunate prisoner is respectably connected, being a son of Mr. Griffin, Post Office Inspector, London, Ont., district. He was formerly a clerk in the Bank of Montreal for seven years. It is not known what has become of the money, as the accused has not been doing business to any extent on the Exchange here.

Mr. Webster is an English Clergyman, residing at Greencastle, South Carolina, for his health, and his connection with Griffin arose from an intimacy that existed between the wives of complainant and defendant. The money was sent out here from England to Griffin's order. Accused has not obtained bail, and has retained Mr. Kerr to defend him.

Serious Fire at St. John.—The distillery of J. Deer Spurr, of St. John, N. B., together with 1,000,000 feet of lumber, were burned on the night of the 3rd inst. Loss heavy, only partially insured.

The Secret Treaty.—Sir Stafford Northcote has strongly denied the existence of any further secret engagement between Great Britain and other powers, which sets at rest the question raised in previous telegrams.

Counterfeit Bills.—The Montreal Star says: "Numbers of counterfeit Dominion notes are stated to be in circulation. A day or two ago, Mr. W. B. Hall received a forged one dollar Dominion note, and presented it amongst others whilst making a deposit at the Exchange Bank. The teller at once detected it as being a spurious one. It was 1-16 of an inch shorter than the genuine bill, and the color was somewhat darker.

Detained by Fog.—A Quebec telegram of the 3rd says.—"The mail steamer Moravian, which was expected in port at ten o'clock last night, only arrived here at 7-30 to-night owing to a dense fog which has existed since three p.m. yesterday on the Lower St. Lawrence. The Saguenay steamer due here at seven this morning only arrived at eight p.m., and last night ran aground near Cacouna in the fog, but without sustaining any damage.

MARINE.—The steamer Alexandra left here for Montreal to-day with a general cargo. The schooner Rainbow is loading lumber at Flint & Holtons' for Picton.

EFFECT OF A FIT.—A man fell down in a fit on the lower bridge this morning. The police carried him to the station where medical aid was called when the man recovered. Cause—whiskey.

ON A CRUISE.—The yachts Madcap, Kathleen, and Katie Gray started this afternoon for a lake cruise. The Enid and probably the Surprise of Trenton, will follow to-morrow. All will be gone about two weeks.

AT WORK.—The Eagle mill (B. F. Baker & Co's) begun active work for the season to-day, the logs for which were towed here on Saturday evening from Trenton. About 70 men are now steadily employed at this mill.

ACCIDENTS.—The Mill Point Echo says: "On Wednesday a lad by the name of Raleigh had his first, third and fourth fingers sawed off in the mill. Dr. Newton dressed the wounded hand. Another lad had his hand lacerated the same day in the Sash Factory.

For the young, the aged, and the infirm, SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

AN ABSCONDING COLLECTOR.—The Oswego Palladium says that John Parker, treasurer of the village of Oswego Falls, who last week absconded with about $352 of the village money was arrested in Gananoque, Ontario, on the 1st inst., by officer Cronin, brought back to Fulton last night and placed in jail to await examination. Parker refunded $116 to his financier.

NOTE FOR TRAVELLERS.—At a recent meeting of the Police Commissioners it was decided to lower the passengers and hack rate at present in vogue and a reduction was made as follows: From the station or dock to any part of the city, 20cts.; hack hire (double team) one hour one dollar; single rig seventy-five cents. The law will be promulgated in a few days.

INTERESTING TO LOVERS.—A young lady of Leslieville, an eastern suburb of Toronto could not decide between two aspirants for her hand and told them to settle the matter themselves. Discarding duelling, they boat-raced, the winner being so exhausted that he could not get out of his boat for some time; but he walked home with his prize, who had been a spectator.

LUMBER NOTE.—The greater part of the drive on the Trent has arrived at the mouth of the river. The last of it is now in the Rapids and in a short time will reach its destination. The lumbermen—as far as driving went—were very fortunate this season as the high water has enabled them to bring their contributions to the vicinity of the mills much sooner than was generally anticipated.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION.—The annual meeting of the Provincial Exhibition will be held at Toronto on the 23rd September, and five following days. Entries for horses, cattle, &c., must be made on or before August 24th, and grain, field roots and machinery on August 24th, and grain, field roots and machinery on August 31st. Horticultural products, ladies' work and fine arts on September 7.

A NICE SURGICAL OPERATION.—The Mill Point Echo says:—"Last week a young lady of Belleville, we did not learn her name, came to Mill Point to Dr. Newton to get a needle taken out of the sole of her foot. The doctors of Belleville and Napanee advised her not to have it taken out as it would, they said, produce tetanus (lock jaw.) Nothing daunted she applied to Dr. Newton and he removed the needle and the patient went home rejoicing."

GOLD.—We are informed that great success is attending the operations of Mr. John McFee, at the Feigel mine, in Marmora. A gentleman who passed several days at the mine last week gives a most flattering account of the richness and extent of the vein, gold being visible in the pay rock in large quantities. He informs us that the proceeds of eight days' crushing, the "cleaning up" of which he witnessed, was upwards of three pounds of gold the value of $648. This intelligence is highly encouraging, and we hope that other mines now idle will be developed and turn out equally as rich.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The Christian Guardian of last week contains the programme of the Belleville District Sabbath School Convention, to be held at Stirling on the 13th of August. The speakers are to be Rev. J. C. Seymour A. W. Clatchie, M. A., Dr. Williams, Rev. Wm. Richardson, Rev. J. W. Savage, Rev. P. Hadison, Wm. Johnson and Rev. N. R. Willoughby, M. A. The Rev. Osborn Lambly is to conduct the service of song. There will be two sessions, at 2 and 7 o'clock p. m. The subjects chosen for consideration are practical ones.

SHOO FLY.—All the "fly exterminators," "fly bricks," and all the other appliances for lessening the plague of flies have now been left in the shade by the new "Patent-duplex-self-revolving-never-tire-out-fan-and-wind-mill-motion-fly-scare," warranted to frighten within an inch of their lives all the flies that come within forty rods of it. Two of these new instruments of torture to the flies were set in motion in the Consolidated Bank and excited no little amount of curiosity amongst the customers, the speculators as to what the machine was intended for being numerous and in some cases most amusing. We recommend that in whatever offices they may be adopted that they be placed in as close proximity as possible to bald headed clerks, or to those who have lately got the "P. P. clip." Notwithstanding the name of these machines, we wouldn't wonder to see the flies make a roosting place of them after they had become more familiar with them—"familiarity breeds contempt."

Jeremiah Buchanan was charged with selling liquor after hours. The case was enlarged until Wednesday.

Great Storm in Toronto.

Toronto papers of to-day contain lengthy accounts of a fearful rain and hail storm which visited that city and vicinity on Sunday afternoon. The Globe in describing its extent says, the hail storm was confined to a belt taking in nearly all the city, and running back in the country north of Toronto. Describing the storm the Globe says:

An ominous rattling sound preceded the appearance of the hail. Some people aver that they heard this noise forty seconds before they saw the ice. Those who heard the noise, and looked out, saw what appeared to be great white clouds impetuously driven on by the wind. The rattle became louder and the noise nearer, and then followed the hailstones, which mercilessly beat upon the glass of northern exposures, and on all sorts of plants and trees. People who were sitting in the upper stories were alarmed when they heard the clatter on the roofs. The stones were hurled with great force against the boards in the lumber yards, causing the noise in these localities to be even more pronounced. Whoever was on the street sought immediate shelter. For ten minutes the pitiless attack was kept up. In that time thousands upon thousands of window panes had been broken and garden after garden destroyed.

Hailstorms are not an uncommon thing in Canada, and there has been some of which it has been reported that stones as large as pigeon eggs have fallen; but these latter have been few and far between, and the general public have always taken the report of the size of the stones as an exaggeration. Any doubt the citizens of Toronto may have entertained on this score must have been rudely removed by the occurrence of yesterday; people were to be found all over the city last night asserting that they had seen and picked up hailstones as large as a hen's egg, and others larger. Some even said that potatoes, apples, turkey and goose eggs, were the only articles of size sufficient to institute a comparison by. There is no doubt about stones five inches in circumference having fallen in great abundance. No such icy fruit was ever gathered in Toronto before. The stones were of every shape and every size. The rain accompanied the hail and continued for long after. Crash after crash of thunder and flash after flash of vivid lightning filled many a mind with fear. And all this time the water was coming down in torrents. The Observatory report the rain fall as three and a half inches in four hours—a very rare occurrence. The street channels were overflowing in a few minutes, the creeks and sewers could not accommodate the water, and generously turned the surplus into the cellars of unfortunate citizens.

Nearly every building facing the north lost some windows, thousands of panes being broken. The loss by broken glass, flooding property, destruction of flower gardens, vegetables and crops, is estimated at not less than $250,000.

A CHINESE FUNERAL.—The Salt Lake Tribune describes a Chinese funeral which took place at Salt Lake City recently. The brethren in the town, including a few Latter-day fellows, attended the burial, which was made in the Mormon graveyard a short distance from the front gate. When the corpse had reached the grave, the personal effects of the deceased heathen, consisting of clothing, blankets and various trinkets, were placed in one pile near the grave, and the torch applied to them. The body was then lowered into the ground, tapers were lighted, colored papers were burned on the coffin, while one of the Celestials went through with a chant as the grave was being filled up. When the burial was completed, a small quantity of fresh pork, a chicken, and various other articles of food in an uncooked condition, were placed by the side of the grave on a piece of newspaper, and the Chinamen then began to disperse.

Why do you wink at me, sir?" said a beautiful young lady, angrily, to a stranger, at a party, an evening or two since. "I beg your pardon, madam," replied the wit; "I winked as mer. do when looking at the sun; your splendor dazzled my eyes."

The item recently published in contravention of the popular idea that rabies never attack highly bred dogs, stating that a large pack of English fox hounds had been killed in consequence of the outbreak of hydrophobia among them, is now matched by the destruction of the Marquis of Hartington's famous Holker harriers because of the appearance among them of the same disease. It is recently discovered that eight of them were at once killed, and subsequently the same fate was visited upon 25 others. Only five dogs are now left in this famous pack, which has existed at the Marquis's North Lancashire seat from time immemorial.

Fatal Quarrel.

POLICEMAN KILLED.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5th.—Jas. R. Warner on Sunday, in a quarrel shot and killed Wm. J. Wilson. Both are members of the Fire department.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Arrived, the S.S. Erin from Liverpool.

Policeman Rice was fatally injured by rowdies, who smashed his head with a cobble-stone last night, while arresting one of their number.

A San Antonio special says that John Lanham, of a variety show, on Saturday shot A. M. Squiers, of the 8th cavalry, and a Miss Drake. He was jealous of Squiers' attention to Miss Drake. The wounds of the latter are fatal.

MRS. ANN ZELLAR lighted a fire with kerosene in Newark on Saturday evening. Her funeral took place to-day.

Hotel keeper Ackerley, at Scranton, shot Jos. Mali's dead yesterday, while quelling a fracas.

A Cleveland despatch states that a large haul of stolen dry goods, the proceeds of robberies in Chicago and Cleveland, was made yesterday in the house of a German actress named Amy Hatzfeld.

Thos. Doulin yesterday dove from the bridge 80 feet to the water below Passaic Falls. He struck on his face, and turned over dead.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 5.—The Columbia College Crew sailed in the steamship City of Berlin, from Liverpool, on the 1st inst., for New York. They took away with them Visitor's Challenge Cup, won by them at the Henley regatta.

It is reported at Vienna that the insurrection at Mostar and Herzegovina, is fomented by Montenegrins and will be likely to lead to serious complications with Austria. The said state of affairs at Mostar are worse than at Serajivo the capital of Bosnia, that the Government and Mufte, of Mostar, assassinated the whole population in arms and Mussulmans from the surrounding country flocking in to join the Insurgents.

BALTIMORE, Aug 5.—Seven prisoners overpowered the keeper and escaped from jail at Cumberland, Md. last night.

LONDON, Aug.—To-day is a bank holiday. Markets closed.

MADRID, Aug. 5.—Queen Christina the widow of Ferdinand VII and grandmother of Alphonso present king of Spain is dangerously ill.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 5.—Chester D. Parkhurst's wife and son of Potsdam were drowned on Saturday night while boating on the bay thirty miles from Potsdam.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug 3.—A severe hail storm swept over the city on Sunday afternoon doing great damage.

PHILLADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—About 4:30 this morning four men boarded and commenced robbing the schooner Stillman, Capt. Fisher, in the Delaware river. The Captain fired and instantly killed one named Anderson, and seriously wounded two others.

POTTSVILLE, Aug. 5.—After a week's suspension the general resumption of mining in Schuylkill region began this morning. The Reading Company have about 542,000 tons as their August quotation to mine and ship, and it is thought that this will give steady employment to all intersated in the coal trade in this region for the balance of the month.

SARATOGA, Aug. 5.—The weather and track is capital, attendance is good: 1st race, three-quarters of a mile, for $300, all ages, Idalia, won by Springbranch; 2nd, Sally Watson, filly; 3rd, Rhadamanthus, got off last and ended the fourth time at 1:18. 2nd race, one mile and a half, for $400, all ages, Bramble walked over the course and some misunderstanding regarding the announcement of penalty for having won $1,000, caused the withdrawal of Loulanier and Invermoor. 3rd race, one mile, for $300, Bromide came in with a broken ankle, Swim complained that Barrett cut him down with Bertha, judges investigated the matter and gave the race to Bertha.

Plantain Leaves in Toothache.

A homeopathic physician states that he has found in the large leaved plantain (Plantago major) a sure remedy for toothache. This plant, which is so common in every door yard as to prove a nuisance was highly esteemed by the ancients, who employed it in hemorrhages (particularly from the lungs), consumption, dysentery, and other complaints. In modern times it has been sometimes used for similar purposes, but it is now generally believed to possess very feeble properties. The leaves are saline, bitterish and austere to the taste; the root saline and sweetish.

For toothache our authority gathers the plant when the flowing spike has grown to full perfection. The leaves are chopped up finely, closely packed in a bottle, and covered with strong alcohol for a week. At the end of this time the bright green color of the tincture has changed to brown, and it is fit for use. In using it a piece of cotton wool is saturated with the tincture and inserted in the cavity of the tooth, and four drops of the same put in half a tumbler of water and a teaspoonful taken for a dose. By rubbing the tincture on the gums it was found to lessen the pain of infants in the process of teething; when inserted in the ear it is said to be equally efficacious in earache. As there are undoubtedly many plants of whose medicinal virtues we are perfectly ignorant, and as toothache is one of those torments which often baffle all attempts on the part of the physician to cure it, it may remarks, the Medical Press and Circular, be worth while to give this reputed remedy a further trial—a trial which need not be delayed in the case of such a common complaint as that of toothache.

It will be observed that this tincture of plantain leaves is directed to be made with strong alcohol; from the known effects of liquors like brandy and whisky (which are no stronger than dilute alcohol) in relieving the pain of toothache, when held in the mouth for a short time, we are inclined to believe that this "tincture" of plantain would prove equally efficacious with the plantain leaves left out!

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Household Hints.

Make a paste of soft soap and emery for polishing steel.

Use carbolic acid and water to purify sinks, drains, etc.

Old paint pails and cans may be thoroughly cleaned with strong, hot lye.

When washing cambrics, do not allow soap to come in contact with the fabric.

A spoonful of vinegar should always be put into the water in which fish is boiled.

A small quantity of turpentine added to stove blacking will make the stove easier to polish.

To keep insects from birds, scald the cage with hot water, if not brass; replace your bird therein; at night cover the cage with white flannel. In one week you will be rid of them.

To clear a cellar of flies, close up a cellar as nearly air-tight as possible, and burn two or three pounds of brimstone; keep closed for twenty-four hours, and then open everything to ventilate; must be burned in the centre of the room, and not on a wooden floor.

RESTORING FADED OR PARTIALLY ERASED WRITING.—In order to read writing on parchment or paper that has become faded or partially erased, it is simply necessary to dampen the paper or parchment with water, and then moisten it by means of a large brush with sulphide of ammonium, when the characters will immediately become black and perfectly legible, and will generally remain so. In case they fade out, however, they may be restored again in the same way. The reagent should of course be freshly prepared, and since the process rests upon the presence of iron in the ink, it is not applicable in the rare cases in which India ink or other carbon ink has been employed.

MIXED SANDWICHES.—Chop cold chicken, tongue and ham very fine. Melt half a cup of butter, add a desertspoonful of good mustard if liked, a little pepper, stir it with the beaten yolk of one egg into the meat, and spread on thin slices of bread neatly trimmed and buttered. Or, chop fine such parts of a well boiled or baked ham as cannot be cut in neat slices for the table, add four tablespoonfuls melted butter, mustard if liked, and pepper, chop up two or three hard boiled eggs, and the well beaten yolk of one, to bind the whole together, and stir up the whole with the ham till well mixed, and spread on nicely cut slices of bread well buttered. Some like salad oil mixed with the butter. But in making sandwiches, unless for the family, where the taste of all should be well known to the mistress, it is not safe to use oil or mustard for the whole; but it can be divided, and part of the sandwiches prepared with oil and mustard, part plain, and a third part with mustard and no oil.

To wash blankets so that they will look like new, prepare slightly tepid water, in which put a tablespoonful each of borax and ammonia. Cut up in it part of a cake of fine laundry soap, mix well and put your blankets to soak. Wash them out in this, then make ready another water, in which some borax only has been dissolved; wash well through this water also, and then rinse in cold spring water, tinted with a very small quantity of bluing. Dry out of doors on a fair day, and if this process is strictly adhered to, the blankets will be as soft and white as when first used. They will require no pulling nor stretching; only shaking. These directions are good for all fine white flannels or knitted woollens, the quantity of borax, &c., being graduated by the quantity of water. Colored flannels should be washed in quite cold water, the suds made of borax and fine soap, before the flannels are put in, the rinsing effected also in cold water. Woollen stockings will never fade washed in this way, nor will woollens or flannels shrink.

Raising Clover Seed.

BY J. C. BIRDSELL.

My observation in regard to clover and clover seed raising has been greater than that of many, on account of having followed threshing from my youth, prior to my invention, and many seasons having run four machines. I have always noticed that whenever we found a job where there was a large yield that it was where seed had been sown one bushel to five or six acres, mown the last days of June, and plastered after the first crop had been taken off. I have seen a field where one-half had been mown and got off before July 1st, and the balance of the field not till two weeks later; and the seed that was started first yielded 3½ bushels per acre, and the balance ½ bushel per acre—the differnce, 3 bushels. This, you see, was quite a loss to the raiser, and the hay first mown equally as good as that which was mown last. I have raised seed myself that went 4½ to the acre. I have also taken clover from the field in three different conditions, and laid away in the dry, tor the purpose of knowing when was the best time to cut seed clover. The first state was when dead ripe; 2nd, when handsomely brown; and 3rd, still greener; and when thoroughly dry rubbed out the seed and put the three piles on the plate, and could see no difference. That which was cut the greenest was just as plump seed as that which was dead ripe. This shows that the head receives enough sustenance from the stalk after it is cut to fully mature the seed; and when cut a little greener you can save almost every seed. Always turn when the dew is on, so that the boll will not rattle off—The Clover Leaf.

BE GENTLE WHEN YOU MILK.—The advantage of kindness to cows has been frequently insisted on in these pages, and is well illustrated by the following anecdote: A man had a fine cow that, week after week, was milked alternately by a couple of hired men. He observed that the amount of butter he carried weighed about a pound more each alternate week. He watched the men and tried the cow after they had finished milking, but always found that no milk had been left in the teats. Finally he asked the Scotch girl who took care of the milk, if she could account for the difference. "Why, yes," said she, "When Jim milks, he says to the old cow; "So, my pretty muley; so!" But when Sam milks, he hits her on the hip with the edge of the pail, and says: 'H'ist you old brute!'"

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

"Pulmonary Consumption arises from a decline or deficiency of vitality in the natural bioplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting athrothy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, low-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaining the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus provide for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. d&w1m.

Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878, at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows:

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight, in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom that portion thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Cheese Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

This parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, and containing by admeasurement, two hundred acres, be the same more or less, together with all the Mills, Buildings and Erections on the above granted premises, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof heretofore sold to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, also to W. T. Bird, John G. Bird, Mathew Townsend and Henry Alkenbrack, also the right of way granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc runs through this lot, which is situate 10 miles from Belleville. The North half is heavily timbered with valuable Beech, Maple, Pine and Cedar. On it is a never-failing spring creek.

On the South half are a Stone Dwelling House, a Stone Store and Dwelling connected, a Frame Tavern with good Sheds and Stables connected; also a Frame Dwelling with Barn and Sheds connected with the Farm. A Stone Grist Mill touches on this lot.

These half lots will be offered in one parcel, and if not then sold will be offered separately.

PARCEL III.

That portion of the south-west quarter of lot number two, in said eighth concession of Thurlow, purchased by A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., from Thomas L. Todd and wife, together with all the mills, buildings and erections on the above granted premises.

This parcel is situate on the Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Bellevilie. On it are a stone House and Frame Barn.

CHANCERY SALE OF VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY.

IN CHANCERY.

CLARK v. BOGART.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated the 13th day of June 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at his Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely:

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 19th paragraph of the Bill of Complaint herein. This parcel has a frontage of 87 feet 9 inches, and comprises the handsome two-story brick dwelling house at present occupied by Dr. Willson, with grounds, stables, and out-buildings attached.

PARCEL 2.

Part of lot 15, on West side of Pinnacle Street, according to said plan of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing on the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street, at the southeast angle of lot No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 55¼ links, thence westerly, parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, to the east stable wall, thence southerly, in line with the outside ot said stable wall, 96 links to a point 22 feet 10 inches south of the southerly limit of lot 25, thence easterly along the northerly limit of a lane 83¼ links, more or less, to the easterly limit of a small lot, No. 6, as shown on a plan of the sub-division of lot 24, by J.J. Haslett, P. L. S., registered the 14th day of November, 1852, thence northerly along the easterly limit of said lot 6, 22 feet, 10 inches, to the southerly limit of lot 25, thence along the southerly limit of lot 25, 139¾ links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Dafoe House, now occupied by Dr. Hamilton. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, it not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4.

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Hazlett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall. On the premises in the rear are extensive storehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Hazlett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 15th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ¼ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 176 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Weller, Esq., and is a first-class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 66 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in 1st Concession of Township of Thurlow, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street; thence south 15° 45' east along said Boundary Commissioners Line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore deeded to John Bell, Esq.; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Furnival, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter A. and which may be better described as follows:—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48¼ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30 west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ¼ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John Street, as laid down on P. L. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 157 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 20 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street. This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shown by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of 10 per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, G. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH REVIEW.

These Reprints are not selections; they give the originals in full, and at about one-third the price of the English Editions.

The latest advances and discoveries in the arts and sciences, the recent additions to to knowledge in every department of literature, and all the new publications as they issue from the press, are fully reported and discussed in the pages of these periodicals, in language at once clear, forcible and comprehensive. The articles are commonly more condensed and full of matter than the average books of the period.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your preju ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

Shepherds All and Maidens Fair.

CONCLUSION.

"SHEPHERDS ALL AND MAIDENS FAIR."

We are back again, two months later, in Clear Sky Land. It is autumn no longer, but the very heart and middle of winter. Snow everywhere; rivers frozen up; lakes frozen up; the scarlet and crimson leaves of the maple fallen and buried in their white covering; the pines standing up black against the white pall which wraps the sleeping world.

It is the afternoon, too, which makes the silence deeper; yet in young John Pomeroy's farm there are signs and sounds of work, if you were there with me. He is in the farm-yard, among the cattle; beside him one man is cutting wood, and another vigorously cleaning and sweeping; everything in the open has to be done with vigor in the Clear Sky Land. There is no idle day on the farm, and when work is scarce, there is play almost fierce as work. You may make a ring one night, and skate all next day; you may go to the Dee Bank Falls, and run a toboggan down its slopes of ice and snow, till that exercise, and the rush of the air, and the shouting and laughter, make you warmer in your wrappers than any pedestrian on the roads of old England, where to-day, the first snow has been followed by a quick thaw and a soft rain, so that everything is enwrapped in a cloud of steam and haze, and men's breath is drawn quickly. Or you may bring out a sleigh and drive along the silent highway beneath the splendid trees, on a road far smoother than any in midsummer—a road which covers up all the soft places in the corduroys, and substitutes the easy run of the sleighs for the jolting of the wheels.

Presently John Pomeroy shuts up work for the day and goes home.

The house is warm and bright. Two faces brighten when he comes in stamping the hard snow from his feet. They are the faces of his wife and mother. It needs but a look to see that Lettice is happy.

"I shall be ready for supper," says John, "as soon as the clock strikes six. Kiss me, Lettice dear. This is better than Carmel Friars, isn't it?"

Then the sleigh drives up. Stephen Burdacomb and his wife.

"Happy Christmas to all!" he says. "Girls are coming along presently."

Then a young fellow steps in. Heavens! can this be Will Langton—this boy, filled out in the shoulder, set up and strong, his handsome face flushed with health and strength? No late evenings here; no gas and billiard-rooms; no drink and tobacco.

Light the lamp—close the curtains. It is Christmas eve, and we are going to have a pleasant evening.

Another sleigh with tinkling bells.

"Why," said Stephen in his slow way, "it's full early for the girls, wife, isn't it?"

Not the girls. A man's step in the passage. John went to see who it was.

Not his father?

Yes old John Pomeroy himself. He was rubbing his nose with a handful of snow.

"It'll come off," he said; "I know it'll come off. Look at it, John."

John examined the feature.

"It is all right sir," he said, "and how are you?"

"How are you, John? Shake hands. Glad to see you."

All in the most matter-of-fact way, as if he was just come in from a week's journey. No falling into each others arms at all; no asking forgiveness on either side. Not a bit. There was nothing soft about old John Pomeroy.

And when they heard that voice within, the elder and the younger lady sprang from their chairs, and caught each other by the hands.

"Mamma," says Lettice, "it is Mr. Pomeroy."

They both trembled and shake.

"Take off those furs, John," says the voice outside. "Ah, and now I'll go in. All well, eh?"

He opens the door. Before him stands his wife, the woman he had not seen for four-and-twenty years.

Stephen Burdacomb comes between them.

"I stand by my sister—" he began.

"Nonsense, Stephen; how are you how are you?" replies the man of business, and pushing him aside, holds out both hands to his wife, who falls upon his breast weeping and sobbing, while he whispers something in her ear.

"Kiss me, Lettice, my dear," Mr. Pomeroy goes on, holding out one disengaged hand to the girl. "Hope you find marriage a happy condition of life. Hope your husband treats you well. How are you Will? And now we will sit down, and talk, and be comfortable. Seasonable weather, Stephen."

Lettice and Will looked at him with furtive astonishment. This Mr. Pomeroy? He to propose that people should sit down, and talk, and be comfortable? Was he transformed, then?

"Surprised to see me, eh? Well, Lettice, my dear"—he called her for a second time "my dear"—were things real?—"when you went away, the home grew uncomfortable. After six or seven years of you about the place one felt lonely. That's the reason. That's all. How's your farm getting on John?"

All the time he held his wife's hand in his. No sentiment at all about the man. Nothing soft in old John Pomeroy.

"Let us sit down," he repeated, "and be comfortable."

"I think there is something more, sir," said John, quietly,

"What a persistent boy that is of yours, my dear," he remarked to his wife; "he must have been a sad trouble to you all these years. Well, there was something more. And what that was John, your mother knows already, and that's enough. He's a fine boy, too, wife, and, on the whole, just the son I should have liked. Well, what next? How do you like Lettice, my dear?"

His wife lifted her tearful face and smiled.

"I will answer you as you answered John," she said. "Lettice knows, and that's enough."

"Ah; any thing else?" He looked in his quick combative way at Stephen, as if perhaps that worthy man might have an objection or two in his mind.

"Supper," said Stephen.

"That's business-like. That's to the point," said Mr. Pomeroy. "John my son, I believe I told you, when I last saw you, I should never forgive you. Kiss me again, Lettice, my dear. You made a most sensible observation about choosing between love and revenge, for which I am obliged to you. You also quoted a very remarkable passage from the Bible, for which I am more obliged to you. Said I should never forgive you; said I had no wife and no son. Well, you must make deductions—large deductions."

THE END.

A Ride for Life.

HOW YOUNG HAMILTON OF SILVER CITY, ESCAPED FROM THE BANNOCKS.

Andy Baker arrived here on Saturday evening with the mail. He furnishes further particulars of the death of George McCutchan, the driver, at the hands of the infamous savages. When he saw the Indians making for him he wheeled round in an instant and put his four horses on the full run in the direction of Dry Creek. It was a race for life. Although the horses were the best stock on the road, it could not be expected that they would maintain the ascendancy in speed with such a heavy load to pull, and the savages pursuing them on horseback. But the driver and his passenger, knowing full well the fate that was in store for them if they fell into savages hands, pushed along for a few minutes at a lightning rate. The bullets of the pursuing savages were whizzing around them thick and fast, but they heeded them not. They were appalled, however, at the fact that the distance was gradually lessening between the pursuers and pursued, but in this dire emergency their coolness did not desert them.

The demoniac yells of the savages were now heard close to their rear. The distance sped over was about three miles, and then began a new phase of the struggle for life. It was but the work of an instant for driver and passenger to jump from the stage and cut loose the leaders. This they did, and each man mounting a horse sped onward, leaving the stage and the other two horses behind. They now seemed in a fair way to escape. The savages kept right on after them, seeming not satisfied with the booty that has been left them. About two miles had been made when an unlooked for accident occurred. The horses were carrying all their harness, and being thus encumbered, the one being ridden by the driver stumbled and fell. He did not drag the other horse down with him, although the horses were still connected with the harness, as when attached to the wagon. The horse ridden by young Hamilton detached himself, and he was left to keep up the race alone. Poor McCutchan had not time to get his horse up and mount him. The savages were already upon him, and immediately began their brutal work, killing him by slow process, and mutilating his body. One of his eyes was gouged out. The fiends took his watch, rifled his pockets, and left the disfigured body near by. The mail sacks on the stage were subsequently cut open, and their contents either appropriated or destroyed. Hamilton was pursued a short distance, but the chase was given up. He ran his horse several miles further, taking to the sage brush. When opposite Dry Creek the animal sank from exhaustion. Hamilton made his way on foot to Dry Creek Station, got a fresh horse, and he and the stock tender started on, warning the few settlers along the road of the impending danger. Those of the animals that were not pressed into the service were turned out.

At Rattle Snake Monroe (Scotty) joined the flying brigade, Cowden and his family further down, and with the re-inforcements at the summit, all took up the line of speedy march for McDermott. Every resident joined them, and late in the night all reached the post in safety, thankful to get away with their lives.

An Amusing Incident—if True.

The Figaro publishes the following amusing incident, which is said to have taken place during one of the State dinners at Berlin. The wonderful presence d'esprit of Lord Beaconsfield has prevented a most embarrasing affair. Prince Bismarck, who is well known to be a great eater, filled his plate with cherries; the Marquis of Salisbury observed it. "Prince," said he suddenly, "what you are doing is very unhealthy." "What?" said Bismarck, in astonishment. "You have just swallowed two cherry-stones." "You are mistaken," said the Prince with marked coldness. "Never," replied Salisbury, with that hauteur which characterizes the proud English aristocracy. "Monsieur le Marquis!" said Bismarck, his eyes shooting fire. It was at this moment that Lord Beaconsfield came to the rescue. "Perhaps," he insinuated in his softest voice, "you are both right, your Highness must be so occupied with serious thoughts that you might inadvertantly have swallowed a tiny stone." "Two," interrupted Salisbury, in a decided tone. "Or two," continued Lord Beaconsfield, as calmly as possible; "and you, my dear Lord and colleague, enjoy such good sight that nothing escapes you. Now, Prince and Marquis, will you allow me to decide this difficult question?" "How?" murmured Bismarck in his white beard. "Your plate, Highness, if you please." This last was in English, the correspondent adding that Lord Beaconsfield is the only diplomatist at Berlin who never talks French. The plate was sent to Lord Beaconsfield, who at once emptied the contents on the table; all eyes were now fixed on him. With his long, bony, agile fingers, covered with precious stones, he began to arrange what looked more like a child's game than an occupation worthy of such a distinguished Minister. He put all the stones in a line, and placed a stem on each stone. Then, in that clear, piercing voice that has so often moved the House of Commons, the English Prime Minister began to count one, two, three, and so on to 47 stones, and likewise with the stems, till he had counted 49. The proof was there, two stones were wanting. Bismarck rose and said in an agitated voice, "Marquis, you are right;" and then turning, said in a loud voice, "Lord Beaconsfield, you are a great man."—Paris Correspondent of Toronto Mail.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, AUG. 6.

MANIPULATION OF FIGURES.

Mr. Geo. W. Ross, one of those who constantly speaks from a brief prepared by the officials in the pay of the country, has been "starring it" among the western constituencies, dabbling largely in figures and Dominion finance statements. At Ingersoll a few days ago he said :—"A return "brought down on the 1st July, 1877, "showed that out of the sum of $28,575,- "804 expended on public works in borrow- "ed money only $88,000 had been expend- "ed on such works commenced by the pres- "ent Government.

What are the facts? They are as follows :—

Total amount expended in 1874 upon works not commenced in 1873.....	$327,555
Total amount expended in 1875 upon works not commenced in 1873.....	203,546
Total amount expended in 1876 upon works not commenced in 1873.....	556,596
Total amount expended in 1875 upon works not commenced in 1874.....	621,669

While these gentlemen are trying to bewilder the people with what they term "comparative statements," why not explain the enormous increase which has taken place in the collecting of the customs duties alone since the present Government came into power? This point has been studiously avoided, because it is indefensible, showing that the Customs Department has been used to find places for the numberless hangers on of the Grit persuasion, who had to be provided for in order to satisfy the remaining friends of "pure" and economical Government. As the Grit Orators like to revel in "comparative statements" here is one for them to digest :—

	Revenue.	Cost of Collection.	Percentage Cost.
1873....	$12,954,164	$567,765	4.38
1874....	14,410,883	623,299	4.56
1875....	15,351,011	632,673	4.45
1876....	12,823,537	721,008	5.62
1877....	12,546,987	721,604	5.75

The minor lights are not alone in their mutilation of facts. "Mr. Mackenzie, in his speech at the workingmen's meeting in Toronto, said that the trade of the United States was going to the dogs, that they only exported iron and steel goods worth $688,000. The exports of this class of goods for the year 1877 was over $20,000,000! Why can't some men stick to facts? It is because they know that their cause will not bear fair discussion!"

The Boundary Commission.

The Dominion—Ontario Arbitration at Ottawa was concluded on Saturday afternoon, when the boundary of Ontario was fixed as follows :—The separation line between Ontario and Quebec, by Order-in-Council of 1791, extended from the source of the Ottawa river due north to James Bay. From thence the Ontario boundary extends along the south west shore of James Bay to Albany River, thence up Albany River to its source, thence by the shortest line to the source of the English River, until it meets a line drawn due north from the north-west angle of the Lake of the Woods. By this decision Ontario acquires a good deal of additional territory, including Keewatin. The difference between the boundary fixed by the Commission as belonging to Ontario and that conceded by the Dominion is some 100,000 square miles, valuable only for its minerals. It is about 700 miles from the Lake of the Woods, the western boundary to Lake Temiscaminque at the east. As a result of the decision Ontario will have to repay the Dominion for the extinguishment of the Indian title on that section.

The Elections.—The Guelph Herald says :—"The Herald has the best authority for saying that the general election will take place on the 16th September. The writs, therefore, may be looked for inside of a couple of weeks."

Traffic Stopped.—The terrible storm of rain at Toronto, Sunday, swelled the creeks in the neighborhood, very much, and in the neighborhood of Norval a bridge and a considerable length of track was washed away. Traffic was entirely suspended, and freight and passenger trains are laid up on either side of the break. The usual mails were transferred to the G. W. R.

Daring Highway Robbery.—On Saturday, C. H. Stone was passing along a street in New York with a package containing $2,950, which he had drawn from the bank to pay the employers of Hales' piano factory, when three men sprang from a butcher's cart and assailed him. Stone threw the package of money to a district telegraph boy, and told him to run away with it. The boy, however, was knocked down and the money taken from him. The men then jumped into the cart, and although hotly pursued escaped. The police are actively searching for the robbers.

Death of Dr. Conroy.—A despatch says that Bishop Conroy, the Apostolic Delegate, died at St. John's, Newfoundland, on the 4th inst. He was born in Dundalk, County of Louth, Ireland, on the 1st of January, 1833; was ordained priest by His Eminence Cardinal Palterizi in St. John's Lateran, Rome, 6th of June, 1857. He was consecrated Bishop of Ardah and Clonmacnoise by His Eminence Cardinal Cullen in St. Malo Cathedral, Longford, Ireland, on the 11th of April, 1871, and was appointed Apostolic Delegate to Canada, 10th of April, 1877.

—The Toronto estimates have been reduced by $7,300, which makes the estimated expenditure for 1878 $1,991,777.

Colony of Icelanders.

The steamship Circassian brought out a colony of Icelanders numbering about 400 persons. The colonists are on their way to the Province of Keewatin, where a large number of Icelanders have settled. On the passage across the Atlantic two births and three deaths occurred among them. Two children died from bronchitis, and an aged man died near Quebec. The immigrants have an immense amount of baggage, consisting of household goods, but are not as wealthy as the Mennonites, who brought with them to Manitoba about $80,000 in gold. The colonists have stood well their tedious voyage. A ship was chartered for them to convey them to England, where they took the Allan steamer for Quebec. These Icelanders resemble in many respects the Mennonites. They have a language peculiar to their native island, which is more nearly allied to the old Norse than any other now spoken. As a rule, the Icelanders are strongly attached to their country and hospitable to strangers, but the terrible climate has made sad havoc in the population, and induced large colonies to emigrate to more genial climates. The population of Iceland in its most flourishing period never exceeded 100,000 souls, but recent censuses show a great decrease, as accounted for by emigration. The Icelanders as a rule are Lutherans in their religious belief, and as a class are intelligent. The men are tall, fair complexioned, with frames hardened by constant exposure to the weather. The women are fair and are very industrious. These colonists report that the tide of emigration will not set in fairly until next year, when large colonies will embark for the Icelandic settlement in the north-west. A large immigration of Mennonites is also expected next year, those already settled in Manitoba having sent home favorable reports to their friends in Russia.

News Condensed.

—The Parisian cabmen have struck work.

—Hanlan and party arrived at Montreal on Saturday evening.

—Kingston is to have its civic holiday on the 12th of August.

—A body of thirty-five Nez Perces have surrendered to General Howard.

—The British Government has decided to send a representative to the Paris Monetary Conference.

—Preparations are being made to submit the Temperance Act of 1878 in Lambton, Huron, and Middlesex.

—Cardinal de Luca has declined the Papal Secretaryship of State, which will probably be conferred on Mgr. Jacobini, Papal Nuncio at Vienna.

—A Turkish sub-lieutenant in command of one of the forts in Cyprus refuses to evacuate the stronghold to make room for the British troops.

—The Porte is about to appeal to the Powers against the repeated cruelties practiced by the Russians and Bulgarians upon the Mussulman refugees.

—Mexico is at present enjoying a term of peace, broken only by the troubles on the Rio Grande frontier, which the Government of Diaz is doing its utmost to repress.

—The Hungarian elections have commenced, so far giving an overwhelming majority to the Liberals. Herr Tisza, the Premier, is defeated by his Radical opponent.

—Fever is prevalent at Nicosia, the principal town of Cyprus. Seventeen men and two officers of the British detachment quartered there have been attacked by the disorder.

—George Davis, who was arrested the other day at Kingston for bigamy, has been tried for his offence, pleaded guilty, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

—The coroner's jury in the Rouse's Point case have returned a verdict of murder against the prisoner Costaforas, who has been committed for trial at the October Assizes at St. John, N. B.

—The anticipated armed resistance to the Austrian occupation of Bosnia is now an actual fact. In the sandjaks of Banjaluka and Zwornik the Austrians were fired upon by the inhabitants, and in one instance seventy of their number were killed.

—The Rhodope insurgents have been summoned by the Russians to withdraw within ten days from the territory they occupy in Eastern Roumalia, under pain of an attack. It is feared, however, that they will disregard the summons, and meet an attack with armed resistance. Two of their chiefs are at present at Constantinople, in consultation with the British ambassador.

—A lad named Joseph O'Brien, trying to catch some drift wood in the Garrison Creek, at Toronto on Sunday evening, fell in, and the current being strong, was carried out into the lake and drowned. His brother, aged 12, jumped in to attempt to save him, and was only narrowly rescued from sharing the fate of his brother by a man who went after him.

The late W. S. O'Brien, the California bonanza king, arranged before his death for a magnificent mausoleum, 32 feet long, 22 wide and 17 high, a chapel 12 feet square forming the centre of the building. The chapel will rise 24 feet above the main structure and the vault will contain 12 tombs. The chapel terminates with an ancient cross, and its upper portion will be pierced with 12 stained glass windows. The entire structure will be built of California marble.

Trade and Labor in Scotland.

Mr. Samuel F. Cooper, United States Consul at Glasgow, transmits to the Department of State a report on trade in Scotland, from which the following extracts have been made :—Wages are steadily declining. Laborers receive 50 to 75 cents a day; miners 8 to 12 cents an hour; mechanics $7 a week; printers $8. On railways, conductors are paid $5 to $6 a week; switch tenders $5; engine-drivers 10 to 14 cents an hour; firemen 6 to 8 cents an hour. The cost of living is about the same as in the United States. Whiskey is considered a necessity, though it costs about 300 per cent. more in Scotland than in the United States. Beer is comparatively cheap. There are 11 banks in Scotland with their branches, under special charters; capital $50,000,000; circulation, $20,000,000; deposits, $342,000,000; gold held, $17,000,000; silver, $3,000,000. The circulation of each bank is unrestricted. It is only required to redeem its issues in coin, and to hold a certain proportion of coin in reserve. Only about 5 per cent. of the currency is coin, four-fifths of which is silver. Paper is universally preferred to coin, which is never called for except for special use. Laborers are paid in silver, which is preferred because of its smaller denominations. A pound note is the smallest issued.

Sea-Side Jottings.

Old Orchard Beach, Me.,
July 29th, 1878.

Fried clams and clam chowder were beginning to be favorite dishes with me, as they are with the natives here, when I saw a telegram in a Canadian paper announcing the poisoning of several people from eating them, and, as I want to vote at the next election, I have reluctantly abandoned them. I have transferred my attention to lobsters and mackerel, the latter being, in my opinion, more delicious than salmon.

To enjoy a sail or a fish (I mean the verb) here, one must run the risk of a drenching in rowing through the breakers to deep water. A "dory" is the only craft that will live in them, and it requires to be handled by practical hands. Those who man it carry passengers on their backs to and from the beach through the very shallow water, and fat or nervous individuals are occasionally dropped before they reach the boat or beach, which occasions a good deal of amusement to the scores of on-lookers, as does also a severe drenching to the occupants of the boat as it is rowed through the surf. I experienced the latter, and was surprised to find how little discomfort I felt as compared with what we would feel by a fresh water soaking to the same extent. Salt water doesn't penetrate as fresh water does, and it evaporates more quickly.

The letter R has good reason to complain of the treatment it receives from the natives of New England. It is passed over and slurred in an extraordinary fashion—particularly by the women. In words where it comes after a vowel it is treated with silent contempt. Here are a few examples : Corner is pronounced "cona"; warm, "wam"; words, "wols"; excursion, "exousion," etc. Several Canadians here have mentioned to me that they have also noted this peculiarity.

I have not seen much mention made in the Canadian press of the power which labour combinations are exercising as a factor in American politics. Their creed embodies, for the most part, French Communism and German Socialism, together with repudiation of the nation's liabilities, unlimited issue of greenbacks, and the driving of Chinese labourers from the country. The success of this new political party in California, and the arrival of its chief apostle in Boston the other day, with the purpose to commence the extensive propagation of its principles, have made the politicians of the old parties very restless and excited. When this party shall have attained to power,—and they say they will have their candidate, Ben Butler, in the White House in 1880,—one of their first acts is to be the burning of all law books. Following this, there is to be an equal division of all property and wealth. Banks are to be wiped out of existence, the Government is to provide every man with employment or the means of subsistence, but no man's yearly income is to exceed $1,900 a year. This party seriously proposes to carry out in practice these and similar principles, and that it is in earnest and has hope of success, is seen in its daily increasing organizations and extraordinary vitality in nearly every State. It is strange that these men don't see (probably the leaders won't see) that it is the accumulation of capital that renders great undertakings possible, and provides employment. It is not the man with a thousand dollars a year who builds mills, and factories, and foundries, and ships, and houses, without which there would be no means of living for the very men who are seeking to destroy the wealth through whose power they are fed.

Lady Macdonald is among the guests at the Old Orchard House, but on enquiry I am informed that Sir John does not accompany her, being occupied in fighting the political battle in Ontario.

A weekly hop is one of the pleasures indulged in by the guests of the large hotels, and it is quite evident from the magnificence of the jewels, and the elaborate dresses of the ladies who attend them, that there are people here whom the hard times don't affect very seriously.

The majority of the people who bathe go in the water once a day, but a large number indulge twice. I am among the latter, and have not found the practice injurious in any way. The variation in the temperature of the water is very great. In the morning it may be warm enough to enable one to remain in as long as one desires, and in the afternoon it may be twenty degrees colder, and require not a small amount of courage on the part of the bather who will plunge head first into a breaker. Warm or cold, however, it is always delightful.

Old Orchard Camp Meeting

began on Thursday last under the direction of Dr. Chas. Cullis, an eminent physician of Boston. The Doctor is a man of fine presence and agreeable manner, who speaks with power and manages with ability, and who evidently believes in and aims earnestly to live the "higher life." The following is the published programme for the daily meetings : 6 to 7 o'clock, before breakfast, prayer meeting; 7 to 8:30, breakfast and private prayer, each tent to be closed; 8:30 to 10, general prayer and conference meeting; 10:30 to 12, preaching; 12, dinner; 2 to 2:30, general prayer and conference meeting; 3:30 to 5, Bible reading; 5:30 tea; 6:30 to 7:30, ministerial conference; 7:30 to 9, preaching. Other meetings are improvised as occasion may require. Among those who are here and will be here to take prominent part in the meetings are Bishop Fallows, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Dr. Lawrie, Rev. Daniel Steele, D. D., Rev. A. B. Earle, D. D., Rev. Isaac M. See, etc. The various evangelical churches of the United States, I understand, are represented by these gentlemen, and although the names of Canadian ministers do not appear officially, I have had the pleasure of seeing the Rev. Mr. Dobbs, Church of England, of Kingston, and the Rev. Mr. Burson, Presbyterian Church, of St. Catharines, taking an active part in the meetings. Yesterday (Sunday) I attended several of the services. In the morning Dr. Lowrie, of New York, preached a sermon on the "higher life," which was a powerful and logical argument from scripture that it is possible for a Christian to become so matured that "body, soul and spirit may be preserved blameless," which is the "perfection," he maintained, taught by, and enjoined upon, Christians by Christ and his Apostles. However one might question the preacher's deductions and conclusions, one could not remain unmoved by his eloquence.

In contrast to the learning and eloquence of the preacher of the morning we had in the evening a sermon from a minister of little ability and meagre education, who "tore round" in an extraordinary manner. After the fashion of ignorance he attempted no argument, but was strong in the dogmatic assertion of nonsense. He stated that for a Christian to stop short of the "perfection" he believed in was to be "leagued with the devil," that if a christian who had not attained "perfection" in this world should get to heaven, he would feel so uncomfortable there that he would be glad to "bow himself out," that the Christian who stops short of this state practically says he doesn't believe God's promises, and that "angels both blush and weep for him," which is a new idea of the occupation of angels. While one could see by Dr. Lowrie's air the "beauty of holiness," one could neither be convinced nor converted by the evening preacher.

It was a magnificent sight in the camp meeting grounds last night, when the doxology was being sung by the vast congregation led by a most efficient choir; twilight had scarcely faded, and through the trees the stars were just becoming visible, the ocean could not be seen but its nearness was indicated in the evening air as it stirred the forest and cooled the cheek, and moved by these surroundings how among the assembled thousands failed to catch the inspiration of the scene and sing in earnest "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

My "Sea Side Jottings" have been given to your readers and, reserving for a future time notes of a visit to Boston and Harvard University, I give myself to work.

Drowned by his Dog.—Michael McCormick, express driver, rode his horse to the bar in the bend of the river, above the railroad bridge, last evening. After taking the animal into the water and washing it he hitched it to a bush on the bank and went swimming. He was with Mr. Baldwin and his son, who remained near the shore. They observed that McCormick's large bulldog, which was bathing with his master, kept sportively climbing upon him as he swam, thus pushing him under the water. They started toward him, but he threw the dog off, and when they called to know whether he wanted help he shook his head. They then started to swim back but when they looked soon afterward the dog was on McCormick again, and before they could assist him he sank and was drowned.—Terre Haute Express.

A young advocate, when pleading before the Court of Session, took the liberty of saying, in his great zeal for his client, that he was surprised at the conduct of their lordships. The court was indignant at the expression, as being disrespectful. Lord Pitfour observed, that such an expression must have proceeded entirely from the inexperience of the advocate, for, if he had known them as long as he had done, he would not have been surprised at anything which they might do.

MAGNETIC BATHS.

IT is nearly four years since we commenced practicing Clairvoyantly in this place, with Magnetic hand treatment, or what some would term animal magnetism, in connection with our improved Electro-Thermal Bath—and for the benefit of suffering humanity we publish the following Certificates, to show the public what we have done and are doing daily. We shall still continue our practice, at the old Petrie homestead, four doors south of the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge's, Front Street, Belleville.

RECEIVED MY SIGHT.

This is to certify, that I was almost blind with cataracts over both of my eyes, and I went to every place I heard of, and still got no help. But after eight months' suffering, I heard of Madame Hyatt, and I am happy to say that in two weeks I could see as well as ever, by her wonderful Clairvoyant treatment.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE.

This is to certify that I was troubled with a Tape-worm for a number of years, and could get no relief from any source until I called on Mrs. Hyatt, the well known Clairvoyant, who only gave me six powders to remove the whole.
DANIEL FRETZ,
I concur in the truth of the above certificate given by my daughter to Mrs. Hyatt.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, AUG. 6.

City and Vicinity.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Hugel, President of the Midland Railway, was in town to-day.

THE CELLS.—The cells contained three inmates last night, one being a tramp and the other two prisoners.

SCHOOL BOARD.—A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held this evening at the usual hour and place.

THE ARBITRATION.—This work drags its slow length along. It is, however, expected that the labor of the arbitration will be brought to a close this week.

ANOTHER BAND.—A fife and drum band in connection with the Orange True Blue Lodge in this city is shortly to be established here.

THE YACHTS.—The City of Belleville passed the yachts which left this port yesterday afternoon, at Roblin's Mills this morning at half past six o'clock.

THE COUNCIL.—There was not enough Aldermen to constitute a quorum for a meeting, and as a consequence there was no session of the City Council last evening.

BAND IN PICTON.—The Picton Gazette says that a brass band is being organized from members of the Lodge of Orange Young Britons, Picton. Although composed of members of this Society, the band will be entirely independent of it.

THE RAIN.—A rain beginning before 11 o'clock last night continued with slight interruption during the entire night, the downpour at times being very heavy. Farmers are experiencing "catching" weather during this harvest.

LACROSSE.—The Kingston News says the Okas of Belleville will play the Maple Leaf Lacrosse Club in that city on the Civic holiday which has been appointed for the 12th of August. The game is to be for a silver cup which will be presented to the champion club between Belleville and Brockville.

THE ANNUAL EXCURSION and PIC-NIC of St. Andrew's Church Sabbath Schools, per steamer City of Belleville to Indian Woods and Lake of the Mountain on (D.V.) Friday, Aug. 9th. Boat leaves the wharf at 9 a. m. sharp, returning in time to reach Belleville not later than 7:30. Fare 25 cents. d3t

For the young, the aged, and the infirm, SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

I. O. G. T.—At the last regular meeting of the Belleville Lodge I. O. G. T. held in their Hall, the following officers for the ensuing term were installed :—I. Diamond, W.C.T. ; Mrs. Dick, W.V.T. ; F. Hynes, W. R. S. ; C. Holden, W. F. S. : D. C. Ferguson, W. T. ; R. Dick, W. C. ; J. H. Robinson, W.M. ; Miss Pringle, W.D.M. ; W. Clark, W. I. G. ; W. Ellis, W. O. G. ; E. L. Acnger, P. W. C. T.

SOME GOOD IN THEM AFTER ALL.—The Ottawa Citizen says :—"It has been frequently said that the much abused potato bug would show to the world some day that it was not placed upon this sublunary sphere for nothing. The announcement is now made that the oil of potato bug is sure death to rheumatism, and several people in the vicinity of the city are said to have been greatly benefitted by its use."

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Emma Bonter was brought here last night from Napanee by Sergeant McCrudden charged with the larceny of a number of articles the property of Mrs. Mitchell. The property was taken from a place outside the city limits and known as "The Farm" where the prisoner, until recently has lived. She appeared before the court to-day and was remanded owing to the absence of the prosecutrix who was unable to appear.

LAYING UP.—The Kingston Whig says :—"Several vessels have gone "into ordinary," having failed to procure sufficient to pay their usual running expenses. Vessels owners and captains are not by any means buoyant and hopeful, and they cannot be expected to be otherwise under the existing circumstances. It is impossible to even conjecture when bottom figures will be reached ; they seem to be going down to a point at which shipper and sailing master will be equally ashamed to look at them."

THE BARLEY TRADE.—The Kingston News says :—"The price of barley in Chicago has taken a sudden and apparently not very healthy rise. It is evident that a corner is being got up in this grain, with the view of causing the farmers to hold on to it until Canadian dealers are willing to give more than the price now ruling. We are informed that this will not be done in the meantime at all events, and the expectation is that the Chicago ring will be burst and somebody hurt before long. Local rates have not advanced, and no new crop has yet been brought into the city. We are told that the quality on the whole is excellent, particularly Bay of Quinte barley."

WORKING HOURS.—An exchange preaches a new idea in the following : "Why working hours in the long days of Summer should be the same as in the short days of Winter, it is difficult to understand. In July and August, from 4 to 6 o'clock in the morning are two of the coolest, and most delightful hours in the day, and from 6 until 8 in the evening, for working purposes, are nearly as good. Hours might easily be arranged in many employments that would allow workingmen to lie by from 11 in the morning till four in the afternoon, and make up the time in the cool mornings and evenings. A change like this would save life and health to many a sweltering workman, who seems to think it a law that never can be changed that he must labor steadily on under a mid-day sun."

CANADIAN METHODIST MAGAZINE FOR AUGUST. Rev. S. Rose, Publisher, Toronto. $2.00 a year. Single numbers 20 cents.—The most noted article in this number is one of vivid interest, on "Stanley's Explorations in Africa," copiously illustrated, to be followed by another article. "On the Susquehanna," gives a charming series of views of Fairmount Park, Philadelphia, en route to that historic river. A third handsomely-illustrated article gives an account of that beautiful summer resort, "The Grimsby Camp-ground." The Canadian story gives a graphic account of the hero's introduction to a well-known Canadian University, with life-like pen portraits of its professoriate, of course under pseudonymes : all old students and many others will recognize them at once. "The Martyrs of Canada," recounts the heroic death of the missionaries Brebeuf and Lalemant, near Lake Simcoe, two hundred and fifty years ago. A reprint article of great value is Sir Wm. Hamilton's celebrated Essay on the Existence of God, the Immortality of the Soul, and Materialistic Science. The project of a Dominion University is discussed with vigor. There are other articles of interest in prose and verse, with vigorous Current Notes on the Twelfth in Montreal, the Berlin Treaty, the Anglo-Turkish Convention, etc.

TUESDAY, Aug. 6.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

John Joice, charged as above, was allowed to go.

STEALING.

Emma Bonter was charged with stealing a revolver, the property of David Andrews. The chief testified that Jessie Wilson handed him the revolver. The prisoner and Jessie Wilson were remanded for a week.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, August 6.—In the International pigeoon shooting match to-day between Bogardus and Coventry, Bogardus won by one bird.

PARIS, Aug. 6.—A committee of organization has been formed with the view of opening from the 8th to 22nd September, a grand international shooting match, to which the French foreign societies and delegations from active and territorial will be invited.

ARMA, Ill., August 6.—Mrs. Smith, Miss Miller, and Miss Matthias, while running to shelter from a storm on Sunday evening, were instantly killed by a large oak falling on them.

VIENNA, Aug. 6.—The Emperor Francis Joseph and Archduke Rodolph, son of the Emperor, will arrive at Teplitz to-day on a visit to Emperor Frederick William.

The Austrian troops entered Mostar, in Herzegovina, at 6 o'clock Monday evening without opposition, the inhabitants appearing very friendly.

NEW YORK, Aug 6.—John Schoenman, President of the Teutonia Savings Bank, gave bonds this morning to answer a charge of swearing false in regard to the affairs of the bank.

PHŒNIXVILLE, Pa., Aug. 6.—Robt. Townsend was killed and Edward Roberts fatally injured by lightning last night.

CANTON, Pa., Aug. 6.—The heavy rain storm last night caused the Water Company's reservoir to give way, causing considerable damage to buildings and bridges.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 6.—The rain this morning washed the track of the Erie and Pattersonville Valley, delaying the trains. Orange street is flooded.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 6.—The Journal reports of the election from several points in Kentucky show Frankfort, Newport and Lexington gave a majority for the Nationals. In Louisville Catholics and anti-Catholics were opposed, anti-Catholics winning.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 6.—V. Pike, aged 22, clerk in a Broadway bank, New York, was drowned here last night.

By a collision on the Lehigh Valley Road near Boundbrook last night, several coal cars were smashed, an engine wrecked, a fireman killed, and an engineer fatally injured.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Royal B. Conant, defaulting cashier of the Eliot National Bank, arrested yesterday, and is now in jail.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B. October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick ; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 172 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorize you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P.,
WILLIAM MAIN,
REV. THOMAS HARRIN.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle ; six bottles for $5.00. dd&w1m

Sunday's Storm.

Toronto papers continue to report additional particulars of Sunday's great storm. The accounts published on Monday morning conveyed but a faint idea of the damage done to buildings, gardens, roads and bridges.

From despatch, and information supplied by farmers and other residents of the country west and north of Toronto, it would appear that the hail storm began in the neighborhood of Brampton, and moving in a southeast direction swept over a tract of country from five to six miles in with,lying between that town and Victoria Park. Roughly speaking, hail fell over a district embracing at least one hundred square miles. The rain area of course was much more extensive. Mr. Joseph Ruse, a gardener who lives on Stock's side, line, about half a mile north from the mouth of the Mimico Creek, states that he was watching the heavens at the time, and he observed a cloud coming over the lake ; looking towards the east he saw another one over Leslieville and moving north-west ; and finally a third appeared over Port Credit and floated in a north-easterly direction. The three seemed to unite soon after and immediately rain and hail began to descend.

A farmer, an intelligent observer from Mimico township, reports the crops badly beaten down, and a great deal of damage and embarrassment caused by washing out of roads and carrying away of bridges. There is not a bridge left on the Mimico creek, well from the Lake Shore road five miles up. At Islington, where the creek crosses Dundas street, the damage has been serious. Small buildings in the flats have been carried down stream, the postmaster losing a shed with vehicles and contents, and the general loss being swelled by the total destruction of the fine bridge crossing the Mimico at this point on Dundas street. The wreck of the bridge, and the debris carried down for miles beyond, all stranded a short distance below the village, formed a distressing spectacle on the morning after the flood.

THE STORM ELSEWHERE.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 5.—During the hail and rain storm which visited the city between twelve and one o'clock the house of Mr. John Burridge, in the township of Westminster, was struck. The lightning struck the chimney, and proceeding downwards damaged the stove and articles near it. Mrs. Burridge, and two children were stunned from the effect of the shock.

NEW HAMBURG, Aug. 5.—Yesterday the township of East Zorra was visited by one of the most terrible hurricanes ever witnessed in that section. About 4 p. m. the rain fell in torrents, the wind uprooted trees and unroofed houses, fences were scattered in all directions, and corn and other crops were laid down as if a roller had gone over them. About four inches of rain fell.

MONTREAL, Aug. 5.—A perceptible shock of earthquake was felt yesterday in and around Terrebonne, followed by a tremendous hail storm, which broke the windows and inflicted serious injury on the crops. Some of the hailstones were as large as hen's eggs.

KING CREEK, Aug. 5.—Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock the barn on lot 3, 7th con. King, tenanted by John T. Wells, was struck by lightning and burned down. It contained sixteen acres of wheat and barley, four tons of hay, three sets of harness, and one lumber waggon. No insurance.

COLUMBUS, Ont., Aug. 5.—A thunder storm broke over this part of the country yesterday afternoon. In this neighborhood it was only an ordinary thunder storm, harm only being done about two hours afterwards by the streams over-flowing. North of this place, however, on the ridges torrents of rain fall, inflicting great damage in many places, completely thrashing the fields of grains. Numbers of bridges, fences, and trees were swept away. Several dams were also damaged, but only one has suffered seriously, viz., that of Mr. Henry Bickle, between here and Brooklin. Sixty feet of the dam being carried away, the water from the race flowed into the office and started the mill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 5.—This afternoon the city was visited by a terrific storm. Forty or fifty houses were unroofed and extensive damage done to many houses in course of erection. Castle Stewart, rented to the Chinese Embassy, was damaged to the extent of $15,000. Mary Sharp, a colored woman, residing in a small house near the river bank, was killed by being blown into the river with the house. Several persons are reported injured by lightning. The Patent office, Smithsonian Institute, office of the Post, and the Holy Cross Church of the Communion were struck by lightning. Many business houses are flooded. The damage to public and private property will reach $75,000.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEWBURGH, Aug. 6.—On Sunday, at Haverstraw, a very heavy storm of lightning, killed Jas. Haley, at Grassy Point.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The United States District Attorney, has made a request of the United States Commissioner for the necessary papers for the arrest of the Cashier Canant, of the Eliot Bank, which expected speedily follows.

TOPEKA, KANSAS, Aug. 6.—The Topeka National Bank closed, it will probably pay in full all deposits.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Arrived, the steamship Scythia, from Liverpool.

Bennett supposed to be implicated for the murder of policeman Smith, in Jersey City, was arrested last night.

The Herald has a document in which the writer claims the killing of Smith, because Smith had tried to supplant him with his girl. He details the manner of killing, and says Mrs. Smith is entirely innocent.

A San Antonia despatch says : Escobedo is pardoned and will issue a circular to his adherents to support the Diaz Government.

"A Miss Joy was present at a party recently, and in the course of the evening some one used the quotation, "A thing of beauty is a joy for ever," when she exclaimed, "I'm glad I'm not a beauty, for I should not like to be a Joy for ever."

A certain lady had a custom of saying to a favourite little dog, to make him follow her, "Come along, sir !" A would-be-witty gentleman stepped up to her one day, and accosted her with, is it me, madame, you called ?" "Oh, no, sir," said the lady with great composure ; "it was another puppy I spoke to."

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours : For the Lower Lake region, moderate to fresh southerly to westerly winds, and warmer weather with thunder storms in some localities during the day. For the St. Lawrence, moderate to fresh easterly to southerly winds and cloudy to partly cloudy weather, with rain areas or thunder storms. For the Maritime Provinces moderate to fresh southerly to easterly winds and cloudy weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Indications :—occasional rains followed by clearing weather.

BELLEVILLE MARKETS.

INTELLIGENCER OFFICE,
Belleville, Aug. 6, 1878.

BARLEY.—A few samples of barley has been marketed as yet for which No. 1 brought 60c. The quality as to color of what was marketed was good, but the weight light, no doubt the sample was better than the average sample will be, as there must be a large quantity of colored barley in the late cutting. Our information leads us to believe that there will not be over two-thirds as much barley in this district this year as compared with last, and the weight lighter than last year, averaging perhaps from 46 to 47 lbs. to the bushel.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory a still greater value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the condition of our many and valuable County, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of the Criminal and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to connect more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory, for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Fruit Garden.

The early crops being off, the plants must be treated with reference to next year's bearing.

GROWERS OF PLANTS advise spring planting, and with good reason, their propagating beds keep pushing out runners, which take root and form new plants until cold weather checks them. If planting is done in the fall, it should be done early—not later than September; and to furnish plants at this time the nurseryman is obliged to waste much labor, which if let alone for a few weeks would make good plants for his spring sales.

IN FALL PLANTING, the ground is in such excellent condition, and other work is not so pressing as in the spring, that those who raise their own plants will find it advantageous to set at this season. If the plants are at hand, they can be set early in September, after very hot weather is over; at this time the outer leaves of the plant should be removed, leaving only the central bud, if the season is favorable for a late growth, the chances are that a fair crop may be gathered next spring.

BLACKBERRIES AND RASPBERRIES.—The new growth for next year having been selected, all other shoots are to be destroyed. Pinching the growing end, when the canes are tall enough, and at least one month will cause side shoots to grow, and these, when 12 or 18 inches long, according to the kind, are to have their growth stopped by pinching. Proper attention at this season will result in well branched stocky plants, with abundant fruit next year. Black caps and those red varieties that do not form suckers, are to have their new shoots required for next year's fruiting similarly pinched and all others that will make the bush too dense are to be removed.

GRAPE VINES need watching for the first appearance of mildew. Some varieties, especially those hybrids containing a cross of the European vine, are usually very susceptible to mildew than the natives. When the leaves of any vine in the collection, show grayish white spots on the underside, or the stems of the clusters show a mouldy appearance, apply sulphur to the whole, as it acts as a preventive, as well as a cure. The dealers furnish bellows for the purpose, which allow the under-side of the leaves to be reached. Apply on a still day, and diffuse a slight but uniform dusting over the whole vine. If laterals continue to push, pinch back as heretofore directed.

INSECTS, are still to be fought; the fall web-worm is not particular as to its choice, and spreads its net here and there. The large beetles and caterpillars upon the grape are to be hand-picked.

Women in the London Telegraph Office.

Eight hundred young women at work all in one office all looking comfortable, most of them pretty, earning fair wages at easy work—work fit for women to do; work at which they can sit and rest, and not be weary, with a kitchen at hand and a hot dinner in the middle of the day, with leave of absence without stoppage of pay in the year, with a doctor for sickness and a pension for old age—for the young women as years roll on will become old—with only eight hours of work, never before nine o'clock in the morning, and never after eight o'clock at night, with female superintendents, and the chance of rising to a superintendent's much grander place—this a Government office, under Government surveillance, and all this has sprung into existence during the past eight years. The General Postoffice is in St. Martin-Le-Grand, near St. Pauls, and there are also two great Postoffices at the same place, facing each other, the older one having been found altogether insufficient for the purposes required, although when it was opened about forty years ago, it was supposed to be absurdly large for any possible requirements which the country could have for such a building. Those who pass from Cheapside into Newgate street, after the lamps have been lighted will observe, on looking up, that the whole top floor of this new building is illuminated. It is here that the eight hundred young women are, and their business consists in the receipts and despatch of telegraph messages. After discovering that at least eight hundred women can keep a secret (secrecy is essential there) Mr. Chaplope asked: "How many dismissals did you have during last year?" For I had known much of a Civil Service myself, and had been aware that in dealing with large bodies of men, the discipline must have recourse to that fast means of declaring that obedience are indispensible." "Dismissed?" said my friend. "Yes-s, we have had a dismissal. Miss ——was dismissed, but it seems to me a long time a ago. I'll get the books." The books were, produced, and it appeared that the unfortunate named had been sent away in 1873. A body of public servants as large as a regiment there had been no dismissals in over four years.—Anthony Trollope in Good Words.

Why we have Hot Weather.

At 24 minutes after three o'clock on the morning of July 1st, the sun was in apogee, and this was the time when the earth, the earth reached the part of her orbit in which she is at the greatest distance from the sun. For, strange as it may seem, the earth is now three millions of miles farther from the sun than she was last January. Taking the most approved estimation of the sun's distance and using round numbers to express the sum, the distance between the sun and the earth is at present ninety-three millions of miles, while in mid-winter the two bodies are ninety millions of miles apart. The difference between these figures is the reason we do not have the coolest weather when the sun is farthest away. This is easily explained, for the sun's rays fall perpendicularly upon the earth in midsummer, and obliquely in midwinter; the intensity of the heat far overbalancing the difference in the distance. The summer heat is, however, lessened by the greater distance of the central fire, for in the southern hemisphere, where the sun is in perigee at midsummer, the heat is intensified, and the temperature is higher in Australia and Southern Africa than in corresponding latitudes north of the equator. It is well we were not living about thirty-six hundred years before the coming of Adam, for the sun was then in perigee during the northern summer, and in apogee during the northern winter. Sir John Herschell estimates that the northern summer at that distant period of the world's history was twenty-three degrees hotter, and the northern winter twenty degrees colder than it is at present. Every inhabitant of the north temperate zone has therefore reason to be grateful that the sun is in apogee at this season, for what would become of the poor mortals who have been simmering in the intense heat of the last few weeks, if they were required to bear a temperature from ten to twenty degrees higher than the nineties in which the thermometer has been mercilessly revelling!

"Pulmonary Consumption arises from a decline or deficiency of vitality in the natural bioplasma or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting thereby of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm, into a sluggish, low-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in the common disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaining the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus provide for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N.B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

UNDER powers of sale in Mortgages to the vendors, which will be produced at the time of Sale, default in payment having been made, there will be offered for sale by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878, at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows:

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom that portion thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Cheese Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, and containing by admeasurement, two hundred acres, be the same more or less, together with all the Mills, Buildings and Erections on the above granted premises, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof heretofore sold to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, also to W. T. Bird, John G. Bird, Mathew Townsend and Henry Alkenbrack, also the right of way granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc runs through this lot, which is situate 10 miles from Belleville. The North half is heavily timbered with valuable Beech, Maple, Pine and Cedar. On it is a never-failing spring creek.

On the South half are a Stone Dwelling House, a Stone Store and Dwelling connected, a Frame Tavern with good Sheds and Stables connected; also a Frame Dwelling with Barn and Sheds connected with the Farm. A Stone Grist Mill touches on this lot.

These half lots will be offered in one parcel, and if not then sold will be offered separately.

PARCEL III.

That portion of the south-west quarter of lot number two, in said eighth concession of Thurlow, purchased by A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., from Joseph Lafferty and wife, together with all the mills, buildings and erections on the above granted premises.

This parcel is situate on the Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On it are a stone House and Frame Barn.

TERMS:

One-fifth of Purchase Money to be paid down at time of sale, the balance in four equal annual instalments, to be secured by a Mortgage on the premises, with interest at the rate of seven per cent., per annum. The other conditions of Sale will be made known at time of sale.

CLARK v. BOGART.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated the 13th day of June 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at his Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely:

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 19th paragraph of the Bill of Complaint herein. This parcel has a frontage of 87 feet 9 inches, and comprises the handsome two-story brick dwelling house at present occupied by Dr. Wilson, with grounds, stables, and out-buildings attached.

PARCEL 2.

Part of lot 15, on West side of Pinnacle Street, according to said plan of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 20th paragraph of the said Bill of Complaint as follows: Commencing on the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street, at the southeast angle of lot No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 55½ links, thence westerly, parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, or 137 links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Dafoe House, now occupied by Dr. Hamilton. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4.

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Hazlett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall. On the premises in the rear are extensive warehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Hazlett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 10th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ¼ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 176 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Waller, Esq., and is a first class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 66 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in the Concession of Township of Thurlow, 123 links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now calle l Lattimer Street; thence north 15° 45' east along said Boundary Commissioners Line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore deeded to John Bell, Esq.; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between the two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 77 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 10 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises are the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Furnival, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 4 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said Lot letter A, and which may be better described as follows:—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 199 links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48½ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30 west along said fence 2 chains 67 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ⅓ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being part of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of John Street 76 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John Street, as laid down on P. L. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 157 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 30 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises two of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street. This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole forms by far the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up as 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds nor is he possessed of, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of 10 per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-seventhe of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalments—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, G. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 7.

City and Vicinity.

Marine.—The steamer Kincardine arrived this morning with passengers and a general cargo.

On a Cruise.—The yacht Zephyr with a crew of five, left here yesterday for a cruise among the Thousand Islands.

The Cells.—Only one prisoner relieved the melancholy of the night vigils of the policeman who took charge of the cells last night.

Emigrants.—Two hundred emigrants, English, Irish and Scotch, accompanied by eighty Scandinavians, who came out by the Moravian, passed west yesterday, the greater part of whom remain in Canada.

The Kingston Route.—During the absence of the steamer Hastings, at Rochester, N. Y., her place is to be supplied by the Geneva, one of the fastest steamers on the bay.

International Rifle Match.—The National Rifle Association of the United States has decided to hold an international rifle match, to which competitors from the United Kingdom and Canada will be admitted.

Heavy Rain.—About 7 o'clock last evening Belleville and vicinity were visited with the heaviest rain storm of the season. For about half an hour the rain came down in torrents, making little rivers of water courses, and flooding low places.

Marine.—The schooner Rainbow left here last night with a cargo of lumber for Picton. The steamer Kincardine arrived here this morning from Oswego. The steamer Armenia is reported to have had her wheel broken yesterday whilst on her route from Kingston to Picton.

International Railway Guide.—We have received the August number of the "International Railway and Steamboat Guide," which has in the past proved indispensible to travellers. It is published by Messrs Chisholm Bros., Montreal, and is well worth the price it is sold—20 cents per copy.

The Annual Excursion and Pic-Nic of St. Andrew's Church Sabbath Schools, per steamer City of Belleville to Indian Woods and Lake of the Mountain on (D.V.) Friday, Aug. 9th. Boat leaves the wharf at 9 a. m. sharp, returning in time to reach Belleville not later than 7:30. Fare 25 cents. d3t

For the young, the aged, and the infirm, Sanford's Jamaica Ginger.

Another Hot Wave.—It will be seen by our telegraphic advices from the West that another hot wave has started eastward. In the ordinary course of events it may be expected to reach here about the 9th inst., and if it increases in the same intensity on its eastward progress as the last one did, we may look out for a red-hot time.

Burglary.—At about 2 o'clock last night the servant at Mr. John Phippen's was awakened by hearing a noise as of some one breaking into the house. Officer Newton was sent for who found John Lawlor in the house lying on the floor where he had got in by the window; when first aroused he appeared to be very drunk. He appeared before the police court to answer the charge.

Preparing.—In view of the near approach of the grain season Messrs. W. H. Campbell & Co. are making extensive improvements in their elevator. The whole foundation of the building has been filled so that should any break occur in the storehouse the grain would not go into the river. They have also enlarged and improved the capacity of the elevator so that it can now hold 60,000 bushels. Messrs. Lee & Vandervoort are fitting up a storehouse for the reception of grain this fall.

The Hastings Gold Region.—On the first page of to-day's paper, we commence the publication of a lengthy, but very interesting description of the Hastings Gold Region, written by one who displays a very intimate and generally accurate knowledge of the history of the gold operations in North Hastings. Its publication in the Globe will no doubt be of value to our mining interests, bringing as it will more prominently before a large constituency the rich and vast resources of the mineral wealth of this county. The article will be concluded in to-morrow's issue.

Police Court.

(Before A. Diamond P. M.)

Wednesday, Aug. 7.

James Skelton, was charged with using insulting language to Ann Ferguson and Daniel Ferguson.

A young lady the other evening said a pretty thing. She has many admirers among the limbs of the law, and on being asked how she escaped the whole, said she supposed it was owing to the fact that "in a multitude of counsellors there is safety."

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A special meeting of the Board of Education called for general purposes was held last night.

Present.—The Chairman W. A. Shepard, Messrs. Wensley, Peterson, Peck, Burke, Johnson, Tennant, I. Diamond, McInnis, Doctor, Jas. Macoun and Newbery.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following communications were read:—

From Carl Richter, asking permission to introduce vocal and instrumental music into the schools.

From Miss Austin and Miss Sangster applying for positions as teachers.

Mr. Peck on behalf of the Finance Committee presented the following report:—

To the Board of Education of the City of Belleville.

Gentlemen,—We the Committee on Finance, Assessments and Salaries, beg leave to report:

1st That it is necessary and expedient that a rate of four and a quarter mills on the dollar be levied and collected according to assessed value for the year 1878 for school purposes, on those portions of the second concession of the Township of Thurlow united with the Town, now the City of Belleville, for school purposes.

2nd. That we beg leave to present a By-law to be passed by this Board authorizing and requesting the Municipal Council of the Township of Thurlow to levy and collect said rate for the said year as provided by Law.

All of which is respectfully submitted,
(Signed)
J. H. Peck,
W. A. Shepard,
C. Peterson,
Wm. Wensley,
Wm. Tennent,

The By-law in reference to the collection of taxes, referred to in the report, was read a first time.

Mr. Johnston, on behalf of the Committee of School Management, presented the following report which was adopted.

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education of the City of Belleville.

Gentlemen.—Your Committee on School Management submit the following report.

In compliance with the resolution of the Board your Secretary-Treasurer advertised for experienced teachers to fill the vacancies at present existing in the Public Schools. In response to these advertisements, seventeen applications have been received and have been examined by the Committee. Nearly all the applicants hold Second Class Certificates, but the majority of them require salaries beyond what you are accustomed to pay, one of them wanting a salary of $450, five of them $400, one $350 and one $325.

We recommend that Miss Susan H. Bollard, of Kingston, be appointed teacher of Division No. 2, in Pinnacle St. School, at a salary of $300 per annum, from the 2nd of September. Carried.

That Miss Emeline Clarke, of Peterboro., be appointed teacher of Division No. 5, in Octavia St. School, at a salary of $300 per annum, from the 2nd of September.—Carried.

That Miss Ida M. Jack, of Belleville, be appointed teacher of Division No. 2, in Canifton Road School, at a salary of $250 per annum, from the 2nd of September.—Carried.

Mr. Jas Macoun, on behalf of the Committee on Printing and Supplies, reported verbally that they had purchased the coal for the schools from Mr. Lockwood at the rate of $5.20 per ton.

The Inspector presented his report for the quarter.—Received and referred to Committee on School Management.

BY-LAWS.

The Board went into Committee on By-laws' Mr. Tennant in the chair.

The Finance Committee's report was adopted, and the By-law to levy an assessment on a portion of Thurlow was read a second time.

Committee rose and reported.—Report adopted.

The By-law to levy an assessment on a portion of Thurlow was read a third time, passed and numbered.

The Board went into Committee of the Whole upon the report of the Committee on School Management. Mr. Tennent in the chair.

The first three clauses of the report were adopted, when the Committee rose and asked leave to sit again.—Granted.

The Board adjourned.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—Owing to the circulation of incorrect statements touching the sad accident that occurred on my farm a few days ago, I thought it might be of some interest to the public that I should send you a brief statement of the facts of the case. The man Michael La Valle was mowing alone about one hundred rods from the house. Hearing terrible groans I rushed to the spot and found the poor fellow leaning against the fence in a fainting condition and almost bloodless. I tied a knot in one of my suspenders, putting the knot over the principal artery, tied it tight and almost completely stopped the bleeding. In fifty minutes from the time I found him Dr. Wilson arrived, washed the wound, took up the arteries, and did in my opinion all that could have been done. He remained about three hours. By the free use of stimulants the man's life was prolonged till midnight. The accident happened at 10 a. m.

It seems, upon examination of the spot where the accident occurred, and from what we were able to elicit from the dying man, that he rested the snaith upon a hump of earth, and after sharping the scythe, while reaching to put the whetstone on the fence, the snaith slipped off the hump of earth and in falling drew the blade across his arm cutting it nearly half off. He had walked about eighty rods. The Dr. called at 6 o'clock in the evening and again at seven the next morning. He evinced great interest in the patient from the first and did his work gratuitously.

I regret the circumstances that seemed to me to demand this explanation, but in the interest of all concerned, I deem it advisable to make it.

I am, &c.,
N. Vermilyea.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

A Lawyer once asked a judge to charge the jury that "it is better that ninety-and-nine guilty men should escape than that one innocent man should be punished." "Yes," said the witty judge, "I will give that charge, but in the opinion of the Court the ninety-and-nine guilty men have already escaped in this country."

MORNING DESPATCHES.

EUROPEAN.

London, Aug. 7.—In the House of Commons last evening, during Colonel Stanley's speech in reference to the reserves, Major O'Gorman cheered derisively and refused to apologize. The Speaker thereupon formally "named" him. Major O'Gorman then left the House on the Speaker's order. It is said that O'Gorman was smarting under a sense of personal wrong, Stanley having unjustly refused O'Gorman's son promotion.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 7.—Robert A. Jenkins, of Granville County, heretofore a leading Democrat, has declared himself a candidate for Congress upon the National platform.

Bismarck, D. T., Aug. 7.—Major Walsh reports Sitting Bull and people as destitute, the cry for American reservation is daily heard in their camps. Hostiles must either starve or fight.

On the 30th of July, at Fort Keogh, Jim Crow Collins, a gambler, shot bugler Thomas of the 2nd cavalry. The soldiers of his company surrounded the jail and wounded the Sheriff. A fight ensued between Collins and the soldiers. A soldier named Hurley was killed, and another named Sanders wounded. Another company of soldiers put down the riot.

Advices from Bear Paw Mountains report the excitement over, only forty men being left in the gold diggings. Grasshoppers yesterday ate up half the crops.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund have discovered an over issue of $100,000 of the State loan of 1853. The State records have disappeared, and there is difficulty in tracing the fraud.

New York, Aug. 7.—The Times washington special says: The number of gallons of spirits returned for taxation for the year ending July 30th, were:—50,704,189 gallons, against 58,542,390 gallons for the preceding year. The figures also show a loss of nearly a million dollars from tobacco; about four hundred thousand from Banks and Bankers. The increased consumption of fermented liquors is shown by nearly half a million increase in revenue.

The new steamship City of Para, left yesterday, for the south of America, on her second trip, carrying 25 cabin and 21 steerage passengers. Her freight list included a large quantity of flour, assorted merchandise and products.

New York, Aug. 7.—The storm in this vicinity yesterday was very severe. The damage to streets and sewers in Newark is $10,000. The loss in West Orange, N. J., is about the same.

The record of the day, received last night, shows that it is extremely hot in the southwest. At Bismarck the temperature was 94°, and hot weather prevails in the place which sent forth the recent hot wave. It is conjectured that another hot wave is on its way eastward.

Only 114 cabin passengers sail for Europe to-day in three steamers.

Arrived S. S. France from London

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

London, Aug. 7.—The Times says the prices of U. S. bonds continue to weaken owing to the noticeable diminution of American purchasers. They seem to fluctuate more or less with the shipments of grain, probably; therefore with the renewed activity recently observed in the American wheat trade, the price of bonds will again harden. It will be extremely interesting to see whether the currency demands of the American Government under the resumption scheme will not now lead to the withdrawal of gold instead of bones, for should gold gain any quantity during the coming autumn, the European money markets might be seriously embarrassed.

Paris, Aug. 7.—The names of the successful competitors at the International Exposition will be published about August 15th.

Gen. Walker, of the American delegation, to the International Monetary Congress, arrived.

London, Aug. 7.—Bogardus, the champion wing shot of the world, will sail for home on August 10th. He will shoot no more matches here.

Berlin, Aug. 7.—Conference Minister's finance, of several German states, to advise means for increasing revenues of empire, began at Heidelbery, on Monday.

Ginard, O., Aug. 7.—Wetker's woolen factory and McCartney's saw mill, was burned. Loss $32,000.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 7.—The shower yesterday did much damage in East Providence. In one place a hole 5 ft. deep was washed in the street, in which a young son of Mr. Goff was drowned.

Greenfield, Ms., Aug. 7.—A train from Millers Falls to Battleboro last night ran into a washout a mile about Northfield farms. Engineer Potter, fireman Arnold, and one Root riding on the locomotive, were killed.

Moville, Aug. 7.—Arrived, the Circassian.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Track heavy; first race, a mile, Grecian bend, filly, won,—Bertha 2nd, Bennett 3rd; time, 1:48. Second race, two miles, Princeton won; Bushwhacker 2nd, Skylark 3rd; time, 3:44. 3rd race, one mile, Bramble, the favorite, won,—Pique 2d; Eugene Robinson 3rd; time, 1:47½.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—The fast line on the Pittsburg and St. Louis railroad which left last night, met with an accident just west of Michigan Junction, Ohio. The train composed of two sleepers, one hotel car, one baggage, two postal cars and two coachers. The latter occupied by emigrants, at one in the morning. Fast-train which was 20 minutes behind and running forty miles an hour collided with the freight train, the entire train except the hotel car and sleepers were thrown from the track and fearfully wrecked. Eleven or twelve are reported killed and fifteen to twenty seriously wounded. All the passengers in the sleepers car escaped serious injury. The loss of life being confined to those in forward cars, occupied by postal clerks and emigrants.

Floods in Europe.—Communication between Moldavia and Wallachia are interrupted by floods. The railways have been seriously damaged, and will require months work to put them in working order again. Several of the iron bridges along the eastern bend of the Danube have also been washed away and several lives are reported lost.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, Aug. 7.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, westerly to southwesterly winds, fresh to brisk during the day and partly cloudy to clear weather. For the St. Lawrence, fresh southwesterly to northwesterly winds and partly cloudy weather, with showers in the lower portion during the day. For the Maritime Provinces moderate to fresh winds cloudy to partly cloudy weather with rain areas.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Indications:—clearer, partly cloudy, stationary temperature.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

Canterbury Station, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. Robinson.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. Cronkhite.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of Sanford's Radical Cure, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contains a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

McHatton, Grant & Bowen's Fire and Marine Insurance Agency, 225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. Mellier, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of Sanford's Remedy (Radical Cure), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM CURED BY COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your Collins' Voltaic Plasters. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the Collins' Voltaic Plasters for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,
Orland, Me., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the Voltaic Plasters in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours,
W. C. COLLINS, M. D.
Bucksport, Me., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain Collins' Voltaic Plaster, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is designed to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of each of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Township, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as at the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

MORTGAGE SALE OF FARM AND MILL PROPERTY,

IN THE TOWNSHIPS OF

THURLOW AND SIDNEY.

UNDER powers of sale in Mortgages to the vendors, which will be produced at the time of Sale, default in payment having been made, there will be offered for sale by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878, at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows:

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight, in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom that portion thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Cheese Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

This parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, and containing by admeasurement, one hundred acres, be the same more or less, together with all the Mills, Buildings and Erections on the above granted premises, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof heretofore sold to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, also to W. T. Bird, John G. Bird, Mathew Flinn and Henry Allenbrack, and also the right of way granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc runs through this lot, which is situate 10 miles from Belleville. The North half is heavily timbered with valuable Beech, Maple, Pine and Cedar. On it is a never-failing spring creek.

On the South half are a Stone Dwelling House, a Stone Store and Dwelling connected, a Frame Tavern with sheds and Stables connected; also a Frame Dwelling with Barn and Sheds connected with the Farm. A Stone Grist Mill of two flats on this lot.

These half lots will be offered in one parcel, and if not then sold will be offered separately.

PARCEL III.

That portion of the south-west quarter of lot number two, in said eighth concession of Thurlow, purchased by A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., from Thomas L. Todd and wife, together with all the mills, buildings and erections on the above granted premises.

This parcel is situate on the Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On it are a stone House and Frame Barn.

TERMS:

One-fifth of Purchase Money to be paid down at time of sale, the balance in four equal annual instalments, to be secured by a Mortgage on the premises, with interest at the rate of seven per cent., per annum. The other conditions of sale will be made known at time of sale.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated the 13th day of June, 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at his Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely:

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 19th paragraph of the Bill of Complaint herein. This parcel has a frontage of 87 feet 6 inches, and comprises the brick and some two-story brick dwelling house at present occupied by Dr. Willson, with grounds, stables, and outbuildings attached.

PARCEL 2.

Part of lot 15, on West side of Pinnacle Street, according to said plan of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described as follows:—Commencing on the west side of said Pinnacle Street, at the southeast angle of lot No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 58½ links, thence westerly, parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, to the east stable wall, thence southerly, in line with the outside of said stable wall, 96 links to a point 22 feet 10 inches south of the southerly limit of lot 25, thence easterly along the northerly limit of the said 83½ links, more or less, to the easterly limit of a small lot, No. 6, as shown on a plan of the sub-division of lot 24, by J. J. Haslett, P. L. S., registered the 14th day of November, 1852, thence northerly along the easterly limit of said lot 6, 22 feet, 10 inches, to the southerly limit of lot 25, thence along the southerly limit of lot 25, 139½ links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Dafoe House, now occupied by Dr. Hamilton. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4.

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Hazlett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall. On the premises in the rear are extensive storehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Hazlett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 15th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ¼ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 476 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Weller, Esq., and is a first-class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 66 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in 1st Concession of Township of Thurlow, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street; thence north 15° 45' east along said Boundary Commissioners Line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore deeded to John Bell, Esq.; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Furnival, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter A, and which may be better described as follows:—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48½ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a point thence north 70° 30 west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ¼ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John Street, as laid down on P. L. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 157 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 62 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 30 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of ten per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive the conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, G. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 8.

City and Vicinity.

KILLING DEER.—The season when it will be legal to kill deer opens on the first of next month.

BIG CHEESE.—The Whig says:—"Morton, the Canadian cheese buyer, has contracted with Serin Cooper, of Theresa, to make him some cheese for the English market, four feet across and two feet deep, weighing about 1,500 pounds.

YACHTING.—The Kingston News says:—"The yacht 'Zephyr,' from Belleville, with S. T. Greene, S. Brown, S. S. Wallbridge, and W. German, arrived here this afternoon on her way to Alexandria Bay, for a two week's cruise.

AGAINST WORK.—The steamer Armenia, mention of whose misfortune was made in yesterday's issue was towed to Mill Point on Tuesday morning by the City of Belleville. Yesterday she was supplied with a new wheel and rudder and at once resumed the route.

TENDERS WANTED.—It will be seen by advertisement that the Township of Thurlow intend constructing a Dyke along the River Moira on lots 6 and 7 in the 4th concession, for which they ask tenders. A special meeting of the Council will be held on the 19th inst., to consider the tenders.

THE ANNUAL EXCURSION AND PIC-NIC of St. Andrew's Church Sabbath Schools, per steamer City of Belleville to Indian Woods and Lake of the Mountain on (D.V.) Friday, Aug. 9th. Boat leaves the wharf at 9 a. m. sharp, returning in time to reach Belleville not later than 7:30. Fare 25 cents. d3t

☞Attention is directed to the advertisement of G. W. Hotchkin's Springless truss and supporter, which will be found in another part of this paper. Prof. Hotchkin has made this branch a specialty in his profession, and the numerous cures he has effected since his visit to Canada, prove his ability and skill.

W. C. T. A.—A special meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Association will be held at the residence of Mrs. E. W. Holton, on Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, to make arrangements for a Temperance Lecture to be delivered by Mrs. Annie Wittenmyer, of Philadelphia, President of the Women's National Temperance Association.

BARN BURNED.—The barn of Mr. John Managhan, in that portion of the Township of Marmora known as the McDowell settlement was struck by lightning on Monday evening last. The barn contained his wagon, harness and farming implements as well as a considerable quantity of grain, which was an entire loss.

FIRE IN THURLOW.—During the thunder storm of the 6th inst., a barn belonging to Egbert Mott, in the 7th concession of Thurlow, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed, with its contents, consisting of the season's hay crop, a large quantity of grain, harness, waggon, and farming implements. Loss estimated at $600; insured in the Canada Agricultural for $500.

PERSONAL.—MRS. Annie Wittenmyre, of Philadelphia, Penn., President of the Women's National Temperance Christian Union, on her way from the Thousand Island Park, will be in Belleville this week the guest of Mrs. Dr. Jaques, of Albert University. All who heard her lecture at the Park will be glad to hear that there is a prospect of her speaking in Belleville before she leaves.

VANDALISM.—We have just been informed by one of the Directors of the Cemetery, that he had been presented by the care taker with a boquet of flowers, which he had just taken from a visitor who was walking about the grounds, of the Cemetery and which had been plucked from the graves. This is a specimen of vandalism we cannot understand, and the sooner one or two of these desecrators of the "city of the dead" are brought before the Police Magistrate the sooner the practice of pilfering flowers from the graves will be put an end to.

COUNTERFEIT.—We are just in receipt of the current number of Petersons' Counterfeit Detector; a publication that is taken, preserved, and daily consulted by bankers, brokers, hotel keepers, manufacturers, merchants, and storekeepers. The Detector is, as is well known, an infallible safeguard against loss from counterfeit money, of which there are enormous quantities in circulation. All bogus bills and coins are immediately described in the Detector as soon as they make their appearance. In its pages are also given valuable news concerning money, stock, bonds, national and State banks, and other information of great value to business men, &c., and is in short, a very valuable publication, and no business man in the country should be without it. The rate of subscription for the monthly issue is only $1.50 a year; semi-monthly, $3.00 a year. Subscriptions may commence with any month, and are payable in advance. A canvasser could get up a list of subscribers in this neighborhood. Address all communications to the publishers, T. B. Peterson & Brothers, No. 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., for specimen copy and advertising rates. As there is a great future now about Old Coins, we would advise all to get a copy of PETERSON'S COIN BOOK, containing a perfect fac-simile impressions of the Coins of the World. It will be sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of $1,—by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa.

IMPORTATION OF ENGLISH PHEASANTS.—W. R. Goodwin, Park Street, near Albert College, has just returned from England, bringing with him 6 cock and 3 hen pheasants, 1 game cock, 3 linnets, 3 English larks and 2 English thrushes. 2 pheasants, 1 thrush and 7 linnets died on the voyage. It is very difficult to successfully import pheasants, as they are very wild and kill themselves by flying against the top of their cages, which Mr. Goodwin had padded to ensure safety.

CHANGES IN ALEXANDRA COLLEGE.—We understand that at the next term of Alexandra College the following changes will be made in the staff of teachers: Miss H. A. Rooney, M.L.A., will take the place of Miss Clara H. Bannister, as Assistant Preceptress and Head of the Fine Arts Department. Miss Rooney is a graduate of the class of 1877, and will no doubt be as popular a teacher as she was a student. Miss Euretta A. Avery, of Syracuse, N. Y., graduate of New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, has been elected teacher of Music.

SATURDAY'S EXCURSION.—Those who were disappointed at there not being the usual Saturday excursion by the Alexandra last week, will be glad to learn by advertisement that on Saturday next she will make an afternoon and evening excursion. She will leave her wharf here for Trenton, at four o'clock, sharp, instead of 4.30 as previously, and on the evening trip will leave at half past six o'clock instead of 7.30. Intending excursionists will bear in mind these changes. As there will be moonlight next Saturday evening, there is no doubt there will be a large number avail themselves of this pleasant method of spending a few hours upon the water.

A CHEAP EXCURSION.—Mr. Kelso, President of the Ontario and Quebec Navigation Co., advertises a remarkably cheap excursion to Montreal in to-day's paper. The fare by steamer for the round trip is only four dollars, and those who want to return by the Grand Trunk Railway can obtain tickets for $5.00. The steamer reaches Montreal on Tuesday afternoon, and, as she does not return until Thursday, ample time is given to view the sights of Montreal, and those who want to remain longer can return by G. T. Railway, tickets by which route are good until Saturday, 31st August. The Alexandra is one of the finest boats on our inland waters, and has ample accommodation for several hundred. Everything will be done to make the trip a pleasant one, and we have no doubt the boat will have as many as she can accommodate.

VALUABLE PROPERTY.—The attention of capitalists is directed to the Chancery Sale of that valuable property in the business portion of the city known as the Bogart property. The Post Office Block on Bridge Street, and the fine block immediately opposite the market on Front Street, are amongst the properties to be disposed of—both centrally situated, substantially built, and in every respect first-class buildings. The fine property lying next south of the homestead of the late D. D. Bogart, is also included in the sale, which will take place at the office of the Master in Chancery, Shire Hall, on Saturday, the 10th, at 12 o'clock, noon. Comprising some of the most valuable properties in the city, and as they must be sold, a rare chance is offered to capitalists for investment.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I am nearly 190 lbs., full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now is nearly 190 lbs., whichas pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorize you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P.,
WILLIAM MAIR,
REV. THOMAS HARTIN.

—At Gelnhausen, Hesse, has just died a centenarian indeed, a peasant in very humble circumstances who had fought at Wilhelmstah, under Prince Ferdinand of Brunswick. He was 148 years old, and left two sons, very old men, sixteen grandsons and forty-eight great-grandsons.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

EUROPEAN.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Major O'Gorman, ejected from the Commons for interrupting Col. Stanley, has apologized, and has been re-admitted.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 8.—Knowles & Ives, an old dry-goods establishment, have failed; liabilities $100,000.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—It is now stated that Beatty, the negro who was taken from Franklin jail by lynchers on Tuesday, escaped when the mob attempted to hang him. He was badly wounded and is now in custody.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—The responsibility for the terrible accident on the Pan-handle road is placed upon the officers of a freight train, which should have waited at the Alexandria road for the express. It is alleged that the watch of the conductor was 20 minutes slow, and he was running to Mingo under the impression that he had plenty of time. He, with his fireman, disappeared after the wreck. The scene after the accident was heartrending. It was very dark and it was only by the groans under the debris that the uninjured passengers were able to find the victims. It was not until after daylight that the last victim was recovered. The bodies were, in many cases, unrecognizable.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Times' Oneida, N. Y., despatch reports that a number of members have withdrawn from the Oneida Free Lovers Community.

The Times' Raleigh, N. C., correspondent charges the Democratic County Returning Boards with illegally throwing out Republican townships in order to carry two counties.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The first shipment of petroleum by canal, under the new arrangement, was received here yesterday, consisting of five boat loads (1,919,900 gallons.) The oil comes from Bradford district via Buffalo.

Ex-Alderman Farley, builder, has failed; liabilities $850,000, of which $700,000 is secured.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, August 8.—It is stated that the Right Hon. Wm. E. Forster, the well known Liberal leader, will visit America in the autumn.

PARIS, Aug. 8.—Striking laborers numbering 4,800 will hold a general meeting at the Cirque Fernando, to-night.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 8.—By an explosion of the Russian powder magazine at Fratesti yesterday, 35 persons were killed, and 31 injured.

VIENNA, Aug. 8.—The results of the Hungarian elections in 171 districts, show 116 Liberals or supporters of the present Government, 34 of united opposition, and 21 of the extreme Left, have been elected. Herr Tirza, chief of the Hungarian ministry, will probably be returned from a constituency where the 2nd ballot is necessary. It is thought his defeat of the Radicals of Debreczin will have the effect of making him adhere more firmly to the moderate wing of the liberal party.

RAGUSA, Aug. 8.—Suliman Pasha, with 1,500 Asiatic troops, is shut up in Trebinji. He will not allow the Insurgents to enter the town, fearing the massacre of the Turkish authorities. 1,500 Bosnia regular troops have deserted from Trebinji and Janied, insurgents at Durbrowo.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Two fire engines collided this morning, killing a fireman named Geo. Rack and badly injuring another.

HAVRE, Aug. 8.—The dory, Nautilus, has arrived, having accomplished the passage from America in 56 days which includes several days detention by rough weather on the coast of England. The Nautilus will be taken to the Paris exposition.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 8.—Trainor's jewellery store in Burrillville was robbed of jewellry valued at $3,500 last night.

NORTHAMPTON, Ma., Aug. 8.—Vernon Bros., of New York, large paper mill near here was burned last night. The mill employed 150 hands. Loss about $112,000; insured for $101,000.

SARATOGA, Aug. 8.—Extra day. Mile dash, Inspiration (favorite) won; Kenneaw 2nd; time 1:45¾. Second race, mile and a half, Virginius (favorite) won; Frederick the Great 2nd; Lucifer 3d; time 2:45½. Third race, three-fourths of a mile, Charlie Gorham (favorite) won; Egypt 2nd; Alleveur 3rd; time 1:18.

THE NORTH WEST.—The North-West Council closed its legislative session on Friday last. One of the principal fruits of the session is the repeal of the Buffalo Ordinance of last year, owing to the strong representations of Col. McLeod of the impossibility of enforcing the ordinance against the Sioux.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, fresh to brisk westerly to southwesterly winds, partially cloudy to clear hot weather. For the St. Lawrence, fresh westerly to southerly winds, partly cloudy, warmer weather, possible showers by morning in the upper portion. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh to brisk westerly winds, partly cloudy to clear weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Indications:—warmer, partly cloudy, occasional rains.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

MARRIED,

On Wednesday, 7th inst., in Trinity Church, Shannonville, by the Incumbent, the Rev. Stewart Foster, M.A., GEORGE J. SHERRY, Esq., Student-at-law, of the office of Messrs. Flint & Jellett, Barristers, Belleville, to EFFIE, only daughter of T. E. Pomeroy, Esq., M.A., M.D., Tweed. No cards.

At St. George's Church, Trenton, on the 7th inst., by the Rev. Canon Bleasdell, M.A. D.C.L., Rector, assisted by the Rev. T. Stanton, B.A., R. F. RUTLAN, Esq., of Stirling, to ANNIE, only daughter of William Gilbert, Esq., Trenton.

Special Notice.

A CARD,

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City. d3wfm.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with lane, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. These will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridge Water, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increases the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspering them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

MORTGAGE SALE OF FARM AND MILL PROPERTY,

IN THE TOWNSHIPS OF

THURLOW AND SIDNEY.

UNDER powers of sale in Mortgages to the vendors, which will be produced at the time of Sale, and default in payment having been made, there will be offered for sale by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878. at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows:

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight, in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Cheese Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

This parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, and containing by admeasurement, two hundred acres, be the same more or less, together with all the Mills, Buildings and Erections on the above granted premises, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof heretofore sold to the Wesleyan-Methodist Church, also to W. T. Bird, John G. Bird, Mathew Greenwood, and Henry Allenbrack, also the right of way granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc runs through this lot. This is situate 10 miles from Belleville. The North half is heavily timbered with valuable Beech, Maple, Pine and Cedar. On it is a never-failing spring creek.

On the South half are a Stone Dwelling House, a Stone Store and Dwelling connected, a Frame Tavern with good Barn and Stables connected; also a Stone Dwelling with Barn and Sheds connected with the Farm. A Stone Grist Mill touches on this lot.

These half lots will be offered in one parcel, and if not then sold will be offered separately.

PARCEL III.

That portion of the south-west quarter of lot number two, in said eighth concession of Thurlow, purchased by A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., from Thomas L. Todd and wife, together with all the mills, buildings and erections on the above granted premises.

This parcel is situate on the Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On it are a stone House and Frame Barn.

CHANCERY SALE OF VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY, IN CHANCERY.

CLARK v. BOGART.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated the 13th day of June 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at his Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely:

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing on the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street, at the southern angle of said No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 55½ links, thence westerly, parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, to the east stable wall, thence southerly, in line with the outside of said stable wall, 96 links to a point 22 feet 6 inches south of the southerly limit of lot 25, thence easterly along the northerly limit of a lane 83½ links, more or less, to the easterly limit of a small lot, No. 6, as shown on a plan of the sub-division of lot 24, by J.J. Haslett, P. L. S., registered the 14th day of November, 1852, thence northerly along the easterly limit of said lot 6, 22 feet, 10 inches, to the southerly limit of lot 25, thence along the southerly limit of lot 25, 139½ links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Dafoe House, now occupied by Dr. Richardson. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4.

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Haslett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall. On the premises in the rear are extensive storehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Haslett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 7th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ½ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 176 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Weller, Esq., and is a first-class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 66 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in 1st Concession of Township of Thurlow, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street; thence south 15° 45' east along said Boundary Commissioners line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore deeded to John Bell, Esq.; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane; thence north 15° 30', west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 27-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Furnival, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and those mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter A and which may be better described as follows:—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48½ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30', west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ½ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 west of John Street, as laid down on P. L. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 70° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 107 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 30 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be sold up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of 10 per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, G. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.
EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

The Eastern Question and the Leadership of the World.

(From the American Socialist.)

It does not look, just now, as though Russia were destined to become the paramount power of the world. The tide of her aggressions in the East has come face to face with an obstruction broader and higher and more impassible than the Himalyas; more unyielding than Mohammedan fatalism. This obstruction is the English Empire.

For a long time we have heard of the great Northern colossus, standing with one foot on the shores of the Baltic and the other on Kamschatka, with its face to the south, ready to swoop down on all Southern Europe and Asia, seize Constantinople and India, and make an end of England's power in the East, and of her influence in the counsels of Europe and the world. For a century or two the mysterious will of Peter the Great, and the portentous, impending autocratic Slavonic destiny, have been hung on the northeastern sky of civilization by this gigantic colossus, like some lurid aurora borealis, threatening the peace of the planet. We have been told over and over, with tiresome monotony and iteration, that this great power stretched half round the globe, that it had 80,000,000 of subjects, and some 2,000,000 of soldiers; with ominous hints of what it might, could or would do, when it got everything ready.

Of late Russia has been trying to carry out some features of her big programme. She has been advancing through Central Asia, toward India. She has been for years fomenting discontent and rebellion among the Slavonic and Christian subjects of European Turkey. And when the time came when it seemed needful that Europe should interfere and secure the peaceful settlement of Turkish troubles, Russia with studied insolence toward England, and in substantial defiance of her wishes and interests, undertook the settlement alone and declared war against Turkey. That England consented to see the war go on for a year, resulting in Turkey's being driven to the wall, and submiting to most humiliating and destructive terms, was due only to the divided counsels of its Government and lack of preparation for immediate armed resistance. The year's result to Turkey, and the revealment which it has brought of Russia's real spirit and purpose, in the treaty of San Stefano—the hereditary spirit of aggression, and the purpose of territorial aggrandizement, both immediate and ultimate, for which the pretense of protection to the Christian subjects of the Porte, was only a cover—have made the English Cabinet a unit, have broken the power of the pro-Russian opposition in Parliament, and carried the nation far on the road of preparation for resistance of every sort. The time now seems rapidly approaching when the power and pretensions of Russia are to receive a decisive checkmate. She has been playing the game of universal empire, and is likely to lose. And the very power which it has long been her dream to thwart and destroy, seems destined to be her greatest and fatal antagonist.

The past year has witnessed a startling change of front of England to the world. For a long time she had seemed to be drifting into the position of a second-rate European power. Her influence, diplomatic and material, appeared to be waning. Her army was small. Her colonial possessions were in loose relations with her, and seemed likely to drift away into independence; in fact, she seemed rather discarding them, under the influence of the Gladstone party. Her home policy seemed to be growing more and more insular, and the great continental governments were disposed to snub and ignore her. She had come out of the Crimean war conjointly victorious with France, Italy and Turkey, but somewhat shorn of her long-time military prestige. The 20 succeeding years had rather tended toward humiliation than otherwise. Financially she was the richest of nations, but her wealth and her organic power lacked unity.

Suddenly comes a change—great and significant—a crisis whose far-reaching and amazing possibilities we can only measure by the most daring conjecture. England places herself in front of her vast Empire and summons it into unity for defence. By this act she becomes the foremost military, strategical and financial power of all the world. By this act, from being a mere European power, co-equal with France, Germany and Austria, with insular limitations and military weakness, she steps at once into the position of a unitary, cosmopolitan empire of nearly 300,000,000 people—the mightiest empire the world has ever seen. "Her morning drum-beat following the sun and heard around the world," from being a musical interesting fact, serving to point a period for some glowing orator, takes on a fresh significance, and becomes the reveille of a new day of power to all the English speaking race. Russia as suddenly realizes—on the plain of San Stefano—that she is not merely confronted by an effete Mohammedan power, with a waning British ally on the horizon, but with a new and mighty antagonist—the empire of Anglo-Saxondom. As she begins to realize the fact she begins to halt. The ships of a new and greater England are at the Bosphorus. They will not depart at the Czar's bidding or the Sultan's request. They watch the minarets of St. Sophia with as keen and fearless an eye as do the Grand Duke's legions. They put a new aspect on the whole Eastern question.

Where shall we seek the pivotal fact and event on which this crisis-change has turned? Out of the East—where morn appears—came the dawn of this new historic day in English empire. The April sun which melted the snows on the high slopes of the Himalayas looked down on the embarkation of 30,000 native Indian troops for the shores of the Mediterranean. Small event, What of it? do you say? 'Tis the small events and facts on which history turns. A bit of sunken road in Belgium, and Napoleon's failure to see it, says Victor Hugo, "changed the front of the universe." It certainly sealed the fate of Napoleon and changed the history of Europe and the world. So in this movement of troops from the plains of Bengal to Europe, we see the change of front of England to the world. Henceforth she fights her battles with here 240,000,000 Asiatics as well as with her 4,000,000 Anglo-Saxons. Her home forces may number but half a million against the two millions of Russia. But in India she can put 750,000 soldiers into the field in six months, and 500,000 in a very short time—soldiers officered by Englishmen, and little if any inferior as fighters to the armies of Europe. And these would be but the beginning of her resources from that quarter. Three times as many soldiers can be drawn from the vast population of India as Russia can gather from all her wide-spreading dominions. The initation of this policy of defending the English Empire with the empire's whole population and resources, and of using them wherever they may be needed, is the master-stroke of the new governmental wisdom and inspiration which now control English affairs. In attempting to thwart or embarrass it, the opposition to Lord Beaconsfield's cabinet utterly broke down and left him master of the field.

The originator of this new order of English policy and statesmanship is that remarkable Hebrew genius, Lord Beaconsfield. Nearly a year ago we pointed out the fact that the "heart of the Eastern Question was the Hebrew Question"—What shall be done with the inalienable inheritance of Israel—Jerusalem and Palestine? We contrasted the position of England and Russia toward the Hebrew people. We showed that while Russia was still their bitterest oppressor among all the nations of the earth, England had become their special friend, and was more controlled by Hebrew interest and sympathies than any other nation; that the head of her government, next after the Queen, was Lord Beaconsfield a full-blooded Jew by birth. In view of these facts we suggested that "England seemed providentially set to look out, not merely for her own interests, but for the interests of the Great Powers of the Hebrew Covenant."

The drift of things since this suggestion was published has certainly been adding a fine plausibility to it. Since August last the inspiration of Hebrew genius has placed England in the front rank of the nations of the earth as a military and diplomatic power. It has consolidated her extended and loosely-held possessions into an empire, which seems likely in the future to have the major voice in the control of the world. Only a few years ago the world smiled at Mr. Disraeli's pageant at Delhi, and the proclamation of Victoria as the Empress of India. Wise-headed statesmen thought it an empty form and a doubtful honor. Now it appears that the Delhi proclamation was a first step, taken with prophetic genius. Thirty thousand troops marching from the quays of Bombay on to the decks of English transports, on their way to check the march of Russian aggression is another step and a very practical one, in the same Hebrew's programme. India has become an integral part of the English Empire. England's foes are henceforth India's foes. India's sons step forward with alacrity and enthusiasm to cross bayonets with Slavonic legions. Not only has England changed front to the world, but this event changes India's relations to England. They will become henceforth one nation. Their interests will become more united and vital. The lurid prophets and evil-thinkers have always been predicting disaster and wishing trouble for England in India. Not everything that England and her agents have done there can be justified. No doubt there have been selfishness and oppression. But English occupation, on the great scale, has been a blessing to India. The selfishness and oppression have been immensely less than India experienced under her native rulers. A higher and better civilization will come to India from the contact. Anglo-Saxon civilization is not yet the highest. There is a better one to come—that of the new Jerusalem. But where Anglo-Saxon civilization and control go, there go the Bible and the Christian missionaries. With the Bible goes the Holy Spirit, winning men to the civilization of Heaven. The Anglo-Saxons are the great Bible-loving and Bible-distributing race. For this the Bible powers—the old Hebrew Covenant powers—favor them. For this they are making them "Kings of the East," and preparing the way before them. If we are to hazard a prophecy as to the future, it would be that not Russia and the Slavonic race, but the great English speaking race, under Hebrew leadership, visible and invisible, is the favorite of Providence, and the destined Ruler of the Gentile world.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 9.

THE ELECTIONS.

The Globe and Mail of to-day state positively that the elections will take place about the 19th or 20th of September. It therefore behoves Conservatives and all lovers of good government to prepare for the fray and render by their actions all assistance they possibly can to the representatives of the Opposition. The candidates are before the people, and the issue is well defined, the interval short, and it is for the electors now to say whether they prefer another five years of extravagance to economical rule.

Huntington's Copper Mines.

The Hon. Louis Seth Huntington, one of the representatives of the party of purity who is ever prating about the enormity of the "Pacific Scandal," and how it shocked his moral as well as his physical nerves, is not likely to be forgotten on the Stock Exchange of the old world, where mining shares are put upon markets. His name, for which he has such respect and veneration, has become immortalized and will be repeated just as long as what are termed "The Huncingtons" are floating about the markets of London and other cities of Great Britain; "the Huntingtons" being the name given to certain "Copper and Sulphur Pyrites." stock which has been floating about in that country for the past few years, almost valueless, while the promoters of the scheme, the principal of whom was the Hon. Louis Seth Huntington, is enjoying the rich harvest reaped from the transaction. A meeting of the "Huntington Copper and Sulphur Company" was recently held in London, and we make the following extracts from the report.

"Mr. Gray, who has just returned from Canada, said he had visited all the properties of the company that were accessible. It would doubtless surprise the shareholders to learn, as it had surprised himself to discover, that a considerable portion of what was designated in the prospectus as 'valuable and heavily timbered lands,' and for which they paid at the rate of about $47 per acre, was inaccessible to ordinary people like himself—(a laugh)—consisting as they did to a very large extent of swamps and high rocks, truly described in the Government records as 'waste land.' He visited the mine and went through all the workings, and it was only too evident that but a small portion of the 2,000 tons per month which were promised in the prospectus could be obtained from the mine, notwithstanding all the expense they had been at in opening it up. Mr. Gray concluded by seconding the motion for the adoption of the report.

"The chairman referred to the prospectus of the company, and said that he, and some, if not all, of his co-directors were influenced by that prospectus. One day in the Exchange he met a director, whom he would not name, and said to him—'Mr. So-and-so, I am astonished to see the Huntingtons going down; how is that?' and the reply was—'Well, I cannot understand it, for there are £60,000 worth of ore lying at the mouth of the mine.' That £60,000 worth of ore had turned out not to be worth a single penny."

And this Mr. Huntington, whose name is thus dragged before the London world, is the Postmaster-General of Canada, and talks most virtuously about corruption and morality.

The Orange Question in Montreal.

After a number of delays the case against the Orangemen, in Montreal, for meeting in their Lodge Room on the 12th of July last, for the purpose of walking in procession to Church, was commenced on Thursday, the 8th, before the Police Magistrate of Montreal.

The Criminal Court room was crowded to suffocation to witness the progress of the cases. The initiation proceeding was the production of the following declaration:—"The private prosecutor hereby declares that he abandons the prosecution against John Cromwell and William Garvin, their arrest having been made to prevent a breach of the peace, and they are therefore discharged."

Evidence was then taken as to the arrest of the prisoner—and the case was proceeding, when the mail left.

West Montreal.—The Montreal Witness says, the Liberals of the Western Division of Montreal, at a "secret" meeting, chose Hon. L. Holton as their candidate, and that a requisition will be forthwith presented to him. A press telegram says that Hon. Mr. Holton has declined the nomination.

Manitoba Wheat Crop.—Mr. John Ogilvie, of the firm of A. W. Ogilvie & Co., millers of Montreal, writes from Manitoba that the wheat crop in that Province as well as in Minnesota and Dakotah is at least 10 per cent better than last year. In Northern Minnesota the crop has been damaged by rain, but the increased acreage will more than compensate for the loss.

A Large Offer Declined.—The Hamilton Spectator says: Col. Peter O. Serves, of Niagara township, was the other day offered by some dealers from Montral $1,000 for his apple crop, the purchasers to do the picking, barreling and shipping, and declined the offer. The offer is said to be equal to $2,000 and if so, our readers can form some idea of the amount of money the fruit growers of the Niagara district realize upon their fruit crops yearly.

Turkey.—The Porte, in addition to its recent disclaimer of the accusation laid to its charge of fomenting the Bosnian insurrection, now declares that it has instructed its representatives in the Provinces not to oppose the Austrian occupation. The tardiness of this movement only serves to increase the distrust of Turkey which prevails at Vienna, and the Austrian Government is preparing to mobilize additional troops, in order to have an efficient reserve force on hand in case of further trouble.

Grand Junction Railway.

A meeting of the Directors of the Grand Junction Railway Company was held in the Company's office on the 8th inst., for the purpose of receiving a proposition from E. O. Bickford for the construction and completion of the road from Belleville to Campbellford, this fall. No definite arrangement has yet been made between the parties. We hope to be able to announce an agreement ere long which will result in the completion of the road to Campbellford this fall at least.

Belleville and North Hastings Railway.

A meeting of the Directors of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway Company was held to-day, Friday, 9th inst., upon call of the President, Calvin Pardee, Esq., at the Company's Office, Belleville.

Present—Calvin Pardee, President, in the chair; Messrs. Patterson, Foster, Wood, and Bowell.

The resignation of Mr. Marshon, as a Director of the Company, was handed in and accepted. Transfers of stock from Mr. Marchon to D'Arcy Boulton, Esq., of Toronto, from Calvin Pardee to A. Hugel, Esq., of Port Hope, and from Mr. Ario Pardee to E. O. Bickford, Esq., of Toronto, were handed to the Secretary and entered in the minute book.

Mr. Calvin Pardee by the transferring of his stock, being no longer a member of the Board, Mr. Foster was, on motion of Mr. Bowell, seconded by Mr. Patterson, called to the chair, when it was moved by Mr. Wood, seconded by Mr. Bowell,

That D'Arcy Boulton Esq. be elected a Director, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Marchon.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Wood, seconded by Mr. Boulton,

That Mr. Hugel be elected a Director, in place of Mr. Calvin Pardee, resigned.—Carried.

It was then moved by Mr. Patterson, seconded by Mr. Boulton,

That M. Bowell Esq. be elected President of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway Company.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned until 8 o'clock to-night.

Let us hope that something may now be done to push this road on to completion.

TERRIFIC STORM.

Hail, Thunder and Lightning.

Hail Stones Twenty Inches in Circumference.

MAN KILLED BY A STONE.

TREES UPROOTED.

Houses Levelled to the Ground.

A WHIRLWIND.

On Thursday afternoon, 8th inst., a very severe thunder storm passed over Belleville and vicinity. The storm commenced about four o'clock, and lasted for nearly an hour, during most of which time the rain came down in perfect torrents. For a few moments there was a shower of hail-stones, which were not as large as they boast of in Toronto, but which were of a respectable size however, and about as big as one cared about seeing. Most of the stones were of a peculiar shape, being half an inch in diameter and three-fourths of an inch in thickness, being concave on one side and convex on the other. Some were picked up as large as hickory nuts. The shower of ice did not last long, however, and it is probable much damage was done.

During the night this vicinity was visited with several thunder storms, the severest experienced during the season. The first shower commenced shortly after ten, and the sky had hardly cleared before other black clouds hung like a pall in the southwest, and then quickly extended over the sky, completely deluging the earth with rain. The heavens were fairly ablaze with light, and crash after crash of thunder volleyed from heaven's artillery. This was followed by similar showers up to seven o'clock this morning, when the last roll of thunder died away in the eastern horizon.

These storms must have done a large amount of damage to the crops, particularly to the grain which was cut, and will materially lessen the yield of most kinds of grain. We have heard of several houses being struck by lightning, the particulars of which, so far as we can at present learn, are as follows:

AT THE STATION.

In the vicinity of the station two houses were struck by lightning, but the inmates fortunately escaped. Near the crossing on the east side of the station, a house occupied by Mr. Little and owned by Mr. Doctor, was struck by lightning, which raised the roof and entered the building, splintering the casings and loosening the plaster on one side of the building. A brick house beyond the railway crossing on the Canifton road, occupied by Mr. Thompson, was struck also, the lightning entering by the chimney which is partially demolished; in the sleeping room it broke the water pitcher and looking-glass and blackened the room. The kitchen is filled with splinters, and the sitting room has a number of pictures broken and a large hole in the side of the room, where the lightning evidently escaped: that room is also much blackened.

The house of Mr. John McCrudden was struck on the roof, the lightning stripping the shingles off a strip about two feet wide, down both sides of the roof, partly demolishing the chimney; passing down the side of the building which is of stone, it shattered a window frame and tore out half of the window sill, stripping off a quantity of plaster in its course.

Mr. McCrudden who was in bed at the time found himself on the floor when awakened, but received no serious personal damage further than he feels a pain in his side.

FIRE.

A great light in the west during the night showed evidence of some building being burned, in or about the 2nd con. of Sidney.

HORSE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

During the thunder storm on the night of the 6th inst., the dwelling of Mr. John Sayers, of Huntington, was struck by lightning and seriously damaged. The roof was badly torn and some of the upper rooms injured. Fortunately none of the inmates were injured. The loss has been assessed by the Company in which the building was insured, at $150.

A BARN STRUCK.

The barns of Mr. William Beadle were struck by lightning, but fortunately it was discovered in time, and the fire extinguished, without much damage being done.

THE STORM ELSEWHERE.

By Special Telegram.

NORWOOD.

Norwood, August 8.

About 2:30 this afternoon, thunder, accompanied with a terrific hail and wind storm, passed over this place. The ground for a short time was white, many of the stones measuring from 5 to 20 inches in circumference, and weighing from 4 to 30 ounces. Much alarm was caused during its continuance. In the village considerable glass has been broken, and gardens destroyed; but we fear that much damage to the crops throughout the neighborhood will be reported. The storm came from the north-east, passing to the south-west. One man is said to have been struck by a hailstone while in the harvest field, and seriously if not fatally hurt. During the storm, a whirlwind passed to the west of the village, uprooting trees and sweeping everything before it, and presenting a grand spectacle to those who witnessed it at a safe distance. Several barns on the outskirts of the village and on the track of the whirlwind, were unroofed.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Norwood, Aug. 9.

Half the damage caused by the storm previously telegraphed has not been told. A brick school house was leveled to the ground; a cheese factory torn to pieces; Spence's barn leveled to the ground, and his house unroofed and the end torn out. A log house occupied by Miss Spears was lifted from the ground, and two young women standing on the floor were left unhurt. A reaping machine belonging to a man named Clysdale was picked up in the storm and carried across two fields and smashed into atoms. We have heard of about a dozen houses and barns in this immediate locality that have been destroyed. Some persons were severely hurt, but no loss of life is reported. The total amount of damage cannot at present be estimated. Our previous report regarding the size of the hail-stones can be accepted without hesitation as being without any doubt correct.

CATTLE KILLED.

A despatch from Cherry Valley reports four head of cattle killed about four miles from that place this morning by lightning. One was a very valuable calf. They were the property of Joseph Martin.

TRENTON.

Church Injured.—The Courier furnishes the following:—A heavy thunder storm passed over Trenton on Tuesday morning, about 6 a. m. The lightning struck the spire of the old Methodist Church and passed down the tin spire, knocking the sheeting off the tower outside and in and disarranging the plaster.

OTTAWA.

Aug. 8.—The recent heavy rains have seriously interfered with the harvesting of spring wheat in the counties of Ottawa, Carlton, and Russell.

LONDON.

Aug. 8.—A severe storm of lightning, thunder, hail, and rain broke over this city to-night, lasting about an hour. It passed from west to east. No damage is reported.

POUGHKEEPSIE.

Aug. 8.—There were heavy storms south of this place as far as Newburgh to-night. Three fires are reported, one near Marlborough, another just north of Newburgh, and one west of Newburgh, all from lightning.

Education in Manitoba.—The report of the Superintendent of Protestant schools in the Province of Manitoba for 1877, notices the substantial progress made in education during the year, the number of schools in operation being 38, with 2,027 pupils, as against 30 for the year previous, with an attendance of 1,600. This shews an increase in favor of 1877 of eight more schools, and between 400 and 500 scholars. The result is, indeed, satisfactory as showing that our prarie provincials fully appreciate the advantages of education.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 9.

City and Vicinity.

THE CELLS.—Only one drunk occupied the cells last night.

IN LONDON.—The name of Mr. Angus McFee, figures in the list of Canadians who registered in London, England, last week.

EXCURSION.—The City of Belleville took a large number of excursionists to the Lake on the Mountain this morning. The excursion was in connection with the St. Andrew's Church Sabbath School.

DROWNED.—The Napanee Express says:—"On Wednesday of last week, Levi Robbin, an old man in his dotage, drowned himself in a marsh, at Green Point, Prince Edward County, because he was prevented carrying out some of his whims."

SPRINGLESS TRUSSES.—By advertisement it will be seen that Dr. G. W. Hotchkin, who makes springless trusses and supporters a speciality, is stopping at the Anglo-American Hotel until the 11th inst., inclusive.

DOMINION MONTHLY.—The New Dominion Monthly, for August, is a superior number. In addition to a good variety of original and selected articles, it contains a number of illustrations. Published by John Dougall & Son, Montreal, at $2 per annum.

THE NEW OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE.—The Kingston News says; Mr. James Agnew has received his commission from the Government as Official Assignee for the County of Frontenac, which includes the city of Kingston, in room of Mr. Price, appointed County Judge.

ON A CRUISE.—The Kingston News says; The yacht Mabel, of Belleville, arrived here on Wednesday, bound for the islands. They had a jolly crew on board, who are bound to have a good-time. Their names are: Thomas Cook, Captain; W. Stafford, W. Roenigk, F. Cronk, M. Cook, B. Diamond and A. Lazier.

ILL.—We deeply regret to learn that Judge Sherwood. is confined to his house through illness brought on by over exertion at the yacht races on Friday last. His illness is however not considered serious and it is therefore expected that he will be able to be about again in a short time.

ANOTHER FERRY.—The Trenton Courier says:—"Reliable authority informs us that Mr. James Anderson near Redneysville has contracted for the building of a Ferry 100 feet long and 23 feet beam of sufficient power to keep running till teams can cross the ice with safety. She is to ply between his place and the North Shore and will be a formidable rival to the Belleville ferry.

ACCIDENT.—This morning whilst a young man named Vanmeer, in the employment of Mr. Bernard Lane, of the 4th con. of Sidney, whilst at work on a threshing machine his left hand became fastened in the machine. He at once threw himself back, and thus, his presence of mind was rewarded, as only a portion of the middle finger was mutilated and his thumb split. The finger had to be amputated at the second joint.

GALLANT RESCUE.—The following gallant rescue of a child from drowning is narrated by the Trenton Courier:—On Sunday about 9 p. m. as Mr. Pelletier's little boy about six years old was coming off the Alexandra he fell into the water and was struggling there while those on the wharf were striving in vain to reach him. His uncle Mr. D. R. Murphy came along and comprehending the situation in an instant, jumped in, clothes on, and caught the lad under water as he was going down the second time. Both are nothing the worse for their ducking.

VALUABLE PROPERTY.—The attention of capitalists is directed to the Chancery Sale of that valuable property in the business portion of the city known as the Bogart property. The Post Office Block on Bridge Street, and the fine block immediately opposite the market on Front Street, are amongst the properties to be disposed of—both centrally situated, substantially built, and in every respect first-class buildings. The fine property lying next south of the homestead of the late D. D. Bogart, is also included in the sale, which will take place at the office of the Master in Chancery, Shire Hall, on Saturday, the 10th, at 12 o'clock, noon. Comprising some of the most valuable properties in the city, and as they must be sold, a rare chance is offered to capitalists for investment.

VALUABLE PRESENTATION.—We have been shown a copy of an address which was presented to Theodore Bryant Bartley, Esq., Key Lodge, Van Dieman's Land, by his fellow citizens. Mr. Bartley, who is a brother of Mr. Bartley, Civil Engineer, Belleville, occupies the position of Stipendiary Magistrate and head of the Mounted Police. The address is a very flattering one, but the most valuable part of it is contained in the last paragraph, in which the donors desire Mr. Bartley to "accept the accompanying purse of 600 sovereigns as a proof of our appreciation of your manifold labors as an intelligent, upright and patriotic colonist. It is always well to be held in high esteem, but when it takes the shape of 600 sovereigns it adds much to the value.

THE ARBITRATION.—The arbitration between Messrs. Pardee and Lloyd will in all probability close to-night. The arbitrators are now listening to the arguments of Counsel. Messrs. Boulton and Holden addressed the Court on behalf of the plaintiff, and was followed by Mr. Geo. D. Dickson, for the defence, who commenced his address at 4:30 yesterday and is still speaking as we go to press. He will be followed by Mr. R. D. Cluto who is also retained for the defence.

ALL RIGHT.—From a telegram received here this morning, we learn that the yachts Katie Gray, Enid, and Madcap, arrived at Oswego yesterday, with all well on board. This is welcome news as some apprehensions had begun to be felt for their safety. A telegram from Oswego this afternoon says the three yachts above named are storm bound there, and that they will remain there till to-morrow. A dispatch from Mr. John Bell, jr. states that the Kathleen is at South Bay Point, also storm bound.

FOR BARRIE.—Wallace Ross, the St. John oarsman, accompanied by his brother passed here on the train last evening for Barrie via Toronto. They had two boats with them, which they will use at the regatta in which Hanlan and other celebrated scullers will take part. Pat Luther and Henry Coulter of Pittsburg have already arrived at Barrie; the Ross Bros. left Toronto for that place to-day, whilst Plaisted who expects to be third in the race is also en route for the scene of the encounter which will take place on Monday next.

RETURNED.—The excursionists who left here for Rochester, N. Y., on the steamer Hastings returned home at 1 p. m. to-day. They were brought to Kingston last night and transferred to the Geneva, which boat was to supply the place of the first named, which was to go on the route from Cobourg. When about opposite the Upper Gap the Geneva broke her wheel, and as the Hastings soon came along the "unfortunates" were taken to Picton, at which port they were transferred to the Shannon, which brought them here after a six hours' voyage. The remembrance of this trip will long remain in the memories of all who participated in it.

I. O. O. F.—Last evening a number of the members of Discornto Lodge, I. O. O. F. of Mill Point, paid a friendly and fraternal visit to Belleville Lodge, No. 81. After the business of the lodge had been closed the visiting brethren were entertained at a lunch at Mr. J. S. Crothers' restaurant. After ample justice had been done to the good things so liberally and bountifully provided by "mine host," and a couple of hours spent in "speech and song," the company separated, "happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again." Mr. Crothers deserves credit for the very superior manner in which the lunch was served. The Oddfellows' Band was present and added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

Police Court.

FRIDAY, Aug. 9.

FALSE PRETENCES.

Simon Armstrong appeared on his own recognizance to answer a charge of obtaining money from the Marmora Cheese Factory under false pretences. The case was laid over for hearing till 3 o'clock.

North Hastings.

(From the North Hastings Review, Aug. 7.)

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday last, Alice, youngest child of A. F. Wood, Esq., aged about 7, while at play in Mr. Golding's barn had the misfortune to fall and dislocate the elbow of her left arm, also breaking the point of the bone. Medical attendance was at once secured, and we are glad to hear that the little sufferer is rapidly recovering.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.—On Monday last Mr. William Coe, of this village, whilst at Eldorado came across a man at Conlin's hotel who seemed anxious to dispose of a horse and buggy which he had in his possession. The unusually low figure asked for the outfit roused Mr. Coe's suspicions that all was not right, but he agreed to purchase the buggy at less than half the value, while Mr. Conlin was to take the horse and harness at an equally low price. Mr. Coe brought man and rig down to this village, and had the horse put way in his own stable, and then told the man, who had represented to him that he received the horse and buggy from a farmer near Cobourg for wages, that he would telegraph to this person and if all was right he would purchase the whole thing for a cash offer made on the way down from Eldorado, as the man was very anxious to be off. The stranger protested strongly against this want of confidence, and Mr. Coe now fully convinced that the rig had been stolen, threatened to hand him over to the constable. He however brought him down to the telegraph office and telegraphed to the party at Cobourg, and while waiting for an answer the stranger quietly bolted, leaving the horse and buggy in Mr. Coe's possession. He immediately telegraphed to several of the towns and villages around and yesterday received word from a livery keeper in Campbellford that a rig had been stolen from him, and who arrived in the village last night and claimed his property. Mr. Coe is to be congratulated on his success as an amateur detective.

—A Paris despatch states that the marriage of the French Prince Imperial with the Princess Thyra of Denmark will be made the occasion of a revision of the Treaty of Prague. The proposed marriage causes great dissatisfaction among the French Bonapartists, who regard it as likely to alienate the sympathies of the Catholics.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, August 8.—Fackler Bros', buggy top factory was burned; loss $25,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—William Revel, a retired negro minstrel, was shot in a bar-room fight to-night by James M, Lemont, a well known member of the same profession. Revel will die.

DUNELLEN, N. J., Aug. 8.—In accordance with the programme of the Miners' National organization, it has been agreed that a general strike shall be inaugurated on or about the 15th inst. The trouble in the coal regions of Pennsylvania will be started, in all probability, in the Lehigh region. It has been learned that the colliers employed by the coal companies of the Pennsylvania Railroad are prepared for a general strike.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The Chinese embassy arrived yesterday, making but a very short stay.

Judge Loomis has decided in regard to back taxes due in the city, sustaining the constitutionality of the law to enforce their payment. Several millions of back taxes are involved in this decision, which is considered a victory for the city.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—General Howard considers the Indian war practically ended.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 9.—10,000 persons listened to Kearney on the commons last night. The feeling was unanimous in favor of Ben Butler for the next Governor of Massachusetts. At the close a series of anti-Chinese resolutions were passed.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—W. W. Harding, paper manufacturer, and proprietor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, has failed; liabilities $150,000.

HARTFORD, Ct., Aug. 9.—The smaller varieties of fish in the Connecticut river are dying by millions, probably from the use of paris green in agriculture.

CHESAPEAK CITY, Md., Aug. 9.—Dr. Joseph P. Grice and daughter, aged 12, were drowned on Tuesday.

HARRISBERG, Pa., Aug. 9.—Cashier Sheller, of the Lewisburg National Bank, who embezzled $30,000, has been arrested in Virginia.

TITUSVILLE, Fla., Aug. 9.—John R. Sanders accused a young man named Sweeny of writing an insulting letter to the former's sister on Friday. Sanders met Sweeny and shot him fatally.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Aug. 9.—The strikers at the Furnace and Continental collieries have gone to work.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Aug. 9.—Kane, Durham, and Morse, internal revenue officers arrested for murder, are now in charge of the Federal authorities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Herzig Bros., fur importers, have failed; liabilities $150,000.

Charles Yates, while bathing in the East river yesterday, was attacked by an immense shark, and dangerously bitten. He was rescued by a companion.

WATERTOWN, Aug. 9.—A Y. M. C. A. encampment at the Thousand Islahd Park was opened yesterday, with a large attendance.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 9.—A terrible rain storm took place here last night. All the trains on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg Road north, are abandoned. No trains are running. On the Cape Vincent branch culverts were washed out and bridges swept away. The damage throughout the county is reported heavy. Four inches of rain fell between 3 and 7 this morning.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 7.—J. F. Kuder, proprietor of the largest jewellry store in this city is missing since Tuesday, leaving a number of creditors.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—In an interview with Prof. Lockyear, the celebrated English scientist reported in the Post he says, he believed in Leverier's prophesy that Vulcan would be found. When they returned to Rawlins, Prof. Watson showed the position of the new body. We may, Prof. Lockyear said, rely upon Watson's statement that it is not a comet and it is certainly not a star; therefore it must be a planet and from its position an intramercurial one.

Prof. Lockyear was informed that Swift, of Rochester, had also discovered Vulcan. He said Watson will be overjoyed to hear it, for corroboration is a great thing, and I know a senseless question of priority will not be allowed to interfere with a discovery like this. I think Watson was enabled to get enough data to be of service to him in trying to find Vulcan again. Lockyear spoke with pleasure of the presentation to President Hayes, and contrasted the simplicity of the White House with the ceremony which surrounds the Queen. He stated the main object of his visit was to examine the workings of the signal service, which he regards as one of the wonders of America. He expressed pleasure that our Government fully recognizes scientific work, and wished the English observatories were as well organized as those in America.

BOSTON, Ms., Aug. 9.—During the thunder shower last night, Walcott's saw, grist and cider mill was struck by lightning and burned. Loss $12,000.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The Franco-American Conference was attended by Deputies Pascal, Duprat, Wilson, and Renvier, and three hundred merchants and delegates from French seaports and towns.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Ernest Gye, the operatic manager, and Mlle. Albani, were married on Tuesday at the Roman Catholic Chapel.

MANCHESTER, Aug. 9.—The London correspondent of the Guardian says: The Radicals of Southwark propose to nominate Miss Helen Turner for Parliament at the next general election, and thus practically raise the question of woman's rights.

EDINBURG, Aug. 9.—The London correspondent of the Scotsman says the Executive Committee of the Home Rule Confederation on Wednesday passed a resolution strongly condemning Dr. Isaac Butt and the majority of Home Rule members for their conciliatory policy toward the Government. This is probably the first step in the crusade against Butt's leadership, which is ended for all practical purposes.

It must be rather a comfortable thing to have an invention that one can conscientiously refuse a cool million for. Prof. Barff, of England, has just refused $1,250,000 for his patent rights on his new process for the protection of iron from rust and atmospheric influences. The invention, which is likely to revolutionize the iron trade, consists in coating the metal with its own protoxide. It is, however, inapplicable to great standing structures like the Menai railway bridge, the days of which, consequently, unless science has some further remedy in store, would be numbered.

The water of the Des Moines River became so hot during the recent heated term that fish died by the thousand. Large sized pickerel were taken from the surface of the water, and upon being plunged into springs, speedily recovered and were as lively as ever.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, fresh to brisk westerly to northwesterly winds, partially cloudy to clear weather. For the St. Lawrence, fresh to brisk winds and partly cloudy weather, with rain areas, or thunder storms. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh to brisk southwesterly to southeasterly winds and partly cloudy to cloudy weather, with rain areas or thunder storms.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Indications:—partly cloudy weather, occasional rain, warm, veering to colder winds.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly.

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1878.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with lacs, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Farmer A. and His Butter.

A very fine dairy has Farmer A.;
He makes "gilt-edged" butter, his neighbors all say.
Now, Farmer A. thought his butter so nice
That by "holding" he'd get a much higher price.

JUNE.

"Good morning," the middleman said;
"Have you butter to sell?" Mr. A. shook his head.
"What d'ye pay?" "Thirty-five is a very fair price."
Mr. A. shook his head. "My butter's too nice."

SEPTEMBER.

"I've called 'round again to look at your butter."
This remark set the farmer's heart in a flutter.
(It's advanced, his calling shows that very clear.)
"What d'ye pay?" "Forty cents," the middleman said.
"That's a little more like it"—but he still shook his head.

NOVEMBER.

"I want some 'gilt-edge,' some A. number one,
I think is the very top notch it has gone;
Mr. A. you had better take my advice—
Dispose of your butter while it brings a good price.
Of course you're aware you may hold it too long,
The best butter sometimes becomes very strong."
"What d'ye pay?" "Forty-five," the middleman said.
"Let'r bob up to fifty"—he still shook his head.

MARCH.

The butter is "frowy," he'll hold it no longer,
For every day it smells stronger and stronger;
Sorry that he hadn't sold when 'twas higher,
He starts off to town to hunt up a buyer.
The middleman's tryer goes down through the stuff
Whew! what how it smells—one smell is enough
"I don't wish to buy." "Make me one offer, please."
"Mr. A. I am paying ten cents for poor grease."

MORAL.

Now, don't hold too long just because it is gilt-edged.
Let 'em slide every time when it brings a good price.
—Exchange.

A Blaze at Sea.

THE "MORAVIAN" ON FIRE IN MID-OCEAN DURING A STORM.

From passengers who arrived by the Allen steamship "Moravian," on her last voyage from Liverpool, we learn of a dreadful casualty having occurred by the hurricane and disregard of their lives on the part of the first officer, Mr. Thompson, and the boatswain, Mr. George Sinclair. The vessel left Liverpool on Thursday, the 25th ult., when all went well until the night of Sunday, 28th, or morning of the 29th, when the boats are referred to and the sail-maker Robert Morris, discovered smoke issuing from the fore-hold. The chief officer, being on watch, set to work at once and got the turpaulins taken off, when a volume of fire and smoke with a sickening smell presented itself. The hose being got ready Sinclair was the first to volunteer to go below, regardless of the imminent danger, to direct the water on the burning compartment. He was not long down when he had to be dragged to the top, almost dead from suffocation. His place was immediately taken by Mr. Thompson, first officer, who gallantly stood his ground until he was overcome also by the gases that had been generated. The engines were kept going and water was poured down without cessation until the fire was got under control. So admirable was the discipline among the crew that everything was done without confusion or disorder, and the cabin passengers all the time were quietly sleeping in their berths unconscious of being in which imminent peril of their lives. The steerage and intermediate passengers were aroused, the fire being close to their quarters, but we are assured that their terror did not amount to anything further than into immediate resort to pray. Many whom, it was afterwards said, had never offered a supplication before, were the loud est and most demonstrative in their appeals in the face of the terrible danger that stared them in the face. One of the passengers said that a panic existed for a short time among the steerage passengers, and that they took possession of the boats and would not get out of them, but we are assured by other passengers that this was not the case, and that the crews were not taken off the boats during the trying ordeal. The fire was discovered between 3 and 4 o'clock a.m., but it is thought it had been smouldering from the time the ship left port the forenoon previously. It originated in one of the compartments in the lower hold among woolen goods, and it is said that they must have contained a large quantity of oil, as the smell that was emitted was frightfully offensive. It is stated that had the flames not been subdued at the moment they were a terrific explosion must soon have occurred, as the partition of the oil room, where a large quantity of oil was stored, was nearly burned through. If this had occurred nothing could have saved the ship from absolute destruction. A large quantity of the burning bales were thrown overboard, and the forehold was deluged to such an extent with water that a considerable portion of the cargo will be seriously damaged, but to what actual extent has yet to be determined. The captain and officers and crew acted throughout in the most praiseworthy manner, and the crew especially are entitled to the very highest reward for their courage and discipline. The passengers passed resolutions of thanks to the Captain, and acknowledged the brave services of all under him. During the time of the fire it was blowing a gale of wind, the sea being so rough that there would have been a poor account of any boat that would had gone out on it. Fortunately it was not required, all being safely landed afterwards at Quebec.—Montreal Star.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

When a mother of a young man finds a hairpin securely fastened to the lappel of his coat, she will draw her own inference regarding the novelty of its location.

EMPLOYMENT

IN every Village and Township of Ontario not yet occupied. One ACTIVE, intelligent Lady and Gentleman can obtain a most respectable and very profitable engagement.

Address, with full particulars as to age and experience,

D. DOWNIE & Co.,
4, King St. West,
Toronto.
April, 1878. 291f

To the Electors OF WEST HASTINGS.

HAVING heard a rumour on the streets that it is not my intention to contest the Riding again for Parliamentary honors, I beg to state that such rumour is not correct. I am at the disposal of my friends, and if they desire it, I am quite willing again to solicit the suffrages of my friends and supporters, and all those who feel satisfied with my course as their representative at Ottawa during the past eleven years.

I am, your obed't serv't,
JAMES BROWN.

MORTGAGE SALE OF FARM AND MILL PROPERTY,

IN THE TOWNSHIPS OF

THURLOW AND SIDNEY.

UNDER powers of sale in Mortgages to the undersigned, which will be produced at the time of Sale, default in payment having been made, there will be offered for sale by

PUBLIC AUCTION,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, on Saturday, 10th day of August,

A.D. 1878, at two o'clock, p.m.,

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Townships of Sidney and Thurlow respectively, in the County of Hastings and Province of Ontario, and which respectively may be described as follows:

PARCEL I.

All that certain tract or parcel of land in the said Township of Sidney, being composed of lot number thirty-eight, in the eighth concession of the said Township of Sidney, reserving thereout and therefrom that portion thereof sold and conveyed to the Halloway Sawing Factory, and the right of way and land granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

This parcel lies close to the gravel road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On the North half are a Log House and Frame Barn; a considerable quantity of Valuable Timber, consisting of Beech, Maple and Pine; on the South half a

Stone Grist Mill, Frame House and Fair Orchard.

The whole is of an excellent loam soil. If not sold together, these half lots will then be offered separately.

PARCEL II.

All that tract or parcel of land situate in the said Township of Thurlow, and being composed of lot number one, in the eighth concession of the Township of Thurlow, aforesaid, and containing by admeasurement, two hundred acres, be the same more or less, together with all the Mills, Buildings and Erections on the above granted premises, reserving thereout and therefrom those portions thereof heretofore sold to the Wesleyan Methodist Church, also to W. T. Bird, Esq., and Edward Mathew Townsend and Henry Alkenbrack, also the right of way granted to the Grand Junction Railway Company.

The Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc runs through this lot, which is situate 10 miles from Belleville. The North half is heavily timbered with valuable Beech, Maple, Pine and Cedar. On it is a never-failing spring creek.

On the South half are a Stone Dwelling House, a Stone Store and Dwelling connected, a Frame Tavern with good Sheds and Stables connected; also a Frame Dwelling with Barn and Sheds connected, and a Fair Farm. A Stone Grist Mill touches on this lot.

These half lots will be offered in one parcel, and if not then sold will be offered separately.

PARCEL III.

That portion of the south-west quarter of lot number two, in said fifth concession of Thurlow, purchased by A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., from Thomas L. Todd and wife, together with all the mills, buildings and erections on the above granted premises.

This parcel is situate on the Gravel Road from Belleville to Madoc, about 10 miles from Belleville. On it are a stone House and Frame Barn.

TERMS:

One-fifth of Purchase Money to be paid down at time of sale, the balance in four equal annual instalments, to be secured by a Mortgage on the premises, with interest at the rate of seven per cent., per annum. The other conditions of sale will be made known at time of sale.

CHANCERY SALE OF VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY.

IN CHANCERY.

CLARK v. BOGART.

IN pursuance of an Order made in the above cause, and dated this 13th day of June 1878, there will be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, with the approbation of Samuel Shaw Lazier, Esquire, Master of this Court at Belleville, at his Chambers, Shire Hall, Church Street, in the City of Belleville, on

Saturday, the 10th day of August next,

at the hour of twelve o'clock, noon, in eight parcels, the following valuable Real Estate, namely:

PARCEL 1.

Lot 14, on the west side of Pinnacle Street, according to the new plan of Belleville of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 19th paragraph of the Bill of Complaint herein. This parcel has a frontage of 87 feet 9 inches, and comprises the handsome two-story brick dwelling house at present occupied by Dr. Willson, with grounds, stables, and out-buildings attached.

PARCEL 2.

Part of lot 15, on West side of Pinnacle Street, according to said plan of Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing on the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street, at the southerly angle of lot No. 25, thence northerly along the westerly limit of Pinnacle Street 55¼ links, thence westerly and parallel with the southerly limit of lot 25, 2 chains, 23 links, to the east stable wall, thence southerly, in line with the outside of said stable wall, 96 links to a point 22 feet 10 inches south of the southerly limit of lot 25, thence easterly along the northerly limit of a lane 343 links, more or less, to the easterly limit of a small lot, No. 6, as shown on a plan of the sub-division of lot 24, by J. J. Haslett, P. L. S., registered the 14th day of November, 1852, thence northerly along the easterly limit of said lot 6, 22 feet, 10 inches, to the southerly limit of lot 25, thence along the southerly limit of lot 25, 139½ links, more or less, to the place of beginning—comprising the commodious two story dwelling house, opposite the Post Office House, now occupied by Dr. Hamilton. The lot has frontage on Pinnacle Street, and on it are good stabling and out-buildings.

PARCEL 3.

Lot 26, north of Bridge Street, according to said new map or plan by Evans & Bolger, and more particularly described in the 3rd paragraph of the bill of complaint herein, and being that fine block of brick buildings in the City of Belleville known as the

POST OFFICE BLOCK.

The building has on the ground floor a number of good stores and the City Post Office. The second and third stories are fitted up as offices and other rooms, and there are good stone store houses, &c., in rear thereof. This block is one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable piece of property in the City, being quite new, centrally situated, and admirably adapted for business.

PARCEL 4.

Lot 28 on the West side of Front St. according to Hazlett's Plan of Belleville, and more particularly described in the 5th paragraph of said Bill, and being the large and fine

BLOCK OF BRICK BUILDINGS

Known as the BOGART BLOCK, opposite the City Hall, and on the main business street of the city. The building has five first class stores on the ground floor, and the second floor is fitted up as commodious offices, the third being used for offices and the Firemen's Hall, and the premises in the rear are extensive storehouses and the buildings occupied as the City Fire Engine House. Both this block and the preceding parcel 3 are buildings quite new, having been built only a few years ago and at a very large outlay.

PARCEL 5.

The south part of Lot letter "A" at the south end of John Street, north of Dundas Street according to Hazlett's Plan, and more particularly described in the 15th paragraph of said Bill of Complaint, being over ¼ of an acre of land, with a frontage of 76 feet and depth of 176 feet. This parcel comprises the large semi-detached new brick house and grounds situate on Turnbull Street, formerly occupied by Joseph Weller, Esq., and is a first-class city residence.

PARCEL 6.

Part of said Lot letter "A" immediately north of parcel 5 and of same depth with frontage of 86 feet, situate on Turnbull Street, and more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 in the concession of Township of Thurlow, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street; thence south 15° 45 east along said Boundary Commissioners Line 66 feet 4 inches to the north-west angle of the land heretofore decided to Ellis Bell, Esq.; thence easterly in a direct line to the centre line between two semi-detached brick dwelling houses, and along said centre line and said centre line produced two chains and 67 links more or less to the westerly limit of a lane; thence north 15° 30, west along the westerly limit of said lane 65 feet 4 inches; thence south 70° 30 minutes west two chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 87-100 of an acre more or less. On the premises is the large two story semi-detached brick dwelling house formerly occupied by Mrs. Furnival, with outbuildings attached. Both this building and the one mentioned in parcel 5 are new, having been built within a few years back.

PARCEL 7.

The vacant lot immediately north of parcel 6, being part of said lot letter "A" and which may be better described as follows:—Commencing at a point on the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, 12½ links north of the northern limit of the street laid out on lot 20, now called Lattimer Street, thence north 15° 45 minutes, west along said Boundary Commissioners line 65 feet, thence north 70° 30 minutes east 157 feet to the westerly limit of John Street, thence south 45° 15 minutes east 48¼ links, thence south 15° 30 minutes east along the western limit of a lane 57 links more or less to a fence, thence south 70° 30 west along said fence 2 chains 66 links more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement ¼ of an acre more or less. This lot has a frontage on John Street, and is an excellent building lot being about 65 feet by 176.

PARCEL 8.

The vacant lot lying immediately north of Parcel 7, being parts of lots A., 9 and 10, west side of John St., which may be more particularly described as follows: Commencing at a point on the westerly limit of north John Street 72 feet southerly from the north-east corner of lot 10 east of John Street as laid down on P. L. S. Benson's plan of the Taylor property, thence south 76° 30 minutes west along a fence 132 feet more or less, to the Boundary Commissioners line between lots 4 and 5 above mentioned, thence south 15° and 45 minutes east along said Boundary Commissioners line 157 feet 6 inches more or less to the land heretofore conveyed to one William Sutherland, thence north 70° 30 minutes east along the northerly limit of said land conveyed to William Sutherland 157 feet more or less to the fence on north John Street, thence north 45° 15 minutes west along said fence 42 feet 2 inches to the westerly limit of John Street, thence north 15° 20 minutes west along the westerly limit of John Street 103 feet 6 inches more or less to the place of beginning, containing by admeasurement 47-100 of an acre more or less.

This property, which comprises parts of Lots "A," 9 and 10, on the west side of John Street, situate immediately south of the garden and stables of the late D. D. Bogart, Esq., is suitable for two fine building lots, having over 70 feet frontage each on John Street. This Parcel, as well as Parcels 5, 6, and 7, are among the most desirable sites for residences in the City.

Parcels 3 and 4, are perhaps the handsomest and most valuable blocks of buildings in the City, having also been built a few years ago, and finished in the most complete manner, at a very great expense. Both are centrally situated. The other parcels are first-class City residence properties. The whole comprising the most valuable City property ever offered for sale in Belleville.

The property will be put up in 8 lots or parcels separately, as above set out.

The purchasers to obtain possession themselves, and the Vendor is not bound to produce title deeds not in his possession, nor to furnish copies of such, and the Vendor will not be bound to shew or make any title other than that shewn by the title deeds in his possession—the purchaser taking the title as shewn by the abstract index at the Registry Office, at the time of sale, without any steps being taken by the Vendor to perfect same, if such in any case should be necessary, and the Vendor is not to be responsible for title—the same to be taken by a vesting order from the Court.

Each of the above parcels will be subject to a reserved bid, fixed by the said Master, and the plaintiffs are to be at liberty to bid as ordinary bidders.

The purchaser, shall, at the time of sale, pay down a deposit of ten per cent. of his purchase money and sign an agreement to complete the purchase, and shall pay a further sum without interest, enough to complete three-sevenths of the purchase money on the 4th day of October next, at which time he is to be entitled to receive his conveyance, the balance to be paid in four equal annual instalments, with interest at 7 per cent per annum on the whole amount remaining unpaid at time of payment of each instalment—the same to be secured by way of mortgage upon the properties, under the usual practice of the Court.

In other respects the conditions of sale are the standing conditions of sale of the Court of Chancery.

For particulars, apply at the Law offices of Bell & Bell, Holden & Anderson, G. D. Dickson, A. Robertson, Flint & Jellett, Dougall & Falkiner, and Hon. L. Wallbridge, Belleville.

Dated at Chambers this 11th July, 1878.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your preju ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

THE OLD STORY.

ALICE CAREY.

The waiting women wait at her feet,
And the day is fading into the night,
And close at her pillow, and round and sweet,
The red rose burns like a lamp alight.
And over and under the grey mist's fold,
And down, and down from the mossy eaves,
And down from the sycamore's long wild leaves
The slow rain drippeth so cold, so cold.

Ah! never had sleeper a sleep so fair;
And the waiting women that wait around
Have taken the combs from her golden hair,
And it slideth over her face to the ground;
They have hidden the light from her eyes;
And down the eaves where the mosses grow
The rain is dropping so slow, so slow,
And the night wind cries, and cries, and cries.

From her hand they have taken the shining ring,
They have brought the linen her shroud to make;
O, the lark she was never so loth to sing,
And the morn she was never so loth to awake!
And at their sewing they hear the rain—
Drip-drop-drip-drop over the eaves,
And drip-drop over the sycamore leaves,
As if they would never be sunshine again.

The mourning train to the grave has gone,
And the waiting-women are here and are there,
With the birds at the windows and gleams of the sun,
Making the chamber of death to be fair.
And over and under the mist unlaps,
And ruby and amethyst burn through gray,
And driest bushes grow green and spray,
And the dimpled water its glad hand clasps.

The leaves of the sycamore dance and wave,
And the mourners put off the mourning shows;
And over the pathway down to the grave
The long grass blows, and blows and blows,
And every drip-drop rounds to a flower,
And love in the heart of the young man springs,
And the hand of the maiden shine with rings,
As if all life were a festival hour.

Lament of the Prince of Choshin on the Death of his Wife.

FROM THE JAPANESE.

Waking at midnight when the wind is still,
Alone I seem to drift upon a tide
Of dreary waters, while the dying moon
Sinks slowly, gathering all her tender rays,
And leaving the dark-visaged night forlorn;
Moans the wild wind, the air is filled with frost;
My eyes are dull, but solitude and cold,
Like cruel throated watch-dogs, scare away
The timid traveller, Sleep.

I cannot rest;
A dear face shines upon me like a star
Through death and darkness. Poor, sweet, lonely love!
Oh, I would be the stone upon her grave,
Or the least flower that blossoms on her dust,
My darling somewhere in the silent land.
The rock of death divides the rushing wave,
But the twain streams shall surely meet again.

Through the dim world the village temple bell
Touches my ears, and every solemn sound
Repeats her name whose pensive thought were prayer.
My arms are empty, but my heart is full,
And shall be full of her for evermore.

Home Piety.

It is in the family life that a man's piety gets tested. Let the husband be cross and surly, giving a slap here and a cuff there, and see how out of sorts everything gets! The wife grows cold and unamiable, too. Both are tuned on one key. They vibrate in unison giving tone for tone, rising in harmony or discord together. The children grow up saucy and savage as young bears. The father becomes callous, peevish, hard—a kind of two-legged brute with clothes on. The wife bristles in self-defence. They develop an unnatural growth and sharpness of teeth, and the house is haunted by ugliness and domestic brawls. Is that what God meant the family to be—He who made it a place for Love to build her nest in, and where kindness and sweet courtesy might come to their finest manifestations? The divine can be realized. There is sunshine enough in the world to warm all. Why will not men come out of their caves to enjoy it? Some men make it a point to treat every other man's family well but their own—have smiles for all but their kindred. Strange, pitiable picture of human weakness, when those we love best are treated worst; when courtesy is shown to all save our friends! If one must be rude to any, let it be some one he does not love—not to wife, sister, brother or parent. Let one of our loved ones be taken away, and memory recalls a thousand sayings to regret. Death quickens recollection painfully. The grave cannot hide the white faces of those who sleep. The coffin and the green ground are cruel magnates. They draw us farther than we would go. They force us to remember. A man never sees so far into human life as when he looks over a wife or mother's grave. His eyes get wonderous clear then, and he sees as never before what it is to love and be loved; what it is to injure the feelings of the loved.

Life is Short.

Life is short, and you have much work to do. Work for others as well as yourself. You will not pretend you are never selfish. You are more or less so every day of your existence. In the very face of conviction, you play the part of contracted littleness. How often do your forget the interest of others, in eager desire for yourself; and how readily you silence the whispers of reason, by calling in for precedents respectable example. Yet you know the value of disinterested virtue—and how that avarice, or any selfish passion, can never acquire your felicity—but the appearance of the moment persuade you otherwise, and hence the cause of error and crime. Study, therefore, not only to be convinced of truth, but to establish it firmly on your mind, beyond the reach of doubt. Then, not till then, your character will be uniform, and your principle strong enough to carry you through the trials and temptations of life. No one can be happy long, unless he is governed by virtue; and to be regulated by this sublime principle, he must early learn to make any sacrifice, even life and all that renders it sweet in the eyes of mankind.

Be Mindful.

It needs no guilt to break a husband's heart. The absence of content, the mutterings of spleen, the untidy dress and cheerless home, the forbidding scowl and deserted hearth—these, and other nameless neglects, without a crime among them, have harrowed to the quick the heart's core of many a man, and planted there, beyond the reach of cure, the germ of dark despair. Oh, may woman, before that sight arrives, dwell on the recollections of her youth, and cherishing the dear idea of that tuneful time, awaken and keep alive the promise she so kindly gave. And though she may be the injured, not the injuring one—the forgotten, and not the forgetting wife—a happy allusion to the hour of peaceful love—a kindly welcome to a comfortable home—a smile of love to banish hostile words—a kiss of peace to pardon all the past, and the hardest heart that ever locked itself within the breast of selfish man will soften to her charms, and bid her live, as she had hoped, her years of matchless bliss, loved, loving and content—the source of comfort and the spring of joy.

Don't Wait.

Don't wait until to-morow. Remember in all things that, if you do not begin, you will never come to an end. The first weed pulled up in the garden, the first seed in the ground, the first shilling put in the savings-bank, and the first mile travelled on a journey, are all important things; they make a beginning, and thereby a hope, a promise, a pledge, an assurance that you are in earnest in what you have undertaken. How many a poor, idle, hesitating outcast is now creeping and crawling on his way through the world who might have held up his head and prospered if, instead of putting off his resolutions of industry and amendment, he had only made a beginning.

"Good-Byes."

BY REV. JOHN HALL, D. D., N.Y.

There is a splendid tribute to our holy religion in the very English word which, in the leave-takings of the time, we so frequently employ, if "God be with you" is the original of which "Good-bye" is the abbreviation. It is fair, however, to say that some make the "bye" the same as "journey," and the phrase the counterpart of the French bon voyage. We prefer to believe—not a very candid and judicial state of mind, to be sure—the former derivation (the counterpart of the French a Dieu,) and we are sure may so regard the word as they use it. "God be with you"—"He can be, for He is everywhere; and His presence is the best blessing we could wish you; and even as we part with you, we pray for you; and our natural affections that bind us together we thus consecrate by interweaving them with these high, loving thoughts of Omnipotent Father whose presence is at once the best company and the truest protection"—all this we would say in our "Good-bye."

The mechanics of leave-taking vary greatly. No doubt there is something in early training and example determining men's methods; but there is also something of inner character. One man slaps his hand into yours, with a premonitory gesture that prepares you for the collision of palms, and then shakes vehemently. Another quietly, and without preliminary flourish, takes your hand, and holds its silently, trying by his look and tone to express his feeling. To him the hand-shaking is a mere conventional gesture attendant on kindly valedictory speech. One squeezes your hand, as if warmth of feeling were best symbolized by a compression that produces heat. Another barely touches your hand, and drops it. as if contact like that of electric wires were enough to convey feeling. This is open to censure. It is unorthodox, and unhandsome. We stand up for the real, original, time-honored "hand-shaking." There are however, two varieties of the exercise which we think ought not to be cultivated. The first is that in which the hand shaken receives such a pressure that bad physical consequences result. We have seen ladies' fingers bruised and blackened by the rings being forced into the flesh—and they were not very young ladies either. To be sure, it may be said the rings had no business there; but a wise man, in matters of that kind, takes things as they are, and makes the best of them. One could not stand still on being introduced and beg a lady to remove her rings, as he intended to bring her fingers under a pressure of fifty pounds avoirdupois.

The second variation combines several features of other plans. Your hand is held, and by way of emphasis of sentiment, kindly shaken and squeezed at intervals, regular, like the beating of the pulse, or irregular, expressed, until you who are in this way imprisoned become ashamed, and wonder if you are to get your hand back again.

All things considered, a simple, unceremonious grasp, without a swagger, with a moderate pressure, for a moderate space of time, is the unobjectionable method. (For the "engaged," no rule is possible.) The degree of impressiveness of manner and of grasp, good sense and good taste must regulate; and we see no reason, for the present, for a Society to Effect Social Reform in Hand-shaking.

But in what endless variety of feelings is good-bye uttered! "Well, good-bye, Jack," says the graduate, as he parts from his college friend on the platform. "hope I'll meet you again." "Good-bye, old fellow," says the simple Saxon officer, as he parts from the friend of his bosom, who is en route to India with his regiment; "take care of yourself." "Good-bye, Lillie," says the young girl as she kisses her school friend on both cheeks twice, her eyes moistened with a tear; "you'll be sure to write, dear, very soon, won't you, at once?' And Lillie promises and does write, but, we regret to say, after a long interval, which it takes most of the letter to explain. This elicits, after still longer delay, a reply, and there, too often for the revenue, the correspondence ends. Lillie and her friend meant it otherwise at the time; but they did not know themselves, and forgot the many new duties and affections that would fill up the space in their lives,

"Good-bye," says a timid, silent, half-anconscious lover, and something in the manner of the gentle girl more sympathetic than her wont, is a revelation to himself. He never realized before how dear she was to him; and her tone and look are not without feeling; and the occasion warrants a little informality of speech; and enough is said to make the "good-bye" the beginning of a union until death do them part. "Good-bye," says the hopeful lad as he sets out to make his way in life. He meant to be brave and manly; he even swaggered a little, especially to his sisters, and makes light of the distance to which he is going; but when the actual "good-bye" is to be said it chokes him, and he turns away his head to hide his tears. You need not, my poor boy? They are not disgraceful. They are not the last, but they are among the least selfish you will ever shed. Only take care that your career in that far-off field on which your battle is to be fought never causes a tear to those loved ones, except a tear of joy.

Has any reader recollections of the way a fond father said good-bye? There were advices, cautions, hopes, some tender memories, and then the good-bye, and the strong man's face worked, and the words were abrupt, and tears perhaps could not be kept back. "Oh Absalom! my son!" said the Hebrew father, when the sad tragedy had ended in ruin. Many a parent has cried out even thus, in the moment of parting, when there was no tragedy but that of breaking up a home, and taking away a joy and pride. And who shall put into words the leave-takings round the bed of death? It is well that other thoughts—even the quiet needed by the sinking sufferer, forbid formal farewell: for who could be even approximately calm and say it in view of separation here forever? And the good-bye that is uttered, and not heard, when mother earth is taking to her bosom the dear form of the loved and lost, who can describe its intensity of sadness. Well it is for us again that new toils and solicitudes employ and divert the mind from its misery. Here the poor have sometimes—in that system of compensations of which the world is full—advantage over the rich. The battle for bread for the living turns the stricken heart away from the sad contemplation of the comrades who have fallen on the field.

As we begun with thoughts of the Invisible imbedded in our "good-bye," so would we in closing emphasize that hope that takes the bitterness out of our separations, even when they are for life. To get back our own, to be with them again, to know them, to be known by them, to talk with them, exchange feelings with them, live with them within our reach forever, this is the Christian hope, and who can tell its preciousness?

"Good-bye, proud world! I'm going home."

So without bitterness, in rational hope—a hope founded on appropriate reasons, not on indefinite wish—that religion which our nation owns, truly received, enables one to say, and to say, not in the despair of the crushed soldier,

"Farewell! Othello's occupation's gone!"

but as a pupil leaves school not unmindful of some hardships, thankful for its discipline, glad its lessons are learnt once for all, with some regrets at parting associates and friends, but with a deep satisfaction in this: "I am going home."

Make Home Happy.

Endeavor always to talk your best before your children. They hunger perpetually for new ideas. They will learn with pleasure from the lips of parents what they will deem it drudgery to study in books; and even if they have the misfortune to be deprived of many educational advantages they will grow up intelligent if they enjoy in childhood the privilege of listening daily to the conversation of intelligent people. We sometimes see parents who are the life of every company which they enter, dull, silent and uninteresting at home among their children. If they have not mental activity and mental stores sufficient for both, let them first use what they have for their own households. A silent home is a dull place for young people, a place from which they will escape if they can. How much useful information, on the other hand, is often given in pleasant family conversation, and what unconscious but excellent mental training in lively social argument. Cultivate to the utmost the graces of conversation.

Facts About the Popes.

Eighty of the Popes are honoured as saints, thirty-one martyrs, and forty-three confessors. St. Agacio was the only Pope who lived to be a centenarian, as he is also the only one, after St. Peter, who may be honoured with the title of miracle-worker. St. Agatho died at the age of one hundred and seven years, in 682, having reigned three years, six months, and fifteen days. Gregory IX died at the age of ninety-eight years; Celestine III. and Gregory XII. at the age of ninety-two; John XXII. at the age of ninety; Clement XII. at the age of eighty-eight years; and Clement X. and Pius IX. at the age of eighty-six. The Popes have been drawn from all classes of society. Nineteen were sons or near relations of princes, and an equal number came from illustrious families. Many were nobles in rank, or of great wealth. Others sprang from obscurity. Sixtus VI. was the son of a fisherman. Alexander V. was the son of poor unknown parents; and passed his first years in begging from door to door. Adrian IV., the only English Pope, was abandoned by his father, and had to subsist on charity untiil, going to France, he entered a convent as servant, where by his intelligence and his virtues he was afterwards deemed worthy to be received into religion. Sixtur V. had for his father a poor labourer, for mother a servant, and for sister a laundress. St. Celestine V. was the son of a simple farmer. Benedict XII. was the child of a baker. Urban IV. had a carpenter for his father, as also had Gregory VII. Five of the Popes had studied medicine before taking holy orders. Benedict XI. was the child of a notary. Julius III. was the descendant of a famous jurisconsult; Pelagius I. was the son of the vicar of the prefect of his province; Paul V. had for his father a patrician of Siena; and Eugene IV., Gregory XIII., and Alexander VII. belonged to patrician families of Venice. Whatever their origin, however, they no sooner acceded to the Chair of St. Peter than they displayed great wisdom, great charity, great dignity, and great piety.

Gems of Thought.

Despair has ruined some, but presumption multitudes.

It is far easier to see small faults than large virtues.

Delays increase desires, and sometimes extinguish them.

A wise man's thoughts walk within him but a fool's without.

Benevolence and charity are universal and unvarying duties.

The wise and prudent conquer difficulties by daring to attempt them.

Be severe to yourself, and indulgent to others; you thus avoid all resentment.

Our happiness in this world depends on the affections we are enabled to inspire.

Nothing can constitute good breeding that has not good nature for its foundation.

Look well into thyself; there is a source which will always spring up if thou wilt search there.

The virtues of a man ought to be measured, not by his extraordinary exertions, but by his every day conduct.

We should always be very careful on whom we confer benefits; for if we bestow them on the base minded, it is like throwing water into the sea.

Such as hear disobliging discourse, and repeat it again to the persons concerned, are much mistaken if they think to oblige them by such indiscreet confidence.

Duty, though set about by thorns, may still be made a staff, supporting even while it tortures. Cast it away, and, like the prophet's wand, it changes to a snake.

People are commonly so employed in pointing out faults in those before them as to forget that someone behind may at the same time be descanting on their own.

Liberality, courtesy, benevolence, unselfishness, under all circumstances and toward all men—these qualities are to the world what the linchpin is to the rolling chariot.

The face of the world is not apt to frown at success; no, it is too ready to break into smiles at any gigantic prosperity, no matter how darkened the means by which it was attained.

A golden rule for a young lady is to converse always with your female friends as though a gentleman were of the party, and with young men as if your female friends were present.

As storm following storm, and wave succeeding wave, give additional hardness to the shell that incloses the pearl, so do the storms and waves of life add force to the character of man.

Peace does not dwell in outward things, but within the soul. We may preserve it in the midst of the bitterest pain, if our will remain firm and submissive. Peace in this life springs from acquiescence even in disagreeable things, not in an exemption from suffering.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 9.

NOTHING LIKE CROWING.

The Globe of the 9th August holds forth in the following boastful style :

"In Ontario we have every reason to believe that the Government will increase their present majority."

"Sir John's own stronghold, Kingston, has apparently gone from him."

"Mr. T. N. Gibbs' defeat in South Ontario is a foregone conclusion."

"No less than thirteen constituencies now held by the Opposition are confidently promised to the Government."

Who did the promising ? The Globe has realized long ago, that promises are like pie-crust, easily broken. To give zest to these promises the Globe continues :

"As to an increase of the Government majority in Ontario, we believe there can be no doubt."

So much for Ontario : now for Quebec :

"There will also be an increase in Quebec. Mr. Joly's victory settled that. Some believe that Mr. Mackenzie will stand as well in the Province as the local Premier, but in any case he will make a considerable advance upon the present force of twenty-three supporters from Quebec."

Ontario and Quebec having done so well, let us see what is to be the result of the contest in the outlying Provinces. Listen to the Globe :

"In New Brunswick the Government is also expected to increase its majority, which is difficult, because the Opposition in the present House is very weak."

"In Nova Scotia, if Dr. Tupper comes out as strong as he is now, he will do well."

"Five out of the six Prince Edward Island members are promised to the Government."

"Manitoba and British Columbia will probably turn out a little stronger than they are now on the same side."

That is, on the side of the Government.

There is a genuine generosity about the Globe, for in the plenitude of its overflowing soul, it gives its reasons why it publishes these boastings. It says :—

"We give information on these points to our readers because they are entitled to receive it from our hands."

Generous journalist. The opposition must be thankful that any constituency, in either province, is left for them. But then the Globe says : "We desire to avoid taking a too favourable view of the situation," hence we must not complain at the modest information given to its readers. Seriously this clap-trap[boasting is looked upon as the raving of a "looney" who fancies every one as "soft" as himself.

The One Sided Policy.

A telegram from Ottawa gives us another illustration of the manner in which the United States government, protect every interest and every industry in that country. "The recent order issued," says the report, "by the United States Government to exclude Canadian vessels from towing Canadian barges from Burlington to Whitehall and otherwise effects Canadian forwarders. Ald. McCrea of this city, (Ottawa), intends testing the legality of the new instructions, and it is understood he will be protected by the Customs Department. How is he to be protected by the Customs Department ? He is to be indemnified in costs out of the Dominion Treasury ! We should not be surprised, at anything the Government might do at the present moment. An election is now at hand, and, if it be an advantage of the Ministerialists at this particular moment to do anything to secure the support and good will of the lumbermen in particular, it will be done; but would it not be much better to adopt a policy which would protect our own barges and tugs in our own waters, than to allow American built boats to do the work that should be done by our own vessels. Take the Ottawa River as an instance. It is clear that that River is excluded from the terms of the Washington treaty which opens certain navigable rivers to American vessels; but while the Americans have been continually throwing obstacles in the way of Canadian ships doing business in their waters, we with our "Fly on the Wheel" government, have been allowing them the full use of the Ottawa river and canals upon the same terms and conditions as those of our own. In short while the policy of the United States has been to protect and foster every industry in the country, the Canadian Cabinet at Ottawa has been pursuing a course that has brought ruin and bankruptcy upon nearly every man engaged in business. Let us then if we want to thrive, adopt the principles laid down in Sir John Macdonald's resolution in the House of Commons :—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion ; that such a Policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of the employment denied them at home ; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now sadly depressed ; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade ; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of a reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

This is the policy which it is the interest of all who desire to see the country prosper to support. Mackenzie & Co. are opposed to it—have declared their hostility to encouraging Canadian manufacturers and have sneered at the men who are giving a living to thousands of mechanics throughout the country. To this policy the "Reform" candidates in Hastings are opposed ; therefore all who are desirous of encouraging the spread of manufactures in our midst should vote for the Opposition.

TOUR IN THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS. — Lord and Lady Dufferin and Suite will leave Quebec for Sherbrooke on a tour through the Eastern townships on Monday next. At Sherbrooke he will be the guest of Mr. E. T. Brooks, M. P.

North Hastings Railway.

We are glad to be able to state that an offer made by Mr. E. O. Bickford, of Toronto, to build the Belleville and North Hastings Railway has been accepted by the Board of Directors, and that a contract will be entered into at once. We are informed by Mr. Bickford that he will have a construction train on the line of road at as early day, and that no time will be lost in completing the road to the Moore Mine.

The Late Boating Races.

Maritime Province papers, now that the great Ross-Hanlan race is over, are not anxious to see another in their part of the Country. The Halifax Reporter thus mourn'lizes on the result of the Hanlan vs Ross rowing race. "The affair is over. It has been productive of a week of riot and debauchery, which unhappily now seems to follow all the manly sports of the times. The demon of gambling promises to wipe out of existence all the innocent amusements in which the masses were wont to indulge. It is time that this "champion" nonsense was played out. The busy bees in the industrial hives have quite enough "drones" to support without being burdened with these so-called "champions" and their retinue of idlers. There is no estimating the demoralizing effect of such a week of rioting and drunkenness as has existed on the banks of the Kannabeccasis and extended, over the country in every direction. Its effect on the working classes is eapecially disastrous. Many a family to-day is left penniless—many a wife is mourning over the wreck of a drunken husband—many a mother's heart is torn as she sits by the bedside of her son, who is laboring under the effects of his week's debauch. But it is no use preaching. The evil of such gatherings—the idleness which they produce—the bad passions they evoke —are all patent to the world, and it is within the means of every community to rid itself of such nuisance. Let us hope Halifax will profit by the lessons which this race-meeting teaches her."

The St. John (N. B), Daily News says : —"The Ross-Hanlan race is over and people are heartily glad of it, even though it had an unsatisfactory ending. For a week there has been an unhealthy excitement in regard to this contest that we hope we shall never witness here again rioting and drunnkeness at the scene of the race, idleness and a standstill of many industries in the city, are certainly enormous sacrifices to make for a contest that is a doubtful benefit to a few and a loss and injury to very many. The Kenneheccasis has gained an unenviable reputation among boatmen, both for vexatious delays and the accidents to oarsmen. Should such a notoriety prevent aquatic sports on its surface in the future we shall indeed be a fortunate people."

SENATOR.—The Ottawa Free Press says : —"Dr. Brouse, M. P. for South Grenville, will probably be gazetted Senator of the Dominion, in the room of the late Hon. R. R. Sheppard, upon the dissolution of the present Parliament.

TO REMAIN UNTIL OCTOBER.—The Mail says :—" News has been received here from Quebec that the Earl of Dufferin has been asked by the Imperial Government to remain in Canada until October, as the Marquis of Lorne will be unable to come out before the latter part of that month, and that his Excellency had consented. It is understood that the new Governer-General desires to have the General Election over before he commences his vice-regal rule."

REFORMS IN TURKEY.—Sir Stafford Northcote stated in the House of Commons on Thursday night that the Government proposed to give careful consideration to the administrative reforms to be introduced in Asiatic Turkey. These reforms would be of three kinds, viz., in the departments of revenue, judicial system, and police, and would be guaranteed by treaty with the Porte.

AUSTRIA AND BOSNIA.—Three more battles have been fought by the Austrian army occupation. It is now hoped, however, that resistance to the Austrians will cease, as the Turkish plenipotentiary has received fresh instructions which meet the demands of the Vienna Cabinet more closely than before. It is stated that the British Government has declined to accede to the Porte's request to mediate with Austria for the stoppage of the Austrian advance at Banjaluka.

ABSURD.—This is a specimen of antinational-policy logic :—"The exports to the "United States from the consular district "in Ontario which has Belleville for its "centre, amounted in value to $192,884 "during the past quarter. All this trade "will be stopped if Sir John A. Macdonald's "tariff goes into operation." Could, says the Guelph Herald absurdity further go. Were Sir John to put on a high tariff, it would only apply to imports and could possibly have no effect on exports. Surely the Globe does not think its readers are such perfect fools as to believe the arrant nonsense of which the sentences quoted are specimens.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.—It is said that an understanding has been arrived at between Vanderbilt and the Grand Trunk Railway Company, which will avert the necessity of the Grand Trunk constructing a new line to form a connection between their line and the western roads. The substance of this understanding is that goods brought over the Michigan Central Railway will be charged the same rate, whether forwarded to the seaboard by Grand Trunk or New York Central. Vanderbilt appears to have come to a sensibility of the foolishness of attempting to shut off the immense traffic through Canada, by the Grand Trunk having evidenced a determination to build an independent line.

—It is stated that parties in Liverpool are determined to more fully test the practicability of importing live hogs from America. They have purchased a Steamer, and are fitting her so as to accommodate 2,500 hogs and a large number of cattle. It the animals do not suffer by sickness they will largely extend their business.

The Late Storm.

The storm of Thursday night extended generally throughout the eastern part of Ontario. At Mill Point we understand the damage by hail was very severe, The glass in she conservatory of Mr. E. W. Rathbun was nearly all broken, and the grape vines serious, by injured, the stones cutting the leaves off the vines as cleanly as if done by a knife. A pumpkin was shown to our informant which was split into four quarters by a hail stone, which from the hole it made appeared to be as large as a hen's egg. The Church at Indian Woods had a number of panes of glass broken, and the crops throughout that section suffered very great damage.

At Kingston the storm is described as being the most violent within the memory of the "oldest inhabitant." A barn belonging to John Baker was struck by lightning, and with the contents burned to the ground. Several buildings in the city were struck by lightning, but fortunately no lives were lost.

A despatch of the 9th from Napanee says the barn of Mr. Richard Joyce, of South Fredericksburg, was struck by lightning this morning at seven o'clock and burned. It contained this year's harvest. Loss probably $1,500 to $2,000.

Thos. Close's mill, four miles from Napanee, was struck by lightning and burned on the 9th. There was about 1,500 bushels of grain stored in it. Insurance not known.

A correspondent writes from Bridgewater as follows : We had the severest storm here last night that has been for some time from nine o'clock in the evening till daylight. This morning the whole country was ablaze with light, as flash after flash of lightning issued from the clouds in rapid succession, and at intervals the rain came down like a deluge. No accidents happened fortunately, but a birch tree south of the village was struck and completely girdled, catching fire at the same time, after burning which it fell.

PICTON, Aug 9.—A severe storm of rain and wind, accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over here last night. Mr. Joseph Martin, near Milford, had four cows killed by lightning.

FRANKFORD, Aug. 9.—During a terrible thunder storm which prevailed here about three o'clock this morning a barn filled with hay and wheat, together with a new lumber waggon and farming implements, belonging to Joshua Anderson, was struck by lightning and totally consumed. Loss covered by insurance in the Victoria Mutual of Hamilton.

In the vicinity of Orillia there was a perfect tornado, and a large number of houses and barns were unroofed.

BEAR KILLED.—We clip the following from the Norwood Register :—"Mr. M. Hannon, of Dummer, is no doubt the most skilful bear hunter of this vicinity, as he seldom, when he got on a good trail, fails to "bag his game." One day last week, having noticed that his field of oats had been considerably tramped and injured by animals of some kind, he laid in wait for his intruders, when his vigil was rewarded by the appearance of two large bears. Being armed, he brought his shooter to bear upon one of his unwelcome visitors, and, though not succeeding in ending the career of Bruin there and then, inflicted such a severe wound as to give little difficulty in following his victim, and giving his bearship another leaden pill which made him "bite the dust." The bear proved to be in prime condition, having lived on the fat of the land."

PRINCE EDWARD RAILWAY. — Alderman Manning, contractor for this road, arrived here with his surveyors on Wednesday last, and are prepared to go to work immediately. Mr. Manning will, in all probability be present at the adjourned meeting of the Town Council this evening, for the purpose of farthering the interests of the town bonus by-law. We are certain that amicable terms will be arrived at in order to secure the bonus to the company, now that the townspeople find that the contractor means business, as his presence with a staff of surveyors indicates.

The Boundary Commission.

LARGE ADDITION OF TERRITORY TO ONTARIO.

OTTAWA, Aug. 5th.

The arguments by counsel before the boundary arbitrators were concluded on Saturday afternoon. The following is the award of the arbitrators :—To all to whom these presents shall come : The undersigned, having been appointed by the Governments of Canada and Ontario as arbitrators to determine the northerly and westerly boundary of the Province of Ontario, do hereby determine and decide that the following are and shall be such boundaries, that is to say : Commencing at a point on the southern shore of Hudson Bay, commonly called James Bay, where a line produced due north from the head of Lake Temiscaming would strike the said south shore ; thence along the said south shore westerly to the mouth of the Albany River, thence up the middle of the said Albany River and of the lakes thereon to the source of the said river at the head of Lake St. Joseph, thence by the nearest line to the easterly end of Lac Seul, being the head waters of the English River to a point where the same will be intersected by a true meridianal line drawn northerly from the international monument placed to mark the most northwesterly angle of the Lake of the Woods by the recent boundary commission, and thence due south, following the said meridianal line to the said international monument, thence southerly and easterly, following upon the international boundary line between the British Possessions and the United States of America into Lake Superior. But if a true meridianal line drawn northerly from the said international boundary at the said most northwesterly angle of the Lake of the Woods shall be found to pass to the west of where the English River empties into the Winnipeg River, then and in such case the northerly boundary of Ontario shall continue down the middle of the said English River to where the same empties into the Winnipeg River, and shall continue thence on a line drawn due west from the confluence of the said English River with the said Winnipeg River, until the same shall intersect the meridian above described, and thence due south, following the said meridianal line to the said international monument, thence southerly and easterly following upon the international boundary line between the British Possessions and the United States of America into Lake Superior.

Given under our hands at Ottawa, in the Province of Ontario, this third day of August, 1878.

LACROSSE.—The Okas of this City and the Kingston club will contest on Monday for the possession of a cup, presented by Mr. Gildersleeve, of the limestone city, at which place the test of merit will be solved. We wish the home team every success.

PRODUCTIVE. — Mr. Anthony Crouter from near Rednerville, exhibited on the market this morning a limb of a plumb tree which had been broken off, upon which the fruit was clustered in great quantities giving evidence of an abundant fruit harvest this season.

THE RIFLE.—The Rifle Association of Lennox will hold its annual meeting at the Bath range, beginning on Wednesday, 4th September, and continuing the two following days. In all probability some of the marksmen of the 49th Battalion will take part in some of the contests.

BOGUS COIN.—Counterfeit fifty cent pieces are new in circulation in Napanee. The imitation is said to be a poor one, as the coin will readily bend when squeezed by the teeth. As some of these coins may find their way here it would be well for merchants and others to be on their guard.

AN IMPROVEMENT.—The condition of the Street Car track is being much improved, especially in localities where its condition rendered accidents to vehicles, very probable. The work will be much appreciated by all who have any driving to do on our principal thoroughfare.

NEW ELEVATOR.—There is now in course of erection at Mill Point a large and commodious elevator, which, when completed, will, it is thought, be sufficiently large to accommodate the shippers of that district. Messrs. Rathbun are putting up the building, and Messrs. Millener & Baker will be its lessees.

ACCIDENT.—The Mill Point correspondent of the Napanee Beaver furnishes the following:—A young lad engaged in the lath mill had his right hand fearfully mangled by one of the saws. Dr. Newton was promptly in attendance and dressed the wound after having to take away three fingers and part of the hand.

THE MARKETS.—The market was well supplied to-day with all kinds of vegetables —Fruit was plentiful—Potatoes was in demand, selling as high as $1.25 per bag—Apples were plentiful, selling at about $1 per bushel—Green corn sold at 12½ cents per doz. ears—Tomatoes were scarce and in demand at from 8 to 10 cents per pound; selling mostly at 8 cents—Pears sold at $2.50 per bushel.

COUNTERFEIT.—A four dollar bill on the "Bank of Western Canada" payable on demand at Clifton was passed on the market this morning. The bill resembles others and from its general appearance would be accepted by many who would not pay proper attention to its examination. The bill is worthless, and of course its receiver is out that amount.

THRESHING.—Farmers are now busily engaged in threshing out their crops of barley to make room for other grain. As a consequence accidents resulting in most cases from carelessness in going about or managing these machines are frequently reported. Too much care cannot be exercised by those who are engaged in this work, as the slightest inattention sometimes results in very serious consequences.

CHEAP HORSEFLESH.—One of our local auctioneers had a task on his hands this morning, the result of the accomplishment of which was not of a very satisfactory character. The labor consisted in the sale of a horse which was guaranteed to neither kick, bite, scratch, or run away,—and we must say that the general appearance of the animal would endorse the statement made by the knight of the hammer. After a great deal of talking and the usual "fair warning," the beast was sold for a dollar and a quarter.

THE MOON.—This luminary plays a prominent part in the August records, as besides giving a part of the world a sight of a total solar eclipse, she will be in conjunction with Jupiter to-morrow. On Monday evening she will rise partially eclipsed and remain so till nine o'clock. The waning moon is also in conjunction with the three planets Mars, Uranus and Mercury, a day or two before her course is ended.

VISITORS.—Itinerant musicians have of late, been quite frequent visitors to this city and although the hard times are as well advertised here as elsewhere, they have generally succeeded in securing a fair share of the superfluous small change of the musically inclined. Some, however, do not speak favorably of their receipts and though they may be reminded that there are vacancies in the harvest field that class of work does not suit them as they continue on in the old line.

THE ARBITRATION.—The arbitration so far as the argument was concerned was closed last evening, Mr. Dickson, on behalf of Mr. Lloyd, closing a two days' speech of more than ordinary ability, the points on his side being well put and thoroughly exhaustive. Mr. Clute followed on the same side, giving a clear and forcible resume of the evidence. Mr. Boulton on behalf of Mr. Pardee, replied in a short speech, and the case was left with the arbitrators. It is expected the award will be made on Monday.

ST. ANDREW'S S. S. PIC-NIC.—St. Andrew's Church Sabbath Schools of this City had their annual Pic-Nic yesterday, to the Indian Woods and Lake of the Mountain, per steamer City of Belleville, and although the weather opened in the morning very forbiddingly, the attendance was quite large, about three hundred being present. At the Indian Woods wharf, Rev. E.H. Baker, Rector of that Parish, met the party and conducted them to the beautiful grove adjoining the Church, and showed them many attentions during the day. Probably a more delightful location for a pin-nic could scarcely be found on the Bay, and the kindness and courtesy of Mr. Baker, made the occasion additionally enjoyable to the company. After partaking of refreshments in true picnic style, most of the party proceeded to the Lake of the Mountain, when three quarters of an hour was spent in viewing the delightful scenery of that far-famed spot. Home was reached about a quarter-past seven, the journey up being enlivened by a number of Sabbath School and other hymns, sung by an amateur choir improvised for the occasion, closing just before reaching the wharf with Auld Lang Syne and God Save the Queen.

Marine Notes.

There are now no less than three schooners lying on the bottom in Picton harbor viz.: The Gormley, Florence Howard and Mary Fox and all are fast lessening in value from want of business to engage in.

The Mary Everett is the only vessel laid up in this vicinity for want of something to do.

The steam barge Petronille, well known here, sank recently at Henderson, N.Y.

Several vessels gone "into ordinary" at Kingston, having failed to procure sufficient to pay their usual running expenses.

A report comes from near Grafton, that a small schooner was observed in that vicinity with her fore-topm st, jib-boom and mainsail blown away. At the time, she appeared to be a total wreck, and was being fast driven before the storm. It has not yet been ascertained what her name is.

Nearly all the Cobourg fleet of vessels have returned home to lay up until the fall trade. The Fisher, Hunter, Caledonia and others are here at present. When the bottom of the dull times shall be reached is a problem which vessel owners are now puzzling their brains with, and apparently with very poor prospects of solving it.

Seasonable Topics.

The INTELLIGENCER having the largest circulation of any paper in the Bay of Quinte district, is the best medium for business men to advertise in.

The market to-day was the largest of the season. Everything seasonable was in plentiful supply and brought good prices.

Just received at the INTELLIGENCER office a fine lot of English, American and French post, cap, letter and note papers, which will be sold printed in any quantity at very low rates.

A weather prophet says the drought has passed. We begin to believe it.

The man who continually does wrong under the impression that no one will find it out is simply rubbing his nose against his own grindstone.

The time of the early bird that catches the worm has been beaten several minutes by the small boy in search of forbidden fruit.

Just received at the INTELLIGENCER office a large stock of envelopes, white, colored and tinted, all sizes cheaper than can be obtained in the city, also church envelopes supplied either plain or printed, cheaper than can be obtained elsewhere.

There is more health in a quart of buttermilk than there is in a whole keg of lager, and a great deal less family disturbance.

The watermelon is more frequently referred to than almost any other fruit as unwholesome, and yet an investigation of the results of indulging in eating will prove that it may be eaten almost with impunity. The pulp is cooling and refreshing, and when eaten in moderation produces excellent effects.

The case of John Post, Frank D'Lish and Francis Salaify, for vagrancy, was enlarged till Tuesday, the 13th.

Jeremiah Buchana and M. Suyner's case enlarged to the 13th.

"Make your home happy," said a club man to a friend, "even if to do so you have to stay away from it, as I do."

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—A brilliant reception was given Mrs. President Hayes last evening by Mrs. Gen. F. W. Cullam.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The Herald's Utica special reports an interview with ex-Governor Seymour, in which he says there is confusion in the ranks of both parties. The general distress makes general discontent this year which will explode many errors and will shatter many new parties, and it is hoped will make clear and establish many truths. The Communists in this country are the most harmless of men, and will do more good than hurt. I think the west will not demand a currency inflation; the west will recover from its financial shock much sooner than the east; it has grown rich faster than it ever did before, and more rapidly than any other part of our union.

The Tribune's Washington despatch says: Secretary Thompson said yesterday, during my term I believe I shall see an American navy competent to protect our commerce, and with new ships—which I believe will soon be built—and our improvements in torpedoes, I am confident it will soon be able to protect the harbor of New York from the navies of the world combined.

Despatches from the South Carolina Commissioner of Internal Revenue, bring information which shows that vigorous steps are taken by the Government which promises a speedy destruction of the entire system of illicit distilling.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Calhoun Wood, son of Fernando Wood, has failed—owing his father $18,000, and various other persons, for horses, waggons, clothes, &c. Assets nominal.

The thermometer reached 91° in the shade here yesterday. This morning it is cool and cloudy.

Mrs. Smith, wife of the murdered Jersey City policeman, is very ill, and reported dying She still asserts her innocence.

The Atlantic oil works and the Hudson oil works, South Brooklyn, have been burning since 6 o'clock this morning. Loss heavy.

Arrived, the City of Berlin from Liverpool, with the Columbia crew on board. A reception steamer has gone to meet them.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 10.—Herbert and Edward Bers, were drowned at Brookfield, last evening, while bathing.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Aug. 10.—The Illinois Central car-repair shop was burned, with eight freight cars. Loss $12,000.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 10.—Arrived, the steamships Algeria and Labrador, from New York.

FRANKLIN, N.H., Aug. 10.—Barren's hotel at White River Junction was burned. Loss $5,000. Gate's House damaged, $2,000.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The steamer City of Berlin, with the Columbia crew on board, arrived at quarantine long before the time expected. Thus it happened the reception committee of students were not on hand, but instead of it were several representatives of the press, who went down on the health officer's boat, and gave a warm reception to the victorious American oarsmen. In conversation with the captain of the College crew, he said one of their number, Mr. Sage, had remained behind for a tour through Norway and Sweden, and other parts of northern Europe. Mr. Kelley, the coach, is in London with typhoid fever. Goodwin said the reception in England had been most kind, and nothing could be more agreeable than their stay there. All the crew had gained considerably in flesh. Just off Governor's Island the reception steamer was met, gaily decorated, with the 5th regiment band on board, which struck up "Hail Columbia," and cheer after cheer arose from the City of Berlin and her diminutive escorts. They all steamed to pier 37 where, amidst a scene of indescribable enthusiasm, the returning crew came ashore and were carried on the shoulders of the reception committee.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Conant's defalcation at the Eliot Bank amounts to $68,000. Stock to reorganize the Belting Company is being rapidly subscribed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The loss by fire at the Atlantic Oil Works, Brooklyn, this morning was $50,000.

SARATOGA, N.Y., Aug. 10.—1st race, Kentucky stakes, for two year olds, $100 entrance, half forfeit, with $1,000 added, three-quarter mile. Uncas won the race, time 1.20¼.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—A man named Hanks, collector for a Boston house, who has been making collections in the towns about Medford, left the latter place in a buggy this morning. When in a piece of thick woods near West Dedham a number of armed men stopped and compelled him to surrender funds amounting to $1,000. The robbers fled, detectives in pursuit.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region and St. Lawrence, fresh to brisk southerly to northwesterly winds, clear or partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh to brisk southwesterly to northwesterly winds and partly cloudy weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Indications:—cooler, occasional rains.

"I would rather vote for the devil than for you," was what an American sovereign told a candidate in a Main Street saloon. "But in case your friend should not come forward," said the unabashed aspirant for office, "might I then count upon your assistance?" The glass glanced from off his cheek as he passed out.

Snipkins refused to get his wife a new hat, and soon after his little daughter came in and said: "Mamma won't you buy me a monkey to play with when you go down town?" "No darling—wait till you are older, and then marry one, as I did," replied the grief stricken wife, her tears bursting forth afresh.

Talleyrand was lame, Madame de Stael was cross-eyed. There was no love lost between them, and both disliked to be reminded of their infirmities. "Monsieur," said madame, meeting her dearest foe one day, "how is that poor leg?" "Crooked, as you see," was Talleyrand's reply.

There are two ways of going through this world. One is to make the most of it, the other is to make the worst of it. Those who take the latter course work hard for poor pay.

Cornering The Boys.

Only a few days before they moved the capital, a worthy lady of Peoria one morning detected her two sons laughing immoderately. Suspecting that she was the cause of their disrespectful mirth, the good woman involuntarily loosened her slipper and called up the young culprits.

"Thomas, what made you laugh?"

"Nobody made me laugh; I laughed on purpose."

"None of your impudence, sir. John, why were you laughing at the door just now?"

John (eagerly)—"Wasn't laughing at the door, I was laughing at Tom."

Tom—"And I was laughing at John."

The matron assumed a dignified attitude.

"Now, my boys, what were you both laughing at?"

Boys (in a triumphant shout)—"We were both laughing at once!"

The good lady summoned all her energies for a final effort, and resolved to corner the boys by a settling question.

"Now, then, I want you to tell me, Tom, what made John laugh and you laugh?"

Tom—"John didn't laugh a new laugh; it was the same old laugh!"

Neither of the boys got whipped, the slipper slid back to its accustomed place, and to this day nobody knows what the boys laughed at.

The Galveston News says sadly: "Every department of industry suffers from the general depression. Even the El Paso stage has not been robbed for a week."

Prospectus of the
COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY
FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIEGNCER Office, Belleville.

The Old Scissors' Soliloquy.

I am lying at rest in the sanctum to-night—
The place is deserted and still—
To my right lie exchanges and manuscripts white,
To my left are the ink and the quill—
Yes, the quill, for my master's old-fashioned and quaint,
And refuses to write with a pen,
He insists that old Franklin, the editor saint
Used a quill, and he'll imitate Ben.

I love the old fellow—together for years
We have managed the Farmers' Gazette,
And although I am old, I'm his favorite shears
And can crowd the compositors yet,
But my duties are rather too heavy I think,
And I oftentimes envy the quill
As it lazily lies with its nib in the ink
While I'm slashing away with a will.

But when I was new—I remember it well,
Though a score of long years have gone by—
The heaviest share of the editing fell
On the quill, and I think with a sigh
Of the days when I'd scissor an extract or two
From a neighboring editor's leader,
Then laugh in my sleeve at the quill as it flew
In behalf of the general reader.

I am being paid off for my merriment then,
For my master is wrinkled and gray,
And seldom takes hold of his primitive pen
Except when he wishes to say,
"We are needing some money to run this machine
And subscribers will please to remit;"
Or, "That last load of wood that Jones brought us was green,
And so knotty it couldn't be split."

He is nervous and deaf and is getting quite blind,
(Though he hates to acknowledge the latter),
And I'm sorry to say it's a puzzle to find
Head or tail to the most of his matter.
The compositors plague him whenever they see
The result of a luckless endeavor,
But the darling old rascal just lays it to me,
And I make no remonstrance whatever.

Yes, I shoulder the blame—very little I care
For the jolly compositor's jest,
For I think of a head with silvery hair
That will soon, very soon be at rest.
He has labored full long for the true and the good
'Mid the manifold troubles that irk us—
His only emolument, raiment and food,
And—a pass, now and then, to the circus

Heigho! from the past comes a memory bright
Of a lass with the freshness of clover,
Who used me to clip from her tresses one night,
A memorial lock for her lover.
That dear little lock is still glossy and brown,
But the lass is much older and fatter,
And the youth—he's an editor here in the town—
I'm employed on the staff of the latter.

I am lying at rest in the sanctum to-night—
The place is deserted and still—
The stars are abroad and the moon is in sight
Through the trees on the brow of the hill.
Clouds hurry along in undignified haste
And the wind rushes by with a wail—
Hello! there's a whooping big rat in the paste—
How I'd like to shut down on his tail!

What he Got.

"Now, Leander, dear, I want you to be sure and not forget these few things when you come down to-night," says the young wife, just before the kiss and "good by," at the summer hotel, in the morning, as the gentlemen were starting for the city.

"Certainly not, my love."

And this is the way the list ran:—

1. Two yards blue barege.
2. Two yards of Hamburg edgings.
3. My new braid from the hair store.
4. Half a dollar's worth of nainsook.
5. Box pearl powder from my upper drawer.
6. "Modern Minister," from Loring's Library.

Arriving in town he forgot all about the list till late in the afternoon, and then couldn't find it in any of his pockets; but hadn't he read it over, and didn't he recollect it all? Of course he did, and this is what he brought home to his expectant wife:

1. Two heads of blue cabbage.
2. Three yards handsome netting (mosquito.)
3. Some blue braid.
4. Half a dollar's worth canned soup.
5. Box of Seidlitz powders.
6. Loring said he hadn't got any such book as "The Mug and Canister," in the library.

Exclamation on receiving the above, "O, Leander, Leander, you must have been dining at that horrid club again, or you couldn't have made such a mistake."—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

A Poetic License Wanted

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

He was a tall, square man, with a sharp, sunburned nose and an unshaven face. He wore a chip hat, well sweated through in front, with a rim turned down all round, and a dark, narrow bit of braid for a band. His butternut pants were neatly tucked into his cowhide boots, and the thumbs of his bronzed hands were thrust into the armholes of his vest. He entered the Mayor's office with the air of a man of business, and marching up to His Honor, said enquiringly:

"Be you the Mayor?"

"Yes, I have that honor."

"Well, I want a license for my daughter, Maria Jane."

"Ah, I see; your daughter is about to get married and you wish to procure a marriage license. We do not issue those papers here. You must go over on the north side, to the County Building."

"No, 'Squire, you are mistaken—as much mistaken as if you had burnt your last shirt or had accidentally got into the wrong pew in meeting; but Maria Jane doesn't want to license to get married, not by no means—not by more than considerable. She is a darned smart girl, if she is my daughter, and if I do say it, as I hadn't ought to. She has been keepin' school and boarding round up in the persimmon destrict and writing verses for the Summerfield Weekly Bugle. She thinks now of giving up teachin' and devotin' her hull time to literary persoots and, 'Squire, as I'm a lawabidin' man and loyal to the core—three of my boys went clean through the sea with Sherman—'Squire, and I want to do the business for the girl on the square and so I called to take out a poetic license for Maria Jane. You see, Will Morrison, who has been to college, told Maria that anybody must have a license before he writ much poetry."

Here the Mayor's face turned very red, as if suffering from some intense internal emotion, and it was observed that his eyes were suffused with tears. His secretary suddenly approached the window and gazed abstractedly out upon the trees in the tubs whose emerald branches were gracefully swaying in the summer breezes in front of the saloons across the way. The former fixed his curious eyes upon the Mayor for a moment, who finally sufficiently recovered himself to say:—

"My dear sir, your daughter needs no license to write poetry. She can write as much as ever she pleases, and it will be all right."

"Won't it be again the law to do it without a license?" enquired the man. "She had heard that Byron and Mrs. Hemans used a good many poetic licenses in their writings, and she thought she'd better do as the rest of 'em did. But if it's all right without, it's probably owin' to the freedom of our institutions and sich like."

"Exactly," said the Mayor.

And the satisfied rustic walked out of the office picking his teeth with a straw.

Wit and Humor.

Artemus Ward said to one of the Menonites—"Their religion is singular but their wives are plural."

Why cannot two slender persons ever become great friends?—Because they will always be slight acquaintances.

Somebody writes to a rural paper to ask "how long cows should be milked." Why the same as short cows, of course!

"Never take a bull bi the horns, young man," counsels Josh Billings, "but take him bi the tail; then you kan let go when you want to."

Mrs. Ellen Birch has taken the English Royal Agricultural prize for the best managed farm.

Some men are completely unnerved by the sight of a woman's tears, and would rather miss a base-ball game than see them weep—before they're married but afterwards, a woman may cry till the tubs float in the cellar while she tugs a heavy hod of coal up a dark and narrow flight of stairs, and the man remains as calm and immovable as a cigar-store sign.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

CATARRH

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contans a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

MCHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY, 225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

LAME BACK

AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the European Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, clears the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

In Memoriam.

MAJOR-GENERAL M'BEAN, V. C.

OBIT. 22ND JUNE, 1878.

Major-General William M'Bean, V. C., died at Herbert Hospital, Woolwich, on 22nd June. His career was an extraordinary example of promotion in the army. From junior drummer of the 93rd Regiment of Foot (the Sutherland Highlanders) he rose step by step until he obtained the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in command of the regiment in which he had spent his life. He served in the Crimea under Sir Colin Campbell, was at the fall of Sebastopol, served in India during the Mutiny in 1857-8, was at the relief of Lucknow with Lord Clyde, at the defeat of the Gwalior contingent at Cawnpore, the pursuit of Seerajah, the battle of Bareilly, etc. In India he earned his Victoria Cross for distinguished bravery, his breast rank, and the medal with two clasps. It is said that last week, after undergoing a hazardous operation in London, he was told he would not survive many days, and he then expressed a wish that he might be taken to the Hospital at Woolwich in order that he might "Die among the soldiers."—Ayr Advertiser of June 27.

[Let us add that the gallant Major-General entered the army at the same time, and was a comrade and room mate of our worthy and respected Harbor Master, ALEX. WATERS, Esq., who speaks of his comrade in the highest terms, and mourns his death as only a comrade in arms can mourn.—ED INT.]

"Let me die among the soldiers"—said the General who knew
That his sun was near its setting, and his evening star in view;
And right well the words befitted one who bore the kilted coat
To the pinnacle he quitted now, without a stain or spot;
And whose only pang at starting with the Angel of the Lord
Was the bitter thought of parting with his comrades and his sword!

"Let me die among the soldiers"—it was bravely said and well!
By the hero who fought scatheless where ten thousand fell:
Who had looked at death undaunted, when his thunders shook the field,
Where the flag of England floated till the foe was forced to yield;
And who, soldier-like and steady, with the scabbard on the sword,
For his last assault made ready at the bidding of the Lord!

"Let me die among the soldiers"—Oh! how fit was that request
From his lips who wore the ribbon and the cross upon his breast!
Who, in barracks born his boyhood, had done duty to the Crown,
Till the drummer of the regiment was the Colonel of its core!
Till the private fighting bravely in obscurity, and scorned,
Was a General in the service his fidelity adorned!

"Let me die among the soldiers"—there upleaped the latent glow
Of the fire that burned so fiercely in the fight before Lucknow!
When the call to arms was shouted, and the scarlet line was formed
And the rebel legions routed, and the rebel stronghold stormed!
And when brave among the bravest, where the pealing fifes were heard,
Was the gallantest and gravest of the noble Ninety Third!

"Let me die among the soldiers"—Ah! the grand rang truthful there!
With such men to lead or follow what might not Old England dare?
In the dust and din of battle even cowardice looks brave,
But it tries a soldier's mettle to march slowly to his grave;
To resign his hard-earned honors, and to sheath his well-known sword,
And go down into the darkness, at the bidding of the Lord!

"Brave M'Bean! thy name and story new that army's charge shall be,
Whose sublime prestige and glory have been won by men like thee!
In the mess room when it blazes, and the haunts of rank and file,
Shall thy comrades tell thy praises oft a pensive hour beguile;
And till England's annals perish she'll rehearse the tale with joy,
And the deathless memory cherish of her dauntless Remembrancer!

Ayr, 27th June, 1878. E. S.

THE ORANGE QUESTION.

THE CASE IN COURT.

A deep interest continues to be manifested in the proceedings in this case, and before eleven o'clock this morning the court room was well filled. At about quarter of an hour after the time Mr. Carter arrived and the case proceeded. Lawrence Patrick Murphy was called and his supplementary deposition was taken as follows: I acted as a special constable on the 12th of July, having been sworn in on the day previous. I was on duty soon after eight o'clock on the Twelfth, and I was under control of a Sergeant of the police. I was taken to St. James street in front of No. 81. I saw a number of persons going into that building, and among them was Mr. Grant, the defendant. I knew that the upper flats were occupied by the Orange Lodge. I am the person who made the information on which the warrant was issued. It was after I had seen this assemblage of persons going into that building that I made my complaint. I had previously seen an announcement in the Witness that the Orangemen would walk in procession from their lodge room on the 12th of July, and giving the programme, over the signature of Mr. David Grant, one of the defendants.

After being sworn to that complaint the warrant was issued and given to the High Constable, whom I accompanied back to the lodge room. On our arrival there, I pointed out the defendants, Fred. Hamilton, Thomas Ingram, John Liburn and Alex. Gibson, on the sidewalk at the door of the Hall. On the defendant Alexander Gibson, I observed a sash of a yellow color over his shoulder. The defendants Thomas Ingram and Fred. Hamilton were on horseback opposite the door of the hall. I spoke to Ingram, and asked him what he was carrying for, but I could not hear his answer. I then told him to keep moving if he was waiting for anything. This was before the warrant was signed. As far as I could judge the object of the defendants was to parade the streets. After arrest, they were handed over to the city police and taken to the police office. There was a great deal of excitement prevailing; I was on duty on the street all day. I saw parties in the windows of the second or third story, and as well on the roof, shouting to the constables and crowd below all kinds of insulting language, and also to me personally. There was during that day great excitement, and it was with difficulty that the crowd was kept back from the door of the hall. Those inside the lodge room were taken down in carriages in charge of the police to protect them.

Question by Mr. Carter—From all that you observed on that day, do you consider that the assembling of the Orangemen at their lodgeroom and walking in procession in the public streets would have provoked a breach of the peace and endangered the lives of citizens?

Question objected to by Mr. Doutre, but allowed.

A. I have no hesitation in saying that there would have been a breach of the peace, judging from the appearance of the crowd.

I identify the defendants now in court as having been arrested on the 12th of July.

Cross-examined by Mr. Doutre:

Q. Previous to the morning of the 12th of July last did you know by name or sight any of the defendants? A. Yes. I knew David Grant, Thomas Ingram and Frederick Hamilton. I did not know the others by name or sight. I knew by sight William Garvin, who was discharged yesterday. The face of John Cromwell was known to me, but I did not know his name.

Q. Which of the defendants, including those discharged yesterday, wore anything to indicate that they were Orangemen?

Question objected to by Mr. Carter, in so far as it relates to the two discharged.

Mr. E. Barnard, Q.C., submitted the objection raised by Mr. Carter.

Mr. Doutre said he newly wished to know how he guided himself to indicate that these people were Orangemen.

The objection was maintained, and the amended question was put.

Q. Which of the defendants wore anything to indicate that they were Orangemen? A. The whole of them.

Q. What did Mr. Grant wear? A. I did not see him when arrested. I saw him going into the hall before he was arrested.

Q. Did he wear anything to indicate that he was an Orangeman? A. I cannot say as his back was turned. Lilburn wore a badge on his bosom, of a yellow color. Gibson wore a sash. I did not see any colors on Ingram, nor on the horse he rode. Frederick Hamilton had no colors but a yellow band around his hat.

Q. Where do you live and what is your employment? A. I live on Bonaventure street, and am not employed at all just now.

Q. Do you own any property? A. No.

Q. Have you any family? A. Yes, wife and children.

Q. When were you engaged as special constable? A. I was sworn in on the afternoon of the 11th.

Q. How were you made aware that special constables were to be sworn in? A. Some party told me so,—I cannot remember who it was.

Q. Will you state what were your instructions? A. I was sworn in by the Recorder. I got instructions from him to be in the City Hall on the 12th at 7 o'clock. These instructions were given to us all alike. There were supposed to be 500.

I was sworn in with twenty-four others. By the names that were called there were men of all nationalities.

Q. Do you know any one among them by name who was not an Irishman. A. No, but I saw some Canadians.

Q. Do you know any Irish Catholic who was not a special constable on that day? A. Oh, lots!

Could you name any one belonging to another origin or creed who was sworn in as a special constable? A. I couldn't name them but I could point them out. I could point out several Protestants, but I couldn't name any.

Q. Who requested you to give the affidavit on which the warrant issued in this case? A. I couldn't say who it was particularly. I was told that it was required at the Police Court. It was 9 o'clock or a little after.

Q. Did that person address you by name? A. Yes, to the best of my knowledge, but I did not know him. When I arrived at the Police Court I saw Mr. Carter, the official of the court, and Mr. Glackmeyer, the City Clerk. I cannot say if the Mayor was there when I went in, but he came before I left. The affidavit which I swore to was begun before I arrived, but I cannot say if it was finished. To the best of my recollection it was Mr. Glackmeyer who read the first part of the deposition to me. It was Mr. Desnoyers who read the whole of it to me when I was sworn.

Q. Was any question put to you in reference to the affidavit? A. Mr. Desnoyers asked me if what I heard was true, and I answered, "Yes." He asked me if I would swear to what was read in that deposition.

Q. How do you know that the Orangemen are admitted to take an oath not required or authorized by law, as stated in your affidavit of the 12th; that is to say, how have you been credibly informed of that fact? A. I have seen the advertisements of such a society, and have heard that they hold meetings with closed doors.

Q. What advertisement do you refer to in that answer? A. I have read several advertisements in the Witness, which I have read in my own house.

Q. Is there anything mentioned in the advertisements about the meetings being secret or that an oath was taken? A. No.

Q. Then how do you get your information with regard to the oath? A. I have heard it at times from different parties, and to the best of my knowledge I believe I read it in the Witness, not the Free Witness.

The case was subsequently adjourned till Thursday next, on account of the absence of Mr. Grant, who had business in Toronto.

Charley may have been taught by his father that God made all things. He began to enquire in detail in regard to various objects. Coming out one day where his father was at work, he sat his bare foot on a thistle. "Oh, papa! what is that?" "This is a thistle Charles." "Thistle! did God make it?" "Yes Charles, God made the thistle." "Well he whittled it very sharp didn't he?"

CAUTION AGAINST MANURE.—A practical gardener claims that the best and cheapest manure for the garden is obtained by clearing the earlier crops in September, and then sowing rye quickly, turn it under when a foot and a half high the following spring. He then plants at once on this inverted sod, which roots in a few weeks, keeps the soil moist in the severest droughts and is worth several times its cost spent in buying manure.

Some of Mr. Mackenzie's "Little" Faults.

Among the numerous classes which make up the great genus Mendacium the Mendacium Vasconium or Gascon lie, has during many centuries been highly esteemed as peculiarly circumstantial, and peculiarly impudent; and among the Mendacia Gasconica the Mendacium McKenzilarum is the finest species we have ever met with in a Premier.

Mr. McKenzie the other day in speaking at Lindsay said as to that masterly stroke of statesmanship which disclosed such high business qualities as none but Mr. Mackenzie possessed, the purchase of the 50,000 tons of steel rails in December, 1874, and Feb'y 1875: "We purchased them by open "tender in the market all the rails we did "purchase."

Now, Mr. McKenzie is and has been since the commencement of his administration, Minister of Public Works. He purchased this enormous amount of steel rails on his own mere motion, all transactions in regard to the same were had in his department under his control and personal supervision, and Mr. McKenzie when he made the above statement knew he was stating an untruth. He knew that the firm of Cooper, Fairman & Co, (of which his brother Charles McKenzie was a partner) supplied 25,000 tons of the steel rails. He knew that the said firm only tendered for from 5,000 to 10,000 deliverable at Montreal, and from 5,000 to 10,000 deliverable at Duluth. The tender deliverable at Duluth was not taken and yet Cooper, Fairman & Co, supplied 25,000 tons. They supplied 5,000 for Vancouver Island without tender, and, not only that, 5,000 tons more were purchased through another firm also without tender, at ten shillings per ton below Cooper, Fairman & Co's price.

The same firm of Cooper, Fairman & Co., got the freighting of 5,000 tons of rails from Montreal to Duluth, for which they did not tender, at all, and even paid a higher rate than others tendered for the work. Mr. Samuel of Montreal, who was the lowest bidder, was refused the contract, although he offered security for its performance, on the ground he was not a steamboat owner, while Cooper, Fairman & Co., who were no steamboat owners and had not tendered were invited to Ottawa to confer with Mr. McKenzie on the subject of this transport, and were given the "Job" at a much lower rate than was asked by Mr. Samuel, and, in the month of June following they were given 5,000 tons of rails more to carry without tender. And yet Mr. McKenzie fain would make us believe that "everything was put up to tender." Talk about purity, honesty, highmindedness and business capacity in this great first Lieutenant of the Hon. Geo. Brown, who is the tyrant of the people and directs from the Globe office the destinies of this fair Dominion on to destruction. Cooper, Fairman & Co., received through this great iniquitous transaction over $1,500,000 of the people's money.

Again Mr. McKenzie at Lindsay, in the same speech from which we previously quoted said: "I wish to say further that "everything that could be obtained by "contract the present Government have "obtained by contract."

There is no mistaking the meaning of these words, their meaning is clear and distinctly intelligible. In addition to what Mr. McKenzie has said, we may add that the law rendered it imperative that all work in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, at least, should be let out by contract. The Pacific Railway Act, section 12, provides that work in connection with the railway "shall be let out by contract offered to public competition." But in defiance of the law, and exactly opposite to what he stated, Mr. McKenzie, on May the 11th, 1875, sent Hugh Sutherland, the defeated Grit candidate for East Simcoe, up to commence the Fort Francis locks, as part of the Pacific Railway, without contract, without estimates, without a proper plan, without the report of a Pacific Railway Engineer recommending it, but in the face of a report from Mr. Mortimer, C.E., in which he distinctly condemns it, saying: "I think the lake facilities at the Shebandowan end, even if improved, would hardly justify the expense of putting a lock," (see Pacific Railway report, page 112.) But, of course, the opinion of Mr. Mortimer, a Civil Engineer, was worth nothing in comparison to the transcendant, ineffable, farseeing intellect of the Grit Premier, and the work was directed to be proceeded with.

Mr. Mackenzie says "everything that "could be obtained by contract the present "Government obtained by contract." Let us see what his own favorite, Hugh Sutherland, says under oath as to this. From pages 20 to 31 of the Report and Evidence of the Select Committee appointed by the Senate to enquire into matters relating to Fort Francis Lock, we find Mr. Sutherland's evidence. We give parts of it as relates to the subject in hand, verbatim as reported.

"Question—Have you been in charge of "the works at Fort Francis since their "commencement? Answer. Yes."

In, November 1875, Mr. Sutherland was instructed to leave off work.

"Q. What was the actual expenditure "at that time? (i. e. Nov. 75.) A. About "$80,000.

"Q. When did you absolutely begin "work again? A. The following July."

"Q. You commenced work, and I see by "a letter of Mr. Brown "Deputy Minister of Public Works under Mr. Mackenzie)" "dated April 18th, 1876, he instructed you "as follows:—"I am to authorize you to "resume work on the said lock by day "labor." Did you do so? A. I did so."

Mr. Mackenzie says, "everything that could be obtained by contract was obtained by contract," while he knew that he, through his Deputy, had instructed Mr. Sutherland to go on with the work by day labour and Mr. Sutherland swears that he did so.

This Fort Francis Lock is entirely useless. The present route of the Pacific Railway runs from 90 to 100 miles north of it, and the reason why Mr. Mackenzie changed the route of the Railway was because the route by way of Fort Francis was entirely impracticable. The level between Port Savanne and Rainy Lake is 400 feet. We would refer our readers to the evidence of S. J. Dawson, Civil Engineer, on page 50 of the said Report.

"Q. Would the construction of Fort Francis Lock open up the water route from "Port Savanne to Rat Portage. Suitable "for purposes of commerce in connection "with the Canadian Pacific Railway?"

A. Not as the Railway is now situated.

Q. By the located route will it serve the purposes of commerce?

A. In connection with the Railway it will, * * * * as a link in the route on the Railway from Lake Superior through to Manitoba, it is "out of the way altogether."

"Q. That is by the present route?"

"A. Yes by the present located route."

But this useless piece of work has cost over $250,000 of the people's money. (See Hugh Sutherland's evidence, page 22.) "Q. But notwithstanding your plant it "will take $250,000? A. Yes; that will "be the actual cost of the canal lock," and on page 21 he says, "The whole work when completed, including gates will be $250,000 as near as I can estimate it at the present time."

Now as to the difficulty to be overcome to Fort Francis of any use (see evidence of Mr. Dawson, page 50.)

"Q. What is the difference in the level between Port Savanne and Rainy Lake?"

"A. As far as I remember it is about 400 feet. The levels were carefully taken."

"Q. Were they taken under your direction. A. Yes."

We see it would require 40 locks of 10 feet each to overcome the difficulty and utilize the "magnificent water stretches" of Mr. Mackenzie. And even if accomplished Mr. Sutherland states that all the freight that could come over this route would be about 40 tons per day, which would be about one train of cars per week. Now when we take into consideration that this route is open for navigation only for about four months out of the year, or about 18 weeks, Mr. Mackenzie's "magnificent water stretches" would afford only about 18 trains of cars per year between Thunder Bay and Manitoba. And this was the outlet he proposed for the millions of bushels of wheat and the other products of the great Northwest. Had Mr. Mackenzie deliberately set himself to work to throw the trade of this great Northwest country into the hands of the Yankees he could have devised no better scheme to accomplish his purpose.

Port Francis Lock is situated on Rainy River, which is the boundary for some distance between Canada and the United States, and can be useful in some distant period in the future only for the purpose of Mr. McKenzie's friends the Yankees floating down the saw logs cut in the northern part of the state of Minnesota.

We have shown that this work was commenced without contract, by the orders of Mr. McKenzie. We will now show that the work was continued after only about $80,000 of the people's money had been thrown away and after he knew that the work was entirely useless—as this route for the Railway was an impossibility. On page 59 of the report of the select committee of the Senate above referred to, we find the following:—

"Hon. Mr. Scott submitted the following answers to enquiries by the Hon. Mr. McPherson."

"1st. What is the date of the railway contract to Shebandowan? A. the contract "was awarded on the 3rd of April, 1875, "and the contract was signed on the 13th "of April."

"2nd. What is the date of the cancellation of the contract? A. The contractors were notified on the 19th of January "1876, that the contract would end fifteen "and a half miles east of Shebandowan on "the 7th of March, 1876." Four months after Mr. Mackenzie notified the contractors to cease work on this route. Mr. S. swears he received instructions from Mr. Mackenzie's deputy to resume work on Fort Francis Locks, day labor.

"3rd. What is the date of the contract "to Port Savanne? The contract was let "on the 7th of June, 1876, and it was signed on the 25th of "June."

Bear in mind that this last contract signed by Mr. Mackenzie, 25th June, 1876, was for the present route which is 90 to 100 miles north of Fort Francis.

Now we have proved conclusively that Mr. Mackenzie feeds a hungry and disappointed Grit candidate, by giving him a fat job to superintend, with all its "pickings" and he does so without contract. He makes a stupendulous blunder; he persists in going on with the work after he discovers his blunder. After he had cancelled the contracts for building the railway by this route, and after he had signed the contract for building the road by its present route—for the contract was signed on the 25th June, and Mr. Sutherland swears he did not recommence work on the Locks until the beginning of July.

We have also conclusively proved that he stated what he knew to be untrue with regard to purchasing the steel rails by tender, and that he stated what he knew to be untrue with regard to the Government obtaining everthing by contract that could be obtained by contract. Mr. Blake, who is the Prince of Sarcasm, whose chief merit consists in his talent for elucidation and sneering, and watever mutations his countenance undergoes are but varied modifications of a sneer, so that it exhibits in every aspect the phases of disdain. He is, indeed so sensible of his genius for mockery, that he puts it into use whenever the least opportunity is afforded. When it is his object to cover a man with disgrace, he lavishes encomiums with a tone and look that render his envenomed praises more deadly than the fiercest invective. He deals in incessant irony and sets off his orrulent panegyric with a smile of such baleful derision as to furnish a model to a painter for Goethe's Mephistopheles.

The other day, in reply to a deputation from South Bruce who desired him to allow his name to be used as a candidate, Mr. Blake gave Mr. Mackenzie a character in the following words:

"Our leader the Prime Minister of Can- "ada . . . whose known accuracy of "statement is such, as to render any an- "nouncement he may make, one to be relied "upon." True, oh! King!

Letters from Hon. Billa Flint.

(From the Madoc Review.)

Sir,—On Monday, the 15th July, I left Bridgewater for York River stopping over night at Millbridge, or Jordon, at the house of Mr. Golding where I have stopped several times. Permit me to say that Mr. Golding keeps a well-ordered house, sets a good table, furnishes a good bed, and makes everything comfortable so far as his house will permit. The principal drawback is the smallness of the bedrooms this hot weather. Mr. Golding sells liquor, but at all times I have stopped there, I have found his house quiet and orderly. I did not see any bar-room loafers, which speaks well for a country inn.

Tuesday, the 16th, a fearful hot day. I left at 7.30 a.m., and after a rough and tiresome ride, made doubly so by the scorching heat, reached York River, a distance of 36 miles, at 9.30 p. m., having taken matters quiet, stopping often on the road, and two hours for dinner at Mr. Menzies, a nice, talkative, old Scotchman, and one who does what he can to please his customers.

On my arrival at L'Amable I saw quite a gathering, and found it was for a political meeting, to be addressed by E. D. O'Flynn, Esq., the Reform, or "Grit candidate," as generally termed. After conversing with him and others for a short time, I passed on for York River. Several wished me to stop to the meeting, but as Mr. O'Flynn did not see fit to ask me, I did not feel inclined to wait, although I should have liked much to hear his views on the questions of the day, more especially on Free Trade and Protection. I heard, however, from various sources that he denounces Protection. If he is opposed to protection, why does he put bolts, bars, and locks on his store, warehouse, and dwelling? Is it not to protect his property from midnight marauders? Surely so, and if such protection is good for his private property, why not a general protection for our manufactures, and farmers?

If we have fair play with our American cousins, we ought to have reciprocity, but as we have not, is there any good reason why they should put a tax of 15 cents per bushel on our barley and rye, and 20 cents on our wheat, while we allow their wheat and corn to come into Canada duty free? Let us examine the parallel cases. It is said the consumer pays the duty. So he does, but if barley is worth $1 per bushel in Oswego, it ought fairly to be worth 95 cents in Belleville, allowing 5 cents for storage and freight, providing we had reciprocity. But now, while the American consumer pays the duty, the Canadian farmer gets 15 cents less for his bushel of barley. If Belleville, Trenton, Shannonville, and Mill Point, the four shipping places in this County, ship two million bushels in the season, the loss to this County for the want of reciprocal free trade at 15 cents per bushel would be $300,000, and the lower the price of barley the harder it presses on the farmer.

Suppose a farmer with 400 bushels of barley worth $1 per bushel in Oswego,—he only gets $320 for his crop, but if he could save the 15 cents per bushel he would have $380, or $60 more by saving the duty; or if his 400 bushels were worth only 75 cents in Oswego, he would get $55 here, or $22.20—or without duty $60 more, making $280; and the lower the grain goes the harder it comes on the farmer to submit to the deduction of 15 cents per bushel to meet the buyer of the Oswego market. Hence while the consumer really pays the duty, the Canadian farmer is deprived of the benefit of the extra 15 cents per bushel by the illiberal action of our American neighbors,—while in Canada we admit their corn, wheat, oats, &c. duty free, which must, under all circumstances, except in a short crop or famine, work against the interest of our farmers.

Suppose our Government puts the same duty on corn, wheat, &c., coming from the States, as is put on barley, wheat, &c., going from Canada; supposing we meet them on their own grounds as to manufactures, and thereby shut them out as they do us, from making a slaughter market of their country, as they do of Canada, to the injury of our young and struggling factories, would we not be more likely to get reciprocal free trade in the farming products, not only of grain, but of cattle, horses, sheep, &c.? I believe we would.

It may be said there is not much corn coming into Canada for consumption. I think the trade returns for the past fiscal year will show about eight million bushels of corn, about four millions of which was consumed in Canada. Now what good reasons can be shown why there should be such a difference between the two countries. It is true the most of the corn is made into whiskey, cutting down the price of the farmer's rye, as they will find greatly to their disadvantage this year, as corn is so very cheap, being now quoted by the car load for best sound corn at 46 cents per bushel at Toronto, while No. 2, for distilling purposes, can be laid down there for from 40 to 42 cents, whereas if the duty of 15 cents were added, it would materially help the farmer in the price of his rye. So much then for a National Policy.

I was sorry to find that Mr. O'Flynn brought up in his meetings the whiskey question, or if he did so that he did not in all fairness read my first and second letter, as well as that of Mr. Tuller, but as many of the people take the Review, they have both sides of the question. I hear Mr. O'Flynn thinks it was done to injure him. I assure him it was not with that intent, and had it been a friend of Mr. Bowell's who had acted as I believe Mr. Tuller did on that occasion, he would have received the same treatment at my hands, more especially if he professed Total Abstinence principles.

The weather was so intensely hot while I was out, that I did not get to several places I intended, but trust to before long. I am pleased to say the timely rain on Friday proved a great blessing, as without it the grain and root crops would have been very light.

Yours, &c.,
Billa Flint.

THE CELLS.—The cells were occupied on Saturday night by one tramp and one drunken man. On Sunday night by two tramps and one drunken man.

FOR MASSASSAGA.—The Mill Point Echo says the two Mohawk Sabbath Schools purpose having an excursion to Massassaga Point on Thursday the 15th inst., per Steamer City of Belleville.

ODD FELLOWS.—The Grand Encampment of the Independent Oddfellows meets at Toronto on Tuesday the 13th inst., and the Grand Lodge assemble the day following. The delegates will number 350 and will be entertained by local brethren.

THE COUNTY MODEL SCHOOL.—The first session of the County Model School will open on the 31st day of August, and close on the 26th day of October next. The second session will begin on the 28th day of October, and end on the 21st day of December next; of which all County Boards, Public Schools Inspectors and Principals of Model-Schools are requested to take notice.

SATURDAY'S EXCURSION.—The excursion by the Alexandra on Saturday afternoon and evening, was very well attended; about one hundred got on at Trenton on her first trip up, and from Belleville there were between two and three hundred. The Oddfellows Band helped to make the afternoon and evening pass off pleasantly.

PERSONAL.—The Rev. J. R. Jones, Rector of Christ Church, was prostrated with a fainting fit after church yesterday which rendered him insensible for a few moments and caused considerable commotion amongst the congregation. The rev. gentleman was conveyed home, and is now reported out of danger by Dr. Ridley who is in attendance.

AT HAND.—Weather indications at present indicate the arrival of the hot wave, the coming of which was announced several days ago. Those who predicted that the warm weather for this season was over are now at fault, and Vennor-like will have to content themselves by making faint excuses for their mistakes, and giving utterance to fresh predictions.

On a Cruise.

The Oswego Palladium of the 9th inst. has the following respecting the Yachts which left here a week ago on a two week's cruise: "A portion of the Bay of Quinte yacht club arrived here yesterday afternoon, having left that city on Monday. The fleet on starting consisted of the Katie Gray, Madcap, Kathleen, and Enid. Following is the log:

Left Belleville Monday afternoon; lay in "The Reach," storm bound; left at noon on Tuesday and ran to McDonald's cove, where all came to, escaping a thunder squall; in the course of the evening ran out to South Bay Point and anchored for the night; left at 10:30 P. M. Wednesday with a breeze from N. W. and ran to Point Petre light, when the wind died away; wind shifted Thursday morning and blew hard; about half way across the lake the Kathleen put back; arrived at Oswego at 4 P. M. Thursday.

The following gentlemen compose the party:

On Katie Gray—R. S. Bell, R. M. Roy, H. C. Snider, S. C. Edwards, A. E. Fish, F. Morgan, C. Campbell, Capt. John Covert, sailing master.

On Madcap—A. M. Foster, owner, Irvine P. Foster, M. Empey, J. G. Foster, S. Jones, M. C. Buckley, James Malyea, sailing master.

On Enid—D. R. Leavens, owner, F. Roblin, R. Neilson, W. McCamon, D. H. Leavens.

The Belleville yachtsmen, aside from having some of the fastest and finest yachts afloat, are gentlemen whom it is a pleasure to meet, and their coming here is one of the pleasant events of the season. From here the fleet goes to Brockville, where they expect to participate in the regatta next Thursday.

Temperance Lecture.

After divine service at the Bridge St. Methodist Church last evening, Mrs. Wittenmyre, President of the Women's National Temperance Association of the United States, was called upon to give an address on Temperance. After the choir had sung "Rescue the Perishing," in answer to the call she rose and said, that the matter of Temperance was one of common interest on both sides of the St. Lawrence. The liquor traffic was oligarchical, dictating to statesmen and controlling the Legislature, although the masses were opposed to the traffic, and for its suppression there were 150,000 pledged women in the United States. In 1794, in view of raising the revenue, the United States had imposed a tax upon the liquor traffic, which had gradually increased until in 1873 the drink bill of the United States was $60,000,000, which represented a tax of $16 per capita of the population, out of which the Government received only $1.80 per capita, the balance being required to take care of the results of the traffic, as, in the State she lived in, she said that nineteen-twentieths of the murder cases were traceable to drinking habits. As to the question of the loss of revenue to the country by the suppression of the traffic, she said she would only state the case of the State of Pennsylvania, which in 1875 revised her liquor law, and in which there were 42 counties where liquor was not sold—and in those counties, she said, the gaols were not used. The liquor traffic meant pauperism and death, and to the women of the land it meant that their boys were being sold to the revenue of the country, and that too cheaply, as, for the $60,000,000 that the traffic brought annually into the revenue of the country, 60,000 of the priceless boys of the country were swept into their graves—boys that the treasury could not buy from their mothers' hearts—and this night there were many weeping mothers in the land waiting for the dead carcasses, as it were, of their once promising boys, that could never rise again to man's estate, if not touched by the finger of God; and the mother is by the traffic robbed of her child not only for time, but for eternity. She said that the Women's Temperance Association was aiming to strike at the root of the evil by trying to lessen the quantity of liquor used for culinary and for medicinal purposes; in both cases, she said, they had met with marked success. The young women in the States, she said, were being pledged not to associate with tippling young men, and in the city of Cleveland there were 1,600 young ladies, the flower of the city, who had pledged themselves not to associate with young men who drank intoxicating liquors. She considered no young man that liked the society and associations of a saloon better than the society at home, was a proper associate for a young lady. The trouble, she said, was that they made two social standards, one for young ladies, which she did not think too high, but the standard for young men she considered too low; and she called upon the young ladies to assist her in raising that standard, which began with the mother, who places her little girls under restraints, but at the boys will freaks she only shakes her heads and says "boys will be boys," or tells them to "go into the street with your racket," sending them to associate with the boys of the street, and as a result, more than half the inmates of our gaols and Penitentiaries are young men less than twenty years of age. To many who had said, how can we replace the loss to the revenue if the liquor traffic is done away with? she had said, Give what you expend in tobacco towards the revenue and help suppress the traffic. The falling off in the revenue on the liquor traffic in the United States she noticed had been within a short time nearly eight million of dollars, but the revenue from other sources had increased, and she argued that the suppression of the traffic would assist the revenue by increasing the productive power of the people. Smoking she considered an evil which ladies should discountenance. The Women's Temperance Union she said had brought 15,000 drinking men into the church and cited instances of the self-denying labors of the members of the association against the evil influence of the traffic; and hoped the day would soon come when both nations would join in singing a jubilee song in celebration of the victory of the suppression of the traffic.

Mrs. Whittenmyer is evidently in earnest in the cause in which she is engaged and enlisted the attention of the audience for an hour. She speaks easily if not eloquently and is doing great good for the cause. She will deliver a lecture to-night on the work of the Woman's Temperance Association in the City Hall.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE.—In the list of subscriptions to the Endowment Fund of Queen's College, Kingston, we observe that the Trenton assisted with $530, Campbellford with $770 and Seymour with $1,000.

PERFECTLY SURE.—The Mail says:—"As sure as we are of anything human we are sure that the general election is going to reverse the state of parties in the Dominion and we base this certainty of utterance on the testimony of shrewd men and experienced politicians in every province of the Confederation, as well as on our observation."

ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL STORM.—The Mill Point Echo of the 9th says:—"At 4 o'clock this morning another hail storm more destructive than that of 20th of last month. Thousands of panes of glass were broken, trees, vines and grain are cut to pieces. The village has a tattered and forlorn look to-day, and the people are looking glum. They had just got their windows fixed and now they are in worse condition than after the other storm. This time every house, the churches, school, halls, mills and factories, all are ragged alike. Some of the hailstones were as large as hen's eggs."

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office, we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ associate attorneys. We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A Chicago special states flour is being billed through from Minneapolis to New York via Duluth and lake lines at 30c per bbl. as against 75c per rail.

The Times Washington special says no action against Collector Tyler of Buffalo has been taken by the Government, as the recent charges against his morality prove entirely unfounded.

The Tribune's Washington special says political subscriptionas exceed the expectations as are in excess of those in 1876 received by the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The News says that Clancy, a Fenian sentenced to imprisonment for life, will be released upon ticket of leave on 25th Sept.

A despatch from Nicosia, Cyprus, to the News says a portion of Indian contingent are going home immediately, and their embarkation has commenced. The health of Cyprus has not improved, and the prevalence of Typhoid fever appears more serious. On the other hand a despatch from Larnaca says the reports of the unhealthiness of the Island are exaggerated; malignant fevers are rare. It is stated that Nicosia will not be made the capital of Cyprus because of its unfavorable situation, but some point will probably be selected between Lanarca and Bamagosta which possesses greater facilities for the construction of a harbor.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The Moniteur says that Russia has sent Gen. Abramofski as an accredited representative to Cabul, the capitol of northern Afghanistan. The Moniteur regards this as grave news, in view of the unsatisfactory relations between Shere Ali and the British Government, and of the Russian advance towards Affghanistan.

The American and French delegates of the Franco-American Commercial Conference, today waited upon M. Teisseanone de Tort, Minister of Commerce, to submit the text of the projected treaty. The committee were presented to the Minister by Senator Decorcil in the absence of Merier.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12.—A special state that $2,000 of the five thousand dollars stolen from the exchange bank, Anderson, Indiana, on Saturday, were found in the cemetery at Elmwood, Indiana.

MERIDEN, Conn., Aug. 12.—Alton Hurd, of Durham, committed to gaol at Haddam, on Saturday, in default of $2,000 bonds, for committing a rape on his sister-in-law, aged 12. Hurd is a blacksmith and has a wife and child. The girl's condition is said to be critical.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Arrived, the steamship Australia, from London.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—A London special to the Telegram says Thomas Forbes alias Crawford was arrested this morning on the SS. Adriatic on a charge of forg ry. He will be held until the arrival of Mrs. Walker, whom he swindled out of $13,000. Forbes was taken in charge by a detective.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Wilber & Withers' carriage manufactory, dwelling and barn at Sandy Hill were burned on Sunday; loss $16,500.

Mrs. Otis A. Tifflt, an invalid, was frightened to death by an alarm bell.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — Indications:—clear, partly cloudy, stationary temperature.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod. Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) ALEXANDER DENNETT, J. P.,

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

Special Notice.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, Bible House, New York City. d&wlm.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative returns. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of general interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information relating that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure success in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Hunting the Buffalo.

Hunting the buffalo is very different sport from stalking either the antelope or red deer, and is intensely exciting. They are seldom, except by those who make their livelihood by selling the skins, shot with a rifle, the usual method being to ride at full gallop into a herd, select the most promising animal, and then shoot it with a revolver. A good deal of practice, and I might add nerve, is required before a man can expect to become an accomplished Buffalo hunter; a well-trained horse is also necessary to insure success.

The first precaution to be observed after sighting a herd which it is proposed "to run," are to lighten yourself and horse of all superfluous gear, which are always handed over to orderlie, tighten up the saddle-girths, unbutton your holster, and see your revolver handy and ready for use.

When everything is ready, advance towards the herd at a brisk trot or canter. As a rule, they will allow you to approach to within about two hundred yards, when, being alarmed, the whole herd will scamper off. This is the time to make the running, for, after retreating about two hundred yards, they will invariably stop and look around to see whether they are being pursued or not. Before they can make up their minds to be off again the hunter ought to be in their midst, splitting the herd in two, and scattering them in all directions ahead of him. Singling out a particular animal—if only the skin is required, a six or seven-year old is most suitable—if one wanted a three-year old is chosen—the hunter dashes up alongside, and when within about two or three yards discharges his revolver rapidly into his victim, sticking close to the poor animal until it falls.

The buffalo is wonderfully tenacious of life; I have myself chased an old bull, whose head I was desirous of possessing as a trophy, for a distance of eight miles, and he only succumbed after twenty-five bullets had actually taken effect, the majority of which had entered a vital part. When wounded they are naturally very savage, and, maddened with pain, will charge furiously, but are easily evaded by a well-mounted horseman. When they see their efforts are futile, they will stop shortly, shake their forefoot viciously, snort, and shake their heads and shaggy manes with impotent fury. An infuriated buffalo bull is a very ugly customer at close quarters, but is really harmless if the hunter is mounted on a tractable horse. The rapidity with which these clumsy, awkward-looking animals get over the ground is perfectly marvellous; apparently shuffling along like a drove of cows, they are in reality travelling at a great speed, and a man must be well-mounted indeed who expects to overtake them if they have the advantage of a good start, or even to keep up with them after he has once ranged alongside.

An inexperienced hunter is apt to think, after a short chase, that his victim must soon succumb, from the fact that its head is hanging down and its tongue protruding, but these are not indications of exhaustion, and a buffalo, unless made "to bite the dust," will tire out the very best horse carrying a rider on his back.—Capt. Markham.

Our New Way of Butter-Making.

From an English butter-maker, recently from the "Mother Country," we have learned some new ideas in regard to butter-making, and, after experimenting under the new plan some two months or more, we feel confident to say the new plan is worth a fair trial by any one keeping from one to three cows, for a summer dairy, as we are confident butter made after this plan has a sweeter flavor and will keep longer than when made after the old plan. The method as practiced of late is as follows:

After the milk has stood twelve hours, strained and set in the usual way, we set the pan containing the milk over hot water and let it come to a scalding heat. Then it is set away and stands twelve or eighteen hours longer before skimming. The butter comes very quickly; the cream only needs a little stirring. At least, our butter comes, in from one to three minutes. I keep the cream in a stone jar every other morning. From twelve pounds of milk per milking we make one and a half pounds of butter per day, on an average. The cream should be taken off with as little milk as possible dipped with it; as then the cream keeps sweet and pure for a greater length of time, also causing the butter to come sooner when stirred. There will be but little butter-milk—sometimes only what can be rinsed out with water.

We find that butter made from this "cooked cream," as it is termed in England, can be washed without injuring it. In fact, it requires washing to perfect its quality.

It is a matter that might pay investigation, to find whether it would pay to get vats sufficient in size to hold each milking of the dairy, and have them so constructed as to be heated at will; then, when the milk had stood twelve hours, bring it to scalding heat—say 190 degrees—treating as described heretofore. The butter made after the manner herein described had a different taste from that made from raw cream; but with usage the taste is soon educated to prefer butter made from the cooked cream.—Ohio Farmer.

Sheep perseveringly follow their leader wherever he goes; but if, in case of sudden alarm, any of the flock runs forward to escape, and thus takes the lead, the rest generally follow him, regardless of any obstruction. Of this singular disposition, Dr. Anderson once witnessed an instance in the town of Liverpool. A butcher's boy was driving about twenty fat wethers through the town, but when they came down a street along which he did not want them to go. He observed a scavenger at work with his broom a little way before them, and called out loudly for him to stop the sheep. The man accordingly did what he could to turn them back running from side to side, always opposing himself to their passage, and brandishing his broom with great dexterity; but the sheep, much agitated, pressed forward, and at last one of them came right up to the man, who fearing it was about to jump over his head while he was stooping, grasped the short broom stick in both hands and held it over his head. He stood for a few seconds in this position, when the sheep made a spring and jumped fairly over him without touching the broom. The first had no sooner cleared this impediment than another followed and another, in such quick succession that the man perfectly confounded, seemed to lose all recollection, and stood in the same attitude till the whole flock had jumped over him, not one of them attempting to pass on either side, though the street was quite clear. As this took place during wet weather, the man was entirely bespattered with mud before they had passed, and it is impossible to conceive a more ludicrous appearance than the poor fellow made on this occasion.—Morning Star.

"Jemima Susan, did you get my letter?" "Yes, Samba." "I sent it in de hope ob raising a flame." "Samba you succeeded, for it lit the gas."

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its horrible effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, heat low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

MORTGAGE SALE OF VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lot number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot number Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy

is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

Before Taking.

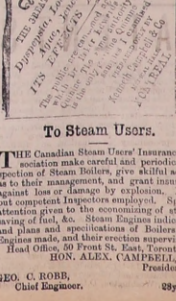

After Taking.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

WILLIAM GRAY & Co.
Windsor, Ont.

☞ Sold in Belleville by L. W. YEOMANS & Co., A. L. GUN & Co., and by all Druggists everywhere.

CONTINUE their authorized Reprints of

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig),
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW (Conservative),
THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW (Evangelical),

AND

BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH REVIEW.

These Reprints are not selections; they give the originals in full, and at about one-third the price of the English Editions.

The latest advancements and discoveries in the arts and sciences, the recent additions to knowledge in every department of literature, and a full list of new publications as they issue from the press, are fully reported and discussed in the pages of these periodicals, in language at once clear, forcible and comprehensive. The articles are commonly more condensed and full of matter than the average books of the period.

Terms for 1878 (including postage

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your pride and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

FITH OF THE ENGLISH AND CONTINENTAL JOURNALS.

Rev. Augustus Page Saunders, D. D., Dean of Peterborough, and the author of several theological and scientific works, died on the 22nd ult.

France, so fortunate in its wine yield since the war, is now a heavy sufferer. The phylloxera has already appeared in 34 departments, and done damage computed at £200,000,000. Bordeaux has escaped yet.

The yield of the Consolidated Virginia mine for the year ending June 30, 1878, was 187,572 tons, and 1,600 pounds of ore, which produced bullion to the value of $15,468,915 50. The California mine yielded 222,276 tons of ore, producing $17,649,329.42 of bullion.

The national gratitude of Germany for the escape of the Emperor from the designs of the assassin has taken the form of a subscription to "the Kaiser Wilhelm fund," to be devoted to some charitable purpose. To make it "truly national" the committee, presided over by the Count von Moltke, fixed one shilling as the maximum of a single subscription.

The Sabbath Alliance of Scotland has had another abortive session as severe as that occasioned by the Queen's Sunday boat ride. An elder, high in the church, has been guilty of travelling "homeward by train on Sunday from a continental trip," and was summoned to appear before the Kirk Session of Inverness. He added contumacy to the Sabbath breaking and refused to appear.

There is a tradition in the East that one of the tests by which the Queen of Sheba tried to prove the wisdom of Solomon was by pla ing on a table before him two bouquets, one of natural, the other of artificial flowers, and requiring that he should distinguish the one from the other, whereupon the wisest man ordered the windows to be thrown open, and in came the bees.

A man named Richard Lewis Sanda, landlord of a beer-house in Greenwich, on the 20th ult., took his three children—a girl of seven, a boy of six, and a girl of four—and went by train to Crayford, on the Dour Road, in Kent. There he took the children into a wood near a pond, and cut their throats and left them. His own body was found floating in the pond with the throats cut.

Rev. J. J. Coshere writes to the London Times that Cyprus was the first country in the world that had a Christian ruler. It was the place where the name of Saul was changed to Paul. It was the country of Barnabas, "the son of consolation," and the estates which he sold to assist in the propagation of Christianity were in Cyprus. It was largely inhabited by Jews, and well adapted as a meeting place for east and west.

At a French provincial theatre, the other day in a military play, the actor who was credited with the part of a General slipped on the stage, and fell ignominiously at the very moment when he was supposed to be conducting the troops to battle. With ready wit, however, he saved himself from ridicule by exclaiming, "Soldiers, I am mortally wounded, but do not stay to aid me. Pass over my prostrate body to victory."

An employe of the Austrian Census office has published a work on the statistics of births in Austria, as compared with those of other European countries. During 1865-75 the average of births to every 1,000 inhabitants was follows: Hungary, 41.3; all Germany, 30.7; Bavaria, 39.1; Austria, 38.6; Prussia, 38.3; Italy, 37; Holland, 35.6; England, 35.4; Scotland, 35; Belgium, 32; Switzerland, 30; Sweden, 27.1; Ireland, 26.9; France, 25.8.

It is said that there was imminent danger of a disruption of the Congress, even after the Bulgarian question had been settled. The Russian plenipotentiaries were so angry when the award of the cession of Cyprus, that they determined to go to war rather than yield possession of Batoum, or the sovereignty of the Lazes. Lord Odo Russell somehow or other discovered the true condition of affairs, and Batoum was surrendered without opposition.

A respectable lady, Mrs. Peck by name, was recently charged with pocket-picking in London, and committed for trial. No bill was found and it proved, after the lady had expended £240 in lawyers' fees and court expenses, that there was no foundation for the charge whatever. The law allows her no redress, but the Earl of Shaftesbury, Countess of Russell, and Miss Florence Nightingale have headed a committee appealing to the public to express their sense of injustice by subscribing a testimonial.

The four weeks during which the Kaiserhof at Berlin sheltered English delegates to the Congress will have the Cologne Gazette says to be noted in its books with golden letters. The 50 gentlemen, including 16 attaches and clerks of Lord Beaconsfield, occupied 63 rooms. The total bill amounted to about £2,000. Lord Beaconsfield, who had a whole suite of rooms, had to pay about £1,200. Besides ordering a suitable gratuity for the servants to be put in his bill, he gave them when leaving a pourboire of £50.

Political freedom in Germany now has no sort of existence. Recently, at a meeting of the Democratischer Verein, a political club in Frankfort, Mr. Curti, editor of the Frankfurter Zeitung, spoke on "Reaction and Liberation." The speech was entirely historical. After quoting Thiers and Casimir-Perier the speaker said:—"Now let us turn to Germany." A Commissary of Police rose instantly and said, "This meeting is dissolved," and dissolved it was. This occurred in a most fashionable club, and one in no way connected with favoring the Social Democrats.

The large captive balloon in the courtyard of the Tuileries has been inflated and contains eighty thousand cubic feet of hydrogen. The balloon is one hundred and twenty feet high, and is fixed at a distance of one hundred and eighty feet from the ground. The car is twenty feet in diameter; and the corridor in which passengers are to take their places has a double floor, and contains sixteen compartments for the storage of all articles which are required for a prolonged ascent. Not more than fifty passengers will be taken at once, and they will be carried up to an elevation of two thousand feet.

To shoot the Falls of Schadhausen, Switzerland, the Niagara of Europe, is a feat which has been but once attempted—in 1793, by George Brown, Viscount Montagne and Mr. Sedley Burdett, brother of Sir Francis, who, from mere bravado, resolved on doing what had never been done before. The magistrates getting wind of their project, did all they could to prevent it, and Lord Montague's valet actually seized him as he was stepping into the boat, and held on to him but the young Viscount angrily broke from him. The servant remained three weeks in the neighborhood, but the bodies were never recovered. Lord Montague, at the time of his death, was engaged to be married to one of the daughters of Mr. Coutts, the great banker, and his splendid old home of Cowdray in Sussex one of the grandest houses in England, was being set in order. Through some carelessness, probably on the part of workmen it caught fire, and before assistance could be rendered was a complete wreck. The steward, in the hurry and excitement of such a calamity, made a slight mistake in the address of his letter apprising his lord of the disaster, and consequently the letter reached its destination a few days after time. This mistake undoubtedly cost Lord Montague his life, for had the letter reached him in the ordinary course there can be no doubt that he would have immediately returned to England.

A return relative to the importation of meat during the years 1876 and 1877 has just been printed as a parliamentary paper. The total quantity of dried meat imported into ports of the United Kingdom during 1876 was 1,167,580 hundred weight, the value being £2,923,184, whereas the quantity imported in 1877 was 1,581,420 hundred weight, of the value of £4,117,808. Last year more dead meat was imported into Liverpool than into any other port in the United Kingdom, the total quantity amounting to 718,191 hundred weight, of the value of £1,761,393; 410,647 hundred weight, of the value of £1,113,177, were imported into London, and 282,019 hundred weight, valued at £757,912, into Glasgow.

The number of horses killed for food in Paris during the first quarter of 1878 was 2,341, with 106 asses and 14 mules. The figures in the corresponding period of 1877 were 2,228, 143 and 6. The first butcher's shop for the sale of horse meat was opened in London on the 4th of May last, and by the 4th of July 36 horses, 7 asses and 1 mule had been disposed of. The committee for the consumption of this article of food has awarded the butcher a medal of honor and given him the sum of 1,200 francs, placed at its disposal by M. Decroix, for the encouragement of hippophagy in England.

Something About The Lazes.

In the reports of the negotiations between Russia and the Porte for the cession of Batoum to the former power, frequent mention is made of the Lazes; but beyond the fact that early in the negotiations the Lazes sent in a petition through the British Embassy at Constantinople to the Government at home, asking to be taken under its protection, nothing, probably is known about them, and to most people their name is strange and their country a sealed book. The general idea about that part of the world is that it is peopled by Circassians, a warlike race, divided into several tribes, which have successively fallen under Russian dominion, although for many years a portion of them held out bravely against Russian usurpation, under their renowned chief Schamly; but the fact is, that from the mountains of the Caucasus, which should ever have remained the southern boundary of Russia, around to Trebizond, the country is divided into districts, the inhabitants of which differ much in their national character and habits. Outside the Russian territory, the extreme limits of which near Batoum previous to the war of the Tchoruk-Su, we have what is called Gorghistan and Lazistan, the country of the Georgians and Lazes. The former is but a remnant of what was once a powerful kingdom, and Laz influence prevailing, as will always be the case where the strong-willed and courageous are brought in contact with the weak-minded and timid, to all intents and purposes Lazistan may be considered as terminating but at the Russian frontier.

The treatment of the subdued Circassians, the Daghestantz, the Abassees and Mingrelians, since the country to the northward of the Tchoruk-Su has passed into Russian hands and trans-Caucasia been tranquillized, has not been such as to inspire their neighbors under Turkish rule with any great desire for Russian civilization. It is not so much that their loyalty to the Sultan is excessive, or their love for the Turk very great. They are of a distinctly different race from the followers of Othman, and jealous of any interference with their own peculiar institutions. A sort of feudal system prevails among them. They are governed by their own beys, under the supreme authority of the vali of Trebizond, and as long as taxes are paid they are mountaineers revelling in the freedom they enjoy under the Star and Crescent, and care not to exchange it for any of the blessings of civilization which the Russians could pretend to offer. They are Mohammedans in faith, and this link of Islam is a much stronger bond than Philo-Russians wish the world to believe. The Lazes, in particular, hold with great tenacity to their religion, though with the volatile Georgian his faith sits more lightly, and but a trip across the frontier either way frequently brings about, not a change of convictions, for he has no deep-seated opinions, but of profession in matters of faith. The war was eagerly welcomed by these people, and long before it was actually declared there had been a rush to arms, and several volunteer corps were formed under the command of the native beys. The first hostilities commenced in this quarter by the burning of Sheftati, the Russian frontier post at the Tchoruk-Su, by a volunteer corps under the renowned Tchoruksoolu Ali, and they formed a screen round Batoum the Russians found most difficult to penetrate. It is to these volunteers as much as to the Turkish troops that the honor is due of having so long resisted the Russians and kept them out of Batoum, and it is to be expected that, always victorious, they can now submit to the lot of the conquered! The news that Batoum was to be handed over to Russia, that their mountain range were to become Muscovite soil, was maddening for the bold and independent spirits who had been hitherto laughing at the soldiers of the Czar, and they came to the determination that if their own Government had no longer the power to protect them they would offer their allegiance to one which had. This was the origin of the petition to which they are now anxiously waiting for an answer.

The Lazes are a fine, bold race, born warriors, exercised to the use of weapons (more especially firearms) from an early age, and are thus, as a rule unerring shots. They are not so handsome in feature as their Georgian neighbors, and are of darker complexion, but their physique is much finer and they are far more industrious. They excel as fishermen, and the boldest and most skilful mariners of the Black Sea coast are of this race. In agriculture they are not very successful; but as mechanics their work is good, and they are more to be relied upon than the Georgians, who have greater skill. Before the war large numbers of them were in the habit of crossing over to work in the Russian towns of trans-Caucasia after they had sown their fields, invariably returning in time for the harvest.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, AUG. 13.

The Campaign in St. John, N.B.

The return to political life of the Hon. S. L. Tilley, has created no little sensation in the city of St. John ; and associated as he is with Hon. GEO. E. KING, (formerly leader of the Government in New Brunswick,) in the political campaign just opened in that Province, they are making the contest warm for the two respectable nonentities who are opposing them—the Hon. Isaac Burpee, and Mr. DeVebre.

A few days since, Mr. Burpee made a speech in defence of the Government, which the St. John Freeman, Mr. Anglin's paper, cruelly designates a "fatiguing speech." Judging from the hon. gentleman's speeches in the House of Commons and elsewhere, we doubt not the Freeman's estimate of the Minister of Customs' (Mr. Burpee) effort is rightly designated, Mr. Burpee being what is generally considered in political parlance, a "respectable nonentity" in the Councils of the country. There is one point, however, in which he proves himself an apt scholar : when arg ument fails, he can, like many others of his colleagues, bawl at the top of his voice "your'e Tory !" fancying that that is sufficient to cover up all the failures and irregularities of the Ministerial party in New Brunswick and elsewhere. Upon this point Mr. King made the following happy reply :—

"He heard Mr. Burpee call him and his friends Tories, the night before, but no other speaker called them Tories. His friend Mr. Tilley was called a Tory, although his name was associated with every Liberal movement for thirty years. Mr. Palmer, who had not a drop of Tory blood in him, was also called a Tory while all who supported Mr. Burpee were good Liberals. If he had to support this Government, or be called a Tory, he would choose the latter. (Cheers and laughter.) They were the same kind of Tories they were when Mr. Burpee was associated with them. Sir Albert Smith was a strong supporter of Sir John, and was he a Tory ? He told his constituents that he was associated with the Liberal Conservative party. (Cheers.) His name—his knightly name—had been used to draw people to the Institute, and what would he have said if he had heard Mr. Burpee denounce everybody a Tory who supported Sir John Macdonald ?"

It is surprising how horrified these professors of "political purity," are at the sound of the word "tory" when they expect to win a vote by it, and when they are in power. Contrast this clap-trap of Burpees and Smiths with their utterances, before they crossed the House and joined Mr. Mackenzie ; at that time this same Mr. Burpee spoke of his present friends and colleagues as follows :—

"He believed in sustaining the Government, as when we looked at the difficulties in the way, and the newness of our Confederation, it was not advisable that the party should be overthrown. This was especially necessary when he looked at the condition of the Opposition in Ontario, and the manner in which they have sought to make capitol out of that Province. They showed in their principle a selfishness which could not but be observed, and caused the reflection as to what they would do in power."

Mr. Albert Smith, now Sir Albert, and Minister of Marine and Fisheries, was not so horrified before he succeeded in securing $7,000 a year at being associated with the "Tories," as he now terms them. In his address to the electors he said :—

"Gentlemen, five years ago you sent me to the Parliament of our country with all my prepossessions in favor of the Reform party. Having carefully watched both sides, I have been giving my support to the Liberal-Conservative party, and I tell you as an honest man, that if you choose me as your representative again it must be under the understanding that I am still to support that party."

In his nomination speech in that campaign Sir Albert repeated that he had confidence in the Conservative Government :

"He had gone to the Dominion Parliament with strong prejudices and personal feelings against the party in power, but he had not allowed his feelings to influence his actions. He had not been an ally of either party, but occupied the cross benches and had in all cases studied to serve the interests of his country, and in the future he should continue to pursue a similar course. He could not allow the opportunity to pass, however, without bearing testimony to the fact that the Government had, especially during the past two years, shown that they possessed broad views on all general questions, and a generous disposition in dealing with the interests of the Lower Provinces. Under such circumstances he believed we had nothing to gain by a change of administration. He was perfectly content with the Government as now constituted with Messrs. Tilley and Mitchell as our representatives."

Mr. King also bit off the attempt to evade the true issue before the country as follows :—

"He was no apologist for Sir John Macdonald. The people had passed upon his conduct. Now the people were not asked to pass judgment on Sir John. In 1874 they had one prisoner in the dock and now they had another. (Cheers.) This was an extraordinary spectacle to see a prisoner in the dock asking for acquittal, on the ground that the prisoner who was there ahead of him was convicted. (Cheers and laughter.) He cited from the authorized edition of Cartwright's Newmarket speech, which they had all doubtless seen (laughter) as the mail bags were loaded with them, that it was "an old and stale device, when men were charged with a particular offence to accuse those who brought them to justice of similar offences." Yet this was what Mr. Burpee and Mr. DeVebre did.

Referring to the pretentions of these professed purists, and his opponents in St. John in particular, he said :

"A man might be in favor of the Baie Verte Canal or the Fifth Ward to-day and oppose it to-morrow. (Laughter.) That was a change of judgment. But when a man said one day he was opposed to immoral coalitions and made them the next, it was something worse than that. The party in power were great manufactures of high moral principles, when they were in opposition, and it was to be hoped that they would soon be relegated to Opposition again, so that they might resume the manufacture of high moral sentiments.

If Mr. Blake's language had any force in 1867, when he denounced Sir John Macdonald and Hon. Sanfield Macdonald for acting in consort in carrying out the Confederation Act, after years of opposition, how much more formidable is it now. Then he said, "On what ground did these men appeal to the country and conduct the Government of the Province ! Oh ! that they were good friends ; that all party differences had been settled. What a mockery upon an intelligent people is that statement !"

Yes, Mr. Blake, it is a "mockery upon an intelligent people," and proves beyond a doubt that the party is, in the language of Sir Francis Hincks, an "organized hypocrisy."

Hon. Mr. Tilley in his remarks referred to the tea duties very happily. The News of St. John, reports Mr. Burpee's remarks on the tea duties as follows :—

The average price of black tea for the past eight years was rated at 27 cents per lb., and the amount of duty chargeable thereon now is equal to 18½ per cent.; the price of green tea for the same period is 32 cents per lb., the percentage of duty thereon proving to be the same as on black tea. In this hardship does not appear, nor could it possibly be shown to exist.

To which Mr. Tilley replied :

"On the tea question he must say that he was surprised at the calmness with which the people submitted to the injustice. The rich man who bought a pound of tea at $1.20, paid fifteen cents into the treasury, while the poor man, who bought two pounds of sixty cent tea, paid twenty cents tax. Mr. Burpee said this was an inducement to the poor people to buy good tea ? (Laughter.) Suppose the man of small means should be taxed one per cent. on his property, and the rich man were taxed but a half per cent., Mr. Burpee would say this was an inducement to the poor to get rich. (Great laughter.)

This settles Mr. Burpee and the News' theory pretty effectually.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC.—The traffic of the Great Western Railway for week ending August 2nd was $82,972.53, being a decrease on corresponding week of last year of $4,737.78.

A POLITICAL VISIT.—An Ottawa report of the 12th inst., says : "The Premier and the Hon. Mr. Cartwright leave to-morrow morning for St. John and Halifax, having consented to deliver a few political addresses in the Maritime Provinces.

THE LOYALTY NONSENSE.—Montreal Gazette :—"No party confident of success would be driven to the loyalty nonsense to which the Globe is now devoting columns of its space. No, the Government are a beaten party and they know it. All that is wanted is hard, honest work to make the defeat an absolute rout."

ORANGE CELEBRATION IN TORONTO.—The Prentice Boys of Toronto celebrated the anniversary of the relief of Derry, on the 12th inst., being assisted by their brethren from Montreal, Oshawa, Port Hope, Grafton, Brampton, Beamsville and other places. The members assembled at the corner of Gerald and Ontario streets, and to the number of 1,200 marched through the principal streets. The procession equalled that on the twelfth of July. Addresses were delivered by prominent members of the Order, among whom was County Master Grant, of Montreal.

THE BRITISH WHEAT CROP.—The North British Agriculturist says : "A finer blooming season for the wheat crop than that of 1878 is not on record. Sunshine has been abundant, the temperature high, and rainfall almost nil. Wheat will, therefore, not only be the best of the cereal crops, but promises the best yield since 1870. The quantity should be a full average, and the quality, with ordinary harvest weather, is likely to be of the choicest description. Wheat will be comparatively early ready for the reaper, which augurs well for the crop. In some of the earlier districts of England many fields are all but ripe, while in the Lothians and other early counties the reaper has every appearance of being in full swing in wheat fields by the second or third week of August."

THE GOVERNMENT POLICY.—Mr. M. P. Ryan to the electors of Montreal Centre : "Regarding the policy of the present Government in fiscal matters, I do not hesitate to assert it has been detrimental to the interests of the country at large, and ruinous to the prosperity of Montreal. Our prostrate industries, silent factories, and closed refineries, tell the mournful tale of the mal-administration of the present Government, to which our disasters, if not altogether, are in a great measure due. I am opposed to this policy, and no Government, no matter what its political name, shall receive my support unless a fair and just system of protection to our native industries be the main plank of its platform. My belief is that the leaders of the Opposition are imbued with the desire to inaugurate, should they secure the confidence of the country, such a policy, in the readjustment of the tariff, as will promote the various commercial industrial interests of our community. Should they do so they will have my adhesion in carrying out their views, but not under any other circumstances."

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—In our Government report on "Immigration and Colonization" just issued is an account of an improved method for the manufacture of peat, and also the results of some trials with it in some foundries in the States which gave most satisfactory results. It is also said in the report that one hundred tons a day can be made at a cost of from 75c to $1 per ton, a ton of this manufactured peat being equal to a ton of bituminous coal. To produce the above quantity buildings and machinery to the value of from ten to twelve thousand dollars would be all that would be required. Such being the case, one would think there would be a fine opening to our capitalists in the direction of smelting the iron ores, of which we have such large deposits in our back townships, and for which purpose peat or peat charcoal is said to be superior to coal. Knowing that there are several large bogs of the sphagnum or peat moss (which produces the pure peat beds) in our county, and from which an almost unlimited quantity of peat could be made, and knowing also the importance of the fuel question, I have ventured to address you so that the attention of the public through your able journal may be called to the matter, and some abler hands than mine take it up and I trust lead ultimately to peat manufacturing works being established and in full operation in our county. Trusting that the importance of the question may be a sufficient apology for troubling you to insert this,

I am, sir,
Yours obediently,
"PEAT."

MATERIAL ADVANTAGES.—The Government Engineer, under the Mackenzie Government, is like Brigham Young's mother-in-law, somewhat "numerous." He is now abroad in the Maritime Provinces examining harbours, and prospecting back waters, and choosing sites for new lighthouses, for the elections are near, and the Government is using its "material advantages."

A Plucky Journalist's Journey.

Mr. Grattan Geary, editor of the Times of India, has just arrived in Paris from Bombay, after a big ride through the Sultan's Asiatic dominion, which even in these days is somewhat to talk of. Mr. Geary, having occasion to visit Europe, thought he might as well take Asiatic Turkey on his way, although to do it he had to travel on horseback for over a thousand miles through a wildish country. The rest of the journey was done by boat. He left Bombay in March for the Persian Gulf, looking in at Muscat, where British influence keeps a well meaning prince on the throne against a dozen competitors. At Bussorah he landed on Turkish soil, went thence to Bagdad by river, and then began his great ride after having made a short excursion to Babylon, where he found a native speculator busily digging up the remains of ancient palaces to sell as old bricks. Sir Henry Layard was duly informed of this when Mr. Geary passed through Constantinople, and he promised to put a stop to it at once. From Bagdad Mr. Geary touched Mosul, and then struck the line of retreat of the Ten Thousand, now infested by many Kurds of the wilder sort. Towards the end of his journey Mr. Geary had to ride hundred miles in the saddle without rest to catch the Messageries steamer at Alexandretta. It is an adventure as plucky as it is novel ; and of course the immense amount of information picked up on the way as to the state of our next nurseling of dominion, Asiatic Turkey, is to make the forthcoming "book of the season."

How to Make a Haggis.

A lady sends us the following quaint piece of housewifery, saying: "In looking over some old papers that belonged to my grandmother, I found this receipt, with its accompanying 'remarks,' and thinking some enterprising housekeeper might like to try a dish that has called forth such enthusiasm, as well as excited the poetic inspiration of Burns, I copy it for the benefit of your readers:" Parboil a sheep's pluck and a piece of good lean beef. Grate the half of the liver, and mince the beef, the lights, and the remaining half of the liver. Take of good beef suet half the weight of this mixture and mince it with half a dozen small firm onions. Toast some oatmeal before the fire for hours, till it is of a light brown color and perfectly dry. Less than two teacupfuls will not do for this meat. Spread the mince on a board, and strew the meal lightly over it with a little seasoning of pepper, salt, and a little cayenne well mixed. Have a haggis-bag, perfectly clean, and see that there be no thin part in it, else your labor may be lost by its bursting. Put in the meat with as much good beef gravy or strong broth as will make it a thick stew. Be careful not to fill the bag too full, but allow the meat room to swell ; add the juice of a lemon, or a little vinegar, press out the air, and sew up the bag, prick it with a large needle when it first swells in the pot, to prevent it from bursting ; let let it boil, but not violently, for three hours.—Farmers' Advocate.

PARTY DISTURBANCES AT OTTAWA

Montreal Orangemen Attacked by Union Men.

THE FOOT GUARDS ORDERED OUT.

The Orange Young Britons of Montreal went to Ottawa to celebrate the Relief of Derry on the 12th. A grand procession took place in the afternoon, during which some slight disturbances took place.

The following account of the riot in the evening is from the Ottawa correspondent of the Globe :

A number of Union men arrived from Montreal this afternoon, and it is expected that a row will occur this evening when the Montreal brethren walk in procession to the station. Bloody work is anticipated, and a good deal of anxiety is felt. The Guards have been ordered out in case of a riot, and the Cartridge has been served out.

LATER.—A row is now in progress on Clarence street. Three Montreal Britons were chased into Stratton's store by a lot of Union men. They were sailing with three girls when obscene language was used, and a row ensued.

At nine o'clock the Orange Young Britons formed in procession at the Orange Hall to escort the Montreal delegation to the St. Lawrence and Ottawa depot, where a mob of about five hundred Union men and rafts-men, armed with revolvers and stones, had congregated to meet them. One hundred men from the Governor General's Foot Guards were stationed on the platform east of the station, under command of Colonel White and Mayor Bangs. Alds. McRae, O'Keefe, and Stewart, with Colonel Ross, occupied a position in the rear ready to read the Riot Act in case of emergency. A number of prominent citizens, both Catholic and Protestant, moved through the crowd and endeavored to persuade them to disperse quietly and return to their homes. This the mob refused to do, and it was quite evident that they meant to have a row as soon as the Britons made their appearance. The Chief of Police knowing this went to the Orange Hall and addressed the Britons, advising them not to proceed to the regular depot, but to march quietly to the junction, about three miles out on the Richmond road, where they could embark quietly and prevent a riot. Several Orange leaders advised them strongly in the same direction, but still the Britons expressed their determination to proceed to the station in the regular way at all hazards. They were appealed to again and again, and finally were induced, but very reluctantly, to follow the advice of Chief Lungrell. They reached the junction at eleven o'clock without any disturbance occurring. The streets all the evening have been crowded with men and women, and the greatest excitement prevailed. When the train left the regular depot without the Britons on board the Union men cheered, and some of them hissed the military as they marched away.

About 9:30 a Young Briton named McGibbeury, while alighting from a street car near the depot, received a blow in the back of the head, and subsequently had his coat and shirt torn off before he succeeded in escaping from the mob. Brown's hotel on William-street was attacked by Union men about nine o'clock. Stones were thrown through the windows, but no one was injured. The police appeared on the scene several minutes later and dispersed the crowd without any difficulty. The three Britons who were driven into Stratton's store in Dalhousie-street were rescued by the police and escorted to Upper Town without any further trouble. The streets are now deserted and everything is quiet. No further trouble is anticipated.

FISHERIES.—The weather at the Magdalen Islands for the past fortnight was cold and foggy, and very unfavorable for fishing and farming purposes. There is good cod fishing off Etang du Nord and south-west of Amherst Island when the boats can get out. Quantities of small mackerel abound on the coast. Very few fishing vessels have visited the Islands as yet.

City and Vicinity.

LACROSSE.—The Kingston Lacrosse Club beat the Oaka's of this city yesterday, on the grounds of the former, in three straight games.

WATCH STOLEN.—A valuable gold watch and chain belonging to Mr. Farrell, of the Queen's Hotel, was taken from his bedroom on Saturday evening. Neither the watch nor thief have been discovered.

"KATIE GRAY."—A despatch from the Katie Gray reports her at Brockville, but will not take part in the regatta on account of the rules of the Brockville regatta club which admits of shifting ballast.

THE ARBITRATION.—We understand as we are going to press that the Arbitration in the case of Pardee and Loyd is about being closed, and that the award will in all probability be made this evening.

RETURNED.—Dr. W. J. Palmer, Principal of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, returned home this morning from a four week's trip in the Maritime Provinces. His sojourn amongst the "dwellers by the sea" seems to have very much improved his health.

THE GREAT BOAT RACE.—At the Barrie race yesterday Hanlan won the professional single scull race, Wallace Ross second, and Hosmer of Boston third. The Leanders of Hamilton took the four-oared race. An immense crowd were present from Toronto and other localities.

HOME AGAIN.—Mr. Walker, ex-Warden of the County and Wm. Graham, of Hungerford, arrived home last night, by the Persian. Mr. Walker reports a pleasant passage, and as having had a most enjoyable visit amongst his friends in the land of the heather.

TERRIBLE DISTRESS.—Terrible distress, owing to continued rains and consequent destruction of crops, prevails in Cashmere. In many parts of the country the people are subsisting upon herbs, weeds, and unripe fruit. Much damage has also been done by the rains to the canal and navigation system throughout India.

NATIONAL POLICY.—It will be seen by advertisement that a meeting under the auspices of the Dominion National League will be held in the City Hall on Friday evening for the discussion of the National Policy of Canada. This is the all absorbing question of the present, and as there will be some able speakers at the meeting, we hope all who desire enlightenment on this subject will be present.

AT WORK.—We understand that Mr. Bickford, who has the contract for the completion of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, has given instructions to Mr. Daly, Engineer, to proceed with the grading of the Road. In accordance with these instructions, Mr. Daly with a gang of men commenced work yesterday. It is expected a construction engine will be obtained this week.

The Canada School Journal for August notes the success attending the special cause for teachers during the Public Schools vacation at Ontario Commercial College Belleville. The attendance is good, and the utmost satisfaction is expressed regarding the teaching, and the great advantage it affords to those preparing for certificates. Mr. W. B. Robinson's fifth article on "Penmanship in Public Schools" appears in the present number of the journal, and is worthy of that gentleman's high reputation as a teacher of the art.

Cricket.

A friendly game of Cricket was played at Marmora on Friday last, 9th inst., between the Stirling and Marmora Cricket Clubs. The latter Club, by consent of the Stirling Club, had in its eleven two players from the Belleville Club, and one from the Colborne Club. The weather, and ground, were in good condition for the game, which was commenced about 11 o'clock by Marmora taking the bat and Allen and G. Conley taking charge of the ball. The bowling was soon proved to be too much for the bat, the last wicket falling at the tenth 'over' for a score of 19 runs. Stirling then followed at the bat, and retired during the 29th 'over' for a tcore of 67, Messrs. Allen and Anderson getting into double figures with a score of 12 each. D. McKee also played a good innings of 9, and not out.

An excellent luncheon, provided by the Marmora Club, was then partaken of by all the players of both Clubs, no one retiring from this innings with a duck egg.

Marmora then followed, and went in with a determination to do something better then in the first innings, but the wickets came tumbling down pretty rapidly, twelve 'overs' being sufficient to dispose of the whole eleven, the foreign men being no more successful at the bat than the home members.

A first class dinner at Mr. Gordon McWilliams' hotel was then partaken of by all concerned, where the players enjoyed themselves as cricketers know how to do on such occasions. The Stirling club reached home about 9 o'clock, well pleased with the day's sport, and the friendly reception given to them by their cricketing friends at Marmora.

The old lady looked hard at the spot indicated, then got up and walked across the floor and minutely inspected it, and then, turning to the photographer, gently remarked: "I don't see anything there."

The plan of watering city streets at night is being advocated. The fine condition of the highway after a night's rain is a matter of every-day observation, while the puddly and mud spattered results of day sprinkling are well known. On very dusty streets the sprinkler's day time showers are evaporated before they have time to fairly penetrate the dust. Night sprinkling has been tried and proves entirely effective.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The body of H. J. Montague went east this morning accompanied by his fellow actors.

SARATOGA, Aug. 13.—Third race, purse $300, for all ages, mile and a half, Parole walked over the course.

OTTAWA, Ill., Aug. 13.—King's planing mill was burned; loss, $18,000; insurance, $11,500.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Indications: clear weather.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not tired any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 125 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effect of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIEGNCER Office, Belleville.

The Agricultural Shows.

The work of an agricultural society is not only to show a good example of improving machinery and live stock to the visiting farmers and their families, but also to give a correct account of the various advances which agriculture has made since the last meeting. In addition to this its mission is to bring together the various members and visitors for a general exchange of ideas, not only upon the subject of agriculture, but upon all subjects.

Farmers in this country live too much within themselves—have few opportunities of exchange of ideas and experiences, and are apt to run in ruts. Progress in agriculture, as in all sciences, is diametrically opposed to ruts.

A prejudice against book farming, as scientific agriculture is too frequently called, will of course militate against the proper reception of new ideas by the ordinary farmer at these meetings. Nevertheless, the discussions and debates by book farmers frequently give birth to ideas which subsequently develop into untried experiments and sometimes result in untold profit to the producing classes.

There was a time when the cultivation of small fruit was almost a hidden mystery, confined to the favored few who kept their secrets and trade upon them. A number of years ago however, a young and ambitious student and gardener, named Fuller, took up the subject and, after years of experiments and study wrote a book. Now, nearly every farmer is not only able to raise the small fruits which are necessary for the health and welfare of his family, but can send his surplus to those markets where such food is greatly needed. The mystery has ceased, and this particular branch of cultivation is an open book. This is mentioned as only one of the benefits arising from this interchange of ideas spoken of. By all means sustain the agricultural societies and attend their meetings and shows.

DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

While few farmers are really hard hearted, many of them perform cruel acts towards their domestic animals by reason either of mistaken economy or intended mercy. Many owners of dairy stock will tell you that at no time is it good to allow shade trees in pasture lots, because the milch cows will spend their time in the shade, when they should be grazing in order to give a fair portion of milk. Place these unthinking men in the same position—deprive them of all shade and rest during the heat of the day, that they may not neglect their work, and how long will they last? Animal structure is very similar throughout the whole species. Proper food, good exercise and the sleep and rest to recuperate its energies are required by each whether human or otherwise. So, too, the protection and shelter which a man gives to himself against excessive heat or cold and rapid changes of temperature are quite as necessary for his domestic animals, with such modifications as difference of structure and habit will naturally suggest to every thinking man.

But much too frequently the thinking and reasoning part of the propositions is held in the background, and some wise saw of the grandfather becomes the prompter. Hence, the poor animals are the immediate sufferers by physical pain, and the unfortunate owner the sufferer by loss either of the animals or their usefulness. A little careful thought bestowed upon the subject will at once show the fallacy of many of the ancient saws, and then, by the addition of a fair degree of what is called horse-sense the average farmer will at once discover that care for the comfort of the domestic animal is a precaution against its sickness and failure in its spheres of usefulness. Mr. Bergh's humane intentions may be entirely ignored in this proposition, and will prove itself upon purely economical grounds. Then add Bergh to economy, and a team is made which must insure success.

Kitchen and Market Garden.

This is a month of abundant returns from the garden, but it is also one of a rich harvest of weeds. The hot days are favorable to the destruction of weeds, and all work with the horse or hand implements tells most satisfactorily. Weed killing—always in order—and the setting and sowing of a few late and succession crops, are about all that will occupy the gardener, who will find in this of all working months, the nearest approach to leisure.

SEED SOWING for the later crops will begin this month. Spinach may be sown for an early fall crop, but that to be cut later, or to be wintered over, should not go in until next month. Rutabagas, if not put in last month, should be sown at once; but the quicker-maturing sorts, like Yellow-Stone and Aberdeen, will be more sure now.

ONIONS are usually ready to harvest at the end of this, or the first of next month; when a majority of the tops fall over, growth has ceased, and the onions may be pulled. Many growers prefer to sell at once. If they are to be stored the onions should be left on the bed, throwing three or four rows into one, until well cured.

ONION SETS, as soon as growth ceases, are to be pulled, allowed to dry, and stored in a cool, airy place in thin layers, to prevent heating.

CELERY.—Late plantings may still be made, and in ordinary seasons will form good sized roots. That already out needs to have the cultivator run between the rows, occasionally, and such weeds as appear in the rows removed by hand or a "lance-headed hoe."

ROOT CROPS of all kinds should be worked until the growth of leaves prevents it.

SWEET CORN in the garden, with a little care, may be made to aid the dairy. So soon as the ears are off, the stalks may be cut to feed green, or they may be cured for later use. Reject and burn all stalks that are "smutty."

MELONS may be made to ripen evenly by turning as they approach maturity, and it is well to place a wisp of hay or a shingle under them to keep them from the ground. When a melon is ripe the stem readily parts from the fruit.

WATERMELONS are known to be ripe by the sound they give when struck by the finger. A sound cannot be readily described, but a little practice soon makes it familiar.

INSECTS will be abundant and must not be neglected. As soon as turnips are up "the flea" will find them. Sprinkle air-slaked lime or ashes along the rows. Watch the tomatoes for the "worm," which can be traced by its droppings.

Daily ravages are being committed in the delightful old city of Nurnburg in the shape of modern improvements. Some time ago the ancient fortified wall which enclosed the town and lent to it so much of its pictuersque aspect was doomed. This destruction is now proceeding with frightful rapidity, but besides this every week some quaint gable end, some curious bit of carving, or image of a saint disappears from view, and many of the old patrician abodes, which it is found no longer possible to let as single tenements, are being modernized and let out as lodging houses for poor tenants.

There is one very consoling thing about this weather, you don't have a policeman walk up, ring the bell and say: "Have the snow cleaned off the sidewalk at wanst, or be gob I will report you."

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

OF

VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lot number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot nbmber Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage.

The aforesaid premises which are well watered and on which are erected a large brick dwelling house, a small frame dwelling house, and a large frame barn, are situated about 1½ miles from Stirling, and 13½ miles from Belleville.

An abstract of title of the said lands will be produced at the sale, and the vendor will convey his interest only in the said lands to the purchaser.

The purchaser shall at the time of sale pay one-tenth of the purchase money, and the balance within ten days thereafter. For further particulars apply at the law offices of Messrs. FLINT & JELLETT, and

ALEX. ROBERTSON,
Vendor's Solicitor.

To the Electors OF WEST HASTINGS.

HAVING heard a rumour on the streets that it is not my intention to contest the Riding again for Parliamentary honors, I beg to state that such rumour is not correct. I am at the disposal of my friends, and if they desire it, I am quite willing again to solicit the suffrages of my friends and supporters, and all those who feel satisfied with my course as their representative at Ottawa during the past eleven years.

I am, your obed't serv't,

To Paris and Back for $220.

FIRST-CLASS

Steamer, Railways, and Hotels.

Messrs. Cook, Son, & Jenkins, the well-known Tourist agents of London and New York, have chartered the celebrated steamer City of Chester, of the Inman line, to leave New York on THURSDAY, August 1st, for Liverpool. They will send a special party of ladies and gentlemen under charge of one of their conductors to London, Brighton, Dieppe, Paris and back for $220 FROM TORONTO back to TORONTO, or FROM MONTREAL back to MONTREAL.

The sum will include first-class railway tickets by New York Central R.R. to New York and back, saloon passage on City of Chester to Liverpool and back, first-class railway ticket between Liverpool and Paris, both ways; six days' hotel accommodation in Paris, with carriages for three days to see the city and Versailles, and four days' hotel accommodation in London and two days between these places.

TIME OF ABSENCE ONLY 33 DAYS.

The ticket will provide facilities for those who wish to go to Switzerland or Italy at $100 and $200 additional. The steamship portion of the ticket is good to return any time this year. The steamer has good berths for 200 passengers, and only that number will be taken. The best berths will be given to the earliest depositors. Fifty Dollar deposits required when name is registered.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Don't who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time.

Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "Domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine House of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

Alive, Yet Dead.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY, WHEREBY THE BLOOM OF LIFE MAY LIVE ON THE DEAD FOR YEARS DECOMPOSITION ARRESTED.

(From the N. Y. Herald.)

A remarkable contribution to science is Dr. Rodgers' chemical solution, styled "the "Allekton," for preserving dead bodies. The word is Greek, and is freely translated "everlasting." The doctor, who hails from San Francisco, invented this compound a year and a half ago, while making experiments for the preservation of meat. His attention was attracted to the subject more particularly on reading of the cremation process of Dr. Lemoyne in Pennsylvania, which he regarded as revolting in the extreme. In order to bring the matter in the fullest light before the public, the doctor placed himself in communication with the leading scientists of the country, and in response to numerous invitations consented to come to this city and give an explanation of his process. About fifty physicians and undertakers from this city, New Haven, Baltimore, and other large cities, assembled yesterday afternoon, in the rooms of Mr. Stephen Merritt, in Eighth avenue, to witness the experiment. Shortly after three o'clock Dr. Rodgers appeared, and in a very modest way introduced himself to his audience. He is a tall, well-built man of fifty-three, with a large intellectual head, slightly bald, light hair, and blue eyes. His address and manner of a professional lecturer. While he was speaking, the curiosity of his hearers was aroused by three open caskets which lay behind him.

"If the gentlemen will now step forward," said he, "I will explain the process." One of the caskets contained the body of a woman who had died of dropsy; the other that of a woman who was carried off by a malignant disease, and the third was that of a man who died of consumption. The body of one of the women had been lying in the Morgue and the undertaker's thirty-two days, and yet, under the influence of the newly discovered fluid, not only was there no offensive odour, but the limbs were entirely flexible and the skin assumed a life-like hue. The doctor exhibited the "needle" used in the process, a tube about fourteen inches long and one-third of an inch in diameter, with a tapering point, which is inserted in the abdomen and forced upwards through the diaphragm, first over one lung, then over the other, and lastly into the intestines, the fluid being pumped in by a small rubber tube. The average quantity is one quart. A small flat brush used by painters in varnishing is next dipped into the fluid and passed over the entire body, and this part of the process the doctor styles "brushing." This completed, the body, it is claimed, remains intact for months and years. "Of course," said the doctor, "we do not propose to prevent absolute putrid decomposition, but we have accomplished the fact that the body shall remain perfectly innocuous." He said that it was astonishing how people sit in churches where bodies are interred and never realize their danger.

"Seven bodies recently removed from one church," he said, "contained gases sufficient to poison 27,000 persons. Eleven cemeteries have recently been closed in the city of London for this reason, according to "Wilson's Hygiene," and from the same authority we learn that a few drops of decomposing animal matter, impregnated in a well, poisoned 487 persons. This is the most powerful poison known, belonging to the ablest scientists. A body weighing 150 pounds generates 120,000 cubic feet of gas. A decomposing body gives off sulphuretted hydrogen and ammonia, which are offensive to the smell. The other gases emitted are not offensive, but are poisonous, so that people are frequently poisoned by gases without knowing it. When sulphuretted hydrogen is breathed it causes diarrhœa, typhus and typhoid fevers, which was proved in all the wars from the Crimea to the Turco-Russian. The molecules in small pox cases penetrate the earth and come to the surface as water percolates, and entering our house is breathed and creates disease."

With the new compound the doctor said he would enter the abodes of the worst cases of small pox, typhus or yellow fever, and render those maladies perfectly innocuous. Its primary effect, he said, is to destroy contagion, and in this respect it is the most powerful agent ever placed within the reach of man, so that it will at once preserve the health of the living and the bodies of the dead. The doctor frequently rubs it on his hands, and can even drink it in solution in small quantities. Physicians have claimed that nothing can penetrate dead tissues. Dr. Rodgers has falsified this theory in one of his early experiments on the body of a woman who had been dead thirty days. He colored the fluid black and injected it into the body, and when the leg was afterwards cut the flesh appeared a natural red color and the dark fluid oozed out. "We have proved beyond all question," said the doctor, "that it not only prevents but arrests decomposition, and Professor Wood and other eminent physicians in the city admit it rather the worst test to the fluid.

"The first instance of the application of the 'Alekton' in this city is not only so full of interest, but so startling, that mention of it cannot be here omitted. The wife of a wealthy gentleman residing in Forty-seventh street died of puerperal fever on the 28th of last May, in the care of Miss Price to her demise she requested her husband not to have her remains interred for six days. After the third day the odor from the body became so offensive, notwithstanding the large quantity of ice used, that the undertaker suggested an immediate interment. "No," said the distracted husband, "I will carry out my poor wife's wishes to the letter." The undertaker had recourse to Dr. Rodgers, who, after a brief consultation, had the consent of the husband to apply the fluid. Not only was decomposition arrested, but the face resumed a life like hue and the limbs became relaxed. The body was interred at the end of the six days at the family vault at Woodlawn, and there some touching incidents of this kind may be witnessed twice or three times a week when the gentleman enters the vault, unlocks the casket, gazes upon and embraces the body of his wife. A few days ago he entered the vault with his little child of three years, and when he lifted the little one over the casket it cried out, "Oh, papa, there's mamma," and both father and child kissed the remains as affectionately as in life. This scene, according to Dr. Rogers, may be continued for years.

A few reasons why life long Reformers cannot longer support the Mackenzie Government.

1. The Government has increased the public debt $44,000,000 without any definite improvements to the public works.

2. They have increased the offices of the country, and increased the salaries of the officials to the extent of $160,000, per year.

3. They increased the number of Cabinet Ministers and increased their salaries, though when in Opposition, they claimed the number should be reduced to seven, with a proportionate saving in salaries.

4. They opposed Coalitions when in opposition and afterwards coalesced with such life-long Conservatives as Cartwright, Scott Burpee, Smith and Cauchon.

5. They objected to any connection between the Federal and the Local Governments and afterwards went hand in glove with the Reform Government in the different Provinces for the interests of party, and against the interests of the country.

6. They objected when John A. and John Sandfield addressed the electors together, and last summer Mackenzie and Mowat went hand in hand through the country and addressed the electors from the same platform.

7. They have allowed American wheat to come into Canada, free of duty, thereby lessening the price of every bushel sold by our farmers and inflicting a loss in the County of Kent alone of thousands of dollars.

8. They allow American corn to come into Canada free of duty and have reduced the price of our own twenty cents per bushel.

9. They have increased the excise duty on malt from 36 to 72 cents per bushel. The result is that it does not pay our farmers to raise barley, the returns from the whole of Canada showing that not one bushel is raised now, where ten was raised a few years ago.

10. This action of the Government reduces the quantity of beer made out of Canadian barley and increases the quantity of whiskey made out of American corn.

11. They allow American oats to come into Canada free of duty, thereby lessening the price of every bushel raised by our farmers.

12. They allow American garden stuffs to come into Canada, while our own market gardeners find it impossible to sell their produce at a living price and are prevented by the Americans from sending anything to the States.

13. They allow American machinery, marble-works, waggons, buggies, parlor furniture, pianos, sofas, tables, lounge-frames, chairs, etc., etc., to come into Canada on a low tariff, while our own mechanics are walking the streets without employment.

14. They have gone back on every profession made when in opposition and find themselves "a Reform party without anything to Reform."

15. They are responsible to a great extent for the hard times and their policy, or rather want of policy, is tending to make the times tighter. Lachute Watchman.

Colonial Governorships.

Colonial Governorships, which for a long time were chiefly held by military officers, influential Irish ex-members of Parliament, etc., are evidently looking up, and likely to become prizes for a different order of men. New Zealand has a Marquis to govern it, and now Canada is to have a semi-royal occupant of its vice-regal throne Victoria, Australia, which is regarded as the blue ribbon of Australian governorships, will be expecting a very distinguished occupant for its next on the next vacancy. So far as climate is concerned, the Australian governorships are far preferable to the Canadian and Indian. Government House at Sydney, for example, is for eight months in the year about as delightful a residence as the world can produce—a spacious manor, sumptuously furnished, with its lovely gardens, sloping down to a harbor, admitted to be surpassed only by that of Rio. The Government House at Hobart Town, Tasmania, is an even finer abode—far too fine, in fact, for so poor a colony. It was built by convict labor during the time that the colony was a penal settlement.

The salary at Sydney is £7,000, that at Melbourne £10,000, but certain allowances bring the salary at the former very nearly up to the latter. The utmost that a governor in these two colonies can save if he maintain the style and hospitality expected is $8,000, that is out of his own salary; but no man is expected to trench on his private means, and besides Lord Dufferin, who has really been unnecessarily lavish, probably very few duties are done so. Lord Lorne's royal wife has a parliamentary grant of £6,000 a year, and she further had a sum down of $150,000; so that, apart from any allowance made him by his father, they will be amply able to maintain the dignity demanded. They have no children. The Indian governorships are much more valuable than the colonial, and admit of large savings. It is considered that a viceroy there can, without any difficulty, put by $250,000. After eighteen years' service colonial governors of first-class colonies receive $6,000 a year pension. This is the highest pension awarded to those in the service.—N. Y. Times.

New Use for Lemon Verbena.

The Scientific American says:—"The well known fragrant garden favorite, the sweet scented or lemon verbena (Lippia Citriodora) seems to have other qualities to reccomend it than those of the fragrance for which it is usually cultivated. The author of a recent work, entitled "Among the Spanish People," describes it as being systematically gathered in Spain, where it is regarded as a fine stomachic and cordial. It is used either in the form of a cold decoction, sweetened, or five or six leaves are put into a teacup, and hot tea poured upon them. The author says that the flavour of the tea thus prepared "is simply delicious, and no one who has drunk his Pekoe with it will ever again drink it without a sprig of lemon verbena," and he further states that if this be used one need "never suffer from flatulence, never be made nervous or old-maidish, never have cholera, diarrhea, or lose your appetite.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 14.

A PATRIOTIC ACTION.

In Richmond and Wolfe, the opposition to the present Government, met in convention and nominated Mr. Ives, of Sherbrook, a town in an adjoining county, as their candidate at the coming election. Objection was taken to this selection by a number of the electors on account of the residence of Mr. Ives being out of the county of Richmond and Wolfe; these objections culminated in Mr. W. E. Jones, of Richmond, announcing himself a candidate. Having thought better of it Mr. Jones has issued an address to the electors in which he says :—"I find that the great mass of "the Conservative party are ready to waive "the objection and support Mr. Ives, I "cannot therefore longer remain in the "field with the almost certain re-"sult of giving to Mr. Aylmer (the "Grit candidate) the victory at the "polls." He adds : "Mr. Ive's overwhelm-"ing success in the canvass he has made, "of which I have had satisfactory proofs, "leaves no doubt whatever of his election "provided the party be not divided. On "no account would I have resting upon "me the responsibility of risking the cause "to the vindication and triumph of which "I have devoted a long life of public work "and particularly with so able and sound "a man as Mr. Ives for the party candi-"date. I now devote myself to Mr. Ive's "cause—it is my own cause and yours; "and whatever I can personally do to assist "in securing his election will be done "cheerfully, and with all the vigor I can "command." This is the spirit which every man pretending to belong to the Conservative party, should display in the coming contest. No minor differences, nor personal feelings should interfere in a contest in which so much is at stake. Let every conservative elector take a leaf out of Mr. Jones's political book, and the result in Ontario will be success to the party, and ultimate prosperity to the Country.

THE TRUE ISSUE.

The Toronto Telegram one of the ablest, and certainly one of the most independent evening journals in Canada, treats the political issue now before the people in a manner that must be convincing to every reader. This honest expression of opinion, has brought down upon it the denunciation of such journals as the London Advertiser, whose canting whines are duly appreciated in Western Canada, and whose only and sole answer is "you've turned tory." This is the only stock in trade which these journals have. Argument is foreign to their thoughts, and to their columns. It were much better to reply to such arguments as are contained in the following article from the Telegram, than to howl "you're a tory."

"Mr. Mackenzie would make a first-rate departmental supervisor; he is hard-working, honest, and, energetic, but has never evinced the slightest evidence of statesman-like grasp, and is lacking in many of those essential qualities without which no man can hope to successfully hold the highest position in the bestowal of a country. A Premier in name only, he has done nothing to justify the electorate in returning him to power for another term. On the contrary, by persistently drawing a hard and fast line as his political guide —or allowing it to be drawn for him, which is much the same thing—he has stood by and seen a wave of commercial disaster wash over the country without raising a finger to arrest the great mischief it has wrought upon the people.

"No thinking man for a moment supposes that the Government is answerable for a commercial crisis, any more than it is answerable for a visitation of Asiatic cholera, cattle disease or epizootic.

But while not responsible for a visitation of cholera or the like, what would be thought of rulers who would steadily shut their eyes to the fact that it was decimating their people —who would refuse to pass sanity measures, who would allow infected persons to pass to and fro across their frontiers indifferently, and who would be deaf to all appeals from their stricken citizens, or would reply that legislation, in their belief, was useless, and decline moving in the matter? We fancy the country would utter no uncertain sound, but would speedily bring in a verdict that such men misunderstood their position and responsibilities, and were absolutely incompetent to be entrusted with the governing power. The practice of legislative tinkering is, without doubt, reprehensible and dangerous; but there are cases where a readjustment of legislation is not only judicious but positively essential. Canada has staggered, is yet staggering, under commercial cholera; her trade and manufactures are convulsed, the hands of her skilled mechanics are demoralized, and the promoters of the disease are allowed to stalk the country at will, without an effort to exclude them. Judicious legislation will remove much of the plague, will restore the wasted energies of the manufacturers, will give work to the unemployed, and consequently money to the idle storekeepers, will keep the best men in the country, and finally, by removing glaring inequalities of taxation and properly readjusting the tariff will benefit the whole people, without adding to the cost of living or otherwise making Canada that detestable land which the ultra-free traders would have us believe. It is upon this issue the country now stands. The people will speedily have an opportunity of deciding whether they will accept another term of incompetent do-nothingism and commercial stagnation, or statesmanship upon a broad and liberal basis, looking to the success of the country at large, and with a keen appreciation of how to seize and make the best of every opportunity offered. Protection, pure and simple, is not by any means the thing for this country, and those organs who advocated it are making a great mistake. But that protection which is implied in a skillful readjustment of the tariff is what Canada needs and what she will have."

THE "CAMPBELLS ARE COMING."—A Montreal paper says :—"Our Scotch citizens are becoming somewhat enthusiastic in making suggestions and propositions, with regrd ti the reception to be given to the new Governor General, the Marquis of Lorne, in which they desire to have a prominent part, in the honor of the house of Argyle. It has been proposed that the entire Campbell family in the Dominion unite in welcoming Lord Lorne and his Royal lady, and also that a regiment of Young Scotchmen be raised here to take part in the demonstrative reception.

The Ottawa Disturbance.

A despatch from Ottawa yesterday says:—"The excitement to-day is still great. Three Montreal Young Britons named Nelson, Goulds and Drysdale were walking down to the railway station wearing their colors when they were set upon and beaten. They took refuge in a hotel until the police could take them to a place of safety. A number of Britons and others were up at the Police Court this morning in connection with last night's work, but all were remanded. A great deal of bad feeling has been stirred up, and more trouble is anticipated. Several of the Montrealers are still here.

The Citizen gives the following as the wounded during the riot of Monday night as far as can be ascertained :

J. Marks, coachman for Mr. Gilmour, shot in the arm.

Gilbert Allere, Murray street, shot in the arm.

W. Taylor, shot in the head.

J. Borthwick, wounded in the arm.

P. C. Hugh McKenna, shot in the leg.

—— Giles, shot in the leg.

—— Kelly, skull injured by a stone.

R. O'Neil, shot in the leg.

P. Conway, beaten with a stick.

P. C. Mitchell, struck with a rock.

J. Larocque, cut over the right temple with a stone.

Mr. Williamson had a narrow escape, bullets passing through his hat.

Mr. W. Beddard, whilst removing Giles to Dr. Rouleau's surgery, had a bullet whistle past his ear in too close proximity to be pleasant.

P. C. Raine had a portion of his whiskers removed by a bullet.

Several other persons are reported injured, but their names are not as yet known.

With the exception of Kelly, who was this morning in a bad condition, none are supposed to be seriously wounded.

Thomas Birch, during the row on Sussex street, was shot in the forehead and had a narrow escape. He is able to be about to-day, however.

LATER.

OTTAWA, Aug 13.

Midnight.—No disturbance has as yet occurred. The Orangemen have dispersed but the Catholics, numbering over 3,000, are still on the streets in the vicinity of St. Patrick's Hall. One of the leaders having stated that it was their intention to march to Upper Town and demolish the residences of prominent Orangemen, Mayor Bangs ordered out the Foot Guards. They are under command of Col. Ross, and are now stationed at the head of Sussex-st. awaiting orders. Speeches were made by the Catholic leaders, some of whom counselled the crowd to act in an orderly manner, and not fight until they were attacked; others encouraging them to march through Upper Town and have revenge for last night's proceedings. These inflammatory speeches excited the crowd, and at one time it was thought the advice would be acted upon. A start was really made, but Messrs. Starrs and Lefebvre finally succeeded in making the crowd alter their determination. The Union men are all wearing handkerchiefs round their arms, and are armed with hardwood sticks. They intend remaining on the watch until five o'clock in the morning, a rumor having been set afloat that the Britons would burn down the Cathedral.

1 a. m.—Between twelve and one o'clock a prominent Orange leader named John Holt ventured down Sussex-street in the vicinity of the Revere House, but a short distance from where the Union men are stationed, when he was pounced upon by a mob and badly beaten. He escaped down Clarence-street, and was subsequently removed to the "Conqueror" station, where his wounds are being dressed. They are of a desperate character. The crowd shows no signs of dispersing.

Jottings by a Bellevillean.

WARM SPRINGS, BATH COUNTY, Virginia, Aug. 10, 1878.

Did you ever see a really fine looking nigger, jet black, standing 6 ft. 6 in., with a face shining with perspiration like Day & Martin's advertisement? 'Twas such a one that received me upon my arrival at Washington, and engaged to put me on the night train,—and as I greased his palm with a shilling, he contracted the muscles of his face to such an extent to express his delight, that I had to put up my umbrella, thinking it was raining. I never looked at a nigger after that while he was warm.

The country between Washington and the Rappahannock is the most desolate that eye ever rested on. The soil is red clay, and entirely free from stumps; the population black and of the most lazy class. Weeds of all descriptions grow rampant; no idea of cultivation seems to exist. The crops, "where there are any," remain in shocks till late in the fall, and even hay is left in the same state. There are no roads or fences; if you want to go anywhere, you take the shortest cut. They use no waggons, a sort of shove-boat answering the purpose. At the station you find 20 or 30 of these farmers with their saddle-horses tied to the fence, gaping at the train as it arrives; this is their only amusement. The rivers after a rain remind one of pea-soup colored with yellow ochre. After crossing the Rappahannock, something like improvement is visible; several wealthy planters have erected fine houses and commenced the cultivation of tobacco, for which I was informed the land was particularly adapted. But even here weeds predominate, and the thistle grows to a royal size. At Greenwood we commenced to ascend the Blue Ridge Mountains, so called from the peculiar blue haze that always overhangs them. The grade is seventy feet to the mile, and in twenty miles the highest point is reached and just after passing Staunton the view is truly magnificent, the blue atmosphere adding greatly to its beauty. The sides of the track are here covered with peach trees grown from stones thrown from the train. At Gordonville a good mountain drive is obtained and here I received my first introduction to fly brushes. The parlor cars on the road are very comfortable giving you an opportunity to see on all sides. Arriving at Millboro I soon took my seat in the Mountain coach fit for a small fortress and drawn by four horses—15 miles over the mountains, and it takes just six hours—on this road is passed the celebrated Blowing Cave (situated near the cow pasture)—a small hole in the rock by the side of the road about three feet square, and from which is emitted a sort of cold fog. The current is so strong that it moves the limbs of trees for a long distance; in winter this current is quite warm. As you cross the Warm Spring Mountain, at an elevation of 2,256 feet above the sea, the view is glorious in the extreme. Immediately in front of you is the setting suns, declining behind a mountain thirty miles off, the valley below is already in darkness, while behind you are the tips of the hills still lit up by the declining rays. Near this spot accesible only by a mountain path is the celebrated Flag Rock, 3,000 ft above the sea and 900 above the bed of the valley, used as a signal station during the war. The bed of the valley is reached by a winding road in a mile and a half, and the stage stops at the foot, the piazza of the Warm Springs Hotel, just after dark. This seems to be the centre of attractions as the guests crowd the balcony to see new comers. The Hotel proper is a very large building with two wings used as ball-room and dining-room respectively. There are two other large buildings containing bedrooms only, besides numerous cottages, each two rooms, for the use of families, invalids and bachelors. The whole estate comprises 1,000 acres and was purchased by the present owner, a Confederate officer eight years ago for $50,000. The buildings are situated in the bed of the valley with mountains 900 feet high on three sides. The ladies' bath is octagon in shape, fifty feet in diameter holding 60,000 gallons and can be made seven feet deep. The gents is the same shape forty feet in diameter holding 43,000 gallons. Small dressing rooms jut out on all sides and a platform the entire circuit inside; there is a cold bath attached, supplied from the mountains. The water is perfectly clear, of a bluish tint and the temperature is invariably 98°, this morning however, it was 102°. A large dome is open at the top for the escape of gas. The surface of the water is never quiet owing to its boiling up in every direction and the continual bursting of the bubbles of gas. It is very buoyant but hard work to swim in. A rope is stretched across the center for those who can not swim. No birds can live in the building or fish in the water, a snake put in will die in five minutes. The drinking water is made to separate from the baths and bubbles up in a marble well 4 feet deep and 30 inches in diameter, and is arranged in the centre of the summer house. The overflow from these three sources is 6,000 gallons (six thousand) per minute. The overflow from the gents' bath fills a square hole 6 inches in diameter. The stream caused thereby serves to run two flour mills two miles down the valley. Before it reaches here, however, the water gets quite cool. Ladies invariably bathe once a day about noon, the gents at all times. The heat plan, however, is to rise at 5, remain in the water one hour, and return to bed, and same before retiring at night. I find it does not do to exercise much in the water, but it is a favorite habit to exhaust the lungs, hold the nose and let the body sink quietly to the bottom, which is composed of small stones, being the natural bed. It would be an impossibility for one to fancy the extreme luxury of plunging head first into this cauldron of soft warm water without having experienced it. Oh, ye men that are troubled with rheumatism, torpid liver or dyspepsia, instead of holding your arms over our head to effect a cure why don't you come down here and get wound up. It certainly must relieve every disease that flesh is heir to. The water, hot as it is, is not at all unpleasant to drink, and has no visible effect upon the system. I take about 2 quarts a day; at present there are 200 guests a day, about 350 can be accommodated. There are two churches, telegraph, and post office. Fine trout fishing; deer, partridge, and quail are abundant in the mountains, as well as rattlesnaker. Fine sport is to be had stalking the bullocks of which three a week are killed. They are so wild that they have to be shot—there is no catching them. Nearly every other gentleman is a colonel or major or ex-confederate officer. I was delighted to find such admiration displayed for the Imperial Crown. Great delight is manifested at the appointment of the Marquis of Lorne, and several prominent ex-officers openly state that nothing short of Prince Alfred to reign over the Anglo-Saxon race of the South will suit them. People from the North never come here, it is too hot for them. The bitterness of feeling still exists, and will for another generation.

The weather for the last few days has been truly royal. At 12, noon, the thermometer generally stands at 79° in the balcony of the hotel, while at sunrise it goes as low as 62°. The highest reached during the heated term was 89°, so there is no danger of being melted.

It is next to impossible to move through this vast world without meeting old friends. The first gentleman I recognized here was my old and esteemed friend the Governor of North Carolina. He has aged somewhat since I last saw him, but he still retains that ruby nose, which looks like a bunch of strawberries, with a very ripe one on the top. He made many tender enquiries after his friends in Belleville, and desires his kind regards to David Brown. He intends paying you all a visit shortly, and superintending one of those little things himself. I only saw him three times while here, as he left next morning to join the Governor of South Carolina, who is at the White Sulphur. He promised to see us often if I would join him there. The nigger that is writing for me remarks that the pens don't spell well here, they get so corroded with sulphur, and that the only way to avoid it is to lay them in a dictionary. So, E. & O. E., I remain,

Yours truly,
JOHNNY GINGER.

THE BUTTER MARKET.—The shipments of butter from New York to Great Britain last year were considered enormous and unprecedented, but this season they are still greater, having already increased to half as much more. From the above city to British ports since May 1st up to date there were forwarded 459,426 packages containing 7,776,340 lbs, against 352,109 packages, weighing 5,091,474 lbs for the same period last year, showing the immense increase for the present season of 107,317 packages, or 2,685,866 lbs. Last year exporters paid in New York from 14 to 18c, whilst this year the bulk of their business has been done upon a basis of from 10c. to 13c.

City and Vicinity.

CHEAP EXCURSION.—The steamer Kincardine will make an excursion to Trenton to-morrow afternoon leaving Campbell & Co's dock at three o'clock sharp, and returning at an early hour in the evening. Fare 25 cents.

Remember the "social" at the residence of Rev. Mr. Lambly, on Charles Street, to-morrow evening. It.

BOTTLE FOUND IN THE LAKE.—The Kingston News says :—"Yesterday a closely sealed bottle was found in the water at Purdy's Wharf, Simcoe Island. On being opened a paper was found containing the following words : "On board Sybil. All hands lost. August 2. Off Docks." We could gain no information respecting a vessel of that name being missing. The paper is badly stained, and the writing is in pencil.

S. S. PARLIAMENT.—The excursion on Saturday will be a grand success. The Committee are straining every nerve to make the arrangements perfect and to provide every accommodation for the comfort and convenience of the friends who are going. The ladies will have the upper part of the boat at night. The gentlemen will also be well provided for. Tickets are in great demand, but only a limited number will be sold. It will be seen by advertisement that the boat will stop at Northport and Bath, as well as all the other ports.

MR. STEWART'S GREAT WORK.—It is not generally known, perhaps, that during the stay of our esteemed Governor-General in Canada, he has given to the various Societies, Religious Institutions and Educational Establishments of the country upwards of five hundred beautiful medals in gold, silver and bronze. We have much pleasure in announcing that Mr. George Stewart Jr.'s great work "Canada under the Administration of Lord Dufferin," will contain a complete list of these medals with the names of the parties who have received them, the object for which they were given, and the various dates of issue. This will add largely to the interest of Mr. Stewart's book, which we learn is being eagerly subscribed for.

ELOPEMENT.—Kingston papers contain an account of an elopement of a married man named Fowler of Alexandria Bay, with a Miss Millar, a very attractive young woman, and both moving in the best circles. Fowler in order to make the course easier for him had sent his wife and child away to some friends, and hired a steam yacht to carry him to Kingston. There he purchased tickets to Toronto by railway and employed a cab to take him to Collinsby station. The girl's father was not long behind. With the assistance of detectives, he traced them to a house in Collinsby, where the guilty pair were found in bed. After some parleying an interview was held between the father and daughter which is described as most affecting. The daughter returned home with her father, while Fowler took a celebrated philosopher's advice and went west.

LACROSSE.—The Kingston News give the following account of the Lacrosse Match, played in Kingston, on the 12th, between the Okas of this City and the Kingston Club. Both teams were on the ground shortly after three o'clock. Their names are as follows : Oka—Field Captain, C. Boulter ; goal, W. Drewry ; point, J. Taylor ; cover point, J. Garratt ; defence, A. Way and A. Coleman ; centre, E. Breeze ; field, E. Benjamin and E. Gillen ; home, G. Taylor, C. Hewley, A. Fenton and C. Sherwood. Kingston—Field Captain, Pierce Browne ; goal, J. McCummon ; point, J. Anglin ; cover point, F. Rigney ; defence, J. Conway and W. Bajus ; centre, E. J. B. Pence ; field, A. E. M. Lacombe, and G. Gifford ; home, W. Renton, J. McDonald, J. Falconer and R. J. Eilbeck. The umpires were : For Okas, H. McKinnon and F. Holden. For Kingston, Thos. Sullivan and J. Scott. Referee, W. Corley, of Montreal. The Belleville men were much the lightest, and looked like boys beside their opponents. Their play, however, was very good, and much admired. The first game was started at seven minutes to four, and from the start the home men seemed to have the best of it, as the ball was kept down to the strangers' goal for the most of the game. After twenty-eight minutes of pretty lively play, the cheers of the Kingston men announced that one game had been scored for them. After about fifteen minutes' rest, the ball was again faced for the second game which was very short but not very sweet for the Belleville Boys, as in half a minute the ball went flying through their goal. The third game was started without loss of time and at first it looked as if it were going to be as short as the last, but a long throw by one of the Okas sent the rubber flying up the field and the Kingston goal was in peril : but only for a short time, as the ball took another turn and after several unsuccessful attempts McDonald for the third time sent the ball through the goals thus winning the match for Kingston. The referee and umpires gave entire satisfaction, not a single fault being found.

EXCURSION FROM NAPANEE.—An excursion party under the auspices of the English Church, Napanee, visited Massassaga Point to-day. The steamer Kincardine was engaged for the occasion.

ONTARIO TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.—The annual Convention of the Teachers Association of Ontario assembled at Toronto on the 13th inst. Inspectors Johnston and McIntosh of this county, as well as a number of Teachers from Belleville are present.

ORANGE DEMONSTRATION.—The Orangemen of Kingston had a grand turnout on their civic holiday, the anniversary of the relief of Derry. The procession was a large one. During the day the corner stone of an Orange Hall at Portsmouth, was laid with appropriate ceremonies. In the evening there was a torch-light procession by the Young Britons.

Accident to a Freight Train.

ELEVEN GREAT WESTERN CARS DOWN AN EMBANKMENT.

SIMCOE, Aug. 13.—A serious accident occurred on the Loop Line of the Great Western Railway about 12:30 this morning. As No. 24 freight going east was approaching the long bridge about one mile west of the station the axle of a car gave way. The train fortunately kept safely on the track until the bridge was passed, but immediately after passing, eleven cars heavily laden with grain, flour, bacon and lard, were precipitated down the embankment into a ditch, a distance of ten feet. They were shattered to atoms. Large quantities of freight were strewed in the utmost confusion around the scene of the disaster The trainmen had a narrow escape. Fortunately no one was injured. The road was completely blocked up, and traffic was suspended until about 2:30 p. m. Passenger trains were not suspended, trains being run east and west to the ruins, and passengers transferred with very little inconvenience.

The Largest Wheat Crop Ever Threshed in Ontario.

The London Free Press takes a very hopeful view of the Ontario wheat crop, which appears to be based upon actual facts. That authority says :—"Out of numerous cases we have heard of is Mr. Reuben Hamley, 3rd concession of Lobo, who yesterday threshed off 2½ acres 106, nearly 50 bushels per acre. The variety was Seneca or Chawson ; 20 acres yielded 840 bushels. Mr. G. Edwards, on the same road, and similar average land, threshed 444 bushels from 12 acres ; the adjoining farm, Mr. D. Mckenzie, threshed 35 bushels per acre. We give these as only average yields. Mr. George Dickey, near the above-named farm, expects from 51 acres 2,000 bushels. Dr. Hanson, on the opposite of the road, has 700 bushels. With similar yields all over Ontario, it will be the largest crop ever raised in Canada. Such yields are not confined to any particular locality in Ontario, but we can safely say will extend all over. The average yield this year will be 25 bushels per acre, and this is higher in the average than any state in the American Union for the last 10 years. The number of bushels of wheat raised in Ontario this year will be nearly 50 per cent. more than has been given credit for in any report we have seen. The real test of a crop is from the thresher's bushels."

A Chain of Fortresses.

A contemporary recalls the fact that when in 1876, Disraeli was advocating the passage of the Bill making Queen Victoria Empress of India, he spoke of the day when "a chain of fortresses would blind the Ganges to the thames." A little while ago Cyprus was added to that chain, and now the cable brings the news that the island of Socotra in the Indian ocean has become an integral portion of the empire. Socotra is a bold, picturesque island, equal in area to the State of Rhode Island, containing mountains which tower to the height of 5,000 feet above the tropical seas which surround it. It lies 100 miles to the eastward of Aden, another British station, at the mouth of the Red Sea, and, like the latter, occupies a commanding position in the track of the vessels going from Bombay to Suez. It contains but a few thousand inhabitants. The English Government contemplated its occupation as early as 1834, and even went so far as to land troops there, but subsequently abandoned it for Aden. Now, however, they have taken possession in earnest. Socotra was originally colonized by the soldiers of Alexander the Great, and is famed as having been the scene of Francois Xavier's missionary labors in 1525.

—Samuel Adams was run over by a train at Georgetown, on the 13th inst., and killed.

—The Porte has decided upon certain tariff changes involving an increase of import duties on salt, tobacco, and spirits to the full extent permitted by its treaties of commerce.

—After leaving Danville on Monday the Governor-General and his party visited Richmond and Sherbrooke, and yesterday were driven to Lennoxville, returning to Sherbrooke in the afternoon.

—The prolongation of the Russian opposition to the Austrian occupation is now regarded impossible, and consequently the Porte has appointed Mehemet Ali as his Commissioner in the occupied provinces, charged with the duty of tranquilizing popular feeling.

—The Russians will evacuate Adrianople six weeks hence, and Erzeroum and Bayazid upon the withdrawal of the British fleet from the Sea of Marmora. The Czar and the German Governments are both urging the Porte to evacuate Batoum, but the inhabitants of that place are still as hostile as ever to the idea of the Russian occupation, and express their determination to resist it under cover of the British flag.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The delegates elect of the workingmen's party to a constitutional convention have been drawn up and forwarded to the President and Secretary of the State Memorial, setting forth the evils of the Chinese emigration, and requesting the President and Secretary to take immediate steps to obtain abrogation of the Burlingame Treaty.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—It was the steamer Providence of the Stonington and Providence line that ran-down the stone scow yesterday by which three children were drowned, Capt. Roth's wife was saved from drowning only by being cut out from under the overturned scow.

Arrived, the Greece from London.

Gen. Butler in an interview here last night said he was not a deserter from the Republican party, that he occupied a position on the money question as in '69 but he had left the Republican party without being any nearer to the Democratic party. He says of Kearney that he is not endorsed by him, that he did not send for Kearney or pay his expenses, that he had nothing whatever to do with Kearney.

POKKEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 14.—John H. Raymond, President Vassar College, died at 2:30 this morning.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE IN ASIA.

In the House of Commons to-night Mr. Bourke, Under Secretary for the Foreign Department, in reply to an interrogation stated that it was impossible for the Government to say where the Russian forces in Central Asia were stationed. The Government was quite willing to take the responsibility of sending a mission to Cabul, as it could not regard with indifference what had been passing in Central Asia during the last two months.

Sir Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer, also pointed out that it was always understood that England had a greater interest in Afghanistan than had Russia, and was therefore bound to send thither a mission of equal weight and influence with that of Russia.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A despatch from Rome says : No special convention will be concluded between Germany and Vatican. Declarations will only be exchanged. No mention made of May laws. Masella is expected to arrive here in a few days, from Kissingen.

VIENNA, Aug. 14.—Two divisions of Austrian corps entered Serrejeva, on Thursday, the inhabitants gave notice of their submission. Gen. Szapary's check before Tuzladue was owing to the numerical superiority of Insurgents. The Austrians spiked two of their own guns. The engagements with the Insurgents are very obstinate.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Thomas Forbes, the alleged forger remanded for a week, bail refused.

SARATOGA, Aug. 14.—First race for a purse of $300, one mile, "Joe" had a head start when the flag fell and kept it, winning in 1.46½. Virginius second and Zoo-Zoo third. Second race for a purse of $400 one mile and five furlongs, won by Danicheff time 2.55½.

RAGUSA, Aug. 14.—Austrians occupied Ljubinje, Herzegovina. 5,000 insurgents at Plandola, south of Ljubinje and another body near Bilek. 6,000 Turkish troops embarked for Valonollania yesterday on board 3 Austrian steamers escorted by two Austrian frigates.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 14.—The boiler of a portable saw mill, Bloomfield, O., exploded, killing two men, fatally scalding one and seriously injuring one.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The 18th of September is fixed for the distribution of awards.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each VILLAGE, Town and Township in the County, with the name of each street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this list of the value of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work; as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

CORN BREAD.

Two cups Indian meal, one cup wheat,
One cup sour milk, one cup sweet,
One cup of molasses, that you will beat.
Half a cup molasses too,
Half a cup sugar add thereto;
With one spoon of butter new.
Salt and soda each a spoon;
Mix up quickly and bake it soon;
Then you'll have cornbread complete,
Best of all wet bread you meet.
It will make your boy's eyes shine,
If he is like that boy of mine;
It you have a dozen boys,
To increase your household joys,
Double these rule I divide,
And you'll have two cornbreads good.
When you've nothing nice for tea,
This very thing will be.
All the men that I have seen
Say it is, of all cakes, queen;
Good enough for any king
That a husband home can bring;
Warming up the human stove,
Cheering up the hearts you love;
And only Tyndall can explain
The links between corn bread and brain.
Get a husband what he likes,
And save a hundred household strifes.

LYDIA M. MILLARD.

Sidney Township Council.

TOWN HALL, SIDNEY, 5th Aug., 1878.

Council met agreeable to adjournment; members all present.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Mr. Tompkins presented the petition of Henry Tucker and others, asking the Council to place Francis Huie on the pauper's list again.—Granted.

Mr. Tompkins presented the petition of the Trustees of School Section No. 11, Frankford, asking the Council to levy and collect the School taxes for 1878.—Granted.

Mr. Grass presented the petition of Elijah Ketcheson and others, asking the Council for a grant on the boat No. 6, in the 1st concession. —Laid over until next meeting.

Moved by Mr. Tompkins, seconded by Mr. Blanchard, that Mr. Sweetman be heard in reference to error supposed to be the School map.—Laid over until the November meeting.

Moved by Mr. Vandervoot, seconded by Mr. Tompkins, that $10 be granted to Road beat No. 9, in the 5th con., to repair the approach to Lucas's bridge, and that Mr. McClatchie be authorised to expend the money.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

Council resumed.

Moved by Mr. Vandervoot, seconded by Mr. Glass, that Mr. G. S. Vanderwaters be heard in reference to damage in 1st and 2nd con.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Glass, seconded by Mr. Tompkins, that the Clerk notify the Collector, Mr. R. S. Young, to present his bonds for the inspection of the Council.—Carried.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid: Thomas Foster, repairing bridge, $3.70; funeral expenses of Samuel Barber, pauper, $8; Bowell and Hutcheson, stationery, for Court of Revision, $3.95.

Mr. Prower, Treasurer, presented his half yearly financial report which was received and filed.

Mr. Vandervoot gave notice that he would at the next meeting introduce an amendment to By-law No. 221 and also to By-law No. 219.

The Clerk informed the Council that the registration of births, marriages and deaths, in the Township was neglected and that he had received positive instructions from the Government to enforce the Act.

Council adjourned until first Monday in September.

Attempts on the Lives of Royal Personages.

One of the Paris papers gives the following catalogue of attempts on the lives of royal personages and rulers during the last 30 years.

The Duke of Modena attacked in 1848.

The Prince of Prussia (now the Emperor William) at Minden, in June 1848.

The late King of Prussia, in 1850.

Queen Victoria, (by an ex-lieutenant) in 1852.

An infernal machine discovered at Marseilla on Napoleon III's visit in 1852.

The Austrian Emperor slightly wounded by the Hungarian Libenyer, in 1853.

Attack on King Victor Emmanuel in 1853.

Attack on Napoleon III. opposite the Opera Comique, in 1853.

The Duke of Parma mortally stabbed in 1854.

Napoleon III. fired at by Pianori in the Champ Elysees in 1855.

A policemen seized Fuentes when about to fire at Queen Isabella in 1855.

Milano, a soldier, stabbed King Ferdinand of Naples in 1856.

Three Italians from London were convicted of conspiracy against Napoleon III. in 1857.

The King of Prussia twice fired at but not hit, by the student Beker, at Baden, in 1861.

Queen of Greece shot at by the student Bruisco, in 1862.

Three Italians from London were arrested for conspiring against Napoleon III. in 1872.

President Lincoln assassinated in 1865.

The Czar attacked at St. Petersburg in 1866 and at Paris in 1867.

Prince Michael of Servia assassinated in 1868.

King Amadeus of Spain attacked in 1871.

President of Peru assassinated in 1873.

President of Ecuador assassinated in 1875.

President of Paraguay assassinated in 1877.

Two attempts on the life of the German Emperor in 1878.

Disraeli's Early Resolve.

"I remember him well," says a writer in the Cincinnati Commercial, "when I was a young man full of the same ambition as had animated himself twenty years before I met him. I was a member of the Literary and Scientific Institute in Aldersgate street, London, in 1844, and it was customary to hold semi-annual meetings, that were presided over by rising eminent men. I happened to be appointed a member of the committee deputed to wait on Mr. Disraeli, at his house in Park Lane, Piccadilly, to ask him to preside at out semi-annual meeting. We did so, and were received by him and Mrs. Disraeli—the late Countess of Beaconsfield—whom he had recently married. Of course we were received elegantly, and my friend Parry being considered the best looking and the best qualified to address the rising statesman, he requested Disraeli to preside over the semi-annual meeting of the Institute, and stated that the members would be greatly indebted to him for any suggestions for its advancement. I shall never forget the extraordinary look Disraeli gave Parry. With an eye that looked from out the soul, with a Mephistophelian that has marked his subsequent career, he said to Mr. Parry: 'I will have the honor to preside over your meeting, and Mrs. Disraeli will be present; but by the way, I happened to be in the court of common pleas yesterday, and heard your eloquent defense. If I should ever have any influence command me.' He afterward made Parry a sergeant at law. Mr. and Mrs. Disraeli attended our meeting, and he made an eloquent address. The most extraordinary expression he made was: 'Man can be what he pleases; every one of you can be exactly what he designs to be. I have resolved to hold a certain position, and, if I live, I will.'"

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your nervousness; your indecision and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Hiron's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

MORTGAGE SALE
OF
VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at the hour of twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lott number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot number Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage.

To the Electors OF WEST HASTINGS.

HAVING heard a rumour on the streets that it is not my intention to contest the Riding again for Parliamentary honors, I beg to state that such rumour is not correct. I am at the disposal of my friends, and if they desire it, I am quite willing again to solicit the suffrages of my friends and supporters, and all those who feel satisfied with my course as their representative at Ottawa during the past eleven years.

I am, your obed't serv't,

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Don't who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

An proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

Daily Intelligencer.

Robert Bramleigh's Will.

Last will and testament! Words of solemn import—and of unreasonable terror for some people. How foolish and even culpable it is to leave a matter of so much importance to the last hours of life, when the strong intellect must be incapable of fully considering and well weighing the final disposition of our worldly goods and effects—a disposition which is to affect the welfare and perhaps the happiness of those we love best.

Most people have heard the well-worn aphorism which tells us that a man who is his own lawyer has a fool for his client. In the incident I am about to relate, woman—I suppose the aphorism applies to either sex—proves the contrary. It is the exception, however, that proves the rule. Had she remained her own lawyer, instead of confiding to the probability is that she would have succeeded in her designs upon a large fortune, designs which I happily succeeded in frustrating.

It had been a busy day with me. I had been working hard getting up evidence in a railway accident case, and was putting up my papers with a sigh of relief. Another forty minutes and I should be at home. I could almost smell the boiled cauliflower and oyster sauce which I knew were being prepared for me. "There's many a slip 'twixt cup and lip," says the proverb; and in my case it proved only too true; for just as I was tying up the last bundle of papers, the office-boy put his head in at the door and dispelled the tempting vision.

"A woman to see you, if you please, sir. She won't give no name. Says she's a stranger."

"A stranger!" I repeated. "What is she like? Is she a common person?"

"Not exactly, sir," replied the lad.

"A lady?" I asked.

"O no, sir."

"What is she, then?"

Arthur was a droll lad. I had brought him to London from the country, to clean an old college friend. I am afraid that he was of not much use in the office, but he used to keep the other clerks in a good temper by his amusing ways and dry remarks.

Arthur paused, as if considering, and then, with a look of intelligence, he answered, "Well, sir, she's a sort of betwixt and between."

"Not a bad definition, Arthur. Ask the 'betwixt and between' upstairs."

A tall, middle-aged woman entered and took the seat I placed for her. She appeared to belong to the class Arthur had so happily designated as "betwixt and between"—a person, rather than a lady. I rather pride myself on my power of reading faces, but I confess that hers puzzled me. It was absolutely void of expression. The features were hard and immovable, as if carved out of stone. She wore a closely-fitting bonnet, under which the gray hair was neatly brushed in two bands. And I generally form my opinion of any one's character from the expression of the eyes and mouth; but here I was at fault. An ugly scar on the left cheek extending across the lips, distorting the mouth, and the eye on the same side was sightless. I always feel at a disadvantage with one-eyed people; I never know what they are looking at. It is so hard to fathom their thoughts.

My visitor removed her gloves and carefully smoothing them, placed them on the table beside her. She then produced from her pocket a large foolscap envelope, from which she drew a piece of paper folded long ways. This she handed to me, explaining, in a hard monotonous voice, that she had been sent to me by her master, Mr. Robert Bramleigh, of Hannah Churton, who was dangerously ill—in fact not expected to live many hours. The papers, she said, had been written, by his direction, and signed by him for his will that afternoon. Fearing less it should not be in a proper form, he had desired her to take it to the nearest lawyer, and have one prepared according to law.

I unfolded the paper, and read as follows:

"In the name of God, Amen. I leave my body to the ground and my soul to God Almighty who gave it. Now this is the will of me, Robert Bramleigh, of 559 Coleman street. I give and leave all my houses, lands, money and everything that I have, to Hannah Churton, my housekeeper, as a reward for her long and faithful services. Signed by me on Tuesday, December 12, 1878. ROBERT BRAMLEIGH.

Witnesses:
JAMES DUNN.
MARGARET SIMS."

I examined the writing carefully. The signature. "Robert Bramleigh" was weak and shaky. The will itself was written in a masculine-looking hand of singular decision and boldness. The characters were large and well formed.

The will had evidently been prepared by some one who had but an imperfect knowledge of the form to be used for such a purpose. The solemn appeal to the Deity and the bequest of the testator's body and soul was an old form, much in vogue with our grandfathers, who generally headed a will with one or two pious phrases.

The document shown to me was, however, sufficient to give Hannah Churton all Mr. Bramleigh's property, if there were the requisite number of witnesses, and the principal registry of her majesty's court of probate would have granted letters of administration with the will annexed, on one of the attesting witnesses making an affidavit that the will had been executed by the testator in the presence of himself and the other attesting witness, and that they had, at the same time, subscribed their names thereto as witnesses.

Now I am always very particular about wills; I think they are too anxious to be settled in a hurry. I never will allow a client to execute one until I am convinced that it is perfectly understood.

"You are Mrs. Churton, I presume?" I asked.

"I am," she replied, looking me unflinchingly in the face. Somehow I felt suspicious that things were not as fair as they should be. I questioned her rather closely; but the only admission I obtained from her was that she had written the will, but that it was at her master's dictation. I asked her if he had any family, but could get nothing from her save that he did not care to have his private affairs discussed by strangers. I offered to prepare a more formal document; but before doing so, I declared that it was necessary I should see Mr. Bramleigh. I named the omission of the appointment of an executor. This seemed rather to nonplus her. She asked whether she could not be named as executrix. The more aversion she showed to my seeing her master, the more convinced I felt that something was wrong; and seeing that I was not to be moved from my purpose, she at last gave in,—proposing, however, that I should accompany her back, as she greatly feared it would be too late if left till morning.

A cab soon took us to No. 559 Coleman street. It was a large, gloomy, old-fashioned house with a spacious entrance hall. I was taken into the dining room and asked to wait while Mr. Bramleigh was being prepared for my visit. The furniture in the room was old and very massive. Some handsome oil paintings graced the walls. I am very fond of pictures, so, raising the lamp, I walked round the room slowly inspecting them. On the right of the fire-place I came upon a picture with its face turned towards the wall. I think I must have the bump of inquisitiveness—if there is any such bump—largely developed, for anything approaching mystery is sure to raise my curiosity. I turned the picture. It was the portrait in oil of a young and very beautiful girl in a park riding habit. Hearing footsteps outside the door, I returned the picture to the position in which I found it, and as I did so I saw written at the bottom of the frame "Magdalen Bramleigh."

The footsteps I had heard were those of the housemaid who had come to announce that Mr. Bramleigh was ready to see me. I followed her upstairs, and was ushered into a large, comfortable-looking bed-room. A cheerful fire burned bright in the grate. Facing it was a large four-post bedstead hung with white curtains, and at the head of the bed Mrs. Churton was standing, with a small table in front of her, on which were placed an inkstand and some paper. She pulled back the curtain, and I saw an old man propped up by pillows, his face drawn and the eyes very much sunk. I almost feared that he was too far gone to make a will; but after speaking with him for a little time, I felt satisfied that the intellect was quite clear.

Turning to Mrs. Churton, I told her that she need not wait; I would ring if I wanted anything.

"Yes, go—go, Hannah!" cried the sick man; and I fancied I could detect an eagerness in his voice, as if he desired her absence rather that her presence. As Mrs. Churton left the room I caught sight of the reflection of her face in the glass over the chimney-piece, but I do not think she would have scowled quite so much had she known that I was looking. I began by asking Mr. Bramleigh what were his wishes with regard to his will. In low tones he told me that he desired to leave everything to Hannah Churton, his housekeeper as a reward for her long and faithful services. I will not tire the reader by repeating the whole of our conversation. After great difficulty I extracted from him that he had no relatives save an only daughter; whom he had discarded, her fault being she had married a young fellow in the army to whom her father had taken an unaccountable aversion. My own opinion was—and it proved to be correct—that his mind had been poisoned against him by Hannah Churton, whose influence over her master was great. I thought of the sweet face of the portrait I had seen in the dining-room—doubtless that of the discarded daughter—and I determined to fight a battle on her behalf.

I spoke gravely to the old man, and at last got him to confess he had no intention of making his housekeeper his sole heiress until she herself had broached the subject to him. Her plan had been to artfully insinuate that the fate of the newly-married couple would not last very long on a lieutenant's pay, and that as he had only married Miss Bramleigh for her money, he would soon tire of her when he found that she had nothing. She had then pledged herself to procure a separation, when she would make over everything left her by Mr. Bramleigh, to his daughter. She certainly must have had great power over the old man to induce him to agree to such a scheme. I proposed to Mr. Bramleigh that he should leave his property to some one on whom he could rely, in trust for his daughter. I also volunteered my services as trustee for this purpose. My arguments prevailed. He assented, and I prepared a will accordingly, the old man requesting that his medical man, Dr. Ramsay, should be nominated as my co-trustee, and that an annuity of fifty pounds should be paid to Hannah Churton for life. I inwardly rebelled against this. My dislike to this woman was now so great that I could cheerfully have seen her cut out of the will without a farthing. My doctor arrived just as I had finished, and expressed his willingness to share the responsibility with me. Our names were therefore included as trustees.

[Concluded to-morrow.]

Aged Authors.

(From the New York Times.)

The life of William Cullant Bryant, prolonged until he was nearly eighty-four, has directed attention to the fact—for it seems to be a fact—that the pursuit of literature is favorable to longevity. Any positive opinion, however has widely prevailed, owing, no doubt, to the early death of poets like Chatterton, Keats, Kirk, White, Byron and Musset. Our most distinguished authors are well on in years. Lowell is almost sixty; Park Goodwin is sixty-two; Holmes is close to sixty-nine; Whittier is seventy; Longfellow, seventy one; Calvert, (George Henry), seventy-five; Emerson, seventy-five; George Ripley, seventy-six; Bancroft, seventy-eight; Hermon Melville, nearly eighty; Shelton Mackenzie, seventy; Higginson, fifty-five; Parton, fifty-six; Walt Whitman, fifty-nine; Lydia Maria Child, sixty-six; Julia Ward Howe, fifty-nine; Harriet Beecher Stowe, sixty-six, not to mention Gail Hamilton, who is popularly supposed to be 215. Among the literary Britons are John Ruskin, in his sixtieth year; Charles Reade, over sixty-four; Wilkie Collins, fifty-four; Robert Browning, sixty-six; Tennyson, sixty-nine; Carlyle, eighty-three; George Eliot, fifty-eight; Coventry Patmore, sixty-five; James Martineaux, seventy-three; and George H. Lowes, sixty-one. While among the literary scientific men, Darwin is sixty-nine; Huxley, sixty-three; Tyndall fifty-eight, and Carpenter, sixty-six. Jules Sandeau is sixty-seven; Arsene Houssaye, sixty-three; Emil Augier, fifty-eight; Cherbuliez, fifty-six; Feuillet, fifty-six; and most of the Frenchmen who have achieved a name from fifty-five to sixty-three. Turgeniff, the Russian novelist, is sixty; Berthold Auerbach, the popular German author of "Village Tales of the Black Forest," is sixty-six. We might go on all over Europe, and show the preservative power of professional exercise in ink. Authors have generally lived far beyond the average in all countries, unless, as in the case of Byron and Musset, they have grossly abused themselves by excesses. As a rule, in consequence of sedentary habits and extraordinary use of the brain, they do not have robust health; but they take care of such health as they have—indeed, they are obliged to in order to accomplish their tasks. Their longevity springs from temperance and sobriety. Now-a-days men of great vanity and moderate talent are dissipated and prodigate; but men of remarkable parts are likely to work hard and have good habits, without which, in truth, hard work is impossible.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its horrid effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 15.

Further Developments of Gritism.

Some days since the Halifax Herald contained a letter signed "Qui Vive," accusing E. P. Flynn, Esq., the present Member for the County of Richmond, Nova Scotia, with having made a corrupt bargain in reference to a Collectorship which he obtained for his son. Mr. Flynn denied the truth of the statement, and at the same time attributed the letter making the charge to Senator Miller, of that Province. Mr. Miller retorts after the following style :

"I need not say to you [the Editor] that I am not the writer of the letter signed 'Qui Vive,' nor did I directly or indirectly inspire it. But why should Mr. Flynn accuse me of being the writer of that letter? It is because he knows that I know the charge respecting the sale of the Collectorship to his son, to be true; and I dare him to go into the witness box in a Court of Justice and deny it. Yours respectfully,

"WILLIAM MILLER."

We very much fear that people will begin to believe, ere long, that Senator Simpson told the truth when he made his famous statement relative to the members from the Maritime Provinces, particularly those who support the present Government.

It is not long since we had affidavits published to the world that Dr. Borden, of Kings, had sold his influence for $100 a year for obtaining a Post Office for a friend. Truly they are the "Party of Purity !"

Now we have yet another case showing the manner in which this purity cry has been carried out in practice.

At the last general election, three Candidates contested the County of Kent, in the Province of New Brunswick, Mr. McLeod, Mr. Renaud, and Mr. Cutler. Mr. McLeod succeeded in getting a majority of ballots placed in the ballot-box, in fact so many that when counted it was found that there were more votes cast than there were electors in the county. The election was protested on the part of the defeated candidates ; but to the surprise of most people who knew the facts, the case was dropped and Mr. McLeod allowed to retain his seat. Now the facts are being brought to light, Mr. McLeod is again a candidate, and he is opposed in the interest of purity of elections and the Mackenzie Government, by a Mr. O'Leary a former friend and ally of his in grit corruption, who to defeat Mr McLeod, has poached. The St. John Freeman, Mr. Anglin's paper, says :—

"The Moniteur Acadian reports that at a meeting lately held in Kent Mr. O'Leary stated that at or after the last general election Mr. McLeod paid through him, Mr. O'Leary, $1,000 to Mr. Cutler, and $1,200 to Mr. Giroaurt for Mr. Renaud. This naturally caused much surprise. It will no doubt have much affect on the prospects of some of the candidates who are now canvassing that County."

This Mr. McLeod it must be borne in mind, was one of those who received pap in contravention of the Independence of Parliament Act, to such an extent that he did not dare continue to sit during the last session of Parliament. Is it any wonder when men spend money after this fashion that they take the first opportunity to get it back out of the public treasury ? Yes, " Mr. McLeod was a gentleman who could " not support Sir John Macdonald's Party " because it was 'corrupt.' It was so awful corrupt it was no place for him. He " embraced ' Reform principles ' and the " ' Reform ' Party with an ardor born of " the noblest sentiments and his soul sick- " ened at the thought of the people elect- " ing corrupt men to Parliament. People " believed him."

In addition to this $1,000 from Mr. McLeod, the Government added its " mite " to replenish the pockets of Cutler, for Mr. Mackenzie appointed, no doubt as a part of the bargain, this gentleman to an office in the Inland Revenue (with nothing to do) and Inspector of Weights and Measures.

" There is, however," says the Moncton Times, " a humorous side to the Mc- " Leod-Cutler arrangement which Mr. " O'Leary, if he knew of it, has failed to " tell. It is understood that although Mr. " Cutler sold himself he did not receive the " reward of his shame. Mr. McLeod, it " appears, made a note of hand for $1,000 " for Mr. Cutler's benefit ; it was handed " to Mr. O'Leary, who handed it to a third " person, who in due course presented it to " Mr. McLeod,—who laughed at him ! " The note was never paid. The transac- " tion was undoubtedly criminal in prin- " ciple and Mr. McLeod knew it and enter- " tained the easy confidence that it would " never be sued and the transaction thus " made public ". This may be considered the " humorous side" of the question, if so it only disproves the old adage that there is " honor among rogues;" for here we find that Mr. McLeod was not only willing to defraud the electors out of their rights, but to turn round and cheat his accomplice in the fraud. " This affair " may be put down as a beautiful and sug- " gestive specimen of the political morals " of some of the men—we may say repre- " sentative men—who have been bull- " dozing the constituencies in the name of " Purity and Reform—who while con- " demning Sir John A. Macdonald for " 'fighting fire with fire,' for meeting " money with money, were up to the el- " bows in hundreds of acts of political cor- " ruption and profligacy. They are, how- " ever valiant standard bearers and great " patriots and their history is now being " given from their own lips."

THE CHEESE MARKET.—There was a better feeling in the Little Falls (N. Y.) Cheese Market on Monday. The market was firmer, and on all advance in rates. Over 100 factories were represented, and the offerings of factory cheese exceeded 12,000 boxes, and sold for 7c. to 8 18c. for extremes, 8c. being the leading, and 7c. to 7 78c. the average. The market was brisker and prices higher.

Political Notes.

NO ROOM FOR IMMIGRANTS.—Nearly two thousand more immigrants arrived at the port of New York in June, 1878 than in June, 1877. This increase shows that the United States are still attractive to the people of Europe, nowithstanding what the Grits tell us about the ruinous policy of Protection. Probably these immigrants will all be at work very soon manufacturing goods for the Canadian trade. At the same time our people want no more immigrants here, because there is no room for them.

The Madrid Bureau of Trade, in a circular relating to the adoption of a Protective tariff by Spain, says :—" Our country is already beginning to feel the effects of our readjusted tariff. New industries are springing up on every hand, and the revenue is buoyant." Canada meanwhile sticks to the policy of the Sandwich Islands and other cheap countries to live in.

After many years' experience of the Grit party Mr. Robert Hayes, of Toronto, says in his address to the electors : " In years past, as most of you are aware, I was associated with the Reform party in this Province. I supported that party because I believed that in carrying out the professions then made its leaders would promote the welfare of the country. I have left it because I found those leaders unfaithful to their professions in every important respect—especially in their extravagant and wasteful management of the public funds—and because I am well satisfied that the commercial policy to which they are now pledged will, if persisted in, prove ruinous to our best interests and destroy the future of Canada."

Halifax Reporter and Times, 8th inst. :—"A gentleman from Toronto present at the meeting last night, expressed to us this morning his astonishment at the influential representation of men which met to endorse the national policy. He had no idea that anywhere in the Maritime Provinces so enthusiastic a meeting—attended by so many of the foremost men—men who are known all over the Dominion—could be called together. He thought it was the best answer to the Toronto Globe's assertion that Sir John Macdonald's policy is scouted in the Maritime Provinces."

In 1872 Major Walker, in seconding Mr. Carling's nomination, referred to the vast enterprises which had sprung up within the past few years. Those enterprises would not have been so successful had they not been fostered and protected by the good Government of which our honoured representative was a hearty supporter." Has the Major seen anything like it under the Government of which he is a hearty supporter ?

Stratford Herald says: "While fully cognizant of the uncertainty of popular verdicts, we are persuaded that the majority of the people of Canada are dissatisfied with this Government, and that with proper organization and work that dissatisfaction can be given marked expression at the polls. In this district, including the Wellingtons, Perths, Hurons, and Waterloos, we confidently expect the gain of several seats."

Masonic.

The twenty-first R. C. of the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons of Canada opened in the Masonic Hall, Hamilton, on the 14th inst. The attendance was large, and embraced representatives from all parts of Canada. Most excellent Companion F. J. Menet presided, the other chairs being occupied by T. C. McNab, of Chatham, G. H., and Donald Ross, Picton, G. T.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year :

M. E. Comp. F. J. Menet, Grand Z, Toronto ; R. E. Comps. Daniel Spry, Grand H, Toronto ; Donald Ross, Grand I, Picton ; David McLellan, Grand Scribe E ; Wm. Forbes, Grand Scribe N ; Wm. Gibson, Grand P. So ; Ed. Mitchell, Grand G. T. ; Jas. Lockie, Grand G. Reg. Hamilton. Ex-Comps. Henry McPherson, Henry Robertson, James B. Nixon, W. H. Willer, Wm. Carey.

Grand Superintendents of Districts—R. Ex. Comps. H. A. Baxter, London District ; C. L. Beard, Wilson District ; H. K. Maitland, Wellington District ; Donald McPhie, Hamilton District ; Isaac F. Toms, Huron District ; W. H. Braund, Niagara District ; Jas. Wilson, Toronto District ; R. Nichol, Ontario District ; S. M. Conger, Prince Edward District ; V. H. Moore, M. D., Central District ; James M. Nichol, New Brunswick District ; W. H. Kennedy, Manitoba District.

THE CHINESE EMPIRE.—The number of inhabitants in the Chinese Empire has been greatly over-estimated. The ordinary textbook statement is that China has a population of 500,000,000, and we remember to have seen the amount set as high as 600,000,000. These figures were obtained from missionaries and travellers, who were never in a position to secure official statements, and who rarely knew much of the territory lying inward from the coast. They were, in other words, vague guesses, which geographers published for want of better information. But within the past ten years the interior of China has been pretty thoroughly travelled over, and present information concerning it is much more definite than it formerly was, and, as consequence of this, the earlier statements concerning the number of the inhabitants have been materially qualified. There is, it is true, no Government census, but, gathering the opinions of the Imperial officials, the entire population does not much exceed 600,000,000. Now, for a vast country like China, this is not an excessive number, and, with the introduction of improved methods and cultivation and modes of transportation, there is no reason why the demand for labor at home should not be sufficient to prevent any general exodus of the inhabitants.

HIS REWARD.—The Hamilton Spectator says :—"So Mr. Jette, M. P. for Montreal East, is to receive his reward. A dispatch from Montreal last night announces that he is to be appointed to the vacant judgeship. There is an old proverb about rats deserting a sinking ship, and it suits Mr. Jette's case exactly. We trust, however, that he will figure to more advantage as a judge than he did as a member of Parliament."

The Ottawa Disturbances.

Ottawa, August 14.—The Union men dispersed at daybreak this morning without any further disturbance occurring. More trouble is anticipated, however, this evening, and the Foot Guards have been ordered to parade at the armory in full strength at 7 :30 o'clock. The leaders of both parties are to-day advising their men not to congregate on the streets to-night, but remain at home. The police have received strict orders to clear the sidewalks this evening at dusk. Mayor Bangs has taken most active measures throughout to protect the public peace, and has been energetically assisted by liberal-minded citizens on both sides. The conduct of Kehoe, Grand President of the Union, who refused to allow the crowd to disperse, is generally condemned. With the exception of the two men mentioned in last night's despatches no one else is injured.

A TRAIN FIRED INTO—NARROW ESCAPE OF THE PASSENGERS.

The Montreal Star of last evening says : From the passengers who arrived in the city at 8 o'clock this morning, we learn that the train conveying the remainder of the Montreal Orange Young Britons was fired into with revolvers by a number of persons. The train left Ottawa last night at half-past ten o'clock, without any disturbance whatever. It passed Gloucester station all right, but a short distance this side trouble commenced. The first signal of the impending cloud was the crashing of a stone through one of the windows. Almost immediately a revolver shot was fired, followed by two others in rapid succession, and then by four others at intervals. A married lady with two children, residing on St. Constant street, had a miraculous escape from death. A bullet entered the window just in the rear of her shoulder, and passed out through the opposite winnow just grazing the chest of a saloon keeper on Craig Street, who was on a visit to the capital. Several others also had providential escapes from receiving injury. Several passengers in the car rushed out on the platform, and fired several shots in return, at which the assailants fled into the bush adjoining the track. The brakeman entered the cars and ordered the passengers to crouch down between the seats, as others were seen in front. Full steam was put on, and the train dashed passed, but no further shots were fired at the train. Trouble was anticipated at the next station, but fortunately none occurred. The remainder of the journey was accomplished without further accident, the passengers congratulating themselves on their lucky escape. At the time the occurrence took place, the moon was shining brightly, and the would-be-assassins could be seen quite plainly.

DISTURBANCES AT TORONTO.

TORONTO, August 14.—Between nine and ten o'clock last night a disturbance took place on East Market street between a crowd of young men. The band of the Peterboro' fire brigade proceeded to the Johnson House and taking up a position on the sidewalk commenced to serenade the Orangemen, who were at supper. At the conclusion of the first tune, the drum was stove in by a large stone, thrown by some person unknown. In a few minutes a general row occurred. From some reason or other it was believed that the stone had been thrown from St. Patrick's Hall, and the crowd made a rush for that building, having in the meantime been joined by several members of the Tenth Royals ; an assault was made on the door and a panel knocked out, while a row was going on close by on the sidewalk. The policeman in that neighborhood, fearing a riot, ran to the Central Station and secured the assistance of Inspector Stewart and four men. Upon this party arriving at the building, the crowd quieted down and shortly afterwards dispersed.

WAS IT MURDER ?

THE TRAGIC END OF THE LATE MR. A. LEAMY —STARTLING DISCLOSURES MADE BY A WOMAN—SHE EXHIBITS THE WATCH WORN BY MR. LEAMY AT THE TIME OF HIS DEATH TEN YEARS AGO.

(From the Ottawa Citizen.)

Many will recollect the tragic end of the late Mr. Andrew Leamy, a prominent resident of the county of Ottawa, which occurred on April 21st, 1868. The circumstances connected with the case were of the most suspicious character, and at the time it was generally believed that he had been waylaid by roughs and robbed and murdered. It will be remembered that deceased had spent the day in the city, and on returning home in the evening, met with his death on a forced roadway leading to his property from the Chelsea road. When discovered, his head was severely cut and his side bruised, but life was not completely extinct. He was, however, perfectly unconscious, and although every effort was made to restore him, he expired shortly afterwards. An inquest was held but no light could be thrown on the manner of his death. An open verdict was therefore returned. At the time, however, it was known that when he left home that morning, he had in his possession a very valuable gold watch and chain, also a small sum of money, but when picked up, the watch and chain were missing. This naturally created the impression that there had been foul play ; but on the other hand the theory was advanced that as the night was dark the buggy might have collided with a boulder and thrown him out, and in this way his injuries might have been inflicted. The affair created great excitement in the community for a time, and the authority at Aylmer undertook an investigation. There were no new developments, however, and in the course of time the matter was almost forgotten. Nothing more was done until yesterday, when Bailiff Clawson, of Aylmer informed Mrs. Leamy wife of the deceased, that he had something important to communicate to her, regarding the death of her husband. Naturally, Mrs. Leamy was very much agitated over the prospective disclosures and told him to go on with the story. He proceeded and in substance told her that a woman whose name need not be mentioned for the present had called upon him and said she had a serious story to unfold. He expressed his willingness to hear her, when she told him that on the night of the 21st of August her husband presented her with a gold watch and chain which she produced and handed to Mr. Clawson for inspection. She said this was Mrs. Leamy's watch, but how her husband came into possession of it she did not know. Mr. Clawson then left and returned with the woman herself, who made the following statement to Mrs. Leamy :—On the night of Mr. Leamy's death, my husband and brother-in-law were working on a piece of land on the side of the forced road through which Mr. Leamy had to pass to reach his residence. When they came home at night my husband presented me with a gold watch and chain. Shortly afterwards I discovered that the chain and watch had been the property of Mr. Leamy. When I mentioned this to my husband he said, " Yes, it is the watch and chain, but we did not kill him." I said no more, but kept the secret until I gave Mr. Clawson the particulars. I did this in consequence of a falling out with my husband."

The woman then left in company with Mr. Clawson, and was followed by a son of the deceased gentleman, who insisted on the woman making a sworn affidavit of the facts as above, which she did. On the strength of this her brother-in-law was arrested last night, and constables are now in pursuit of the husband. The affair has created much excitement in Hull and vicinity, and great sympathy is expressed on all sides for the family of the late Mr. Leamy.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 15.

City and Vicinity.

Home from a Cruise.—The yacht Zephyr, Prof. Green, captain, arrived home this morning from a pleasant cruise of two weeks among the Thousand Islands.

Excursion to Massassaga.—An excursion party to Massassaga under the auspices of the Mohawk Mission Church came to Massassaga this afternoon per the City of Belleville. Some of the excursionists came up as far as Belleville.

Big Yield.—Mr. Wm. Ferguson, of Madoc, last fall obtained forty-nine grains of eight-rowed barley from a friend, and this spring sowed it in drills, hoeing it instead of cultivating it in the usual manner. From these 49 grains, there were 310 stalks and 2,533 grains of barley, showing an enormous yield.

Prince Edward Barley.—The New Nation says:—"Considerable of this year's crop of barley has already been thrashed, and from what we can learn, the yield is about the average. The berry is heavy and bright, and will class A 1 in the market. We understand some lots have already changed hands at a fair price."

Good Yields.—The Campbellford Herald says: "The first plentiful yields that have come under our notice up to the present time, are those grown on the farms of Mr. David Johnston, of Seymour township, and Mr. Thomas Chard, who resides near Stirling. The former gentleman recently threshed 220 bushels of fall wheat from 5 acres sown, being an average of 44 bushels to the acre. From 28 bushels of barley sown on about 14 acres of land, Mr. Chard has stored away in his granary 700 bushels, or 50 bushels to the acre, average."

Sell the Grain.—The Monetary Times advises farmers to market their grain as soon as possible. It says:—"It is to be hoped the farmers will not adopt the dangerous policy of holding their produce in the hope of obtaining higher prices. The successful termination of the Berlin Congress, and the permanent establishment of peace throughout the civilized world, should prove sufficient to check the indulgence of such a hope. The banks are ready for the moving of the crops, and we confidently assure those whom it may concern, that every facility will be afforded for the accomplishment of this desirable end."

Capture of a Water Serpent.—The Kingston News says:—"A water serpent was captured at Gananoque on Monday by an oarsman named Frank Lalond. It happened that he was out fishing with Mr. Johnson, of the firm of Johnson & McPharland, when the monster took the hook. For some time Mr. Lalond could not understand the meaning of his line being out full length and ahead of the boat; but on pulling in, to give his own words for it, he said, "I was nearly busted with fright." The monster is now on exhibition at the store of Johnston & McPharland He measures 37 feet 8 inches, and is as thick as a man's leg. He appears perfectly docile, and Mr. Johnston intends sending him to New York, a large price having already been offered for him.

Yacht Race.

Brockville, Aug. 15.—At the end of the 20th mile the Surprise 1st, Victorine 2nd, Laura 3rd, Sleepy Canadian 4th, when a dead calm came on. The boats will not likely be able to finish to-night.

Thousand Island Park.

That Award. — We are constantly being asked what the nature of the award is in the case of Pardee vs. Lloyd, a question we are unable to answer, as we understand the decision of the arbitrators was handed in sealed and subject to a charge of between $2,000 and $3,000 for arbitrators' expenses, which when paid, the award will be promulgated. Rumor, however, says the arbitrators have awarded to Mr. Lloyd, all the mines, except the Moore Mine; half the issued stock in the Belleville and North Hastings Railway subject to a lien of between $60,000 and $70,000. The Thompson mine upon payment of some $600, to Pardee, and $9,750 in cash as his (Lloyd's) share of the enterprise; the Crown Lands to be sold, and the advances made by Mr. Pardee paid to him, the balance divided between Pardee and Lloyd. This is the rumor, and may or may not be correct.

—The present season is remarkable for the number and violence of the thunder storms, and the frequency of death by lightning. The average number of deaths by this cause is, in the United States, 200 per annum; in 1869 it was 191, in 1870 it was 202 for the whole country.

Methodist Sabbath School Convention.

A large number of Ministers, laymen and ladies, met in the Methodist Church in Stirling on the 13th, to hold a Sabbath School Convention. This Convention was held in connection with the financial meeting of the Belleville District, of the Methodist Church of Canada. The growing importance attached to the Sabbath School having led the Methodist Church of Canada to recommend that in connection with each annual Financial District Meeting there should be held a Sabbath School Convention. The attendance at the Convention was large—far beyond what was anticipated—nearly all the Ministers on the District were present, and the Sabbath Schools of the Belleville, Trenton, Frankford, Sidney, Thurlow, Marmora, Stirling and Bridgewater circuits were represented by some of their officers and teachers.

The Chairman of the District, the Rev. N. R. Willoughby, M.A., of Belleville, was requested to act as Chairman of the Convention, to which request he acceded; and to his genial manner, excellent business qualities, and earnest sympathy—frequently expressed—with the subjects that came before the Convention, is due in a large degree the great success of the meeting. Mr. Willoughby makes a model chairman of a Convention. The Convention opened at 2 o'clock p. m., and without any formalities immediately got at the business that called it together. The Rev. J. H. Locke, of Belleville, the Financial Secretary of the District, was chosen Secretary of the Convention, after which the first subject to be discussed was opened by the Rev. J. C. Seymour, on "Relation of Sabbath School and parental work to the future of God's cause." Then followed discussions on the subject, in which a number of ministers and laymen took part. During the afternoon session the following subjects were introduced by the gentlemen whose names are connected with them, and were discussed in a very practical manner by most of the persons who took part: "How to conduct a Sabbath School," by A. McClatchie, Esq., M.A., of Sidney; "Methods of conducting Teachers' Meetings," by Dr. Williams, of Trenton; and "Church helps in the Sabbath School" by the Chairman. These various addresses and discussions were interspersed with praise and prayer, the Rev. O. R. Lambly, M.A., of Belleville, efficiently conducting the service of song at this session, and likewise in the evening.

At the evening session the church was crowded there being present many members of other churches, and the Pastors of the Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal and Baptist churches of Stirling.

After opening exercises of praise and prayer the Rev. J. Wesley Savage, of Stirling, delivered an address on "the importance of the Holy Spirit and the Sabbath School Work." Then followed an address by the Rev. P. Addison, of Trenton, on "How to retain the older scholars in the Sabbath School."

The question drawer was next opened and found to contain a more than usually large number of questions, nearly all of which were of a very practical nature, and embracing almost every department and phase of Sabbath School machinery and work. This department of the Convention's work had been assigned to Mr. Wm. Johnson, of Belleville, who for nearly an hour answered the various questions propounded.

The Rev. Mr. Gray, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. F. M. Fenn, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Mr. Dowler, pastor of the Baptist Church, of Stirling, briefly addressed the Convention, expressing their pleasure at being present, and wishing their brethren of the Methodist Church of Canada God speed in their work. The Convention was an eminently practical one, and cannot fail to give an impetus to Sabbath School work throughout the District.

Election Rumors.—The Montreal Star says:—Speculation is rife as to the meaning of the midnight interview just held between the Governor-General and the Premier. By some it is said to relate to the elections, which there are those who say the Premier is anxious still further to stave off as well to enable him to make further preparations as to secure for him continuance in office, at any rate until after the inauguration of the Marquis of Lorne.

The Premier.—A Montreal despatch says:—The Hon. A. Mackenzie passed through this city yesterday, en route for the Maritime Provinces. At Richmond he was met by the Governor General, who came in by special train from Sherbrooke, and held a midnight consultation with him, the purport of which is not known. While here he met a number of his political friends, and the Hon. Mr. Cartwright, who goes with him to the Lower Provinces.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H S. Cronkhite, Esq.

Canterbury Station, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. Robinson.

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs,, and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. Cronkhite.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) Alexander Bennett, J. P.,

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

Grenada, Miss., Aug. 15.—Sixteen experienced nurses in charge of Drs. Mandeville and Veozie have arrived from New Orleans. The type of disease is pronounced malignant, and is spreading. Ten or twelve new cases yesterday, nine deaths, and fully 125 cases altogether. The white population is now reduced to 700. None of the old cases have yet recovered.

New York, Aug. 15.—The four oared crew the Elizabeth Boat Club, of Portsmouth, Va., are en route to participate in the National regatta at Newark on the 20th.

A Richmond, Va., despatch says that Gen. Joe Johnston will probably be nominated for Congress.

Big Jim and Billy Hart were arrested last night, and it is believed they are two of the gang who robbed cashier Stone in 9th Avenue last week.

Mrs. Miller, who succored and befriended hundreds of Union prisoners in Libby prison, has been ejected from her house on Mulberry street, in this city, and all her household goods on the sidewalk. She is old and unable by feebleness to earn her support.

The competition for places in the rifle team for this year closed yesterday at Creedmore, but the result is not to be known until Boston and Wheeling report the scores on their ranges.

The Herald recommends that if the police cannot stop the depredations by young scoundrels the citizens will take the matter into their own hands.

It is believed the President will commute the sentence of the soldier Tobin, who killed the man at West Point, to imprisonment.

There have been thirty cases of yellow-fever at Quarantine, here, in six weeks, only one death. The Quarantine Commissioners have taken all precautionary means against its reaching the city

Coney Island beach covered with disgusting garbage thrown into the bay by garbage scows of New York City.

A Columbia S.C. despatch says: Governor Hampton, issued a requisition on Governor Scott, on charge of buying a legislature and stealing the money to make the purchase.

A four year old daughter of Wm. Hanlon, of Oswego, fell overboard from a canal boat, near Garrison's, yesterday, and was drowned.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Manchester, Aug. 15.—The Guardian's London correspondent says it is stated that Admiral Hornby has ordered by telegraph that as soon as the embarkation of the Russian Imperial Guard is completed, he will withdraw his section of the British fleet from Prince's Island, in the sea of Marmora, to Gallipoli, but will not retire to the Mediterranean until the remainder of the Russian troops have retired west of Chatalja, and the Turks securely in possession of those works. He is then to leave a sufficient number of ships at Gallipoli and in the Gulf of Saros to maintain the inviolability of the peninsula, until all the Russians are beyond Adrianople, or across the Balkans.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The National Finances are in so satisfactory a condition that all the Cabinet feels exceedingly gratified. The 520s will be rapidly called in. The coin balance in the Treasury increases daily. The administration is determined to enforce the revenue laws in the south, and troops will be furnished to revenue officers if necessary.

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 15.—Professor Baxter, professor of elocution at Harvard College, was drowned here about 11 this morning, while swimming beyond his depth. The body has not yet been recovered.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, southerly to south-westerly winds, and hot weather, with local thunder showers, followed to-morrow by brisk north-west winds and cooler weather. For the St. Lawrence, moderate to fresh winds and partly cloudy weather, with local rain areas. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh south-easterly to southerly winds, and partly cloudy weather, with rain areas to-morrow.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Indications:—Rainy weather.

The North-Western Spring Wheat Crop.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 14. — Returns of spring wheat have been received from 261 counties in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, and Dakota. The aggregate acreage reported is 6,334,000 against 5,699,000 last year. The estimated acreage for the States on the basis of these returns is 9,930,000, against 7,158,000 last year. The aggregate yield estimated at 121,665,000 bushels, against 127,423,000 last year. Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin show a decreased production of eighteen million bushels, at the same time showing an increased acreage of 2,058,000. The average yield per acre is reported at 12.25 bushels, against 17.80 last year. The quality in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Iowa is generally reported poorer, and about one grade lower, while that in other States exhibits little change from last year.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

Prospectus of the
FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County, and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely these business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Bijah's Hour.

(From the Detroit Free Press.)

"The summer is fading away,
The autumn is almost here;
And the leaves they will fall from the trees short and tall,
And the wind will blow coldly and drear."

Bijah was singing as above and dusting off the Indian-rubber cat when his first visitor entered. A farmer had walked eleven miles through the mud to consult the old janitor on agriculture, and when he had been made to feel at home he remarked:

"I've read about your rancho in the papers, and I have a few questions to ask you."

"Purceed—purceed, my friend," was the cheerful answer.

"I have had a dispute with my wife as to the proper time to plant root-beer," continued the man. "She says it ought to be planted in April, and I say not till June. What do you say. ?"

"Hem—hem—yem," coughed Bijah as he rose up and walked around the room. He grew pale clear up to the ears, his knees wobbled, and it was some time before he could brace up and reply:

"My friend, go home and tell your wife that she doesn't even know the first principles of agriculture, though I don't doubt that she can sew the eye right out of a needle and build the nicest loaf of bread in the State. Root-beer, sir, should be set out in June—about the 10th day of June, at 10 o'clock in the morning.

"Thanks! Thanks!" exclaimed the grateful man, as he extended his hand. "Now then, secondly, my wife claims that the roof of a cow-shed should be planned at a quarter-pitch, while I claim an eighth-pitch. What is your opinion?"

"My friend," answered Bijah, "your wife is doubtless the sweetest woman in the world, but she lacks the eye of an artist. A cow-shed room should never have less than an eighth-pitch, and down in Mexico I have seen 'em with as high as a twentieth-pitch, and bay windows put on besides."

The man shook hands again, expressed his undying gratitude, and continued:

"One more question: My wife claims that onions cannot be rated under the head of crops, while I claim that they can. Please decide that."

"My dear sir, I haven't the lease doubt that your wife wears a No. 20 corset, a No. 3 shoe, and quotes Latin like a duck, but if onions are not a 'crop,' then I am a la'dheaded Pawnee and ought to be hung for murder. Onions are not only a crop, sir, but a product, and when carried around in the pocket, they will keep fleas off your dog and the delirium tremens out of the house."

The man went away happy and the second callers found Bijah with his hat slanted over his ear, and a look of profound fall ploughing on his face. It was a middle aged mother, who came in with her son, a boy of twelve. She had enticed him there by telling him that the place was a bazaar of fashion, and that she would buy him a shot-gun with the barrel full of gum-drops. He realized the deception as soon as seated, and loudly called out:

"I want that 'ere shot-gun, or somebody'll become a cadaver!"

Bijah's mouth watered for joy, and the mother said:

"I am a widow, and I can do nothing with him. He runs out nights, gives me unlimited trouble and anxiety, and will pay no heed to anything I say. I have brought him here to have you talk to him as a father would."

"I don't want any wind-mill nonsense from him!" growled the boy as he looked the old man over.

"Madam, go home and return for him in about an hour," said Bijah. "I seem to see what he needs, and I want to be a father to him for about sixty minutes."

"You won't pinch him," she queried.

"I'd like to see him try it on!" answered the boy.

"Madam, go home—leave it all to me, and fear not," said the old man as he waved her out. When she had departed he turned to the boy and smiled at him like a June sun coming out from behind a bone boiling establishment.

"Open that door or I'll make it sick in here," growled the boy in answer.

"Boy, don't you want to be as good as you are purty?" sweetly inquired Bijah.

"No sir!"

"Can't I induce you to be good?"

"No sir!"

"Won't you promise me to pause in your mad career?"

"No, I won't!"

"Come into the back parlor, my son—come in where I keep them gum drops mentioned in chapter one!"

The lad declared he wouldn't, but three minutes later found him in there, and in that position of expectation assumed by all boys who have been drawn over the paternal knee. Reaching out for a shingle, Bijah said:

"It almost breaks my heart, but love for my country forces me on. The trouble with you is that you haven't been half spanked since you got out of dresses. I am about to give you one of the neatest and most effective shinglings ever performed on this stage, and I'm ready to bet ten to one that it will instill humbler and nobler thoughts into your sassy soul."

"If you don't let up on me I'll bite!" yelled the boy, but when he tried to his teeth encountered a sole-leather pad expressly provided for such occasions. Lovingly, but firmly he was bent over until his feet lost their grip on the floor, and then one of the new pine shingles had a tale to unfold. In two minutes he had lost his thirst to become a pirate; in 30 seconds more he had got over wanting to bite; in three minutes he had come to the conclusion that his mother ought to run the house, and then Bijah let up on him and inquired.

"My son, has this thing affected you any! That is, do you feel like a different boy?"

"You'll get paid for this," shouted the boy.

"Duty points with outstreched finger,' sighed Bijah. "Come over my knee once more, my son, and while this shingle gets in its work may your hardened heart begin to melt."

On Linden when the sun was low,
A shingle up and down did go.

The boy kicked and bit and held out for a time, but the inevitable came at last to stare him in the face, and he called out:

"That's enough—I'll do better."

"Boy, do you mean it?" asked the old man as his elbow ceased working.

"Yes, I do!"

"You mean that you'll quit sassing your poor mother, stay home nights, let bad language alone, and, in fact, walk in the better path?"

"I do," was the earnest reply.

"I'm glad on't—glad on't. I know what you needed, and I see that you feel better for it. We will now adjourn to the reception room and I'll prepare a surprise for your mother."

In about thirty minutes her knock was heard at the door, and as it opened for her she exhibited the greatest amazement. The boy's face was washed clean, his hair cut, his nails pared clean and the change was what Bijah called "a herculanum transformation."

"I—I——," she stammered, when he said:

"This is your boy, ready to go home. He has promised to be good, I shall keep an eye on him for a while, and shall expect frequent reports from you. If he continues to be good he shall have half the melon crop of my farm. If he is bad I shall have him brought here again."

"Great heavens! but how did you do it?" whispered the mother as the boy passe' out."

"Easy as hitting a barn with a club," he replied. "Shingles, woman, shingles! There is more goodness and higher influence in one pine shingle, after you get a boy to the right position, than all the coaxing and wheedling which tongue can produce. I've enjoyed it hugely—just feel as if I'd eaten dinner! If he doesn't tread up bring him agin!"

She followed the boy out and the old man sat down to his peaches and mused:

"I believe in moral suasion first, and I believe in coaxing and reasoning, but nothing seems to soften a bad boy all the way up to the eyes like a Michigan pine shingle laid on in one steady spot."

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contains a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

MCHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY,
225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

LAME BACK
AND RHEUMATISM
CURED BY
COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,
ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.
BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

Before Taking. After Taking.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $1, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

WILLIAM GRAY & Co
Windsor, Ont.

☞ Sold in Belleville by L. W. Yeomans & Co., A. L. Geen & Co., and by all Druggists everywhere.

Nothing can compare with
CAMPBELL'S QUININE WINE
THE GREAT INVIGORATING TONIC IN CASES OF Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Low Spirits, Ague, General Debility, &c., &c.
ITS EFFECTS ARE MARVELLOUS!
The public are cautioned against worthless imitations which Dr. Edwards says contain no Quinine. The same authority says "Campbell's is the only genuine Quinine Wine of three samples I examined."
PREPARED ONLY BY Kenneth Campbell & Co
MONTREAL.

To Steam Users.

THE Canadian Steam Users' Insurance Association make careful and periodical inspection of Steam Boilers, give skilful advice as to their management, and grant insurance against loss or damage by explosion. None but competent Inspectors employed. Special attention given to the economizing of steam, saving of fuel, &c. Steam Engines indicated, and plans and specifications of Boilers and Engines made, and their erection supervised.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly; "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Cough, Cold, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great success of its sales with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of diseases than every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTREPRISING DRUGGISTS.

Robert Bramleigh's Will.

CONCLUDED.

I read the will to him very carefully, explaining its full effect. When I had finished he muttered:—"Quite right,—quite right; but I am afraid Hannah will not be pleased." I counselled him not to mention it to her: and my advice seemed to satisfy him.

Ringing the bell, I requested Mrs. Churton to summon James Burn and Margaret Sims, the two servants who had witnessed the first will. As soon as they were in the room, I gave Mr. Bramleigh a pen, and placing the document before him, I said distinctly, so that all might hear: "This which I have just read to you is your final will, and you request James Burn and Margaret Sims to witness your execution of it." "It is—I do," he solemnly said, as with feeble fingers he wrote his name. The two awe-stricken domestics then added theirs, and I think their hands shook more than the testator's. Hannah Churton was a silent spectator of the whole of this; but I could not see her face, as she stood in the background, out of the light of the lamp.

Before allowing any one to leave the room, I placed the will in a large envelope. Fastening it with wax, I impressed it with Mr. Bramleigh's monogram and crest, by means of a seal that was in the tray of the inkstand. The old man watched me closely, and when I had finished he said: "Keep it—till it is wanted;" thus relieving me of a great embarrassment, for I did not like the idea of leaving it in the power of Hannah Churton, lest she should tamper with it.

On our way downstairs, Dr. Ramsey told me that his patient was rapidly sinking, and that he doubted whether he would live another twenty-four hours. Taking him into the dining-room and shutting the door, I told him my suspicions of the housekeeper, and I felt afraid of leaving Mr. Bramleigh alone with her all night. He agreed with me, and promised to send his assistant to watch till morning, for even if Mr. Bramleigh should still be living, he would on his own responsibility place a trustworthy nurse in charge. The housekeeper opened the door to let us out.

"It is all right, Mrs. Churton," I maliciously said as the doctor wished her goodnight. "I am quite satisfied now. The will will be safe in my keeping. By-the-bye," I added, looking her sharply in the face, "had you not better let your master's friends know of the danger he is in? Dr. Ramsey says he does not think he will last much longer."

She mumbled something in reply, but I could not catch what it was. I stayed talking upon indifferent subjects, to while the time until the arrival of Dr. Ramsey's assistant. Mrs. Churton, however, was unlike her sex, remarkably reticent: I could only get the shortest replies from her. She seemed very much astonished and rather displeased when Dr. Ramsey returned with his assistant. He explained to her that although there was no chance of saving his patient's life, yet his last moments might be alleviated by skilled attendance; and, therefore, as he himself could not stay all night, he brought his assistant for that purpose.

Mrs. Hannah Churton was very clever, but she committed two great mistakes. The first was in consulting a lawyer. The will drawn by her—for so it really had been—might have been upset on the ground of undue influence. The great point against her was the ousting of a child in favor of a stranger. Yet it would have been far from easy to prove that she was responsible for this, as Mr. Bramleigh's strange aversion to the army was well known; he was often heard to threaten to discard his daughter if she ever should engage herself to a military man. I think the probabilities are that the matter would have been compromised, and Hannah Churton secured by a few thousands of her master's wealth.

Mistake number two was as follows: The doctor had gone upstairs to install his assistant, leaving me standing in the hall with the housekeeper. Fumbling in her pocket she pulled out a roll of bank-notes; thrusting these into my hands, she told me that it was her master's wish that I should take them for my trouble. I unrolled them, and found two for ten, and one for five pounds. Twenty-five pounds!

This was sharp, and yet foolish of Hannah. Had I been as great a rogue as she was, she was retaining an important witness on her side, and therefore there was a certain amount of sharpness about it. On the other hand it was exceedingly foolish. The sum was so much out of proportion to my services that it was palpably a bribe.

I waited till the doctor came downstairs, occupying myself by entering the numbers of the notes in my pocket book.

"Look, doctor!" I cried as he appeared, showing him the notes. "Mr. Bramleigh is a liberal paymaster." Turning to Mrs. Churton, I said: "This will amply repay me."

Retaining the note for five pounds, I returned her the other two. She took them from me without saying word, but a black look came over her face. I think she began to suspect me. I got home very late that night. The capon was more than done, and so was the oyster sauce!

Mr. Bramleigh died the next morning at ten o'clock. Soon after I had left he became unconscious, in which state he had remained till shortly before his death, when there was a rally. Opening his eyes with an eager look as if he missed something, he threw one arm outside the coverlet, and crying, "Magdalen, Magdalen!" he obeyed the summons which back him thole his assize—yea, in that dread court where "Not proven" is unknown. Guilty or not guilty! Who shall say!

The funeral took place on Saturday, but an engagement prevented me from following. Mrs. Churton had written requesting that I would attend with the will which still remained in my possession with the one drawn by her.

I arrived at the house a little after one o'clock, and was at once taken into the dining-room, where I found Dr. Ramsey, Mr. Robson (a brother practitioner), and a handsome young fellow, who was introduced to me as Lieutenant Maitland, the late Mr. Bramleigh's son-in-law.

The door opened, and a young lady entered. It did not require any introduction to tell me that she was the original of the portrait, still with its front turned towards the wall. Her face was very beautiful, notwithstanding its extreme paleness and tear-swollen eyelids. She seated herself by the fire, her husband standing behind her, leaning his arms on the back of the chair.

Mrs. Churton had closely followed Magdalen Maitland, into the room. She was dressed in deep mourning, and wore a black cap; thus offering a marked contrast to Mrs. Maitland, who was wearing a gray dress rather travel-soiled. Apparently she had had no time to prepare her mourning.

Dr. Ramsey politely pulled forward a chair for the housekeeper. Taking it from him with a cold "thank you," she placed it at the end of the table, directly facing me. Very stern and formidable she looked in her black garments—her features immovable, her hands resting on her knees.

I was about to unseal the envelope containing the will, when Lieutenant Maitland interrupted me.

"One moment," if you please," he said, placing his hand on my arm. "Before this will is read, I wish to say a few words. Mrs. Churton tells me that Mr. Bramleigh has left her everything unconditionally. I simply wish to express my firm belief that Mr. Bramleigh could have only been induced to make such a will by unfair and foul means. Although I have been the cause of an estrangement between the father and daughter, I cannot think that he could so far forget his love for her as to strip her of everything. It is my intention, for her sake, to contest this will; and it is with that view that I have requested my old friend, Mr. Robson, to be present to-day as my legal adviser."

His frank, manly face was flushed with honest excitement as, leaning over the back of his wife's chair, he took her face between his hands and kissed it. "For your sake, not mine, dearest," I heard him whisper.

A painful silence succeeded, unbroken save by the rustling of the paper as I broke the seal.

Magdalen Maitland had stolen her hand into her husband's protecting clasp. I withdrew the will from its cover and looked at Mrs. Churton. Her stern face quivered when the lottery proved a blank, and the fair castle fell because its foundations had been built in the sand! I could not help admiring the courage of the woman, and certainly felt curious as to how she would stand the ordeal through which she had to pass.

I read the will slowly and distinctly. It was very short. Save the annuity of fifty pounds to Hannah Churton for life, everything was left to Dr. Ramsey and myself, in trust for Magdalen Maitland, to be settled on her as we, in our discretion, should think fit.

Astonishment is a mild word to express the feelings of those present, nor will I attempt to do so. My tale lies with Hannah Churton. Starting to her feet, she pushed the chair from her, and, stretching out one arm, gave utterance to a fierce torrent of invective. The veil was lifted, and the woman's nature stood revealed. It was as I had feared. Unmindful of the bounty of her but too generous master, she heaped obloquy on his memory, and fearlessly asserted that she had warned the best years of her life in his service!

Magdalen Maitland covered her ears with her hands to shut out the hard words. Her husband led her towards the door; but Hannah Churton intercepted them. Tearing her cap from her head, she threw it on the ground in front of the frightened girl.

"Trample on it!" she cried in a frenzied voice. "Your father's victim has no right to wear it!" I must admit that she looked grandly tragic as she declaimed those fierce words. I felt half sorry for the poor defeated creature.

We had not a little trouble before the will was proved. It was strongly opposed by a sharp young fellow who took up the case for Hannah Churton. It was, however, ultimately settled by an addition of another fifty pounds being made to the annuity she was to receive.

Lieutenant Maitland sold out of the army, and a rich relative of his dying afterwards, he inherited a large estate in Devonshire, where he and his wife went to reside.

Nine years have passed since then; and Mrs. Maitland declares that there are "silver threads among the gold." The cares of a young family have somewhat marred her good looks, but they will live again in my little god-daughter Magdalen, who promises to rival her mother in beauty.

The Resources of Cyprus.

A British merchant long a resident of Cyprus writes thus to a London paper: "The climate is similar to that of Crete; the winter is short and cold, and summer long and hot, but not oppressively so on account of the sweet Mediterranean breeze, which make the evening particularly cool; and people of regular habits will find it not only free from sickness, but beneficial, if they do not indulge too freely in the beautiful fruit which grows nearly wild in every part of the island. The English farmer will reap a good harvest, with moderate toil and careful study of the seasons; labor is cheap and plentiful, but the natives, like most Orientals, are lazy and want looking after. Manure and artificial manures are unknown, the soil being rich in itself. Farmers should provide themselves with hoes, etc., before starting; but as horses and mules are cheap, and the surrounding countries rich in them, English animals ought not to be taken there, except for breeding purposes. The vines are richer than in any other country, and when properly cultivated will supply us with the wine Homer praised so much. Throughout Turkey in Europe, it is used as a cure for consumption, and the Americans have of late been drawing large supplies of it. Aromatic tobacco of the most valuable quality is extensively grown, principally for the St. Petersburg market. Fine hard timber is plentiful, notwithstanding the enormous quantities that have been recklessly cut down by the Government, and a Turin firm are now exhibiting some rare specimens at Paris; sleepers for railway and other purposes will be found in abundance, especially when the existing roads are repaired and others constructed; rice, beans, wheat, barley, olives, raisins, locust beans, cotton, hemp, wool, silk, beeswax, honey, madder, and beetroot are extensively exported.

The mines are rich in copper, and a proof of gold existing is that large pieces of precious metal are daily washed down by the mountain streams; capitalists will find the mines once worked by the Greeks and others, but now abandoned, a source of unlimited wealth. Coal is also found, but, through lack of enterprise, the mines have never been touched; mineral and lake salt is abundant, and ozokerit exists not far from Lefcosia, also at Citti. The inhabitants may be roughly estimated at 90,000 of whom 60,000 are Greeks, 25,000 Turks, and the rest Fellahs and Arabs. They are good-natured, honest, quiet, and hospitable, but must be taught to work. The principal languages are Greek, Turkish and Italian being spoken by the upper class only."

PIANOS TUNED FOR ONE DOLLAR.

MR. WM. BRINKMAN has much pleasure in informing his many patrons of the City, that in future he will tune ordinary Pianos for $1.00; all tri-cord Pianos, $1.50 each.
Having had 15 years' experience in the best Factories in London and New York, he is confident of giving satisfaction.
Particular attention paid to regulating and repairing PIANOS and ORGANS.
Orders left (as in the past) at Mr. E. Harrison's Music Store, Front St., or at Mrs. C. Adams' Knitting-store, opposite Post Office, will receive prompt attention.

WM. BRINKMAN.

Mr. B. has tuned and repaired Pianos and Organs for me for some time past, and I can recommend him with confidence to the public.

Facts for the Electors to Consider.

The following statement does not by any means exhaust the subject, nor does it show fully the false position in which we are placed in our trade relations with the United States, but it deals with subjects that are within our own knowledge, and which directly concerns the electors of the Dominion.

Let the Canadian farmer ponder upon the following statement of exports from Canada to the United States, during the year ending 30th June, 1877, being the latest official returns that have been printed.

EXPORTS FROM CANADA TO THE UNITED STATES.

	Quantity.	Value.	U.S. Tariff.	Amount of duty paid on entering United states.	Canadian Tariff.

Import of Indian Corn from the United States..........8,260,039 bushels,
Less export to Foreign Countries..........4,081,612 "
Leaving..........4,178,427 bushels, which went into consumption, in Canada, free of duty, in distilleries and otherwise, which took the place of Canadian barley and rye, which the Canadian farmer had to export in order to find a market, upon which they had to submit to a reduction in price of 15 cents per bushel, which went into the United States Treasury. Had this 4,178,427 bushels of corn been imported, subject to a duty similar to that imposed by the United States upon Canadian barley, namely 15 cents per bushel, it would have yielded a revenue to this country of $626,764.05. Or had it been kept out of the country by a duty, then the consumers of the corn would have had to pay a higher price for the Canadian farmers' barley and Rye to an amount equal to that saved by the importation of corn free of duty.

Now let us call attention to a few other articles, and see how Canada stands as compared with the United States in our trade relations:

Canada imported of Coal free of duty from the United States, to compete with our own great supply of fuel, 769,664 tons, value $3,082,149.

Canada exported coal to the U. S., 187,772 tons, paying a duty of 75c. per ton, being $139,840 into the United States Treasury.

Canada imported, free of duty, about 6,000 tons pig iron.

Canada exported, subject to $7 per ton, 3,282 tons pig iron, being $22,974 into the Treasury of the United States.

Canada imported flour to Manitoba, $40,260, free of duty, whilst the Manitoban cannot send back a bushel of wheat in exchange, except at a difference of 20 per cent.

Having made our best offset, with such odds against us, we have to make good to "our best customers," about $25,000,000 in cash, for manufactured goods on which they have all the profit. Is it a wonder that we are growing poorer day by day and rolling up deficiencies in our balance sheet? There is an item to be considered that is not in the trade returns, but which every farmer can supply from memory: How many sons and brothers have left your homes to find employment in the United States? And, have they gone thither to a field more depressed and suffering than exists in Canada, as the organs of the Government pretend to tell you? You know better, the young men know better, and the Government ought to know better. If they do not know better, then they are unfit to rule the country. If they do know better, and do not attempt to legislate in such a way as to prevent this fearful drain upon the resources of the country, then the electors should use the franchise with which they are entrusted to place more capable men in their places.

South American Republics. — The manner in which revolutions are affected in South American republics is thus pithily described by a writer in the New York Times:—"There is a fusillade in the plaza, or a volley at the cuartel, or barracks. The prudent citizen, hearing the din, puts up his shutters, retires into the recesses of his house, and when the vivans of his neighbors tell him that victory has crowned the banners of somebody, he goes to his window to inquire as to what form of government he is now under, and who is at the head of affairs. The revolution has been accomplished by two or three partisans, aided by the local military force—an army of tatterdemalions, whose regular pay is always in arrears, and whose services may be secured by paying up their wages and giving them a full ration of the favorite tipple of the country." We have here a paragraph the history of many years of republican rule in land where "all but the spirit of man is vine."

The Great Storm in Asphodel and Drummer.

The Norwood Register gives a record of the fearful destruction by last week's hailstorm and whirlwind in the townships of Asphodel and Drummer. Loss to property in these two townships is estimated at $75,000. Speaking of the hailstorm the Register says:—"This, however, was speedily followed by a third fall of ice, causing not only increased surprise but great consternation. The lumps of congealed water now falling ceased to be entitled to the name of hailstones, and could now with truth be called small icebergs, and varied in dimensions from a good-sized goose egg to a large sized tumbler, measuring in circumference from eight to fifteen and a-half inches, and weighing from ten ounces to a pound and a quarter. These great lumps of ice fell with a tremendous crash and dreadful noise on the earth and roofs of buildings, enhancing the terror of our already terror stricken villagers, and might be compared to a miniature bombardment; for the ice lump, on falling on a hard substance, would immediately burst like a shell, and be scattered upwards in almost a thousand pieces. Never before was such a fall of ice witnessed, and this strange phenomenon seemed to have been confined to a small area of country, and extended but a short distance outside the Village of Norwood. Fortunately this last series of ice fall came down perpendicularly, and accompanied with a very little wind, otherwise the loss of glass exposed to its descen would undoubtedly have been very extensive.

The whirlwind was fearfully destructive, demolishing a large number of houses and barns, levelling orchards, killing cattle and and sheep, and severely injuring a number of people.

Traffic Receipts.—The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk Railway for week ending 10th inst., were $147,038, being a decrease of $20,025 from corresponding week of 1877.

The Ottawa Murder.—Henry Maxwell of Ottawa, who was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the murder of Andrew Leamy ten years ago, has been committed for trial at the next Aylmer assizes. He says he bought Leamy's watch from a man in Lower Town some time ago, but cannot give his name.

The Future Capital.—The Quebec Mercury is of opinion that Quebec is destined to be the future Capital of Canada. She is now, it says, about to receive the recognition of Royalty, and be the favored residence of the Throne in North America. The beautifully situated Citadel, if not Spencer wood, is the national residence, of the Representative of the Sovereign in Canada and no doubt the Marquis of Lorne and his illustrious bride will make it their residence during the recess of Parliament, in preference to Ottawa.

A Fairly Adjusted National Tariff.

WHAT IT WILL DO FOR AGRICULTURE.

FARMERS OF EASTERN ONTARIO,—Do not be misled and DECEIVED BY FREE TRADE THEORISTS. Do not allow foreign rivals to get all the profits from the Canadian buyers. Do not allow foreign banks to absorb all the money that should be kept at home to foster the progress, and maintain the future prosperity of the Dominion. "Fair play is bonnie play." Let us insist upon having it at the hands of our legislators. Vote against every Government candidate, and prove that men who are recreant to their trust will not be endorsed by intelligent electors.

1. By multiplying the mechanical arts, so that the people employed therein become regular and liberal consumers of food, without competing in its production, thus ENLARGING THE FARMER'S HOME MARKET.

2. By reducing the distance between producer and consumer, with the effect of diminishing the cost of transportation between the two; dispensing with a portion of the former middlemen, and increasing the number of exchanges.

3. By diversifying agriculture and providing for a rotation of crops, since the farmer who depends on exportation is limited constantly to the few growths for which there is a limited demand, whereas the domestic requirement is both steadier and more varied.

4. By relieving the perplexities and evils of a slavish reliance upon the foreign market; for the quantities taken abroad from year to year are so uncertain and changeable as to frustrate every attempt made, at the date of sowing the crop, to estimate and to anticipate the amount that will be wanted, so that there is quite as great liability to produce too much as too little; but the home consumption can be reasonably estimated.

5. By establishing a multitude of manufacturing centres, from which goes forth for miles around, a profitable demand for those minor crops, such as pumpkins, turnips, melons, and the like, which the earth produces by the ton, while it yields the cereals by the bushel, yet which will not bear the expenses of a long transportation.

6. By retaining in the country and near the fields an increasing proportion in the waste of agricultural consumption, thereby enabling the farmer to return to the soil, in the shape of manure, the fertilizing constituents withdrawn by the process of vegetation, and preventing the exhaustion of the land.

7. By more and more promoting the division of agriculture into distinct branches, as sheep husbandry, the raising of flax for fibre and seed, fruit orchards, vegetable gardens, dairies, cheese factories, bee culture, and the like, with the result of reducing agricultural competition.

8. By improving and multiplying roads, bridges and ferries, and by cheapening all the facilities of transportation, in consequence of the rapid growth and larger needs of internal commerce.

9. By augmenting the value of land and the prices of agricultural produce, through the greatly increased demand for both.

10. By expanding the supply, improving the quality, and diminishing the prices of manufactured articles, through the multiplication of manufacturers and the growing competition among them for the sale of their products in the same markets.

11. By stimulating the inventive genius of the nation to devise many labor-saving machines and better implements, whereby much of the former drudgery of farm labor is transferred to muscles of wood and metal, the power of tilling the land vastly enhanced, and the cost of agricultural production wonderfully decreased.

12. By finally transforming the cultivation of the soil from an ignorant waste of the fertilizing elements, into a scientific agriculture, whereupon it enters upon a groundless and permanent career of prosperity.

A Pacific Explanation.—A cable telegram from St. Petersburg says:—"The Agence Russe says the statements with regard to the Russian expedition to Central Asia relate to occurrences belonging to the time when England was preparing for war with Russia. The orders for Russian preparations have since been countermanded."

Interesting Facts.

The Mail says:—"As sure as we are of anything human we are sure that the general election is going to reverse the state of parties in the Dominion, and we base this certainty of assurance on the testimony of shrewd men and experienced politicians in every province of the Confederation, as well as our observations."

The value of exports from the United States in the year ending June 30th, 1878, was $694,888,200, and the value of the imports $437,051,533, leaving a balance in favor of the United States of $257,832,667. So much for protected America. The value of exports from Canada in 1877 was $75,875,393, and the value of imports $99,327,962, leaving a balance of $22,452,569 against this country. So much for free trade Canada.

The New York Times informs us that, since 1873, the United States has been reduced by two hundred millions of dollars. In Canada, during the same time, which includes the whole reign of the Grits and Rouges, our debt has increased from one hundred millions to one hundred and thirty-three millions. Our American Cousins, with Protection, pay off one-sixteenth of their indebtedness, while we, under the benign influence of Free Trade, increase ours thirty-three per cent.

What is the meaning of this sudden rush to the Maritime Provinces! We thought all was safe and serene there, on the high authority of the Globe. Yet Messrs. Mackenzie and Cartwright are "billed" (quite appropriate) to speak at Halifax, Pictou and St. John. We own to a great fear. Tilley and Tupper, who have been creating mischief down there, will be snuffed out, and all that we have gained will be irretrievably lost.

The Grits have resorted to a new dodge, but it is so transparent, that they must be very blind to imagine that the people can't see through it. They bought up a Conservative paper, published in Prescott, placed it under their own control, and now quote its editorials as those of an independent Conservative journal! The name of the paper is the Palindealer; we mention it because our friends may make up their minds to see it largely quoted by Ministerial newspapers.

By a proclamation in the Canadian Gazette The "Act to provide for the better auditing of the public accounts" came into force on August 1st. Under this Act, Mr. John Lorn Macdougal is appointed Auditor-General, so that he has thus obtained from Mr. Mackenzie, out of the public funds, his reward for party services, which the judges of the land had previously seen fit to reward in a very different way. And this is the Grit style of Civil Service Reform—casting aside the system of promotion in political fanatics. But it is all of a piece.

The Ottawa Disturbance.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The excitement of the past two days has considerably abated; yesterday and last night passed off in peace and quietness. About nine o'clock a number of young men and boys formed in procession and marched from Sussex street down Clarence street for a short distance, but no trouble of any kind occurred. A few pistol shots were fired, but they were fired into the air by boys, and did no harm beyond jarring the nerves of on-lookers. A patrol of twenty-one men, in addition to the regular police, was divided into two divisions and paraded the principal streets all night.

J. Birch, the Orangeman who was shot in the forehead on Monday night, was arrested yesterday afternoon for flourishing a revolver on the By Ward Market square.

James Clark, district master, publishes the following card:—"For the information of our friends, I beg to say that a statement of facts in connection with the disturbances on Monday and Monday night is now being prepared from reliable sources and will be published in a few days. I trust that the public will not arrive at any hasty conclusions."

Ottawa, August 15.—The city has resumed its usual quiet and no further demonstration is expected from either party. At a meeting of Irishmen and French Canadians, held last evening, in St. Patrick's Hall, it was decided to appoint a patrol of twenty-one men under command of D. J. O'Donaghue, M. P. P. The object of this was to give the alarm to the Union men in case of disturbance. Michael Starrs, S. Drapeau and others made speeches, the former stating that the Orangemen would never be allowed to walk again in Lowertown. It is said the Orangemen of the District will have a monster procession on the 5th of November. A Protestant named J. Salmon, was badly beaten by roughs on Friel street last evening, and a Catholic, whose name is not known, was also assaulted on William street.

Only Two Survivors.

A SHIPWRECK ON THE AUSTRALIAN COAST—ESCAPE OF A YOUNG LADY AND MIDSHIPMAN.

(From the San Francisco Call.)

Auckland, N. Z., June 25.—The British ship Loch Ard, Capt. Gibbs, from London for Melbourne, with a cargo valued at $350,000, was lost near Cape Otway on the morning of June 1. Miss Evelyn Carmichael was the only passenger saved out of seventeen, and a midshipman named Thomas Pearce is the sole survivor of a crew numbering thirty-two.

For two days previous to the morning of June 1st the sky was so overcast that the captain was unable to take observations. At 4 on the morning of that day he saw Danger Reef, being at that time scarcely half a mile from the shore, the ship being under close-reefed topsail and running before the wind. The captain, who was on deck, gave orders to bring the ship to the wind, but she would not weather the land. He then let go both anchors, with a fifty-fathom cable to each, but she would not hold, and the ship dragged. When 150 yards from the rocks the captain slipped both anchors and tried to put on sail, but only got the mainsail set when the vessel struck on her starboard quarter. This was just when it was breaking day, and immediately the topsail fell over, killing two seamen. The captain at once ordered the crew to get the boats out for the lady passengers; but this was not done, as the waves were dashing over the decks. Pearce and five other seamen got into the safe-boat, but were washed over. Pearce swam to the boat and kept on to it while it drifted into a small bay where the ship had struck. At day break he found himself drifting toward the beach, and managed to get on shore. At this time the beach was strewn with wreck and driftwood. After he had recovered he walked about to see if there were any of the passengers or crew. After a little while he heard a cry, and saw a lady about fifty yards out. He swam out to her. She appeared to be insensible, but was clinging to a spar. From her statement it appears that she was nearly the last on board, being in conversation with the Captain just before the ship went down. The Captain told her if she should survive to tell his wife that he died like a seaman, at his post. Before Pearce came to her rescue there were two others clinging to the same spar, but she saw them washed off. This young lady was Miss Evelyn Carmichael.

He dragged her ashore and pulled her into a cave, gave her some stimulant and covered her up, and laid down himself to sleep, being exhausted. He thinks he must have slept about two hours, and on awakening found the young lady apparently recovering. He then started to get help, and after some considerable difficulty climbed the cliff, which is upward of 100 feet high. After he got on top he walked about till he luckily found a track, and started on in the direction of Mr. Gibson's Glenample station. After walking on the track about two miles he was met by a man in Mr. Gibson's employ, named George Ford, who, after making enquiries of Pearce, started back to the station and brought Mr. Gibson back with him, Pearce having gone back to the lady to give her the good news that help was at hand; when, to his horror, on arriving at the cave where he had left her, she was not to be found. He searched about till Mr. Gibson came, and then they together searched; but she had evidently strayed away, and they were afraid that she had got washed into the sea again; when, just as it was getting dark, G. Ford, who was searching among some scrub, heard a faint cry, "On, I am dying!" He went to the spot and found the young lady. After Mr. Gibson came up they at once endeavored to get her to the top of the cliff. She was nearly bare of clothing. Mr. Gibson took off his own boots and stockings and put them on her and got her into his buggy, which he had sent for, and drove her to the home station, arriving there about 2 a.m., when Mrs. Gibson very kindly took charge of her, and has since continued to take every possible care of her.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 16.

City and Vicinity.

I will sell some furniture in the market to-morrow (Saturday) at 10 o'clock, bedsteads, tables, chairs, hair bottom sofa, etc. R. Purdy, Auctioneer.

HUNGARIAN GRASS.—A specimen of Hungarian Grass five feet three inches in length was exhibited here to-day. It was grown on the farm of the late Levi Anderson, of Ameliasburg.

THE BROCKVILLE YACHT RACE.—A telegram from Brockville informs us that in the regatta at that place, the Victoria took first prize; the Surprise took 2nd; the Troubler 3rd; the Laura 4th; and the Peerless 5th.

S. S. EXCURSION.—The John Street Presbyterian Church Sabbath School had their annual excursion to-day to Indian Woods per steamer City of Belleville. The party was composed of about three hundred persons.

CRICKET.—A cricket match was played here to-day between the Syracuse and Belleville clubs. The Syracuse club went first to the bat and scored 53 in their first innings. At 2 o'clock the Belleville club had seven wickets down for a score of 68, of which Savage made 30 and Maybee 18 and not out.

THE WORKINGMEN'S MEETING.—Do not forget the Workingmen's meeting in the City Hall this evening. Several able speakers will be present to discuss the great trade question of the day. Let every one who desires information upon the question of protection to our manufactures be present. The meeting is free to all.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PARLIAMENT.—The reader is reminded of the excursion to-morrow by the Alexandra to the Thousand Island Park, under the auspices of the Episcopal Methodist Church, Belleville. Every arrangement has been made to render the trip pleasant and comfortable to those who may go. For time of leaving, &c., see advertisement.

THE NATIONAL POLICY.—Mr. A. H. Rowe and J. Larke arrived in town and will deliver their promised addresses in the City Hall at 7.30 this evening. We understand they had a very successful meeting at Brighton last night, and they were assured that the village of Brighton will carry a respectable majority for our "National Policy," which will be quite a change in the political aspect of Brighton village.

AN OARSMAN.—The Kingston Whig says: A Napanee man named J. Albert Gould, has created a sensation in that town by rowing to Mill Point, a distance of seven and a half miles, in seventy two and a half minutes. He made a wager to do it in seventy minutes in calm water, but in the channel off Mill Point he encountered heavy weather and lost time. Albert is the hero of the day. The Standard wants the town to give him a shell, and send him to next year's regattas. He is a small man only weighing 126 lbs, but he is a good puller and a fearful buzzer.

LAYING A CORNER STONE.—The corner stone of a new Episcopal Methodist Church was laid in Kingston on the 15th inst. The ceremony was performed by Bishop Carman, assisted by Sir. John A. Macdonald, the Mayor, and Mr. Alex. Gunn. The new church will be a very handsome building on the corner of Brock and Montreal streets and will occupy a space of about 90 feet by 60 feet. It will be built of stone, veneered with brick on the outside, the foundation being of stone. The latter is very solid, and considerable progress has been made with the work. The cost of the edifice will be about $20,000, and the Rev. A. C. Traveller, who has had great experience in church erecting, will have charge of the work. It will be a decided ornament to the city, and its lofty spire will be quite a feature in the view from the water.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We regret to learn of the sudden death of HENRY OSTROM, Esq., of Huntingdon, on Wednesday night last. Mr. Ostrom, in company of his son-in-law, Mr. Baker, and two men in their employment had been spending the day back of Flinton getting blackberries. On their return homeward after passing through Tweed Mr. Ostrom laid his head upon the knee of Mr. Baker and as Baker supposed fell asleep, it being late at night, and in this position was driven to the residence of Mr. Baker, when upon trying to arouse him he was found to be quite dead. The cause of death we understand was heart disease. Mr. Ostrom was an old resident of Huntington, and well known in the county. His sudden death cast a gloom over the whole neighborhood.

Lady Lisgar, widow of Lord Dufferin's predecessor at Ottawa, is, they say, to marry Sir Francis Turville, K.C.M.G., of Bosworth Hall, Rugby. He was her late husband's secretary in the Ionian Islands New South Wales, and Canada. Lord Lisgar died in 1870, and his widow must be turned of sixty, for she was married to him in 1835. Sir Francis, her husband that is to be, was just four years old at that time.

North Hastings.

(From the North Hastings Review, Aug. 15.)

BELLEVILLE AND NORTH HASTINGS RAILWAY.—We are happy to state authoritatively that the road will now be pushed to completion at an early date, Mr. Bickford having entered into an agreement to pay all just claims against the Company within thirty days from the date of contract. It is his intention to at once put on 200 men, and an engine will be put on, the track finished as fast as graded, and the rails laid. Mr. Daly, the Engineer, has already got the work started, and in a week or so it is expected the whole force will be employed with no visible hindrance to delay the rapid completion of the road.

COWS KILLED.—During the severe storm on Thursday night last Messrs. A. and P. Hicks, of lot 9, 2nd con., Elziver, had two valuable cows killed by lightning.

HAILSTORM.—On Sunday week a very severe hailstorm passed over the Hastings Road, about five miles this side of Umfraville. Mr. Howtin, we are informed, was a heavy loser, his grain, potatoes, &c., being very much damaged. Some of the hailstones were as large as hen's eggs.

STORM AT MELLBRIDGE.—A correspondent at Millbridge, under date of August 9th, says:—"A dreadful storm came on here about 10 p. m., last night, and continued until to-day. Some of the crops are under water. A field of potatoes belonging to Major Norman, of this place, is entirely covered. There was a hailstorm yesterday, some of the hail being unusually large."

THE HASTINGS ROAD.—We are informed by a gentleman who has recently passed over the road, that Mr. D. Kavanagh, who has been appointed to lay out the government grant of $1,500 on the road from Thanet to Maynooth, is doing one of the best jobs that has ever been done on the roads in that part of the country.

Death of Valentine Brown, of Camden.

On Wednesday, 7th Aug. 1878, peacefully and resignedly, Valentine Brown, a wealthy farmer of Camden departed this life, leaving a widow and large family. He was highly respected and widely known. The Mill Point Echo gives the following interesting account of his last days: "The circumstances connected with his death are most remarkable. He had a presentiment of his approaching death some time before he died, and even of the exact time of his departure was to take place. He had informed several of the fact that he would die, and even told some that he should not see them again in this life, though in all human probability they would meet in a few days at the farthest. On Tuesday he worked on the reaper all day he worked very hard. At night he went all through his barn and out-houses and took his "farewell" of them, as he remarked to his wife on going to the house. He retired in usual health and rose at the usual hour in the morning apparently quite as well, but he soon went to the chamber and visited all the rooms eight in all, and took his "farewell" of the chamber. He then went to the cellar and took his "farewell" of it. He then returned and told his wife that he had taken his "farewell" of all but the family and was about to die. Mrs. Brown told him he should not talk so, that his friends would think he was crazy. He answered complacently "they and thee will soon know I'm telling the truth," and almost instantly he turned deadly pale and staggered to the lounge. Mrs Brown told her son who was present, to bring a doctor at once. He told them it was no use as he would be dead before his son could get out of sight of home and, sure enough, just as he breathed his last the son was disappearing over the hills only a short distance off but too far to be called back. He soon returned with a doctor but his father "had taken farewell" of this life. We have given the report substantially as related to us by one who conversed with him a few days before his death and to whom he had spoken of his early departure. In our early life we knew Valentine Brown and believe him to be a good man."

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—A Eureka, Nevada, despatch says the town was visited on Thursday evening by a freshet, carrying away everything moveable, and destroying stables, outbuildings, etc. One man is supposed to be lost.

The confession of Dye and Anderson of the murder of Tulis shows a plan carried out by Anderson and another man, Dye meeting them after the crime was committed, and taking them back to Sacremento. The District Attorney refused to allow either to turn States evidence, and will try them for murder.

NEW YORK, Aug 16.—A recent interviewer of President Diaz, of Mexico, ascertained the fact that the Government of Mexico had officially protested against the invasion of Mexican soil by the U. S. troops. The former has responded saying that the Government of the United States feeling convinced that Mexico is unable to prevent the raids into Texas, would pursue and punish the invaders itself. It is also stated no new treaty of commerce between the two countries be entered into until orders to General Ord to invade Mexico are withdrawn. Orders have been given to the regular Mexican troops to resist any further invasions by Mackenzie or other American officers.

A Helena, Montana, letter says that neither Red Cloud nor Sitting Bull will fight, and are convinced that however successful they might be at first, they would ultimately get whipped by the Americans.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The Turkey run colliery, Shenandoah, stopped yesterday, owing to the high rates of transportation. 300 men are thrown out of employment.

Dr. Carver offers to make a match with Bogardus, giving the latter 500 broken balls in 1,000, Bogardus to shoot the same way that Carver does. Carver also accepts Bogardus's challenge.

C. F. Davey, aged 65, died here this week. He was a prominent Insurance man, a native of Fairhaven, Vt.

A special from Granada, Miss., says the situation there is terrible. Supplies are getting short, as no train is allowed to stop there. New Orleans physicians there say the fever is the most malignant ever known.

FROM HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—Arrangements are completed for the regatta at Burlington Peach on Friday and Saturday, 23rd and 24th. Johnston, W. Ross, Ed. Rogs, Plaisted, Hosmer, Luther, Coulter, Morris, McKean and Elliott are entered. Extensive preparations are being made.

BANK NOTE BOOKS

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

NEW YORK, Aug 16.—A telegram to the Mayor of Wilmington, N. C., yesterday, signed by E. A. Melton, City Marshal, and acting Mayor of Granada, Miss., was as follows:—"Help us to pay nurses and bury dead. Our town is a graveyard. We need help. Mayor is dying, and I am only officer left."

THE WITHDRAWAL OF THE BRITISH FLEET.

MANCHESTER, Aug. 15.—The Guardian's London correspondent says it is stated that Admiral Hornby has been ordered by telegraph that as soon as the embarkation of the Russian Imperial Guard is completed he will withdraw his section of the British fleet from Prince's Island in the Sea of Marmora, to Gallipoli, but not retire to the Mediterranean until the remainder of the Russian troops have retired west of Chatalja, and leaving the Turks securely in possession of those works. He is then to leave a sufficient number of ships at Gallipoli and in the Gulf of Saros to maintain inviolability of the Peninsula until all Russians are beyond Adrianople or across the Balkans.

The Post announces officially that Parliament will be prorogued on Friday, by Royal Commission.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—A despatch from Bucharest says: The Russians occupied Varna, Bulgaria, on the 11th. The garrison is to consist of 10,000 men, with 100 guns.

A special received by way of Constantinople says that General Skzapary's division of the Austrian army of occupation was near Tuzla on the 11th of August, after a battle, which lasted twelve hours.

Gen. Philipovich telegraphs that Haliz Pasha and a deputation of leading inhabitants of Serajova interviewed him and begged him to stop his advance, as neither information from the Porte nor the Austrian proclamation had been promulgated at Serajevo. Philipovich refused the request, telling them that Europe had decreed the occupation, and the Porte had assented to it. He called upon the deputation to use their influence to calm the population. General Zapary, commanding the 20th Division, telegraphs from Doboj that he was vigorously attacked on the 13th, but repulsed his assailants. He nevertheless, on account of lack of ammunition, resumed on the 14th his retreat to Doboj. He saved all his wounded and his train, though his troops, exhausted and constantly harassed by insurgent bands, were themselves obliged to drag waggons over bad roads.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Seven wild steers got loose up town yesterday afternoon; one man was fatally gored, and several persons injured, before the police succeeded in shooting the animals.

The explosion on the tug boat Henderson was an awful affair. Capt. Murphy was so horribly scalded that his flesh came off in patches, and his great strength and vitality kept him alive several hours. He handed his wallet to a friend, and the flesh from his fingers stuck to it; his flesh came off near his feet at every step, and his bones could be seen in various parts of his body. The engineer, Gillian, who also was killed, was equally badly scalded.

The Sun prints a story about Mrs. Tilton that she has taken Bessie Turner to live with her, that she (Mrs. Tilton) enjoyed greater peace of mind than ever before since her late confession, and believed she had obtained divine forgiveness, she said her husband knew nothing of her confession, that her determination to free conscience was brought about by hearing Beecher's sermon on the downfall of forger Gilman which she heard while attending closely veiled. She says she has been offered $100,000 to lecture which she refused, that there will be no more union with her husband and that she intends to prepare a history of her experience with Beecher and leave it with her husband's friends to be used after her death.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Emil Hoedel, who attempted the assassination of Emperor William in May, was beheaded early this morning in the court yard of the new prison. The Imperial warrant decreeing that justice take its course was signed on the 8th of the present month. Hoedel's age was 21.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate winds, and partly cloudy weather, with light local showers. For the St. Lawrence, moderate to south-easterly to south-westerly winds, and partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate winds, partly cloudy, with light local showers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Indications:—Warm, light rains.

Special Notice.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

Prospectus of the
FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

A Scene in the Berlin Congress.

GORTSCHAKOFF ON RUSSIA'S SACRIFICES.

Berlin Correspondence London Times.

At the beginning of Wednesday's sitting there was a really interesting scene, which deserves to be noticed.

Prince Gortschakoff, detained in his bed by gout, had not been able to attend the last sittings. At Wednesday's meeting he came in his carriage, which stopped at the entrance, whence the Prince was carried to the door of the council-room, when every one hastened around him to congratulate him on the restoration of his health. Soon after Prince Bismark declared the sitting opened. Prince Gortschakoff then begged permission to speak and though the President exhorted him to be seated, he rose with apparent effort, and, amid profound and respectful silence, said;

"Mr. President, Your Excellencies:—After having been kept away for several days from our deliberations, I do not like to reappear among you without making the following remarks, which are prompted by the love of truth and of my country. During your late deliberations my colleagues (the prince here bowed toward M. d'Oubril and Count Schouvaloff) have granted you, in the name of Russia, concessions far surpassing those she thought of making."

On hearing this all the members of the Congress evinced signs of apprehension. This aged prince spoke with effort, in a trembling voice, holding firmly to the table, and looked before him with a resolute expression, and his auditors began to wonder whether his words were not a prelude to a declaration withdrawing the concessions Russia had made, and whether or not to make this declaration that the prince had braved the extreme fatigue imposed on him by his presence in the Congress. Happily, however, the plenipotentiaries were soon reassured by the prince continuing:

"But I am too well aware of the feelings which influenced my colleagues to raise any objection to the concessions they deemed it their duty to make. I merely wish to state to you what is well known, that Russia has made these sacrifices from her desire of peace, and that she spoke truth when declaring, before as well as at the end of the war, that she merely stood up on behalf of the Christians of the East, that she had no narrow or selfish aim, but that having made enormous sacrifices in a war in which the cause of christianity and civilization was alone at stake, she has just proved herself capable of also making sacrifices for the great work of pacification to which you are devoting your efforts. I suppose no one will gainsay the glory of her army, which has achieved the most brilliant victories; but Russia wishes it to be known that she is desirous of exchanging the laurels of victory, bought with the most precious blood, for the palm of peace.'

These words were followed by a profound silence, due, probably, to the emotion of his auditors; for the spectacle of the illustrious old man thus exerting his last energies to vindicate the moral greatness of his country was really calculated to touch the heart. After a few moments Lord Beaconsfield rose and begged to be heard. In language which I have heard greatly extolled, but of which I have not been able to obtain the exact text, the English Premier, with that varied action peculiar to him, thus began:

"I feel sure I shall interpret your sentiments in expressing the profound admiration I have felt for the language of my noble and illustrious friend, and the way in which he has given utterance to the true sentiments of his country. I am happy to think that it is a desire for peace which has guided the decisions of Russia in the late deliberations. I therefore hasten to acknowledge it in the name of this illustrious Congress, listening to me, and I firmly hope that I shall meet with the same sentiment n all its deliberations."

Lord Beaconsfield spoke for several minutes longer and then sat down, and the real business of the meeting began after this somewhat sentimental incident, by which however, the noble lord produced the best possible effect on all his auditors.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs,, and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the ttatement is correct in every particular.

(Signed ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P., WILLIAM MAIN, REV. THOMAS HARTIN.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by
SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contans a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

MCHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY, 225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

RHEUMATISM
CURED BY
COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,
ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.
BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

JOB PRINTING, in all its branchs executed at THE INTELLIGENCER Office

Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World.

Harper's Magazine.
ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its original title of the New Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and has kept fairly abreast of the times, thanks to the enterprise of the publishers and the tact and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery and fiction, the average reader of to day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expectantly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago; there is the same admirable variety of contents, and the same freshness and suggestiveness in its editorial departments now as then.—Boston Journal.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

Before Taking — After Taking

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

ARE ALL THE CHILDREN IN?

The darkness falls, the wind is high.
Dense black clouds fill the western sky;
The storm will soon begin;
The thunders roar, the lightning flash,
I hear the great round rain-drops dash,
Are all the children in?

They're coming softly to my side;
Their forms within my arms I hide;
No other arms are sure;
The storm may rage with fury wild,
With trusting faith each little child
With mother feels secure.

But future days are drawing near;
They'll go from this warm shelter here
Out in the world's wild din;
The rain will fall, the wind will blow,
I'll sit alone and long to know
Are all the children in?

Will they have shelter then secure,
Where hearts are waiting, strong and sure,
And love is true when traied?
Or will they find a broken reed,
When strength of heart they so much need
To help them brave the tide?

God knows it all; His will is best;
I'll shield them now, and yield the rest
In his most righteous land:
Sometimes souls he loves are riven
By tempests wild, and thus are driven
Nearer the better land.

If he should call me home before
The children go, on that blessed shore,
Afar from care and sin,
I know that I shall watch and wait
Till He, the Keeper of the Gate,
Lets all the children in.

TRUST IN GOD.

Courage, brother! do not stumble,
Though the path be dark as night;
There is a star to guide the humble—
Trust in God and do the right.

Let the road be long and dreary,
And its endings out of sight;
Foot it bravely—strong, or weary—
Trust in God and do the right.

—Norman McLeod.

Sunday Reading.

Thought it Made no Difference.

"That tenon does not fit the mortise by a quarter of an inch," said an employer to a young carpenter who had just begun to work for him.

"I thought that for a garden gate you would not be particular, and it would make no difference," answered the young man.

But it did make a difference. It made just the difference between the young carpenter having a steady, summer job, at good wages, and having the time unoccupied on his hands.

The employer found, ... when the gate was finished, he paid the man, without another word, and dismissed him. The next day there was another man in his place. He happened to be a man who thought it did make a difference how everything was done; he always did his best; and he kept his situation to the end of the season.

So it happens. Frequently some little thing, which was not expected to attract attention, is noticed by some one to whom the excellence of the work has commended itself, and the man who has made pains-taking the rule of all his labour is surprised by a sudden and unlooked-for accession of good fortune. He has been brought into note by some inconsidered trifle, which was well done merely because it was his habit to do everything as well as possible.

On the other hand, many a man who is lamenting his ill fortune, and don't know what to attribute it to, owes it to some such carelessness in the way of doing his work as that which doomed the young carpenter to a summer of profitless idleness.

Men are by no means always told by what particular act they are judged; but any good performance is always liable to make, and any bad performance is always liable to mar, a fortune.

Let Them Alone.

Never rob one of the good opinion of himself. It is the most cruel thing you can do. Moreover, it is by no means doing as you would be done by. Crush a woman's self-esteem and you make her cross-grained and snappish. Do the same to a man, and you make him morose. You may mean to create a sweet, humble creature, but you will never do it. The people who think best of themselves are apt to be best. Women grow pretty believing they are so, and fine qualities often crop out after one has been told one has them. It only gratifies a momentary spite to force your own unfavorable opinion of him deep into another's mind. It never did any good. Ah! if this world full of ugly people, and awkward people, of silly people, and vain people, knew their own deficiencies, what a sitting in sackcloth and ashes we would have. The greatest of all things that a man can have is a satisfactory identity. If that which he calls I pleases him it is well with him; otherwise he is perfectly wretched. Let your fellow beings alone; hold no truthful mirrors before their eyes unless with a pure intention to uproot sin; so may a mirror never without a flaw be prepared for you. In those things we cannot help, may we ever be blind to our own shortcomings. We are neither ugly nor awkward, nor uninteresting to ourselves, if we do not know it. A fool may have the wisdom of Solomon in his own conceit. Let him be, and the path to the grave will be easier for him to tread; you will be no worse, he no better. Leave every man as much self-esteem as his conscience will allow him to cherish. It may be a pleasure to enlighten folks as to their faults of mind and person, but it is certainly not a duty.

The Bright Side.

Look on the bright side. It is the right side. The times may be hard, but it will make them no easier to wear a gloomy and sad countenance. It is the sunshine, and not the cold, that gives beauty to the flower. There is always before or around us that which should cheer and fill the hearth with warmth and gladness. The sky is blue ten times where it is black once. You have troubles it may be. So have others. None are free from them—and perhaps it is as well that none should be. They give sinew and tone to life—fortune and courage to man. That would be a dull sea, and the sailor would never acquire skill, were there nothing to disturb its surface. It is the duty of every one to extract all the enjoyment he can from within and without him, and, above all, he should look on the bright side. What though things do look a little dark? The lane will have a turning, and the night will end in broad day. In the long run the great balance rights itself. What appears ill becomes well—that which appears wrong, right.

The habit of virtue cannot be formed in a closet. Habits are formed by acts of reason, in perservering struggle through temptation.

What Gold Cannot Buy.

A late author very truthfully says:—"Gold cannot buy happiness, and the parents who compel their daughters to marry for station or money commit a grievous sin against humanity and God. And a woman who marries a churl for his wealth will find that she has made a terrible bargain—that all the glitter are of a heartless grandeur are phosphorescent glitterings of heart-wretchedness; that her life will be one gilded misery, that her old age will be like a crag on the bleak side of desert mountain, where cold moonbeams sometimes glitter, but no birds sing, but wild storms howl and thunders roar and through the sweeping storms shall be heard the stern voice of the Almighty, saying, 'Your riches are corrupted, your garments are moth eaten, your gold and silver are cankered, and the rust of them shall be a witness aganist you, and eat your flesh as if it were fire.'"

The Blues.

"Do you ever have the blues," asks a sufferer from that malady, "and is there a cure for them?" Certainly; plenty of them; just as there are for chills and fever, but in like manner they will not always work. We know one man who walks off an attack, another who rows it off, another who rides it off in the saddle. These are all dyspeptics. The same prescriptions, aided perhaps by lemon juice or diluted nitro muriatic acid, often proves effective in the case of bilious folk. When the cause is, as it often is, nervous exhaustion, a good remedy is cessation of all work, religious and secular, plenty of sleep, and if the constitution can bear it, cold water bathing. Always an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, for it is not an easy task to fight off the blues. Misfortune, sorrow, individual temperament, and even the accidents of wind and weather, often combine to weigh down the soul until, in extreme instances, insanity may be the result. But there is no rule to cure every one; each must find out what is the most effectual in his own case, and presevere with it to the end.

A Mistake.

There are hundreds of well meaning but thoughtless country people who require their children to work on the farm when they ought to be in school, thus robbing them of the inestimable benefit of a good education. Two boys of the same age and ability start for school in May. One attends every day, rain or shine, during that term of four or five months, and is supplied with books according to his capabilities; the other comes one day and stays away two or three, and then possibly comes three or four more. His excuses are often amusing when we take into consideration the age and size of the little man. He has "had to help plan," or "log off a piece for potatoes," or "help ma," or "pick berries." His schooling averages about two days of the week. At the close of the term there is an examination. The first-mentioned lad has made rapid progress in his studies. The foundation stone is laid for an intelligent, useful man. How is it with his companion? His advancement is scarcely perceptible. Who is to blame? Not the boy, and certainly not the teacher. Has the little farmer earned enough to pay for his lack of school culture? Emphatically no! he has suffered an incaculable loss. Until a child has well entered his teens, he should be allowed to attend school during ten months of the year. At fifteen the boy or girl is strong enough to be of use, while at the same time they will be capable of learning by practice and observation what they have before learned only in theory. And many a lad or lass would lay up a fund of useful knowledge during the evenings and odd days when otherwise unemployed, that would be a perpetual fountain of usefulness during all their lives. Whereas the child who has an occasional day, or week, or month at school, even from the time he is five years old until he is twenty-one, will have a very limited amount of knowledge with which to begin a business life; and undoubtedly he will be obliged to knock about the world doing the drudgery of his former companions,—looked upon as a sort of ignoramus in spite of using his best energies.

Gems of Thought.

Greatness appeals to the future.

No person is either so happy or so unhappy as he imagines.

Flattery is like base coin; it impoverishes him who receives it.

We must have great merit to be virtuous only in our own eyes.

Superstition is but the fear of belief; religion is the confidence.

The first indication of domestic happiness is the love of one's home.

Eyes raised towards heaven are always beautiful, whatever they be.

Sweep first before your own door, ere you sweep before your neighbors's.

Perhaps to know what friendship is, we should have experienced love.

Old age of the mind, how difficult to reconcile with youth of the heart.

Take away ambition and vanity and where will be your heroes or patriots?

It is almost as difficult to make a man unlearn his errors as his knowledge.

If a good face is a letter of recommendation, a good heart is a letter of credit.

Habit is a cable. We weave a thread of it every day, and at last we cannot break it.

The sickness of the heart is most easily got rid of by complaining and soothing confidence

All other knowledge is hurtful to him who has not honesty and good nature.

Kindness is stowed away in the heart like rose leaves in a drawer, to sweeten every object around them.

"Thou shalt not be found out," is not one of God's commandments, and no man can be saved by trying to keep it.

Real friendship is a slow grower, and never thrives unless engrafted upon a stock of known and reciprocal merit.

The heart is like a musical instrument of many strings, all the chords of which require putting in harmony.

The more we practise virtue the dearer it becomes, as two friends love each other the more, the more they know each other.

We are never more deceived than when we mistake gravity for greatness, solemnity for science, and prosperity for erudition.

Grief knits two hearts in closer bonds than happiness ever can, and common sufferings are far stronger links than common joys.

Great souls attract sorrow as mountains do storms. But the thunder-clouds break upon them, (and they thus form a shelter for the plains around.

The marble palace is not always the bower of love. Every kind word is a flower which will beautify our final home. Every good deed is an evergreen, which will mark any resting place.

It appears to be among the laws of nature that the mighty of intellect should be pursued and carped at by the little, as the flight of one great is followed by the twittering petulance of many smaller.

Every human soul has a germ of some flowers within, and they would open if they could only find sunshine and free air to expand in. I always told you that not having enough of sunshine was what ailed the world. Make people happy, and there will not be half the quarrelling or a tenth part of the wickedness there is.

Accustom yourself to think vigorously. Mental capital, to be worth anything, must be well invested—must be rightly adjusted and applied, and to this end, careful, deep, and intense thought is necessary if great results are looked for. There is no such thing as standing still in this world. Change is the eternal law of nature.

When the dusk of evening had come on, and not a sound disturbed the sacred stillness of the place; when the moon poured in her light on tomb and monument, on pillar, wall and arch, and most of all, it seemed to them, upon her white grave; in that calm time, when all outward things and inward thoughts teem with assurances of immortality, and worldly hopes and fears are humbled in the dust before them, then, with tranquil and submissive hearts they turned away and left the child with God.

Ghost Stories.

Of all the abominable practices of which sensible grown people can be guilty, that of telling ghost stories to children is the most abominable.

The man who would do it ought to be tied up in a dark cellar, and be danced around by a troop of Jack-o'-lanterns till daybreak; and the woman who would do it ought to be obliged to forego spring hats and pull-backs, and dress in ghostly white the rest of her life.

Who believes in ghosts? Does anybody? Did any person living ever see one, without the help of the imagination?

Children's minds are new—they easily receive impressions, and first impressions are lasting. What unimaginable terrors the poor little things have suffused through the indiscretion of their elders in repeating before them some silly story in which a ghost figured.

They learn to be afraid of the dark. They will not go to bed without some one to sit beside them until sleep comes, lest the ghost may put in an appearance. And if they wake in the night they cover their heads in the bed-clothes, and lie still and tremble and sweat, and wish they could hear somebody's rooster crow, so that they could be sure morning was coming.

Grown people thoughtlessly repeat stories of the super national, and descant upon signs, before children, never dreaming of the trouble and distress they are causing.

Not long ago, a sweet little girl came to me with tears in her eyes and terror on her face, and in trembling tones asked me if we believed that breaking a looking-glass was a sign of death.

Upon questioning her, she told us with a great deal of evident distress that she had broken a mirror, and that her aunt told her it was a sure sign of death in the family, and the poor child's nearest relative being a dearly beloved mother, her fears had turned to her, and she was well-nigh distracted at the thought of losing her. She had not slept the whole night before, she said, and we mentally wished that we had the power to put that idiotic old aunt into a straght jacket, and feed her on broken looking-glasses "till the day of Pentecost."

One sign we believe in sincerely—when you find a person who is continually croaking about this thing and that being a sign of coming misfortune or death, it is a sure sign that there is something lacking about the mind of that person.

Can any reasonable, sensible man believe that if God was about to take us hence, He would cause us to break a looking-glass in order to warn us? Would he send us an intimation of what was coming by the tick of an insect in the wall? or the crowing of a broken-up sitting hen on the door-step?

Let us be done with such absurdities!

Life is too real, too earnest, to be fooled away in such manner as this. Let the other world alone? God will take care of it. If He had designed us to know about it, things would have been arranged so that we could have understood without the agency of table tippings, bell ringings and the waving of spirit hands through cabinets curtained with green cambric, and made to conceal "presences" who are engaged in the business which most of this world's people follow—making money.

But let us intreat you—whatever absurdities of ghost and spirit conversations you may indulge in let it not be before children—for you make them unhappy, and plant within them the germs of a supernatural fear, which will torment them all through life.

Old Clothes.

It is wonderful what an amount of adaptabilitity there is in old clothes, and how readily they consent to be made over, brushed up, washed, sponged, dyed or otherwise rejuvenated till it would almost require an expert, to tell that they were not new. A cunning hand can indeed make a very representable garment from two old ones; and who of us has bestowed some ancient garment upon our washer or herb woman, but is more or less amazed to see to what good account she turns it, how, fairly it awards her pains, and what a lesson drops from the folds of this bit of cast off clothing?

If there are sermons in stones, old clothes preach to us some times, as well. There is a charm, perhaps, in wearing them which those who make haste to put on new ones fail to recognize; there is always the certain pleasure of saving the new ones; at least the surety that no accident of the day can greatly afflict us; that we are not obliged to move in deference to our attire; that we can ramble in the woods without anxiety; that neither sun nor rain can disturb our tranquility; that a careless or awkward neighbor at table has no alarms for us.

In our clothes we can romp with the children, and little fingers where bread and molasses yet linger have no terrors for us. If we need to transplant our flowers, to weed the garden, to pick the peas for dinner, how plainly precept and example point to the old clothes! how comfortable we are in them! Is is the old shoe that never pinches or squeaks, the old gown that never interrupts digestion or peace of mind, the old glove that has shaped itself to the hand, the old cloak that advertises our approaches to our neighbors, and give them notice to change the babies apron and set the room to rights, the old hat that is not afraid to be caught in a shower. They have adapted themselves to our requirements they suit us as nothing new was ever known to do.

"If you have any enterprise before you, try it in your old clothes," says the sage of Wadden Woods; yet such is the common prejudice against them, that a stranger thus appareled would fall under some suspicion among us; being in the possession of no data from which to infer her social and mental position, we would naturally accept the antiquity of her clothes as a certificate in inferiority. At the same time, this fact in no way diminishing the ability of old clothes to confer a happy go-lucky mood upon the wearer, who is not obliged to mind his p's and q's for fear of ruffling his plumage.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUG. 17.

THE TENDERING SYSTEM.

Among other principles advocated when in opposition by Mr. Mackenzie was that all tenders should be given to the lowest tenderer. In enforcing that opinion, he said :—

"The lowest tenders should always be accepted, and that the people were robbed of their hard earned taxes when a Minister of Public Works conferred upon partizans and favorites contracts that legitimate tenderers offered to take at a lower figure."

After obtaining power, in exalting his own virtue he said :—

"I assert, in the first place, that since the inauguration of the present Government, the most scrupulous care has been taken to have the contract system so administered that it would be difficult, if not impossible, for the public contractors who are friends of the Government to obtain any advantage, or that public contractors, who are opponents of the Government, should suffer any wrong in the administration of that Department."

Following and preceding this he called for tenders for certain sections of the Welland Canal, setting aside the tenders which were already in the department, for the same week, and here is the result :

Tenders received by the late Government.		Tenders received by the present Government with 5 per cent security.
Sec. 2.	$325,000	Sec. 2.	$396,565
3.	291,000	3.	328,315
5.	266,825	5.	312,465
6.	70,000	6.	68,000
7.	251,770	7.	283,935
13.	270,950	13.	313,160
14.	271,950	14.	292,395
Total	$1,747,495	Total	$1,994,835
			1,747,495
		Difference	$247,440

This difference is just 14 per cent, in excess of the offers to the late Government. But Grit contractors got the money, and that is sufficient for the Grit party.

OUTRAGE BY WRECKERS.—Mr. Lewis, of Buffalo, who has arrived in Montreal from the coast of Labrador, states that a schooner called the Maricabo, of Boston, on which he was a passenger, was wrecked on the night of the 28th ult. on Isle aux Bois, a small island on the French coast, and on the next day the inhabitants, all of whom were armed, made a descent upon the vessel and carried everything off belonging to her.

EMIGRATION TO CYPRUS.—The English population of Egypt seems to look on Cyprus some what in the same manner that Americans regarded California when the gold fever broke out. There is a regular exodus from Alexandria to that island, as if the English occupation of Cyprus had suddenly changed it to a paradise. The run from Alexandria for one fare is three [illegible] do liars.

THE QUEEN'S GIFT TO QUEBEC.—Lord Dufferin has received by the English mail from Queen Victoria £10,000, Her Majesty's gift to Quebec, for the construction of that portion of the Dufferin improvements to be called Kent gate, after her illustrious father Edward Duke of Kent, who resided there for several years of his life. His Excellency stated he was convinced the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise would prosecute the work with even more vigor than he had, and would probably build for themselves the contemplated chateau St. Louis within the citadel enclosure on the Loretto road.

THE AUSTRALIAN EXHIBITION.—Canadians of course, will not forget the exhibition which is to take place in Sidney, Australia, twelve months hence. It is very important the products of the Dominion should be well represented on that occasion. There is abundant time for preparation, but it is as well to keep the matter in mind An interest has already been created among our distant fellow-subjects in Canadian produce and manufactures and, with proper exertion, there is no reason why this interest should not be maintained and turned to profitable account.

News Condensed.

THE NATIONAL POLICY.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A public meeting under the auspices of th Dominion National League, was held in the City Hall last evening. There was a goodly turn-out of our citizens, and all present appeared to manifest great attention to the speakers and their remarks.

The meeting commenced at 8 o'clock, with the nomination of Thos. Wills, Esq., M.P.P., as Chairman.

The Chairman, in opening the meeting, said he trusted that as this was a public meeting, all would be given a fair and impartial hearing,—and he would invite those on the side of "Free Trade" and "Protection" to come forward and explain their ideas on these questions, and gave them a fair chance to discuss their views.

Mr. A. H. Roe was the first speaker, and was received with applause. He remarked that he had been called on to address the public in this section of the country, and he was glad now that the question had got down to Protection and Free Trade. He animadverted on the character of the pronunciamento made by a certain daily paper issued here against him, and asked, amidst applause, whether or not his appearance endorsed the statements made in that paper. Truth was the object to be aimed at in those discussions, and although arguments might be adduced in support of Free Trade, yet other satisfactory statements might be made in support of Protection. The question now was who pays the duty, and it was a difficult one to satisfy all on that matter. On the question of barley he contended that inasmuch as the barley required in the United States was for the greater part grown in the Canada,—that inasmuch as horses were required in the United States, throwing the duties consequent thereon, shipments were made, and as a result the seller had to pay the duty. As for corn, distillers don't buy it here, and our rye can't compete with it, and the result is to our detriment. The Finance Minister had contended that by a levy duty on corn illicit distillation was augmented, but in his opinion that would not follow, as Mr. Cartwright had contended that he would only put a duty of 2½ per cent. on it. With regard to manufactures ,he contended that many farmers as well as merchants should be protected. With regard to the fallacies gotten up in the pamphlets sent and published in the Grit journals he argued that though on the face of them it appeared that the revenue would decrease, such was not the case. In support of his ideas the speaker contended and showed by figures that protection as far as iron was concerned was detrimental to this country and its interest. What applied to a store-keeper would apply to creation and the doctrine would be good if the balance of trade were in our favor, whereas it is not. The balance of trade is now in favor of England because she does all the carrying trade. He gave statistics exhibiting a decrease in Canadian trade as compared with American trade and read a similar exhibit where a protective tariff was in his opinion detrimental to the interest of the people in the United States. The people had paid more taxes in the seven years they had in 100 years. He quoted several authors which unmistakeably showed that protection was beneficial to certain countries and they thrived thereon. In support of his statement sugar in France was only [illegible] by protection. It was not fair to allow the Americans to send their boots and shoes to this country free when our own manufacturers made equally skilled work. In the matter of cheese the duty exacted made an industry that has proved generally beneficial to this country. In a like manner salt was now had cheaper than it has been had, because, of the duty exacted on American salt. We should take advantage of the experience of Americans and profit there from. It was contended that the reason tramps existed was because of over production in the States, but this was not the case, for had inflation not existed and the contemplated improvements in railways and other large work, not been made, such people would not be known. Strikes had occurred in Great Britain in Quebec, in other places as well as the States.

A Voice.—Why do our people go there ?

Mr. Roe continued and showed that the tide of emigration was toward that country, and evidenced an instance where a manufacturer in his city was forced to leave and seek a home in the United States. The effect of Protection has hereby built up monopolies and the consequence is—in England, as far as this case goes—if a poor man sets up he must evaporate. Our manufactures result from competition, and as a consequence American goods are now asked for even in this town in preference to English goods. The Americans are transplanting the English trade in this country, and are fast benefitting from it Every article used in the shipping interests of the U. S. was entered free, and therefore he asked why did Protection injure the shipping interests of that country. He showed that during the war the British shipping interests were developed, and they grew in large proportions during that time. The employer and employee should go hand in hand, and it was necessary that such should be done. To buy in the cheapest and sell in the dearest market would make us eventually compete with the serfs of Russia and the Hottentots of Africa ; and were such a doctrine endorsed it would be to our detriment. If his arguments were right, he hoped they would be received and carefully weighed—and if not, they would be heard in another spirit. Mr. Roe here took his seat amid loud greetings of approval.

A number of gentlemen were here invited to the platform, and amidst applause several went forward. Among them was Dr. Potts, who remarked that he would like to speak—say in a week hence—in answer to the arguments adduced.

Mr. David Price came forward and spoke of the manufacture of Canadian goods, and this brought Mr. Roe forward, and he in reply showed that it was through protection the country was to be assisted and developed.

Mr. J. S. Larke was next introduced. He remarked that the question of protection had long been under discussion and therefore all should be prepared for it now. All should now hear discussions on this matter with an unprejudiced mind. It was a question, not whether the present administration had administered our affairs rightly or not, but whether the question now under discussion was right or not. When men who aim to guide you are dishonest then it is only right that you should look into their actions and judge them accordingly. Patriotism should rise above personal feelings, and this he showed by instancing the conduct of a man in South Ontario, who setting aside the privileges of relationship and its sequences, asserted that he would support a candidate whose ideas would be calculated to improve the interests of Canada. In our country the protection of manufacturers is gradually lessening and if we are only to have one branch of industry, those who wish to engage in manufacturing must seek other fields, and the results are that our people go to other countries, even without bonuses, and therefore diversified occupations must be given them at home in order to keep them. One nation that depends on another is a vassal of that and hence when that nation's credit goes down the other should have the manufacturers to supply itself. The intelligence, prosperity and growth of any nation depends on its manufacturers. Spain has a small population in proportion to its square miles, France larger, England still larger, Belgium yet larger, and still France through protection to its manufacturers has progressed ; and if we are worthy of the nation to which we belong we must adopt a policy like that of the United States, and those who decry England their mouths would then be stopped. Free Trade says capital will concentrate, whereas it does not in ways do so, although that is the general tendency. English capitalists have deemed it expedient to transfer their business to the United States, to our detriment. Let us adopt the policy of the United States and tell the people of England that we want the people who go away from there to manufacture to come here. Of late our purchases from the United States are greater than those we made from Great Britain, and if we could get those who go to the United States to come and settle here and manufacture their goods, then the coming of such people would be to our benefit. England's policy in times past was ultra protection, but then at that time she was an agricultural country, but after experience it was shown that it would be beneficial to those manufacturers whose products were consumed in England to go to England, and they did so. Now Canada acted on what England did in the same way and asked manufacturers to seek its shores. Through a protective policy England had built up its marine service, and it was only through exertions deep and strong that that work had been accomplished. Free Trade does not destroy a shipping trade, for a shipping nation cannot be made out of an agricultural nation. Ship required ballast and unless they obtained it the interest of the shippers must suffer. In railway matters, roads must depend on local freights instead of taking the freights that they now receive in the railway wars. If protection is had we don't want it ; if it is good we should have it. Such things as we cannot make should have their taxes transferred to articles in the manufacture of which we can compete with others. The industries of Ireland diminished whilst those of England had increased ; the population of the former had largely decreased whilst that of the latter had increased. This was attributable to the over manufacture in England whilst Ireland was solely an agricultural country and it had to depend on foreign countries—at one time at least for support. It has since grown down and its population has spread itself in other countries. How to hold our own was this ; we have the intellect and the talent to over ride cheap labor, but one must have the manufactures, it is solely through protection that our intelligence can be made to compete with the labor of other countries. What is wanted is to induce the laboring man to come here and we want him here to work at what is wanted in this country, and when it is obtained, then will the laborer prosper. The South opposed free trade because it was against slavery. It was England's manifestoes that broke down Napoleon, and later on Russia, and let us emulate England's policy. We will follow her footsteps, and not favor or follow the footsteps of those who are now in power. (Great applause.)

Dr. Hope followed. He contended that the statements made had not been fairly put, and that the speakers had been sent here by the U. E. Club. The question in his mind, and the true question, was whether there should be a revenue tariff or a protective tariff. He contended that the present Government had raised the tariff and made it 17½ instead of 15 per cent, and now nothing had been said as to what extent protection was to go. This Protection policy was merely a pretext to get to the Treasury benches. Protection was a sham, whether it was done by his political friends or his opponents. In his opinion it was madness to impose additional taxes on the people, if the business of the country could be carried on with a duty of 17½ per cent.

Hon. Lewis Wallbridge came forward amidst loud applause. He thanked the audience for their manifestations of pleasure on his appearance, and added that the meeting was not political. The advertisements called for a general meeting, and the speakers had been heard courteously and attentively. Dr. Hope had shown that the country prospered by protection, yet he favored the policy at present in force. We can't follow in England's wake because it can't raise breadstuffs enough, but it sends us manufactures in exchange for what we send it. We raise more than we want, and therefore our interests are diametrically opposite to hers. England admitted breadstuffs free for her people's benefit. No country has better facilities for manufacturing than ours ; our water power is cheaper than coal and steam ; the Trent has a water power equal to half the water power in the world doing nothing ; here our river is doing nothing ; the same at Shannonville, and all the power cheaper than coal by far. The same existed at Napanee, where the power was also cheaper than coal, and yet these privileges were not worked. Our Finance Minister has a deficit now every year instead of as it was when the late Government was in power. When our Finance Minister goes to England he should not come back and tell us that he has shown the bright side, and then tell us that he is not the character to make such a remark, and such a statement should not be made. If those who wish to work for a few cents a day want a free trade policy they will vote for the present Government, but if they do not they will vote to the contrary. When manufactories do not exist we want protection, but when we have manufactories established then let us have free trade. A protectionist policy was the only safe thing until manufacturing is established here. When we can produce we don't want a duty until we can manufacture such articles as those we have to import, but we do not at present manufacture certain articles, then we must have protection until we can manufacture.

Mr. Larke here remarked that for Dr. Hope's information he would state that in the Hansard of 1876, Mr. Cartwright disclaimed any favor towards incidental protection.

Hon. Lewis Wallbridge moved a vote of thanks to Messrs. Roe and Larke for their eloquent remarks.

Mr. Bowell in a brief speech seconded the resolution. He commented on the remarks of Dr. Hope and showed that the statements of that gentleman savored more of party-ism than policy. The reasons for the raising of the tariff from 15 to 17½ per cent were because the necessities of the country demanded it, whilst an increase of the tariff before that time was not necessary, as there was a surplus each preceding year. The Free Trade doctrine was so weak in this Riding that the Government party could not bring out a man opposed to protection. He (the speaker) was always a Protectionist—as a matter of principle and not from expediency—and he was glad to know that one party was willing to test the opinion of the people on that point. He was going through this campaign on this question pure and simple, and to those who did not accord with him on this subject he would say vote for his opponent. He was convinced that any one who would study this question calmly—in this country or in any new country—would wish their manufacturing industries treated as a parent would treat its child. Free Trade, like other things, was unworkable, and as for the matter of paying the duty that is guided and governed by the market and supply. He trusted that the tariff would be so readjusted that the industries of this country would go on and grow like those of our neighbors across the line.

The resolution was then put and carried, and the proceedings of the evening came to a close.

The Wheat Crop

ITS CONDITION IN ALL PARTS OF THE UNITED STATES.

WASHINGTON, D. C, Aug. 15,—Late returns to the Department of Agriculture show a decline in the average condition of spring wheat from 106 in July to 75 in August. The excessive heat of July indicted very great injury upon the crops of the north-west, and especially in Minnesota, where the promise of crops is reduced to a little more than half an average. The heat especially affected late sown wheat. In some counties the harvest was delayed by rains until the grain was over ripe. Nebraska suffered less than other portions of the north west spring wheat region, and over that average condition was depressed 10 per cent. The California conditions of growth deteriorated during July especially on the western slope of the coast range. The spring wheat region of the east report a much higher condition than the north-west. The general average condition of corn on August 1st was 96 against 100 in July. The Atlantic States north of North Carolina have generally shown an improvement. In the South Atlantic States the season is generally more beneficial to later plantings, while on the Gulf Coast the earlier plantings, which were greatly in the majority, employed especial advantages. Texas correspondents speak of the season as the most propitious for many years. On the eastern slope of the Mississippi Valley wet and dry weather alternate in contiguous zones, affecting the crop very differently, generally showing a decline south of the Ohio River, and improvement north of it. West of the Mississippi the most marked feature is prevalence of rain in what was called the Great American Desert. All States of this region except Missouri show an improvement during July. The crops of the Pacific Slope is full average on irrigated lands.

City and Vicinity.

CHRIST CHURCH.—Rev. Canon Bleasdell will preach at Christ Church to-morrow morning and evening.

CHEESE SHIPMENT.—Last week Mr. A. A. Davis, of Napanee, shipped for Liverpool direct, to the order of Thos. Walkins, Belleville, 800 boxes of cheese.

PRINCE EDWARD RAILWAY.—The Picton Gazette says :—"Just before going to press, we learn that Mr. Manning, Jr., has arrived in Picton, and purposes remaining here for some time to overcome the work on our Railway. Our doubting friends will yet be forced to believe that the present contractor means business."

THE MARKET.—The market to-day was the largest of the season. Every available spot inside was occupied, and wagons were ranged for some distance on Pinnacle St. in addition to the market square being completely filled. The supply of fruit was very large, plums, apples and pears being in great abundance.

A WISE MOVEMENT.—The Grand Trunk Railway authorities have wisely posted printed notices in the vicinity of the stations, warning all parties who propose to themselves the luxury of a promenade on the track that they will be liable to a fine. This is a commendable proceeding, and if the regulation is strictly enforced, will tend to diminish the accidents and loss of life that frequently happen.

NEW BOOK.—We have received from Mr. C. R. Vannorman a new work just published by Rowsell & Hutchison, Toronto, entitled Recollections and Experiences of an Abolitionist from 1855 to 1865, By A. M. Ross, M.D. The work is well written, is very entertaining, and will no doubt command an extensive sale.

RUNAWAY.—This morning a horse belonging to Levi Taylor, and attached to a waggon, ran away on Front Street. The runaway collided with Mr. J. A. Clark's butcher cart and Ross & Davis' delivery waggon, slightly damaging the former and smashing the latter. The animal was caught before any further damage was done.

BIG YIELD.—A mistake occurred in the following paragraph, which we reproduce as corrected. The yield was 22,533 grains instead of 2,533. Mr. Wm. Ferguson, of Madoc, last fall obtained forty-nine grains of eight-rowed barley from a friend, and this spring sowed it in drills, hoeing it instead of cultivating it in the usual manner. From these 49 grains, there were 310 stalks and 22,533 grains of barley showing an enormous yield.

BROKE HIS LEG.—Yesterday evening whilst two men named Bernard Hodgins and Paul Smith were sitting in the gangway between Hambly's and the Anglo-American Hotel, a load of hay entered the gangway, Hodgins failed to observe the waggon, and one of the wheels passed over his leg breaking it. Dr. Farley was at once sent for, and attended to the injured man, who was this morning reported to be doing as well as could be expected.

A VALUABLE INVENTION.—The Telegraphic Journal describes a contrivance for rendering the numbers of houses visible by night, which has come into quite general use in Paris. It consists of a hollow triangular prism, nine inches long, two of whose sides are formed of panes of blue glass, on which the number of the house is picked out in white, and this prism-shaped lamp-glass rests against the front of the house, so that the two sides with the numbers on them can be plainly seen by the passers-by.

THE BROCKVILLE REGATTA.—A gentleman from Belleville who witnessed the regatta at Brockville on Thursday says it was one of the greatest farces imaginable. All the yachts started with little or no ballast and large crews on board, a good breeze being expected. When the wind died away numbers of men jumped overboard to lighten the boats on which they sailed, and swam to the shore, whilst the Victorine, which won the race, tied up to a wharf during a dead calm, and the other competitors drifted down with the current. This may be considered yachting in Brockville, but on the Bay of Quinte and on the Lake it is regarded as a burlesque on that noble sport.

THE QUEEN'S VISIT TO GERMANY.—When the Queen goes to Germany toward the end of August or beginning of September, her route will be, first of all to Darmstadt, to visit Princess Alice. This will be a very short visit, and after a day or two's rest her Majesty will go on to Saxe-Coburg-Gotha to stop at Schloss Rosenau, where her Majesty will remain several weeks. While at Schloss Rosenau the Queen will receive as guests the Crown Prince of Germany and Victoria his wife; also, their now lymarried daughter, Princess Charlotte. Her Majesty will be accompanied by Princess Beatrice and Prince Leopold.

MUNICIPAL DEPUTATION TO LORD DUFFERIN.—We notice by a circular addressed to the heads of Municipal corporations, that His Excellency has expressed his willingness to receive the joint deputations of the various Municipal Corporations of Ontario on the 5th of September. The fare to Quebec from Toronto by boat and return by rail has been fixed at the low figure of $10, and at all points east of Toronto at a single fare for the double journey. We understand it is the intention of several of our City Aldermen to accompany the Mayor on that occasion. It will in all probability be the great social event of the season, and the demonstration will be a fitting close to the wonderful career of our Governor-General.

Cricket Match.

A cricket match was played on the ground here between the Onondaga club of Syracuse and the Belleville Club yesterday.

The Syracuse club was sent to the willow and in the first part of the innings made some good batting, Millward making 18, and Vine 10, but the batting throughout was not equally good, and their first innings was over for 53. Belleville going to the bat it seemed at first as if their defeat was certain, as they were being disposed of in a summary manner, one wicket being down for a duck egg, two for 1 run, three for 3 runs, four for 9 runs, five for 12 runs, and six for 18 runs, when Savage and Maybee made a stand, running the score up to 68, when Savage was caught at long field.

The score of the Belleville Club was 85 in their first innings; the double numbers were Savage 30 and Maybee 15.

The Syracuse club then went to the bat and their last stump fell for 47, of which Millward made 11 and Hargraves 18.

The Belleville club going then to the bat soon scored 18, which was more than necessary to ensure victory, with 6 wickets to spare.

SYRACUSE — 1st Innings — Millward c. Reeves b. Peden, 18; Hargraves run out 6; Smart c. Jenkins b. Thomas 0; C Vine st. Clark 10; Castle run out 1; Newick c. Savage b. Milla 6; Mooro b. WHAT THE NEW WORLD SUPPLIES TO THE OLD.—The cargo of the lost ocean steamship Idaho gives some idea of what America is now contributing to the old world. Her cargo comprised 141 packages of agricultural implements, 77,000 pounds of bacon, 98 packages of clocks, 17,000 bushels of corn, 1,900 bales of cotton, 94 bales of hops, 58 horses, 200 tons of fresh meat, 75 tierces of salt meat, 2 cases of machinery, 9 pianos, 12 kegs of ink, 25,000 bushels of wheat, 12 packages of manufactured wool. This was the bulk of the ship's cargo, but did not embrace the entire bill. It is sufficiently varied to show to what an almost unlimited extent the New is contributing to the necessities and comfort of the Old.

The man who meanders up to the third story of a printing office to see the man who "wrote that piece," and finds the man has just started out on his holidays, is an object of pity.

Newspaper paragraphers are expected to get up fresh jokes every day, but a circus clown with five times the salary can run the same old joke 4,000,000 years and always fools to laugh at it.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—John Hilliard, commission merchant, of Washington, accidentally fell into a swamp near the road, in Jersey City and being unable to extricate himself was suffocated before help reached him.

The loss by the flood in Eureka Nev. was $60,000. No lives lost.

A Louisville special says: General Waltham and thirty others left Grenada and arrived, there they report only three doors open last Monday, those of a saloon keeper, the doctor and the undertaker. The panic there was frightful.

Two yellow fever deaths are reported in Cincinnati, on Thursday, and one in Covington, K'y.

A Tribune letter from Reading says that city is the headquarters of the Knights of Labor, that the order is secret and now numbers 800,000 members, oath bound, and that their object is to secure work for members and assist them when out of work. The organized strikes make themselves felt in politics in order to include Catholics. The latter are given to understand that the oath is not binding at the confessional."

A London special says the attempted assassination of the Russian Chief of Police is the subject of comment here. The theory is advanced that it was the work of secret socialists, and was in retaliation for the execution of Hoedel at Berlin. A bond of sympathy is said to exist between the secret societies of Russia, Germany and France, and the fact that Hoedel's sentence was to be carried out was known in St. Petersburg this morning. It is said that both Hoedel and Dr. Nobeling, who is soon to meet Hoedel's fate, are in association with Russian societies.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17.—The assassins of Mezentzow fired upon Gen. Markaroff, the Chief of Gensd'armes, who endeavored to arrest the assassins after they stabbed the chief of police. From this circumstance arose the first report that Mezentzow was killed by a pistol.

GRENADA, Miss., Aug. 17.—The scenes in this plague-stricken town for the past twenty-four hours beggar description. The strongest men and women and helpless children are sick, dying, or dead. It is pitiful to see entire families prostrated and swept away in a few hours. Official death list for past 24 hours, 176. The population has decreased to a little over 200.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—A London special says:—It is believed the assassination Russian Chief of Police was revenged for the execution of Hodel, as he and Nobeling we believe, have been in association with the Russian socialists.

The striking spinners of the Paterson silk mills were mostly boys and nearly all received a whipping from their mothers when they went home on Thursday night, and were sent to work again yesterday.

The six out-going E steamships sailed early to-day, taking unusual cargoes, produce including: 200,0 bushels grain; 62,000 boxes cheese; 650 sheep; 100 head of cattle; 80 tons sole leather, for Russia and a large quantity of tobacco for Germany.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 17.—The Chicago and Alton Road, freight-house and offices, on Riverbank, East St. Louis, were burned.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate to fresh winds, and clear to partly cloudy weather. For the St. Lawrence, moderate winds, and partly cloudy weather, with rain areas. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate winds, partly cloudy weather, with local areas.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Indications:—Cloudy followed by clearing weather.

THE JOLLY OLD PEDAGOGUE.

'Twas a jolly old pedagogue, long ago,
Tall and slender and sallow and dry;
His form was bent, and his gait was slow,
His long, thin hair was as white as snow,
But a wonderful twinkle shone in his eye;
And he sang every night as he went to bed,
"Let us be happy down here below;
The living should live though the dead be dead!"
Said the jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

He taught his scholars the rule of three,
Writing and reading and history, too:
He took the little ones up on his knee,
For a kind old heart in his breast had he,
And the wants of the littlest child he knew.
"Learn when your young," he often said,
"There's much to enjoy down here below,
Life for the living and rest for the dead,"
Said the jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

With the stupidest boys he was kind and cool,
Speaking only in the gentlest tones,
The rod was hardly known in his school—
Whipping to him was a barbarous rule,
And too hard work for his poor old bones;
Beside, it was painful, he sometimes said,
"We must make life pleasant here below,
The living need charity more than the dead,"
Said the jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

He lived in the house by the hawthorn lane,
With the roses and woodbine over the door;
His room was quiet, and neat and plain;
But a spirit of comfort there held reign,
And made him forget he was old and poor;
"I need so little," he often said,
"And my friends and relatives, here below
Won't litigate over me when I am dead,"
Said the jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

He smoked his pipe in the balmy air
Every night when the sun went down,
While the soft wind played on his silvery hair,
Leaving its tenderest kisses there,
On the jolly old pedagogue's jolly old crown;
And feeling the kisses he smiled and said,
'Twas a glorious world down here below;
"Why wait for happiness till we are dead?"

He sat at his door one midsummer night,
After the sun had sunk in the West,
And the lingering beams of golden light
Made his kindly old face look warm and bright
While the odorous night wind whispered Rest
Gently, gently he bowed his head;
There were angels waiting for him. I know
He was sure of his happiness living or dead,
This jolly old pedagogue, long ago.

A Family Man's Troubles.

Jasper Throckmorton, who lives out on Sumner Street, is the father of ten children. Yesterday morning Mr. Throckmorton was just on the point of putting on his hat to start for the office, when Mrs. Throckmorton called after him from the kitchen.

"Stop at Sodder's, and tell him to come up and fix the water-pipe, and get a big tin dipper and bring it with you this noon. Don't tell them to send it, they'll forget it."

Mr. Throckmorton said he would, and then he put on his hat and started. As he reached the front door his eldest daughters shouted from up-stairs:—

"Pa! pa! pa! Go to Greenbaum & Schroders and ask Mr. Scott to give you two yards and a-half of brown satin, cut on the bias, to the dress I got last week; he'll know the kind. I don't want to wait for it."

And Mr. Throckmorton, pausing with his hand on the door, said he would get it, and then sighed and opened the door. Just then his eldest son shouted from the sitting room:

"Father! The man was up here twice yesterday for the money for my new boat, and I just gave him a note to you, and he'll call at the office to-day for his money, and will give you a pair of patent oar-locks and a dip-net. Bring them up with you when you come to dinner."

Mr. Throckmorton kind of stifled a groan like, and saying he would attend to it, went out. As he passed down the porch steps, his second daughter leaned out of the front window and cried:

"Oh, pa! do stop at Parsons' as you come to dinner, and tell them to send a man to lay the new hall carpet when they send it up, and you get ten pounds of cotton batting and bring it up with you, for we want it right away and can't wait."

The parent paused with his hand on the gate latch, and with a visible effort promised to remember and bring the cotton batting, and opened the gate. But the voice of his younger son from the side yard, caught his ear and held him a moment.

"Pa, oh pa? Want ten cents to pay for a winder I broke in the school-house, and I can't go to Sunday-school till I get a new hat and some shoes, and please can't I have a quarter to go to the pic-nic?"

Mr. Throckmorton silently registered a flogging for the broken glass, a negative for the pic-nic, and said he would get the boots and hat. Then he turned to go, but as he passed down the street his six younger children came running after him:

"Pa, pa, don't forget to stop and see if the old umbrella's fixed ma says."

"Stop at the dentist's and see when he can fill my teath."

"Bring my shoes home from the shoemakers."

"Ma says to be sure to tell the doctor to come up to-day and vaccinate the baby!"

'Pap! Kin I go swimming in Hawkeye Krick to-night?"

"Pa, on, pa! gimme five cents to ride on the street cars?"

And Mr. Throckmorton went downtown and amazed Fred. Scott by telling him to cut off thirteen feet of water pipe, on the bias, and he asked Mr. Parsons to let him have eleven dozen skins of cotton batting and send him up a man with a tin dipper; he told Dr. Cochram, the dentist, to come right up and fill the baby's teeth, and begged the docter to hurry right away and put a half-sole on the school-house window, and then ran to the shoemaker's and asked him if he had vaccinated his little girl's shoe, and amazed a street-car driver by asking him for a path ticket, and when the man came around with the oar-locks and dipper he told hem to take them up and lay them in the front hall—the girls would show him where. And by 8 in the afternoon it had got all round that old Mr. Throckmorton was drinking as hard as ever again, and hadn't drawn a sober breath all day.—Burlington Hawkeye.

His Melons.

A policeman yesterday discovered a negro and a big watermelon in close company in an alley off Fort street and refusing the tempting slice handed out to him, he said:

"You stole that melon on the market!"

"Dars whar yer off de tow-path, boss—way off one side," was the calm reply.

"Did you buy it? Come along and point out the man you bought it from?"

"No, I didn't buy de melon, boss—I traded fur it."

"What did you trade?"

"Now, boss, what's de use? Heah I is, heah am de melon, an' we am jes' eatin' each odder up like a tornady."

"What did you trade?" persisted the officer.

"Wall, if I mus' tell den I mus'. I traded a mule and a waggin' fur dis melon."

"I dont believe it."

"I spected you would'nt boss, kase you doan' realize like I do how cheap mules and wagin's hez become an' how de price of melons hez scooted up."

"You'll have to come along," said the officer.

"Now boss!"

The officer stepped forward and discovered two more melons behind a box. He turned for an explanation, and the negro said:

"De man frew in dese odder two melons kase I frew in a halter' long wid de mule! De price of halters am way down, boss—way down whar' even de poorest kin have halter soup free times a day!"—Detroit Free Press.

UNCLE REMUS PREACHES TO A CONVERT WHO WAS IN A HURRY TO TAKE UP A COLLECTION.

[Atlanta Constitution.]

"Dey tells me yo' done jine the church," said Uncle Remus to pegleg Charley the other day.

"Yes," responded Charley, gravely, "dat's so."

"Well, I'm mighty glad er dat," said Uncle Remus with unction. "It's 'bout time I war 'spectin' fer to heer un yo' in de chain gang, an' 'stead o' dat it's de chu'ch. Well, dey ain't no tellin' dese days whar a nigger's gwine to lan'."

"Yes," responded Charley, straightening himself up and speaking in a dignified tone, "yes, I'm fixin' to do better. I'm preparin' to shake worliness. I'm dum quit sosbatin' wid dose wite town boys.—Dey-ve been goin' back on me too rapidly here lately, an' now I'm goin' back on dem."

"Well, ef yo' had de speunce on it, I'm mitey glad. Ef yo' got 'lijum, yo' better hol' on to it well de las' day in de mornin'. It's mitey good fer to kyar roun' wid yo' in de day time an' in de nite time. It'll pay yo' mo' dan politics, an' ef yo' stan' up as yo' orter, it'll las' longer'n a bone-fellun. But yo' wanter have one o' dese ole-time grips, an' yo' jes' got to shet yo' eye an' swing on like Mara Baldin's bull terrier."

"Oh, I'm goin to stick, Uncle Remus. Yo' kin bet yo' money on dat. Dese boys can't play no more games on me. I'm fixed. Can't yo' lend me a dime, Uncle to buy a pie. I'm so dat my stomach is gettin' ready to go in mournin'."

Uncle Remus eyed Charley curiously a moment, while the latter looked at his timber toe. Finally the old man sighed and said:

"How long is you' ben in de chu'ch, my son?"

"Mitey near a week," replied Charley.

"Well, lemme tell yo' dis, now, fo' yo' go enny fuder. Yo' ain't ben in dar long 'nuff to go roun' takin' up conterbutions. Wait till yo' git sorter seasoned like, an' den I'll hunt in my cloze an' see ef I can't run out a thrip or two fer yo'. But don't levy taxes too soon."

Charles laughed, and said he would let the old man off if he would treat to a watermelon.

An eminent Scotch dsvine happened to meet two of his parishioners at the house of a lawyer whom he considered too sharp a practitioner. The lawyer jocularly and ungraciously put the question: "Doctor, these are members of your flock; may I ask, do you look upon them as white or black sheep?" "I don't know," answered the divine, dryly, "whether they are white or black sheep, but I know that if they are here long they are pretty sure to be fleeced."

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contains a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

McHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY,
225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Dr, Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

Before Taking. After Taking.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $1, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

CONTINUE their authorized Reprints of

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig),
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW (Conservative),
THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW (Evangelical,
AND
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH REVIEW.

These Reprints are not selections; they give the originals in full, and at about one-third the price of the English Editions.

The latest advances and discoveries in the arts and sciences, the recent additions to knowledge in every department of literature, and all the new publications as they issue from the press, are fully reported and discussed in the pages of these periodicals, in language at once clear, forcible and comprehensive. The articles are commonly more condensed and full of matter than the average books of the period.

Terms for 1878 (including postage

CLUBS.

A discount of twenty per cent. will be allowed to clubs of four or more persons. Thus: four copies of Blackwood or of one Review will be sent to one address for $12.80, four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $48, and so on.

To clubs of ten or more, in addition to the above discount, a copy gratis will be allowed the getter-up of the club.

PREMIUMS.

New subscribers (applying early) for the year 1878 may have, without charge, the numbers for the last quarter of 1877 of such periodicals they may subscribe for.

Or instead, new subscribers to any two, three or four of the above periodicals, may have one of the "Four Reviews" for 1877; subscribers to all five may have two of the "Four Reviews," or one set of Blackwood's Magazine for 1877.

Neither premiums to subscribers nor discount to clubs can be allowed, unless the money is remitted direct to the publishers. No premiums given to Clubs.

To secure premiums it will be necessary make early application, as the stock available for that purpose is limited.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

Daily Intelligencer.

The Boundary Commission. Its Report—"Award."

BY BRITANNICUS.

THE EXTENT OF THE REGION.

Its precise and leading points are; 1st From the height of land at or near (say about 25 miles) from the head of lake Temiscamingue and thence due north (meridian) "to the southern shore of Hudson's Bay, commonly called James's Bay" i. e. James's Bay in the south of Hudson's Bay, "thence along the said south shore westerly, to the mouth of the Albany river."

This point (mouth of Albany river) is in latitude 52.14' 40" N. and longitude 82° W. of G., according to Norie, from Admiralty record.

The height of land north of Lake Temiscamingue is about 48°. We have no recorded observation (astronomical) on the point, but the best maps show it. Some years ago, when hunting in that upper St. Maurice region, at a point about 120 miles east of that ascertained by astronomical observation, the height there to be at about lat. 48° 40' N., and the trend between the two points is S. E. and N. W.

Between these points (Albany and height north of Lake Temiscamingue) we have, therefore, fully four degrees of latitude, say allowing for the few extra minutes, 280 statute miles.

The longitude (meridian) from head of Lake Temiscamingue is 79° 30.' The longitude of the "North West Angle" and that at the mouth of English River is about 95° W. of G.

The latitude of the mouth of English River is about 50.20. From there to the American boundary (lat. 49°) is, say 90 miles.

From this western boundary to the height of land running from lat. 49° immediately west of Lake Superior, is, say 350 miles.

The boundary (height of land) along the west and north of Lake Superior, and north of Lake Huron, averages in the Lake Superior region only some fifty miles from the shore, save where intruded by the Lake Nepigon basin back to lat. 50.30, and north of Lakes Huron and Nipissing averages less than a hundred miles. The average line is (or should be) 49° north lat. On this point, more anon.

This area, vast, covering 15 degrees of longitude and from 4.15 to 1.20 of latitude, is of somewhat irregular form, and somewhat varied in physical features.

Dividing it into two, by a line from the height of land on the American boundary immediately west of Lake Superior, at Pigeon River, lat. 48°, and thence do north to Albany R., where it debouches from Lake St. Joseph, we have in the western section an area of about 57,750 square miles (36,960,000 acres), and in the western section about 100,800 square miles (64,512,000 acres), say a total 121,472,000 acres.

VALUE.

The western section includes the beautiful and almost tropically fertile region of Rainy River—a garden of "of 400,000 acres," as reported by last official survey reports (Dominion Lands Survey), and a similar region thereabout already examined by experts and reported that at least "two thousand millions of feet," worth at Northwest angle at from "$12 to $20 the thousand feet." I state this from official report.

All the English River Valley is sure and proved wheat field to its furthest reach, near 51 degrees north. The mineral wealth of this region, though yet undeveloped, is undoubted, and is there, in golden measure unbounded.

The average, in this section, is worth at least two dollars an acre. Call it one, or even eighty cents an acre, and we have in it, at this moment, exclusive of the about one million and a half dollars expended on the Dawson route, and that "Lock" of St. Francis, thirty millions of dollars.

As to the other, the

it also is all of value. Professor Bell, of our Geological Staff, in his last report, after several years' special service over that new and hitherto unknown field, says (see page 339 of Professor Selwyn's General Report) of it thus:—"Although the Laurentian and Huronian plateau between the great lakes and James Bay may be styled a rocky country, still, I think, the proportion of its whole area in which the bare rocks are exposed is much less than is commonly supposed. This opinion is formed after having examined it in hundreds of places, at a distance from the shores of lakes and rivers, throughout an area of nearly 200,000 square miles between the Ottawa River and Lake Winnipeg." * * "Loose materials of some kind actually cover the greater portion of the area, and in a very considerable percentage of it the soil is more or less suited for agriculture."

* * * * * * * *

Page 140.—"Farming and gardening has been successfully carried on by the officers of the Hudson's Bay Company at their posts on Lakes Mattagano and Missinibi; at the latter Mr John McIntyre, now of Fort William, has informed me that he found spring wheat to ripen well. At Moose Factory (included in this section), although the soil is a cold, wet clay, with a level, undrained surface, farm and garden produce, in considerable variety, are raised every year. Among other crops harvested in 1874, were 1,700 bushels of good potatoes. Oats, barley, beans, peas, beets, carrots, cabbages, onions, tomatoes, &c. are grown without any more care than is required in other parts of Canada, and I was informed that some wheat which had got accidentally sown one year was found to ripen, but no experiments as far as I could learn, have ever been made to ascertain whether this cereal might be regularly cultivated or not. Upwards of eighty head of cattle are kept at Moose Factory, besides horses, sheep and pigs.

"The climate, in going northward from the height of land towards James's Bay, does not appear to get worse, but rather better. This may be due to the constant diminution in the elevation more than counterbalancing for the increasing latitude, since in those northern regions a change in latitude affects the climate much more than the same amounts of change would affect it in places further south. The water of James's Bay may also exert a favorable influence, the bulk of it being made up, in the summer time, of warm river water, which accumulates in the head of the bay and pushes the cold sea-water further north. The greater proportion of day to night, during the summer months, may be another cause of the comparative warmth of this region."

On this subject of exceptional warmth and benefit to the climate in those "higher latitudes" from the length of the Polar day, I would refer to the very interesting "evidence" given by Professor Hind last Session, in his examination before the Select Committee on Immigration and Colonization. Professor Hind, it might be remembered, was then under examination to give information gathered by him on the Labrador coast and elsewhere, as to the facilities for effecting commercial communication with the North-west Territories via Hudson's Bay. Professor Hind favors that scheme, and amongst other things when accounting for the fact of timber and nearly four months open water even so far north as Church Hill River, about 600 miles north of Moose Factory, points to the length of the Summer day there, viz., according to his table (given in report) over 18 hours as a cause of such southing in our further north. More anon on this head. To close, and that, briefly as possible. The whole region, with little exception, is a timber one—timber of commercial value sooner or later, and is so thoroughly permeated by an abundant river system draining into Hudson's Bay that, truly, it may be said that in time—but not in our generation—those waters may to us, or rather to England, be another Baltic.

Those 100,000 square miles (64,000,000 acres) at, say, fifty cents an acre—for they are full of mineral wealth—I value at $32,000,000. Add to that the $30,000,000 of section I aforesaid, and we have a grand total of $62,000,000.

The Disturbances in Ottawa.

STATEMENT BY THE DISTRICT GRAND MASTER AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.

Mr. Clarke, District Master of the Orange Order, writes to the evening papers as follows:—Statements have been publicly made reflecting on the conduct of those who took part in the recent Young Briton's Picnic. Those statements are not even consistent with themselves, and can only gain credence among people at a distance or those blinded by bigotry and hate. In justice to the parties maligned, and to place the blame where it belongs, the following well authenticated facts are laid before a discriminating public. The procession, which offered no impediment to business, was conducted in the usual way, the tunes played and the banners and regalia displayed were those which our Roman Catholic friends have heard and seen every year without their equanimity being disturbed. During the procession several deliberate attacks were made upon it the only object of which was to create disorder. At the junction of Wellington and Sparks street, a man named Kennedy, without any provocation, struck a Young Briton in the ranks, who retaliated by knocking his assailant down. Kennedy was then hustled out of the way without receiving any serious injury, At the corner of Rideau and Sussex streets stones were thrown at the procession from the roof of Egleson's Block, causing a momentary confusion, but no one was injured. The procession reformed, when on reaching the head of York street some missile was flung into the ranks, causing a fracas, which resulted in the arrest of two participants in it. During the remainder of the route of the procession an occasional stone was thrown, more as a cause of merriment than anything else. Nothing of a serious nature occurred after this, until, on returning from the pic-nic the Young Britons learned that an attack was to be made upon their Montreal visiting brethren on their way to the railway depot, and that the Mayor had ordered a detachment of volunteers to keep the peace. This was very provoking, because, in the first place, it marred the close of a very agreeable day, the pic-nic having been one of the most successful and harmonious ever held here, and, secondly, because they considered themselves entitled to better treatment from their fellow citizens, whose enjoyments, however noisy or offensive, they had never once interfered with. Misled by some of the authorities they waited till the last moment, and quietly made their arrangements, and started for the depot, when they were met on the way by the following telegram, in answer to enquiry as to what time the train would start:

August 12th, 10 P. M.

To WM. PARKER:

No train gone round to Richmond Road for them as requested by the Mayor.

(Signed,) R. K. CLAIR.

This left them no alternative but to go by the Chaudiere Junction, which they did, feeling not too well used in the matter. Those who accompanied the Montreal visitors to the trains were advised and agreed to go quietly home without music or other noise. By that advice they were guided, and that agreement was kept. A few Young Britons and other citizens from Upper Town formed an escort to see safely home those of their friends who lived in the more dangerous parts of the Lower Town, and would have done it peaceably if unassailed. While passing down Sussex street, a rabble coming up York street from the direction of one of the Union Halls charged upon them with stones and firearms, to which attack they replied so vigorously that the attacking party fled like deer. Seeing from this the necessity of keeping together to the furthest point where any of the party lived, they proceeded on their way, but were again attacked at the next corner, and if a stone or pistol shot directed at the attacking party struck a house, or broke a window, it was not to be wondered at, when we remember that in broad daylight people broke their own windows by flinging stones from the inside of their houses at the procession. They chased the mob down Sussex to St. Patrick street, and up Dalhousie, and then carried out their original design of leaving their friends at their several places of abode. Three important facts can be established beyond dispute:—1st. The purpose of the party in visiting Lower Town was peaceable. 2nd. They injured no one until fired upon. 3rd. Neither shots nor stones were purposely directed against any house, much less against those of a religious character.

Farmer's Chit-Chat.

The only way to stop nectarines from falling off is to prevent the insects from stinging them. Plum curculio must be constantly watched.

The striped bugs whose affection for the melon-vine has cost many a farmer his crop of melons, can easily be exterminated by a solution of coal tar.

The first cheese factory which was established in Russia was introduced by Nicholas Veresthaguin in 1866. He studied the dairy system in Switzerland.

Can anyone give a scientific and satisfactory explanation of the reason why fruit trees which blossom perfectly, are sometimes entirely barren as to fruit?

Carbolic acid soapsuds, injected over the rosebush through the nose of a common syringe, is an effectual cure for rose slugs, and also certain death to caterpillars.

Centranthus Macrosiphon will make, according to the great French nation, and excellent salad. It is a well-known annual, whose flowers are long-tubed, pale rose, and is ornamental in masses.

Some entomologists say that insects rob American farmers of $10,000,000 per year; but they do not tell us how much insects save American farmers by preying upon each other, and by furnishing food for birds that would otherwise deprecate farmers' crops. Compensation is one of the laws of nature, and suggests that insects may earn all they take, and are entitled to all they earn.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 19.

THE ELECTIONS.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED.

At length, after a great deal of backing and filling on the part of the Government, who have for the last three months seemed uncertain what to do or which way to turn, to escape the storm of popular disapprobation which their maladministration and corruption have raised against them, the proclamations ordering the dissolution of the old and the calling of a new Parliament have been issued. The proclamations, which are contained in an extra Gazette, issued on Saturday, convey the intelligence that the writs are to bear date on the 17th of August and to be returnable on the 21st of November, but nothing is therein contained as to the date of the nominations and of the polling. This omission is supplied by the Ottawa organ of the Government, which informs us that "A second proclamation will order the calling together of the new Parliament on the 21st September.

"A third proclamation will authorize the issue of writs for the election of a new Parliament.

"Nominations throughout the Dominion will take place on the 10th of September, and polling on the 17th. In Manitoba, nominations will be held on the 19th of September. The writs for Prince Edward Island and the more remote counties leave Ottawa to-day."

Thus but four weeks will elapse before the day of polling, which is very short notice indeed. It is quite evident that the Government are calculating on gaining by surprising their opponents, but their success in this regard will be very small, the Opposition being at least as well organized as are the Grits.

The electors are thus brought face to face with an electoral contest of momentous importance, on the result of which the future of the country largely depends. The issues between the parties are clear, sharp and well defined, and there can be little excuse for any man's halting between two opinions.

Let our friends buckle on their armour, organize themselves thoroughly and go into the contest with the spirit which usually animates them, and we have no fears for the result, not in Hastings alone, but throughout the Dominion as a whole.

Parliament Defied.

The Ottawa Citizen says :—"Judging from despatches received from Winnipeg, the people of Manitoba scarcely appear to be aware of the fact that Mr. Donald A. Smith's monopoly lease has been signed by the Government, yes, signed, sealed and delivered, giving Donald A. Smith, Stephens & Co., otherwise the St. Paul & Pacific R. R., an exclusive monopoly of running powers over the Pembina branch for ten years, thus completely shutting out the Northern Pacific Railway, which had made a survey for the purpose of forming connection." It will be remembered that the Senate refused to assent to the letting of this contract without first receiving its assent ; but Mr. Mackenzie, in order to gain his point and assist his friends, has disregarded the authority of Parliament and acted in accordance with his own will, just as he did in the matters of the steel rails, the Georgian Bay branch, the Pacific telegraph, &c. How long will the people submit to this dictatorship, in which the "one man power" is more conspicious than during the days of the family compact, of dilating on which Grit orators have not tired even to this day ?

Presto, Change.—Le Courrier du Canada, of Quebec, announces that Mr. Frechette is coming out in Levis as an Indpendent and will do all in his power to oust the government. Our contemporary defies the Liberals to contradict this statement. What changes must, indeed, have come over the spirit of the poet politician !

Gazetted.—Dr. Brouse lately M. P. for South Grenville, has at length received the seat in the Senate which he has worked for so hard and so long. Saturday's Gazette contains the appointment in question, which must prove a great disappointment to the other expectants. The Dr. is to be congratulated on having succeeded at last in his aspirations.

The Quebec Cabinet.—According to Le Courrier du Canada, there was to be a Cabinet meeting on Friday at which would come up the subject of the resigation of Mr. Treasurer Bachand, a proposal to appoint Hon. Mr. Chauveau to a Police Judgeship, possibly also the dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the country at once.

Quebec.—Reports from this Province are very encouraging. The Grits are evidently doomed to defeat in Montreal, having as yet been unable to procure suitable candidates for the three divisions of the city, whilst the popular candidates of the Conservative party are carrying all before them. St Hyacinthe and Rouville are certain to be redeemed by the Opposition [illegible] reports from other constituencies [illegible]

NOT TO BE CONTINUED.

The Orange Cases in Montreal.

This investigation is still going on. Murphy was put through a thorough cross-examination and made some extraordinary statements, such for instance, as the Orangemen firing upon themselves in order to create a row, and a number of similar such statements.

He was followed by the High Constable, who merely testified to the arrests, and the fact that some of those arrested wore certain emblems. Then came that ever ready meddler in everything of public character, Sir Francis Hincks, whose animosity to Orangeism is well known, whose evidence is worthy of an attentive reading, showing as it does, that he holds strange views upon the question of civil liberty. As an instance, Gavazzi had no right to be protected because he was a foreigner, but Chiniquy had because he was a Canadian, but neither had a right to denounce Roman Catholicism in a Province where that system of religion was universally in the ascendant. All this looks as if Sir Francis was fishing for a nomination for one of the divisions of Montreal.

The following is Sir Francis' evidence as far as received :—

Sir Francis Hincks, being sworn, was examined by Mr. Barnard, and deposed as follows :—I have resided in Canada for over forty-six years, and since 1838 I have taken a prominent part in public matters. Some years before that, and before I came to Canada, I have studied the Orange question, and except during the fourteen years I was absent from Canada, I have followed the public discussions on the Orange question. I can't say that I am acquainted with the circumstances of the celebration of the 12th of July last, but any Orange procession in a city like Montreal is calculated to cause a breach of the peace. It is what was unknown in Ireland in its worst days. I remember reading the proclamation of the Mayor, and the one of Mr. Grant. The proclamation of the Mayor I now see in the Witness of the 10th July last, marked "D," and Mr. Grant's proclamation I now see in paper "A." I am aware that for months previous to the 12th of July the peace would be broken if the Orange procession took place, and that the Mayor was called upon to take measures to preserve the peace of the city, both by the City Council and the citizens in general. I am aware that a large meeting of the magistrates took place for the purpose of deciding on the particular measures the Mayor should put into effect, and the Mayor's proclamation was the result of the meeting. I am aware that a large portion of the inhabitants of this city are Roman Catholics, and a goodly number are Irish Catholics. From my experience of the objects and results of the Orange process sion, it is my opinion that the proposed procession on the 12th of July, with banners and regalia, would be considered by the majority of the population as a provocation and an insult. I know the Catholics have good grounds for looking upon it in the light they do.

Cross-examined by Mr. Doutre.

Q. Who is expected to commit a breach of the peace at any Orange procession? A. I presume the Catholics would, inasmuch as they will not allow an Orange procession to march through the streets with their regalia and banners.

Q. In your long experience, have you ever heard or known, in any place governed by English law, that when a breach of the peace has been apprehended measures of protection or repression were taken by the authorities, not against those who were expected to commit a breach of the peace, but against those who were the intended victims of that breach of the peace ? A. I know that in the year 1835, or thereabouts, the Attorney and Solicitor-General of Upper Canada, both Protestants, both with leanings towards the Orangemen, gave their written opinion that it was the duty of the civil authorities to prevent any procession calculated to produce a breach of the peace. I believe that Protestants in Ireland are constantly prevented, since the repeal of the Processions Act, on the same ground. They did not state there was any special law at that time, and, to my knowledge, there is none now, unless it be the law recently passed at Quebec.

Q. Could not the principle on which that opinion was based be applied to, so as to justify the authorities in preventing a sermon being delivered in a Church, with the approval of the whole congregation, if it be apprehended that in delivering that sermon it might induce or provoke some parties outside of the church, and of the congregation, to prevent that sermon from being delivered ? A. I do not think so. I can see no analogy between a sermon delivered in a church and a procession going through the public streets with banners and regalia, known to be the symbols of an Association holding principles which the Irish Catholics know to be identified with their degradation during a century and a half, and which degradations there is every reason to believe, from their open declarations, the members of the body would like to subject them to in Canada.

Q. The breach of the peace being the same in the case stated in the last question, as in the case of an Orange procession, would not the authorities be equally justified, in one as in the other, in preventing the cause leading to the breach of the peace ? A. I cannot conceive it possible that a sermon delivered in a church could cause a breach of the peace, and I therefore cannot venture an opinion as to what a Mayor or other magistrate might feel it his duty to do, if assured that such breach would occur.

Q. Have you not heard of the cause of Gavazzi, when Zion church was attacked with firearms and stones, while Gavazzi was delivering a sermon to the congregation of that church, and also of the cause of the same preacher, who was the occasion of a similar assault on Chalmers street, in Quebec, a few days previous? Have you not heard, either, of the congregation listening to sermons of Father Chiniquy being attacked in their own church several times, the winter before last? A. I have a distinct recollection of the Gavazzi cases, both in Quebec and Montreal. I look upon them as entirely exceptional. I have no hesitation in saying that I am of opinion that the principle laid down would apply to a foreigner who came into two peaceable cities to abuse the religion of the mass of the population. I was not aware that Mr. Chiniquy's preaching had been interfered with. In his case, I think he was entitled to the protection of the authorities.

Q. Is not the principle just laid down by you very much the same as the one applied to Jesus Christ, and all the Apostles, who have preached the gospel in foreign countries? A. I do not think so. I see no analogy between the cases. The tendency of the questions is to introduce religious controversy, whereas the Orange question is not religious but political, Orangeism is condemned by an overwhelming majority of the Protestants of the United Kingdom. It is condemned by Parliament and the Queen. It must be universally condemned by all Catholics, as its leading principle is Protestant ascendancy in church and state. Without that principle it has no raison d'etre.

It being after four o'clock, the further examination of Sir Francis Hincks was adjourned until Monday next, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Powell, Adjutant-General of Militia.

The Ottawa Disturbances.—A despatch from Ottawa on Saturday says:—"Yesterday the following parties were arrested on warrants for being implicated in the recent party troubles. W. P. Warren, James Brower, and James O'Neil. They were immediately bailed out by their friends. There are a large number of warrants out for the arrest of other parties for the same offence. The disturbances have been so highly colored in transmission to the American papers as to have become ludicrous. Every event, however trifling, has been magnified into a desperate affair by the correspondent's pen. Hence arise the fact that an Insurance Inspector has been sent to Ottawa from the United States to cancel policies. He expected to see half the city in ruins, but telegraphed home to his friends that everything looked Sunday-like here. The Boston Advertiser despatched a representative to the capital also. He too, was much disappointed."

False friends are like our shadow—keeping close to us while we walk in the sunshine, but leaving us the instant we cross into the shade.

True fortitude is seen in great exploits that justice warrants, and that wisdom guides ; all else is to wering frenzy and distraction.

Whoever would be sustained by the hand of God, let him constantly lean upon it ; whoever would be defended by it let him patiently suffer under it.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Marmora, Aug. 17, 1878.

Mr. Editor,—Our usually quiet, but very interesting little village, was the scene of much bustle and excitement on Wednesday, 14th instant, as a prelude to the day's enjoyment, which was to consist of a Pic Nic to be held at "Lovers' Nook," a delightful spot situated on Crow Lake ; and as it is some distance from the village, the proposed plan was to go in boats up the lake to the place selected. At a very early hour, all who purposed going were busily engaged in preparing to start ; at last, everything being ready, the boats were launched, and contained a happy party with cheerful faces, all bent on a day's sport ; and to judge from the number of baskets, etc., containing provisions, the party evidently did not intend that the Hungry should be allowed to trespass at all. After an hour's pull they reached the place selected—and truly it was as pleasant and interesting a place as its name implies. After landing, preparations for getting dinner were commenced, and in a short time the whole party were eagerly employed in doing justice to the many good things which the ladies of Marmora are so well competent to prepare. After dinner the whole party took part in the various amusements provided for the occasion, and it was gratifying to see the more elderly members of the party join in the sports with as much enthusiasm as the younger ones. "Lovers' Nook" is indeed a very pleasant resort, with its beautiful groves and pleasant grounds, made doubly pleasant by the cooling breeze from the lake. After enjoying themselves till a late hour, they all proceeded home, and as the night was calm, and the moon cast its lustre over the smooth surface of the water, the trip home was not the least enjoyable part of the day's sport. They arrived home about 11 p. m., all acknowledging that they never spent a more happy day—indeed, some of the young folks were only sorry that it was over. Much credit is due the ladies of the village for the real manifested in the performance of their part of the programme, and also to Messrs. Pearce and Gladney, for their efforts in making the day's entertainment a success. .

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 19.

City and Vicinity.

CITY COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of Council will be held this evening.

THE CELLS.—There has been but one tramp in the cells since Saturday night, and no prisoners.

ADVICE TO TRAMPS.—Don't drink champagne more than three times a day, and spring chicken at this time of the year is out of season. You must be careful to preserve your health and not impair your digestion for the winter campaign.

THE YACHTS.—The Madcap and Katie Gray arrived home from their cruise on Saturday. The Kathleen was at Cobourg on the same day. The Enid, Minnie A., and Mabel were at Brockville on Thursday, the two latter sailing in the race. It will probably be several days yet ere they return.

ELZEVIR.—At the court held at Bridgewater on the 13th inst., to hear the complaints against the voter's list for 1878, for the Municipality of Elzevir and Grimsthorp, twenty-four names were added to the list of Parliamentary voters. None were struck off. Twenty of these were added on application of the Conservatives and four by the Grits.

GIANT CUCUMBERS.—Mr. Gordineer, of Marmora, informs us that there are growing in the garden of Mr. Harvey Fordham, 7th concession of Marmora, a number of giant cucumbers, the largest of which he measured and found to be 6ft 1 inch in length. This surpasses anything of the kind of which we have heard in this section heretofore.

THE BELLEVILLE FIREMEN.—The Kingston Whig of Saturday says:—"On Thursday we observed several finely dressed, orderly and respectable looking firemen in the city. We now learn that they were attached to the Belleville fire department, having come down the Bay of Quinte with a party, some of whom pic-niced at the Indian Point."

THE BEST INSECT DESTROYER.—Hot alum is the best insect destroyer known. Put the alum into hot water, and let it boil ill all the alum is dessolved; then apply it hot to all the cracks, closets, bed-steads and any other places where any insects are found. Ants, bed-bugs, cock-roaches and creeping things generally are destroyed by it; while there is no danger of poisoning the family or injuring the property.

STREET RAILWAY.—We are glad to learn that Mr. Monaghan, the popular manager of the street railway has obtained a lease from the present owners of the railway, for another year. This will be good news to those who use this thoroughfare, for Mr. Monaghan's uniform courtesy and desire to accomodate the travelling public has made him deservedly popular, and if anything is to be made out of the Railway, we know of no one more capable of doing it than Mr. Monaghan. We believe it is in contemplation to run a branch to the Dafoe House shortly and also at no distant date to extend the road over Taylor's hill. This will be a great accommodation to the people in that section of the City, and will without doubt make it a better investment for the owners and lessee.

ABOUT THUNDER STORMS.—An exchange says:—"Lightning travels nearly a million times faster than thunder. The speed of lightning is so great that it would go four hundred and eighty times around the earth in a minute, whereas the sound of thunder would scarcely go thirteen miles in the same space of time. Thunder will take a second to travel 380 yards, hence a popular method of approximating the distance of a thunder cloud is as follows:—Immediately you see the lightning flash put your hand upon your pulse and count how many times it beats before the thunder; if it beats six pulsations the storm is one mile off, if twelve pulsations it is two miles off, and so on. In the case of elderly people five pulsations would measure nearly the same period of time as six in the case of young persons."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL PARLIAMENT.—The last excursion from Belleville to the Sunday School Parliament takes place on Wednesday next, per Kincardine. The increasing attractions of this beautiful place, and the closing days of the Parliament, will no doubt induce large numbers to go down. By the published programme we see that the "bill of fare" for Wednesday and Thursday is the fullest and best. The subjects to be considered on Wednesday are "The mistakes of teachers;" "Uses and abuse of Illustrations;" "The English Bible, its development and mission;" "The Bible viewed as a miracle;" and a lecture on The great Pyramid, by the Rev. A. N. Fischer, of Rochester, N. Y. Amongst the speakers on Wednesday and Thursday are, A. O. Van-Lennep—native Turk; Rev. S. McGerald; Rev. C. M. Whittlesey; Dr. L. T. Townsend, of Boston; Rev. J. H. Castle, D.D., Toronto; and Mrs. Behan—better known under the cognomen of "Pansey." Beside all this, a trip to Alexandria Bay will be given gratis on Thursday afternoon.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

SCHUYLERVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A fire this morning, at Victory mills, burned the dye house machine, and blacksmith shops. The mills were badly flooded. Fully insured.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Bigg's, Buttes County, states that a fire destroyed nineteen buildings, all business houses except two. Loss $51,400; insurance $63,200. There have been several arrests of suspected parties.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The sloop Wm. P. Hunt, of Boston, was raided by a gang of robbers on Friday night and all the valuables, including the clothing of Capt. Derry and crew, carried off.

Mrs. Rath, wife of the Capt. of the wrecked scow last week, and who was rescued after being in the submerged scow over an hour with her three dead children, gave birth to a child yesterday, and the mother and child both died.

Dr. R. R. Robinson, an old physician, died yesterday, aged 93. He was a veteran of the war of 1812.

A new forgery of one thousand dollar bonds of the Suspension Bridge and Erie Junction Railroad has been discovered.

Chas. Francis, of Brooklyn, was drowned in the surf at Coney island yesterday.

A letter from Baraquilla, Columbia, an the 30th ult., states that the schooner A. F. Fabeus, of Newbury port, from Port au Prince, when off Port Liberty on the 16th, hauled to for a pilot. The Haytien man-of-war Saint Michael came out, fired two blank cartridges, then came head on towards the the Fabeus, but when a short distance off sheered slightly but collided with the schooner, tearing the latter's fore-topsail, disabling her mainsail, and stove in her stern badly. The black commander then sent a boat with officers, who overhauled the schooner's papers in an offensive manner, and then steamed away, refusing to tow the disabled schooner into port. She finally drifted into Cape Haytien to repair. Details have been forwarded to the authorities at Washington.

Major Timpkins horsewhipped a policeman named Schlatten at Hoboken yesterday, for alleged slander.

A special from Grenada bearing yesterday's date says that a carload of flour from Cairo reached there on Sunday, also a carload of lime. EUROPEAN.

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

AUSTRIA AND BOSNIA.

UNDERHAND DEALINGS OF THE PORTE.

STRAINED RELATIONS BETWEEN TURKEY AND AUSTRIA.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A despatch dated Vienna says the monetary reverses which have befallen a few detachments of the Austrian army in Bosnia and Herzegovina, especially the forced retreat to Boboj of Gen. Szapary's division, has produced a depressing effect among the people, and their apprehensions are echoed in the newspapers, but a much calmer view is taken of the situation in competent military circles, where such checks are recognized as necessary incidents of even the most successful warfare. Hafiz Pasha's confession that thirty battalions or regular Turkish troops fought in the ranks of the insurgents has created a great sensation here, and greatly embitters the minds of the poeple against the Porte. It it understood all the opposition on the part of Bosnia, from the insurrection of Hadji Logo down to the most recent conflicts, have been contrived at Stamboul, and hypocritically imputed to the refractory spirit of the Bosnians. Whatever may transpire regarding the Austro-Turkish Convention, it is certain the underhand dealings of the Porte have brought about a change in the relation of this Government with Turkey, which a short time ago would have been deemed impossible.

A telegram from Brod, dated Aug. 16th, reports that General Szapary has effected a junction with the Austrian main body, which yesterday reached Serajevo, the capital of Bosnia, unopposed.

A telegram from the headquarters of the 20th Austrian division says the division was attacked on Friday morning in its position near Doboj, on the right bank of the River Bosnia, by a considerable number of insurgents. All the assaults were repulsed but the Austrians suffered heavily.

A demonstrtion from Dalmatia against Livno, on the 15th, compelled the Turkish garrison of 3,300, who had started to harass the Austrian communication, to return to that town.

The Christians in Bosnia are flocking to arms in consequence of heavy fines imposed on them by Austrians.

A Maglai telegram says the Mahomedan insurgents receive ammunition from ports on the Ægean Sea through private hands. The Arnauts and Albanians continue to muster in great force in the direction of Mitrobitza.

A telegram from the headquarters of General Phillipovitch at Foinitza Cupri, Aug. 16th, announces that the Austrian army on that day advanced in three columns against the insurgents, who had fortified themselves in a strong position near Buzovoca. A column forming the right wing of the Austrian army took the insurgents on the flank and rear and captured their entire camp with a large number of waggons, ammunition, and other property. Other columns were somewhat delayed by the ruggedness of the ground so the insurgents had time to withdraw with their artillery. They fled en masse to Kiseljak, near to which place the Austrians are now posted. The insurgents also occupy Visoka. Gen. Tegethoeff was marching thither and expected to arrive on 17th. The Austrian losses in these movements are inconsiderable. Gen. Szapary is still confronting the insurgents at Doboj on the 7th inst.

A Vienna despatch says at least four more divisions of the Austrian army will go immediately to Bosnia.

A Vienna despatch says Austria has strongly cautioned Servia against the violation of her international obligations.

A Vienna despatch says the negotiations between Austria and Turkey are on the verge of failure, as a rupture is imminent. The last propositions of the Porte have been rejected. Caratheodori Pasha is awaiting instructions as to whether he shall quit Vienna.

All Vienna special correspondents deny that a convention has been signed. Public opinion and the press are unanimous against it.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Special despatches from Rome report that the German Crown Prince Frederick William and Bismarck sent the congratulatory telegrams on his name day or the feast day of the Saint after whom the Pope is named.

Cottam, Morton & Co., have failed. Liabilities, £1,500,000.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Senator Renaud is dead.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Constantinople reports that after the review on Saturday, General Todleben was fired at by a young Greek, but without effect, and the assassin was arrested.

The Times says the British Government has the right to demand that no needless obstacle be thrown in the way of the settlement of the Eastern Question, and that no further outrages be perpetrated of a kind shocking to the common conscience of Europe. It is to Russia we must look in the first instance to put a stop to the mischief. The Government will speak with the voice of the country in any fresh remonstrances it may see fit to address to Russia on this pressing subject.

A despatch from Constantinople says, instructions have been sent to Caratheodori Pasha to sign the convention if Austria will agree that Austrian occupation shall cease when the powers declare the reforms promised by the Porte, have been satisfactory applied.

ROME, Aug. 19.—A Lazarette who had been preaching a new religion in the province of Grosetto, was killed yesterday, in a conflict with Gens d'Armes, who interfered because his partisans raised cries for a republic.

MADRID, Aug. 19.—The cholera is in northern Africa, at Fez, Mequinez, and Tetuan.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Aug. 19.—She S.S. Eaniel Steinman, with her propeller disabled, was towed in here, and will dock for repairs.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Arrived, the S. S. Helvetia from Liverpool.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The first race, purse $300, three-quarters of a mile, was won by Pique, time 1.19¼. The second race, purse $400, mile and three-quarters, Bushwhacker won, time 3.18⅞.

DETROIT, Aug. 19.—A telegram from Mackinaw to-day reports the propeller Java sunk off Point Au Sable, Lake Michigan, yesterday morning. She is a total loss. All the hands were saved.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 19.—Arrived, the S. S. Britanaic, from New York.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 19.—Corporal Hassan Sahib, of the Turkish Army, detailed as inspector of arms, shot himself this morning after a carouse. The same man attempted the life of his mistress a few months ago.

ASHLAND, Ms., Aug. 19.—Washington mills were burned on Sunday. Loss $25,000.

(Special to the Intelligencer.)

SUDDEN DEATH IN CHURCH.

ODESSA, Aug. 19, 1878.

Mr. Lawrence Hartman, an old and respected resident of the Township of Ernestown, died very suddenly of heart disease while attending a revival meeting in the Episcopal Methodist Church in this village at 10 o'clock last evening. The deceased was, at the time of his death, addressing the audience, and was about concluding his discourse, when he was seen to sit down, breathed heavily for about a minute, and expired. Dr. Ross was called, and stated that death was caused by the above mentioned malady.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate winds, partly cloudy weather, with rain areas. For the St. Lawrence, moderate winds, and partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh winds, cloudy to rainy, followed by partially clearing weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Indications:—Clear or partly cloudy weather.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

RELATIVE VALUE OF CORN AND OATS.

The results of experiments that have been made with some 10,000 horses of the cab company in Paris, and published by the president of the company, M. Bixio, adds, to the testimony of the omnibus company of that city last year, that the substitution of maize for oats effects a large economy while affecting no diminution in the working power of the animal. The 10,000 cab horses have been operated upon during a period of five years, their feeding being regulated according to the most scientific principles and the no less important point attended to—book-keeping. As compared with the year 1872, a saving of 19 centimes—nearly 4 sous per animal per day—was effected in 1877, representing a total economy for the year of 1,058,610 francs.

THE "GRAIN" OF BUTTER.

When the butter has "come," and appears in little irregular masses, from a pin's head to a large pea in size, is the time to draw off the buttermilk and wash the butter in the churn. This removes all the buttermilk. After being then gathered and removed from the churn, worked, washed and salted on the butter-worker at the proper temperature, we find upon breaking it that it has a granular look. The mass seems to be made of little particles with a slightly glistening appearance. This is called the "grain." These small particles are partially kept apart by films of water (after salting, this water becomes brine), and the peculiar texture thus imparted to the butter is a test of proper manufacture. Over churn to overwork it, churn or work it at the wrong temperature, and the grain is gone, never to be restored, and with it is gone a large percentage of the selling value of the butter. Enough water (brine) must be retained to produce this appearance, which distinguishes "butter" from "grease." Consequently the most perfect grain is obtained by washing in the churn before the butter is "gathered."

YEAST FROM GRAPE LEAVES.

It has been discovered that grape leaves make a yeast in some respect superior to hops, as the bread rises sooner and has not the peculiar taste which many object to in that made from hops. Use eight to ten leaves for a quart of yeast; boil them for about ten minutes, and then pour the hot liquor on the flour, the quantity of the latter being determined by whether the yeast is wanted thick or thin. Use hop yeast for raising it to begin with, and afterwards that made of the grape leaves. Dried leaves will be as good as fresh. If a dark film appears upon the surface when rising, a little stirring will obviate it.

FLOATING CURD.

Floating curd may arise from disease in cows. Milk that is productive of this curd has a sweety, sickish taste. Such milk does not develop acid fast enough, and mixing a little sour whey with it is profitable. Floating curds are not plenty, and can be generally avoided by cooling and airing the milk. Sufficient rennet should be used to bring the curd in fifteen to thirty minutes. Rennets, however, should be tried as to their strength, as they are apt to vary to an extent to render trial and watching a necessity.

Minor Agricultural Items.

There are ninety-three granges in New Hampshire, and they are conferring many advantages upon the farmers of that State.

"The future hope of our profession," says the worthy master of the Mississippi State grange, "depends upon the education of the rising generation."

Ten cents per pound for the best, is the highest now paid for butter at Ailsa Craig and Parkhill.

From all the English hop-producing centres the reports of the health and vigor of the plants and of the evenness of the vine, are uniformly good. A few planters complain that wire worms, slugs and fleas have done some harm, particularly to young plants, in some districts. Applications of lime, soot, nitrate of soda and guano have been promptly made where injury has been caused, which will soon drive off the enemies and force the vine to grow.

Squashes yield from fifteen to twenty-five tons to the acre in California.

Some men never do anything at all on their farms, because they stand like a little urchin in a big watermelon patch, dazed at the innumerable chances for choosing. They have so many good things to plant,—and so many good ways to plant them—so many pressing things to do, and no one to begin on, that the year glides from under their feet and they have made nothing but a—failure.

Plants in the sleeping apartment are not detrimental to health.

England is obliged to import grain, eggs, butter and cheese from this country, and, before many years, must depend upon us for all the necessaries of life.

Much discussion is just now taking place among the New Jersey strawberry cultivators as to the probable cause of the new rust or fungoid disease which has destroyed many beds of vines this season.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P.,
WILLIAM MAIN,
REV. THOMAS HARTIN.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. d&w1m

Many a girl has married a man whom she knew to be anything but good, "because he loved her so." And the flame has died out on the hearthstone of home before long, and beside it she has seen sitting beside one that her she could never hope would lead her heavenward—one who, if she followed him as wife should, would guide her steps to perdition. Marriage is a solemn thing—a choice for life; be careful in choosing.

Faith is the root of all blessings; believe and ye shall be saved; believe, and you must need be sanctified; believe, and you cannot choose but be comforted.

Hints on Watering Plants.

Plants set against walls and piazzas frequently suffer for want of water at this season, even when ground near them is quite wet. Draw away the soil around each plant so as to form a basin. Fill it with a bucketful of water, allowing it time to sink gradually away, and when the surface has dried a little draw in loosely the soil over it, and it will do without water for some weeks. This applies to all plants wanting water through the season. If water is merely poured on the surface, it is made more compact by the weight of water, and the harder the soil becomes the easier it dries; and the result is the more water you give the more is wanted. A well-known horticultural editor says the objection against watering when the sun shines on the plants is purely a theoretical one, and appears only in the writings of those who have had but little actual experience. Nevertheless, the evening is the proper time for watering, when the best results in the conservation of moisture are expected. Actual experience has taught that plants wilting from the effect of heat should be shaded, as well as watered. Experience has also taught that superficial waterings do little good. The water given should reach the roots of the plants. The great objection to watering under a hot sun is that the exhalation is so strong that much of the water given is quickly evaporated.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lot number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot number Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage:

The aforesaid premises which are well watered and on which are erected a large brick dwelling house, a small frame dwelling house, and a large frame barn, are situated about 1½ miles from Stirling, and 13½ miles from Belleville.

An abstract of title of the said lands will be produced at the sale, and the vendor will convey his interest only in the said lands to the purchaser.

The purchaser shall at the time of sale pay one-tenth of the purchase money, and the balance within ten days thereafter. For further particulars apply at the law offices of Messrs. FLINT & JELLETT, and

ALEX. ROBERTSON,
Vendor's Solicitor.

Belleville, July 17, A. D., 1878. d&wtd

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

Notices of the Press.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its original title of the New Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and has kept fairly abreast of the times, thanks to the enterprise of the publishers and the tact and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery and fiction, the average reader of to day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expectantly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago; there is the same admirable variety of contents, and the same freshness and suggestiveness in its editorial departments now as then.—Boston Journal.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

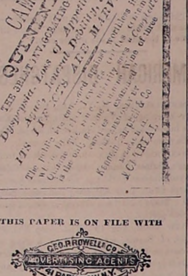

Before Taking — After Taking

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $1, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Don't who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is, you know what it is and safe, harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of diseases in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your home, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

The Boundary Commission. Its Report—"Award."

BY BRITANNICUS.

THE EXTENT OF THE REGION.

Its precise and leading points are: 1st. From the height of land at or near (say about 25 miles) from the head of lake Temiscamingue and thence due north (American) "to the western shore of Hudson's Bay, commonly called James's Bay" i. e. James's Bay in the south of Hudson's Bay, "thence along the said south shore westerly, to the mouth of the Albany river."

This point (mouth of Albany river) is in latitude 52 14' 40" N. and longitude 82° W. of G., according to Norie, from Admiralty record.

The height of land north of Lake Temiscamingue is about 48°. We have no recorded observation (astronomical) on the point, but the best maps show it. Some years ago, when hunting in the upper St. Maurice region, at a point about 120 miles east of that ascertained by astronomical observation, the height there to be at about lat. 48° 40' N., and the trend between the two points is S. E. and N. W.

Between these points (Albany and height north of Lake Temiscamingue) we have, therefore, fully four degrees of latitude, say allowing for the few extra minutes, 280 statute miles.

The longitude (meridian) from head of Lake Temiscamingue is 79° 30'. The longitude of the "North West Angle" and that at the mouth of English River is about 95° W. of G.

The latitude of the mouth of English River is about 50.20. From there to the American boundary (lat. 49°) is, say 90 m. lea.

From this western boundary to the height of land running from lat. 49° immediately west of Lake Superior, is, say 350 miles.

The boundary (height of land) along the west and north of Lake Superior, and north of Lake Huron, averages in the Lake Superior region only some fifty miles from the shore, save where intruded by the Lake Nepigon basin back to lat. 50.30, and north of Lakes Huron and Nipissing averages less than a hundred miles. The average line is (or should be) 49° north lat. On this point, more anon.

This area, vast, covering 15 degrees of longitude and from 4.15 to 1.20 of latitude, is of somewhat irregular form, and somewhat varied in physical features.

Dividing it into two, by a line from the height of land on the American boundary immediately west of Lake Superior, at Pigeon River, lat. 48°, and thence do north to Albany R., where it debouches from Lake St. Joseph, we have in the western section an area of about 57,750 square miles (36,960,000 acres), and in the western section about 100,800 square miles (64,512,000 acres), say a total 121,472,000 acres.

VALUE.

The western section includes the beautiful and almost tropically fertile region of Rainy River—a garden of "wild oats and peas," as reported by last official survey reports (Dominion Lands Survey), and a similar region thereabout already explored and reported by experts and there, in golden measure unbounded.

The average, in this section, is worth at least two dollars an acre. Call it one, or even eighty cents an acre, and we have in it, at this moment, exclusive of the about one million and a half dollars expended on the Dawson route, and that "Lock" of St. Francis, thirty millions of dollars.

As to the other, the

NORTHERN SECTION,

it also is all of value. Professor Bell, of our Geological Staff, in his last report, after several years' special service over both, and hitherto unknown field, says (see page 339 of Professor Selwyn's General Report) of it thus:—"Although the Laurentian and Huronian plateau between the great lakes and James Bay may be styled a rocky country, still, I think, the proportion of its whole area in which the rock is exposed is much less than is commonly supposed. This opinion is formed after having examined it in hundreds of places, at a distance from the shores of lakes and rivers, throughout an area of nearly 200,000 square miles between the Ottawa River and Lake Winnipeg." * * "Loose materials of some kind actually cover the greater portion of the area, and in a very considerable percentage of it the soil is more or less suited for agriculture." * * *

Page 143—"Farming and gardening has been successfully carried on by the officers of the Hudson's Bay Company at their posts on Lakes Mattagano and Missinibi; at the latter Mr. John McIntyre, now of Fort William, has informed me that he found spring wheat to ripen well. At Moose Factory (included in this section), although the soil is a cold, wet clay, with a levyl, undrained surface, farm and garden produce, in considerable variety, are raised every year. Among other crops harvested in 1874, were 1,700 bushels of good potatoes, 400 of barley, beans, peas, beets, carrots, cabbages, onions, tomatoes, &c. are grown without any more care than is required in other parts of Canada; and I was informed that some wheat which had got accidentally sown one year was found to ripen, but no experiments as far as I could learn, have ever been made to ascertain whether this cereal might be regularly cultivated or not. Upwards of eighty head of cattle are kept at Moose Factory, besides horses, sheep and pigs.

"The climate, in going northward from the height of land towards James's Bay, does not appear to get worse, but rather better. This may be due to the constant diminution in the elevation more than counterbalancing for the increasing latitude. Also in those northern regions a change in latitude affects the climate much more than the same amounts of change would affect in places further south. The water of James's Bay may also exert a favorable influence, the bulk of it being made up, in the summer time, of warm river water, which accumulates in the head of the bay and pushes the cold sea-water further north. The greater proportion of day to night, during the summer months, may be another cause of the comparative warmth of this region."

On this subject of exceptional warmth and benefit to the climate in those "higher latitudes" from the length of the Polar day, I would refer to the very interesting "evidence" given by Professor Hind last Session, in his examination before the Select Committee on Immigration and Colonization. Professor Hind, it might be remembered, was then under examination to give information gathered by him on the Labrador coast and elsewhere, as to the facilities for effecting commercial communication with the North-west Territories via Hudson's Bay. Professor Hind favors that scheme, and amongst other things when accounting for the fact of timber and nearly four months open water even so far north as Church Hill River, about 660 miles north of Moose Factory, points to the length of the Summer day there, viz., according to his table (given in report) over 18 hours as a cause of such soothing in our further north. More anon on this head. To close, and that, briefly as possible. The whole region, with little exception, is a timber one—timber of commercial value sooner or later, and is so thoroughly permeated by an abundant river system draining into Hudson's Bay that, truly, it may be said that in time—but not in our generation—those waters may to us, or rather to England, be another Baltic.

Those 109,000 square miles (64,050,000 acres) at, say, fifty cents an acre—for they are full of mineral wealth—at value at $32,000,000. Add to that the $20,000,000 of location I aforesaid, and we have a grand total of $62,000,000.

The Disturbances in Ottawa.

TATEMENT BY THE DISTRICT GRAND MASTER AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.

Mr. Clarke, District Master of the Orange Order, writes to the evening papers as follows:—Statements have been publicly made reflecting on the conduct of those who took part in the recent Young Briton's Picnic. Those statements are not even consistent with themselves, and can only gain credence among people at a distance or those blinded by bigotry and hate. In justice to the parties maligned, and to place the blame where it belongs, the following well authenticated facts are laid before a discriminating public. The procession, which offered no impediment to business, was conducted in the usual way, the tunes played and the banners and emblems displayed were those which our Roman Catholic friends have heard and seen every year without their equanimity being disturbed. During the procession several deliberate attacks were made upon it the only object of which was to create disorder. At the junction of Wellington and Bridge street, a man named Kennedy, without any provocation, struck a Young Briton in the ranks, who retaliated by knocking his assailant down. Kennedy was then hustled out of the way without receiving any serious injury. At the corner of Rideau and Sussex streets stones were thrown at the procession from the roof of Egleson's Block, causing a momentary confusion, but no one was injured. The procession reformed, when on reaching the head of York street some missile was flung into the ranks, causing a fracas, which resulted in the arrest of two participants in it. During the remainder of the route of the procession an occasional stone was thrown, more as a cause of merriment than anything else. Nothing of a serious nature occurred after this, until, on returning from the pic-nic the Young Britons learned that an attack was to be made upon their Montreal visiting brethren on their way to the railway depot, and that the Mayor had ordered a detachment of volunteers to keep the peace. This was very provoking, because, in the first place, it marred the close of a very agreeable day, the pic-nic having been one of the most successful and harmonious ever held here, and, secondly, because they considered themselves entitled to better treatment from their fellow citizens, whose enjoyments, however noisy or offensive, they had never once interfered with. Misled by some of the authorities they waited till the last moment, and quietly made their arrangements, and started for the depot. when they were met on the way by the following telegram, in answer to enquiry as to what time the train would start:

August 12th, 10 P. M.

TO WM. PARKER:

No train gone round to Richmond Road for them as requested by the Mayor.

(Signed,) R. K. CLARK.

This left them no alternative but to go by the Chaudiere Junction, which they did, feeling not too well used in the matter. Those who accompanied the Montreal visitors to the trains were advised and agreed to go quietly home without music or other noise. By that advice they were guided, and that agreement was kept. A few Young Britons and other citizens from Upper Town formed an escort to see safely home those of their friends who lived in the more dangerous parts of the Lower Town, and would have done it peaceably if unassailed. While passing down Sussex street, a rabble coming up York street from the direction of one of the Union Halls charged upon them with stones and firearms, to which attack they replied so vigorously that the attacking party fled like deer. Seeing from this the necessity of keeping together to the furthest point where any of the party lived, they proceeded on their way, but were again attacked at the next corner, and if a stone or pistol shot directed at the attacking party struck a house, or broke a window, it was not to be wondered at, when we remember that in broad daylight people broke their own windows by flinging stones from the inside of their houses at the procession. They chased the mob down Sussex to St. Patrick street, and up Dalhousie, and then carried out their original design of leaving their friends at their several places of abode. Three important facts can be established beyond dispute:—1st. The purpose of the party in visiting Lower Town was peaceable. 2nd. They injured no one until fired upon. 3rd. Neither shots nor stones were purposely directed against any house, much less against those of a religious character.

Farmer's Chit-Chat.

The only way to stop nectarines from falling off is to prevent the insects from stinging them. Plum curculio must be constantly watched.

The striped bugs whose affection for the melon-vine has cost many a farmer his crop of melons, can easily be exterminated by a solution of coal tar.

The first cheese factory which was established in Russia was introduced by Nicholas Verosthagun in 1866. He studied the dairy system in Switzerland.

Can anyone give a scientific and satisfactory explanation of the reason why fruit trees which blossom perfectly, are sometimes entirely barren as to fruit?

Carbolic acid soapsuds, injected over the rosebush through the nose of a common syringe, is an effectual cure for rose slugs, and also certain death to caterpillars.

Centranthus Macrosiphon will make, according to the great French nation, and excellent salad. It is a well-known annual, whose flowers are long-tubed, pale rose, and is ornamental in masses.

Some entomologists say that insects rob American farmers of $10,000,000 per year; but they do not tell us how much insects save American farmers by preying upon each other, and by furnishing food for birds that would otherwise depreciate farmers' crops. Compensation is one of the laws of nature, and suppose that insects may earn all they take, and are entitled to all they earn.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 19.

THE ELECTIONS.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED.

At length, after a great deal of backing and filling on the part of the Government, who have for the last three months seemed uncertain what to do or which way to turn, to escape the storm of popular disapprobation which their maladministration and corruption have raised against them, the proclamations ordering the dissolution of the old and the calling of a new Parliament have been issued. The proclamations, which are contained in an extra Gazette, issued on Saturday, convey the intelligence that the writs are to bear date on the 17th of August and to be returnable on the 21st of November, but nothing is therein contained as to the date of the nominations and of the polling. This omission is supplied by the Ottawa organ of the Government, which informs us that "A second proclamation will order the calling together of the new Parliament on the 21st September.

"A third proclamation will authorize the issue of writs for the election of a new Parliament.

"Nominations throughout the Dominion will take place on the 10th of September, and polling on the 17th. In Manitoba, nominations will be held on the 19th of September. The writs for Prince Edward Island and the more remote counties leave Ottawa to-day."

Thus but four weeks will elapse before the day of polling, which is very short notice indeed. It is quite evident that the Government are calculating on gaining by surprising their opponents, but their success in this regard will be very small, the Opposition being at least as well organized as are the Grits.

The electors are thus brought face to face with an electoral contest of momentous importance, on the result of which the future of the country largely depends. The issues between the parties are clear, sharp and well defined, and there can be little excuse for any man's halting between two opinions.

Let our friends buckle on their armour, organize themselves thoroughly and go into the contest with the spirit which usually animates them, and we have no fears for the result, not in Hastings alone, but throughout the Dominion as a whole.

Parliament Defied.

The Ottawa Citizen says :—"Judging from despatches received from Winnipeg, the people of Manitoba scarcely appear to be aware of the fact that Mr. Donald A. Smith's monopoly lease has been signed by the Government, yea, signed, sealed and delivered, giving Donald A. Smith, Stephens & Co., otherwise the St. Paul & Pacific R. R., an exclusive monopoly of running powers over the Pembina branch for ten years, thus completely shutting out the Northern Pacific Railway, which had made a survey for the purpose of forming connection." It will be remembered that the Senate refused to assent to the letting of this contract without first receiving its assent ; but Mr. Mackenzie, in order to gain his point and assist his friends, has disregarded the authority of Parliament and acted in accordance with his own will, just as he did in the matters of the steel rails, the Georgian Bay branch, the Pacific telegraph, &c. How long will the people submit to this dictatorship, in which the "one man power" is more conspicious than during the days of the family compact, of dilating on which Grit orators have not tired even to this day !

Presto, Change.—Le Courrier du Canada, of Quebec, announces that Mr. Frechette is coming out in Levis as an Indpendent and will do all in his power to oust the government. Our contemporary defies the Liberals to contradict this statement. What changes must, indeed, have come over the spirit of the poet politcian !

Gazetted.—Dr. Brouse lately M. P. for South Grenville, has at length received the seat in the Senate which he has worked for so hard and so long. Saturday's Gazette contains the appointment in question, which must prove a great disappointment to the other expectants. The Dr. is to be congratulated on having succeeded at last in his aspirations.

The Quebec Cabinet.—According to Le Courrier du Canada, there was to be a Cabinet meeting on Friday at which would come up the subject of the resigation of Mr. Treasurer Bachand, a proposal to appoint Hon. Mr. Chauveau to a Police Judgeship, possibly also the dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the country at once.

Quebec.—Reports from this Province are very encouraging. The Grits are evidently doomed to defeat in Montreal, having as yet been unable to procure suitable candidates for the three divisions of the city, whilst the popular candidates of the Conservative party are carrying all before them. St Hyacinthe and Rouville are certain to be redeemed by the Opposition, and reports from other constituencies are highly favorable to the Conservative cause.

The Orange Cases in Montreal.

This investigation is still going on. Murphy was put through a thorough cross-examination and made some extraordinary statements, such for instance, as the Orangemen firing upon themselves in order to create a row, and a number of similar such statements.

He was followed by the High Constable, who merely testified to the arrests, and the fact that some of those arrested wore certain emblems. Then came that ever ready meddler in everything of public character, Sir Francis Hincks, whose animosity to Orangeism is well known, whose evidence is worthy of an attentive reading, showing as it does, that he holds strange views upon the question of civil liberty. As an instance, Gavazzi had no right to be protected because he was a foreigner, but Chiniquy had because he was a Canadian, but neither had a right to denounce Roman Catholicism in a Province where that system of religion was universally in the ascendant. All this looks as if Sir Francia was fishing for a nomination for one of the divisions of Montreal.

The following is Sir Francis' evidence as far as received :—

Sir Francis Hincks, being sworn, was examined by Mr. Barnard, and deposed as follows :—I have resided in Canada for over forty-six years, and since 1838 I have taken a prominent part in public matters. Some years before that, and before I came to Canada, I have studied the Orange question, and except during the fourteen years I was absent from Canada, I have followed the public discussions on the Orange question. I can't say that I am acquainted with the circumstances of the celebration of the 12th of July last, but any Orange procession in a city like Montreal is calculated to cause a breach of the public peace. It is what was unknown in Ireland in its worst days. I remember reading the proclamation of the Mayor, and the one of Mr. Grant. The proclamation of the Mayor I now see in the Witness of the 10th July last, marked "D," and Mr. Grant's proclamation I now see in paper "A." I am aware that for months previous to the 12th of July the peace would be broken if the Orange procession took place, and that the Mayor was called upon to take measures to preserve the peace of the city, both by the City Council and the citizens in general. I am aware that a large meeting of the magistrates took place for the purpose of deciding on the particular measures the Mayor should put into effect, and the Mayor's proclamation was the result of the meeting. I am aware that a large portion of the inhabitants of this city are Roman Catholics, and a goodly number are Irish Catholics. From my experience of the objects and results of the Orange processions, it is my opinion that the proposed procession on the 12th of July, with banners and regalia, would be considered by the majority of the population as a provocation and an insult. I know the Catholics have good grounds for looking upon it in the light they do.

Cross-examined by Mr. Doutre.

Q. Who is expected to commit a breach of the peace at any Orange procession? A. I presume the Catholics would, inasmuch as they will not allow an Orange procession to march through the streets with their regalia and banners.

Q. In your long experience, have you ever heard or known, in any place governed by English law, that when a breach of the peace has been apprehended measures of protection or repression were taken by the authorities, not against those who were expected to commit a breach of the peace, but against those who were the intended victims of that breach of the peace ? A. I know that in the year 1835, or thereabouts, the Attorney and Solicitor-General of Upper Canada, both Protestants, both with leanings towards the Orange men, gave their written opinion that it was the duty of the civil authorities to prevent any procession calculated to produce a breach of the peace. I believe that Protestants in Ireland are constantly prevented, since the repeal of the Processions Act, on the same ground. They did not state there was any special law at that time, and, to my knowledge, there is none now, unless it be the law recently passed at Quebec.

Q. Could not the principle on which that opinion was based be applied to, so as to justify the authorities in preventing a sermon being delivered in a Church, with the approval of the whole congregation, if it be apprehended that in delivering that sermon it might induce or provoke some parties outside of the church, and of the congregation, to prevent that sermon from being delivered ? A. I do not think so. I can see no analogy between a sermon delivered in a church and a procession going through the public streets with banners and regalia, known to be the symbols of an Association holding principles which the Irish Catholics know to be identified with their degradation during a century and a half, and which degradations there is every reason to believe, from their open declarations, the members of the body would like to subject them to in Canada.

Q. The breach of the peace being the same in the case stated in the last question, as in the case of an Orange procession, would not the authorities be equally justified, in one as in the other, in preventing the cause leading to the breach of the peace ? A. I cannot conceive it possible that a sermon delivered in a church could cause a breach of the peace, and I therefore cannot venture an opinion as to what a Mayor or other magistrate might feel it his duty to do, if assured that such breach would occur.

Q. Have you not heard of the cause of Gavazzi, when Zion church was attacked with firearms and stones, while Gavazzi was delivering a sermon to the congregation of that church, and also of the cause of the same preacher, who was the occasion of a similar assault on Chalmers street, in Quebec, a few days previous ? Have you not heard, either, of the congregation listening to sermons of Father Chiniquy being attacked in their own church several times, the winter before last ? A. I have a distinct recollection of the Gavazzi cases, both in Quebec and Montreal. I look upon them as entirely exceptional. I have no hesitation in saying that I am of opinion that the principle laid down would apply to a foreigner who came into two peaceable cities to abuse the religion of the mass of the population. I was not aware that Mr. Chiniquy's preaching had been interfered with. In his case, I think he was entitled to the protection of the authorities.

Q. Is not the principle just laid down by you very much the same as the one applied to Jesus Christ, and all the Apostles, who have preached the gospel in foreign countries? A. I do not think so. I see no analogy between the cases. The tendency of the questions is to introduce religious controversy, whereas the Orange question is not religious but political, Orangeism is condemned by an overwhelming majority of the Protestants of the United Kingdom. It is condemned by Parliament and the Queen. It must be universally condemned by all Catholics, as its leading principle is Protestant ascendancy in church and state. Without that principle it has no raison d'etre.

It being after four o'clock, the further examination of Sir Francis Hincks was adjourned until Monday next, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

The Writs.—The writ for the Parliamentary election for West Hastings has been received by W. H. Ponton, Esq., Registrar. That for North Hastings has been mailed to the Sheriff. The writ for the East Riding has been received by Hiram Holden, Esq., of Shannonville.

The Elections.—The Kingston News says :—"We believe that it is beyond a doubt that the nominations will take place on the 10th and the polling on the 17th of September, so that our friends had better set earnestly to work." Sir John A. Macdonald is to open the campaign in Kingston by addressing a public meeting at the City Hall on Thursday next.

—A man named McCullough received probably fatal injuries on Cathcart street, Ottawa, on Saturday morning, by a powder explosion. He was carrying a basketful of the explosive material when a spark from his pipe ignited it, with the above results.

—Vessels engaged in the deep sea fisheries are this year landing their cargoes at Point du Chene. About a week ago, one train carried away as many as a thousand barrels of mackerel besides a large quantity of lobsters.

—Minto township, in the County of Bruce, boasts of having built 14 miles of gravel road at a cost of $8,000 per mile, and granted bonuses to each of the railways passing through it, amounting to $80,000. Its indebtedness is, according to the last Auditors' report, only $13,670 and its taxes have never exceeded 13 mills in any year.

Niagara Regatta.—The consolation race at Niagara on Saturday was won by Edward Ross, of St. John, Morris second, and Elliott third. The other starters were McKen and Coulter.

Leave of Absence.—The following appears in the Militia General Orders :—Lieut.-Gen. Sir E. S. Smythe, K. C. M. G., commanding the Militia of the Dominion, having been granted leave of absence from the Dominion from the 31st August inst. to the end of October next, his duties during such absence will be performed by Col. Powell, Adjutant-General of Militia.

The Ottawa Disturbances.—A despatch from Ottawa on Saturday says:—"Yesterday the following parties were arrested on warrants for being implicated in the recent party troubles. W. P. Warren, James Brewer, and James O'Neil. They were immediately bailed out by their friends. There are a large number of warrants out for the arrest of other parties for the same offence. The disturbances have been so highly colored in transmission to the American papers as to have become ludicrous. Every event, however trifling, has been magnified into a desperate affair by the correspondent's pen. Hence arise the fact that an Insurance Inspector has been sent to Ottawa from the United States to cancel policies. He expected to see half the city in ruins, but telegraphed home to his friends that everything looked Sunday-like here. The Boston Advertiser despatched a representative to the capital also. He too, was much disappointed."

False friends are like our shadow—keeping close to us while we walk in the sunshine, but leaving us the instant we cross into the shade.

True fortitude is seen in great exploits that justice warrants, and that wisdom guides ; all else is to seeing frenzy and distraction.

Whoever would be sustained by the hand of God, let him constantly lean upon it ; whoever would be defended by it let him patiently repose under it.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Marmora, Aug. 17, 1878.

Mr. Editor,—Our usually quiet, but very interesting little village, was the scene of much bustle and excitement on Wednesday, 14th instant, as a prelude to the day's enjoyment, which was to consist of a Pic Nic to be held at "Lovers' Nook," a delightful spot situated on Crow Lake ; and as it is some distance from the village, the proposed plan was to go in boats up the lake to the place selected. At a very early hour, all who purposed going were busily engaged in preparing to start ; at last, everything being ready, the boats were launched, and contained a happy party with cheerful faces, all bent on a day's sport ; and to judge from the number of baskets, etc., containing provisions, the party evidently did not intend that Jesse Hunger should be allowed to trespass at all. After an hour's pull they reached the place selected—and truly it was as pleasant and interesting a place as its name implies. After landing, preparations for getting dinner were commenced, and in a short time the whole party were eagerly employed in doing justice to the many good things which the ladies of Marmora are so well competent to prepare. After dinner the whole party took part in the various amusements provided for the occasion, and it was gratifying to see the more elderly members of the party join in the sports with as much enthusiasm as the youngerones. "Lovers' Nook" is indeed a very pleasant resort, with its beautiful groves and pleasant grounds, made doubly pleasant by the cooling breeze from the lake. After enjoying themselves till a late hour, they all proceeded home, and as the night was calm, and the moon cast its lustre over the smooth surface of the water, the trip home was not the least enjoyable part of the day's sport. They arrived home about 11 p. m., all acknowledging that they never spent a more happy day—indeed, some of the young folks were only sorry that it was over. Much credit is due the ladies of the village for the real manifested in the performance of their part of the programme, and also to Messrs. Pearce and Gladney, for their efforts in making the day's entertainment a success.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 19.

City and Vicinity.

CITY COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of Council will be held this evening.

THE CELLS.—There has been but one tramp in the cells since Saturday night, and no prisoners.

ADVICE TO TRAMPS.—Don't drink champagne more than three times a day, and spring chicken at this time of the year is out of season. You must be careful to preserve your health and not impair your digestion for the winter campaign.

THE YACHTS.—The Madcap and Katie Gray arrived home from their cruise on Saturday. The Kathleen was at Cobourg on the same day. The Enid, Minnie A., and Mabel were at Brockville on Thursday, the two latter sailing in the race. It will probably be several days yet ere they return.

ELZEVIR.—At the court held at Bridgewater on the 13th inst., to hear the complaints against the voter's list for 1878, for the Municipality of Elzevir and Grimsthorp, twenty-four names were added to the list of Parliamentary voters. None were struck off. Twenty of these were added on application of the Conservatives and four by the Grits.

GIANT CUCUMBERS.—Mr. Gordineer, of Marmora, informs us that there are growing in the garden of Mr. Harvey Fordham, 7th concession of Marmora, a number of giant cucumbers, the largest of which he measured and found to be 6ft 1 inch in length. This surpasses anything of the kind of which we have heard in this section heretofore.

THE BELLEVILLE FIREMEN.—The Kingston Whig of Saturday says:—"On Thursday we observed several finely dressed, orderly and respectable looking firemen in the city. We now learn that they were attached to the Belleville fire department, having come down the Bay of Quinte with a party, some of whom pic-niced at the Indian Point."

THE BEST INSECT DESTROYER.—Hot alum is the best insect destroyer known. Put the alum into hot water, and let it boil till all the alum is dissolved; then apply it hot to all the cracks, closets, bed-steads and any other places where any insects are found. Ants, bed-bugs, cock-roaches and creeping things generally are destroyed by it; while there is no danger of poisoning the family or injuring the property.

STREET RAILWAY.—We are glad to learn that Mr. Monaghan, the popular manager of the street railway has obtained a lease from the present owners of the railway, for another year. This will be good news to those who use this thoroughfare, for Mr. Monaghan's uniform courtesy and desire to accomodate the travelling public has made him deservedly popular, and if anything is to be made out of the Railway, we know of no one more capable of doing it than Mr. Monaghan. We believe it is in contemplation to run a branch to the Dafoe House shortly and also at no distant date to extend the road over Taylor's hill. This will be a great accommodation to the people in that section of the City, and will without doubt make it a better investment for the owners and lessee.

ABOUT THUNDER STORMS.—An exchange says:—"Lightning travels nearly a million times faster than thunder. The speed of lightning is so great that it would go four hundred and eighty times around the earth in a minute, whereas the sound of thunder would scarcely go thirteen miles in the same space of time. Thunder will take a second to travel 380 yards, hence a popular method of approximating the distance of a thunder cloud is as follows:—Immediately you see the lightning flash put your hand upon your pulse and count how many times it beats before the thunder; if it beats six pulsations the storm is one mile off, if twelve pulsations it is two miles off, and so on. In the case of elderly people five pulsations would measure nearly the same period of time as six in the case of young persons."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL PARLIAMENT.—The last excursion from Belleville to the Sunday School Parliament takes place on Wednesday next, per Kincardine. The increasing attractions of this beautiful place, and the closing days of the Parliament, will no doubt induce large numbers to go down. By the published programme we see that the "bill of fare" for Wednesday and Thursday is the fullest and best. The subjects to be considered on Wednesday are "The mistakes of teachers;" "Uses and abuse of Illustrations;" "The English Bible, its development and mission;" "The Bible viewed as a miracle;" and a lecture on The great Pyramid, by the Rev. A. N. Fischer, of Rochester, N. Y. Amongst the speakers on Wednesday and Thursday are, A. O. Van Lennep—native Turk; Rev. S. McGerald; Rev. C. M. Whittlesey; Dr. L. T. Townsend, of Boston; Rev. J. H. Castle, D.D., Toronto; and Mrs. Behan—better known under the cognomen of "Pansey." Beside all this, a trip to Alexandria Bay will be given gratis on Thursday afternoon.

MIDNIGHT DESPATCHES.

AUSTRIA AND BOSNIA.

UNDERHAND DEALINGS OF THE PORTE.

STRAINED RELATIONS BETWEEN TURKEY AND AUSTRIA.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A despatch dated Vienna says the monetary reverses which have befallen a few detachments of the Austrian army in Bosnia and Herzegovina, especially the forced retreat to Boboj of Gen. Szapary's division, has produced a depressing effect among the people, and their apprehensions are echoed in the newspapers, but a much calmer view is taken of the situation in competent military circles, where such checks are recognized as necessary incidents of even the most successful warfare. Hafiz Pasha's confession that thirty battalions or regular Turkish troops fought in the ranks of the insurgents has created a great sensation here, and greatly embitters the minds of the people against the Porte. It it understood all the opposition on the part of Bosnia, from the insurrection of Hadji Logo down to the most recent conflicts, have been contrived at Stamboul, and hypocritically imputed to the refractory spirit of the Bosnians. Whatever may transpire regarding the Austro-Turkish Convention, it is certain the underhand dealings of the Porte have brought about a change in the relation of this Government with Turkey, which a short time ago would have been deemed impossible.

A telegram from Brod, dated Aug. 16th, reports that General Szapary has effected a junction with the Austrian main body, which yesterday reached Serajevo, the capital of Bosnia, unopposed.

A telegram from the headquarters of the 20th Austrian division says the division was attacked on Friday morning in its position near Doboj, on the right bank of the River Bosnia, by a considerable number of insurgents. All the assaults were repulsed but the Austrians suffered heavily.

A demonstrtion from Dalmatia against Livno, on the 15th, compelled the Turkish garrison of 3,300, who had started to harass the Austrian communication, to return to that town.

The Christians in Bosnia are flocking to arms in consequence of heavy fines imposed on them by Austrians.

A Maglai telegram says the Mahomedan insurgents receive ammunition from ports on the Ægean Sea through private hands. The Arnauts and Albanians continue to muster in great force in the direction of Mitrobitza.

A telegram from the headquarters of General Phillipovitch at Foinitza Cupri, Aug. 16th, announces that the Austrian army on that day advanced in three columns against the insurgents, who had fortified themselves in a strong position near Buzovoca. A column forming the right wing of the Austrian army took the insurgents on the flank and rear and captured their entire camp with a large number of waggons, ammunition, and other property. Other columns were somewhat delayed by the ruggedness of the ground so the insurgents had time to withdraw with their artillery. They fled en masse to Kiseljak, near to which place the Austrians are now posted. The insurgents also occupy Visoka. Gen. Tegethoff was marching thither and expected to arrive on 17th. The Austrian losses in these movements are inconsiderable. Gen. Szapary is still confronting the insurgents at Doboj on the 7th inst.

A Vienna despatch says at least four more divisions of the Austrian army will go immediately to Bosnia.

A Vienna despatch says Austria has strongly cautioned Servia against the violation of her international obligations.

A Vienna despatch says the negotiations between Austria and Turkey are on the verge of failure, as a rupture is imminent. The last propositions of the Porte have been rejected. Caratheodori Pasha is awaiting instructions as to whether he shall quit Vienna.

All Vienna special correspondents deny that a convention has been signed. Public opinion and the press are unanimous against it.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Special despatches from Rome report that the German Crown Prince Frederick William and Bismarck sent the congratulatory telegrams on his name day or the feast day of the Saint after whom the Pope is named.

Cottam, Morton & Co., have failed. Liabilities, £1,500,000.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Senator Renaud is dead.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A despatch from Constantinople reports that after the review on Saturday, General Todleben was fired at by a young Greek, but without effect, and the assassin was arrested.

The Times says the British Government has the right to demand that no needless obstacle be thrown in the way of the settlement of the Eastern Question, and that no further outrages be perpetrated of a kind shocking to the common conscience of Europe. It is to Russia we must look in the first instance to put a stop to the mischief. The Government will speak with the voice of the country in any fresh remonstrances it may see fit to address to Russia on this pressing subject.

A despatch from Constantinople says, instructions have been sent to Caratheodori Pasha to sign the convention if Austria will agree that Austrian occupation shall cease when the powers declare the reforms promised by the Porte, have been satisfactory applied.

ROME, Aug. 19.—A Lazarette who had been preaching a new religion in the province of Grosetto, was killed yesterday, in a conflict with Gens d'Armes, who interfered because his partisans raised cries for a republic.

MADRID, Aug. 19.—The cholera is in northern Africa, at Fez, Mequinez, and Tetuan.

PLYMOUTH, Eng., Aug. 19.—She S.S. Eaniel Steinman, with her propeller disabled, was towed in here, and will dock for repairs.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Arrived, the S. S. Helvetia from Liverpool.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The first race, purse $300, three-quarters of a mile, was won by Pique, time 1.19½. The second race, purse $400, mile and three-quarters, Bushwhacker won, time 3.18½.

DETROIT, Aug. 19.—A telegram from Mackinaw to-day reports the propeller Java sunk off Point Au Sable, Lake Michigan, yesterday morning. She is a total loss. All the hands were saved.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 19.—Arrived, the S. S. Britannic, from New York.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 19.—Corporal Hassan Sahib, of the Turkish Army, detailed as inspector of arms, shot himself this morning after a carouse. The same man attempted the life of his mistress a few months ago.

ASHLAND, MS., Aug. 19.—Washington mills were burned on Sunday. Loss $25,000.

SUDDEN DEATH IN CHURCH.

ODESSA, Aug. 19, 1878.

Mr. Lawrence Hartman, an old and respected resident of the Township of Ernestown, died very suddenly of heart disease while attending a revival meeting in the Episcopal Methodist Church in this village at 10 o'clock last evening. The deceased was, at the time of his death, addressing the audience, and was about concluding his discourse, when he was seen to sit down, breathed heavily for about a minute, and expired. Dr. Ross was called, and stated that death was caused by the above mentioned malady.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate winds, partly cloudy weather, with rain areas. For the St. Lawrence, moderate winds, and partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh winds, cloudy to rainy, followed by partially clearing weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Indications:—Clear or partly cloudy weather.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

RELATIVE VALUE OF CORN AND OATS.

The results of experiments that have been made with some 10,000 horses of the cab company in Paris, and published by the president of the company, M. Bixio, adds, to the testimony of the omnibus company of that city last year, that the substitution of maize for oats effects a large economy while affecting no diminution in the working power of the animal. The 10,000 cab horses have been operated upon during a period of five years, their feeding being regulated according to the most scientific principles and the no less important point attended to—book-keeping. As compared with the year 1872, a saving of 19 centimes—nearly 4 sous per animal per day—was effected in 1877, representing a total economy for the year of 1,058,610 francs.

THE "GRAIN" OF BUTTER.

When the butter has "come," and appears in little irregular masses, from a pin's head to a large pea in size, is the time to draw off the buttermilk and wash the butter in the churn. This removes all the buttermilk. After being then gathered and removed from the churn, worked, washed and salted on the butter-worker at the proper temperature, we find upon breaking it that it has a granular look. The mass seems to be made of little particles with a slightly glistening appearance. This is called the "grain." These small particles are partially kept apart by films of water (after salting, this water becomes brine), and the peculiar texture thus imparted to the butter is a test of proper manufacture. Over churn to overwork it, churn or work it at the wrong temperature, and the grain is gone, never to be restored, and with it is gone a large percentage of the selling value of the butter. Enough water (brine) must be retained to produce this appearance, which distinguishes "butter" from "grease." Consequently the most perfect grain is obtained by washing in the churn before the butter is "gathered."

YEAST FROM GRAPE LEAVES.

It has been discovered that grape leaves make a yeast in some respect superior to hops, as the bread rises sooner and has not the peculiar taste which many object to in that made from hops. Use eight to ten leaves for a quart of yeast; boil them for about ten minutes, and then pour the hot liquor on the flour, the quantity of the latter being determined by whether the yeast is wanted thick or thin. Use hop yeast for raising it to begin with, and afterwards that made of the grape leaves. Dried leaves will be as good as fresh. If a dark film appears upon the surface when rising, a little stirring will obviate it.

FLOATING CURD.

Floating curd may arise from disease in cows. Milk that is productive of this curd has a sweety, sickish taste. Such milk does not develop acid fast enough, and mixing a little sour whey with it is profitable. Floating curds are not plenty, and can be generally avoided by cooling and airing the milk. Sufficient rennet should be used to bring the curd in fifteen to thirty minutes. Rennets, however, should be tried as to their strength, as they are apt to vary to an extent to render trial and watching a necessity.

Minor Agricultural Items.

There are ninety-three granges in New Hampshire, and they are conferring many advantages upon the farmers of that State.

"The future hope of our profession," says the worthy master of the Mississippi State grange, "depends upon the education of the rising generation."

Ten cents per pound for the best, is the highest now paid for butter at Ailsa Craig and Parkhill.

From all the English hop-producing centres the reports of the health and vigor of the plants and of the evenness of the vine, are uniformly good. A few planters complain that wire worms, slugs and fleas have done some harm, particularly to young plants, in some districts. Applications of lime, soot, nitrate of soda and guano have been promptly made where injury has been caused, which will soon drive off the enemies and force the vine to grow.

Squashes yield from fifteen to twenty-five tons to the acre in California.

Some men never do anything at all on their farms, because they stand like a little urchin in a big watermelon patch, dazed at the innumerable chances for choosing. They have so many good things to plant,—and so many good ways to plant them—so many pressing things to do, and no one to begin on, that the year glides from under their feet and they have made nothing but a—failure.

Plants in the sleeping apartment are not detrimental to health

England is obliged to import grain, eggs, butter and cheese from this country, and, before many years, must depend upon us for all the necessaries of life.

Much discussion is just now taking place among the New Jersey strawberry cultivators as to the probable cause of the new rust or fungoid disease which has destroyed many beds of vines this season.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P.,
WILLIAM MAIN,
REV. THOMAS HARTIN.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. d&w1m

Many a girl has married a man whom she knew to be anything but good, "because he loved her so." And the flame has died out on the hearthstone of home before long, and beside it she has seen sitting beside one that her she could never hope would lead her heavenward—one who, if she followed him as wife should, would guide her steps to perdition. Marriage is a solemn thing—a choice for life; be careful in choosing.

Faith is the root of all blessings; believe and ye shall be saved; believe, and you must need be sanctified; believe, and you cannot choose but be comforted.

Hints on Watering Plants.

Plants set against walls and piazzas frequently suffer for want of water at this season, even when ground near them is quite wet. Draw away the soil around each plant so as to form a basin. Fill it with a bucketful of water, allowing it time to sink gradually away, and when the surface has dried a little draw in loosely the soil over it, and it will do without water for some weeks. This applies to all plants wanting water through the season. If water is merely poured on the surface, it is made more compact by the weight of water, and the harder the soil becomes the easier it dries; and the result is the more water you give the more is wanted. A well-known horticultural editor says the objection against watering when the sun shines on the plants is purely a theoretical one, and appears only in the writings of those who have had but little actual experience. Nevertheless, the evening is the proper time for watering, when the best results in the conservation of moisture are expected. Actual experience has taught that plants wilting from the effect of heat should be shaded, as well as watered. Experience has also taught that superficial waterings do little good. The water given should reach the roots of the plants. The great objection to watering under a hot sun is that the exhalation is so strong that much of the water given is quickly evaporated.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w

OF

VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lot number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot nbmber Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage.

The aforesaid premises which are well watered and on which are erected a large brick dwelling house, a small frame dwelling house, and a large frame barn, are situated about 1½ miles from Stirling, and 13½ miles from Belleville.

An abstract of title of the said lands will be produced at the sale, and the vendor will convey his interest only in the said lands to the purchaser.

The purchaser shall at the time of sale pay one-tenth of the purchase money. and the balance within ten days thereafter. For further particulars apply at the law offices of Messrs. FLINT & JELLETT, and

ALEX. ROBERTSON,
Vendor's Solicitor.

Belleville, July 17, A. D., 1878. d&wtd

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more clossely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIEGNCER Office, Belleville.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your preju ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Advantages of Protection to Villages, Towns, and Cities.

BY R. W. PHIPPS.

To commence, there would be many more of them. As stated at first, the people who farm exclusively need very few cities,as in the case of the Southern States. When they manufacture, they build many, as in the North. There are few countries so well provided with water-power as our own, and it has, also, the great advantage of a long lake and river line, at every point of which coal-schooners may leave cargoes. If the country adopt Protection, capitalists will at once come here from the States and Britain, secure the best points in country and city, and commence operations. Numerous villages will at once spring into existence. Towns and cities will double their size. There will be many years of constant work for all artificers in building, and in making machinery, and many thousands of people will find employment in addition to the actual operatives. It is sometimes said by men who have not considered the matter, that foreign workmen would at once come and fill all vacancies. Whether they be foreign or not, it is plain that the number Protection would bring would more than double our city and town population—plain that it would afford occupation to more than double our present number of farmers to supply them, as computed above. This, again, would make more work in the towns, and create more towns. While prosperity is increasing and the country receiving emigrants, there is always full work at high wages. When it ceases to improve, work gets very scarce, and wages fall.† All may recollect that while the States were receiving half a million emigrants a year, wages were extremely high, and workmen scarce. So in Canada, as long as many were coming here, times were good, work plenty, and wages high. Nothing is more certain, from all past time, than the fact that, given prosperity under which workmen are coming fast into a country, there will be work enough in that country for all, as long as the influx has such cause. We have in this country resources which, if properly used, will allow influx of a hundred millions of people before we are glutted with labor. Our trouble hitherto has been that we could not give employment to those who did come. If a number of British operatives come here, they pass on to the States, though we use large quantities of the very goods they could make for us. But we buy them in foreign lands, and the men must leave us. Let us look at our one Toronto furniture factory, for instance, employing say seven hundred hands. In its adjoining store, it needs but very few men to sell these goods. Now look at our long rows of wholesale stores selling foreign goods, and consider that to every one of these there is a large factory, with its hundreds of hands, elsewhere, and under Protection, we would have them all here. And one who remembers the great impetus to business, given a few years ago to Toronto when a couple of foundries in the railway and other lines were each employing five or six hundred men—who remembers how busy and prosperous the stores were near them, and what a good market farmers found for their produce then compared to now, can well see the result of having two or three hundred factories. If a factory employs 300 hands at $1.50 a day every day $450 are paid out; every week $2,700 leaves the hands of the operatives, who do not keep it,for even if they deposit it, the banks lend it. Those who get it pay it out; others again spend it, it goes on to others, it circulates continually; it comes back to the factory owner, it goes out again; every time it changes hands there is a profit. Every additional factory is an additional market for all those in other lines. All this creates what is called a series of markets; creating one creates others, and occasions production and consumption in an endless progression. This gives the secret of the Massachusetts savings given above. It must be remembered also that the other classes who follow operatives would add extremely to the general wealth.§ Manufacture brings in its train all kinds of people to work for it. Lawyers, doctors, ministers, artists, writers, orators, flock to it. Magnificent churches, universities, colleges, halls, theatres, hospitals, will be erected. Many men of independent income will, finding there pleasant places to live in, come and reside. There would be many such immigrants, for Canada is the healthiest land—by statistics—in the world; but our few towns are too lifeless as yet to attract them—a lifelessness which would vanish with the advent of Protection. Many an American forest or prairie of twenty years back is a city now, and many a Canadian farmer, before his death, may yet see such a city covering the spot where his farm now stands.

VALUE OF PROTECTION TO MANUFACTURES TO THE CANADIAN FARMER.

What is already settled of Canada can never be a wheat exporting country. The vast returns from California, where all through the growing season the farmer needs no barns, and very few fences, and can thresh his wheat in the field and load it into a ship for England along many miles of rivers: the serf-grown wheat of Russia, the new and excellent wheat of India, produced by people who give labor for nominal wages—all these must compete with ours, and keep down its price. Manitoba, too, will soon pour millions of bushels into and across our land. The cultivation of barley cannot last without a rotation of crops,as shown before by the States' example. In fact the prospect before the Canada farmer, if matters continue as they are, is simply this: He must grow crops with insufficient manure; consequently his land will grow poorer and poorer. He must yearly compete with cheaper labor and newer land elsewhere. The system of railroads takes from him what he once had—lower freight to Europe than the Western farmer. (Freight from Chicago to Liverpool is just the same as from Toronto to Liverpool, or even, as just now, seven cents less. From Chicago to Portland is twenty cents 100 weight. From Toronto to Portland the same or more.) He must see his sons leave the country for want of opportunities here—perhaps must go himself. He will find all he can raise—oats, wheat, barley, potatoes, cattle, flour, brought in to undersell him in his own markets by Americans, whose duties forbid his goods equal entrance there. They come here, sell to Canadians, get at once the money he should have got at once, while he must send just that much more to Britain, and wait four months for a return. (If a buyer advance the money, he has to charge the farmer interest and risk.) They take our near market, we must put up with the foreign one. He may own land every foot of which would be valuable for a home market; but even five hundred acres of which cannot raise anything profitable to carry and sell abroad. Now let us consider his chances if Protective duties be charged. He will, every here and there, see villages starting up around him, some of which will soon rise to towns and cities. All the resources of the land will be utilized—clay for bricks—stone for building and macadamizing—timber for houses—cord wood for fuel—and a hundred other things. One city like Toronto alone needs a hundred miles of macadam—a foot or more deep and fifty wide. He will be able to sell as many fat cattle and sheep as he can raise, at paying prices, and to sell roots, hay, straw, butter, fruit, and all those things which give the soil a change of work. Farmers near our few cities have these, in some respects, now; but they have this great difficulty: all through the back country we have no cities, and the whole produce of the back country pours into our few cities to compete with the near farmers. The consequence is, as all know, that the backwoodsmen gets next to nothing for his butter and eggs, while the frontier farmer is hindered of his price by their influx. This would be removed by Protection, which would give towns and cities in many parts of the land. Farmers would be able to hire men the year round, and would be able nay find it necessary—to devote most of their time not to labor, but to overseeing their men, and buying and selling. So long as he is a mere export farmer, he must drudge with his men in grain-growing,or it will not pay. But give him the chance to farm well which a near market bestows, and he will find it pay better to oversee than to work. Land-scratching for grain is a dull business—the ground yearly getting harder—the soil poorer. Of all the world, Canada furnishes most recruits to the lunatic asylums—from a people, too, naturally keen-witted and sensible. But the country is dull. The young men find no life—no busy industries around. He often leaves. Here is the list of Canadian born residents in the States at the last census:—Alabama, 183; Arkansas 342; California, 10,660; Connecticut, 10,861; Delaware, 112; Florida, 174; Georgia, 347; Illinois, 32,550; Indiana, 4,765; Iowa, 17,907; Kansas, 5,324; Kentucky, 1,082; Louisana, 714; Maine, 26,788; Maryland, 644; Massachussets, 70,055; Michigan, 89,590; Minnesota, 16,398; Mississippi, 375; Missouri, 8,488; Nebraska, 2,635; Nevada, 2,365; New Hampshire, 12,935; New Jersey, 2,474; New York, 79,042; North Carolina, 171; Ohio 12,988; Oregon, 1,187; Pennsylvania, 1,022; Rhode Island, 1,042; South Carolina, 78; Tennessee, 587; Texas, 597; Vermont, 28,544; Virginia, 534; Wisconsin, 25,666; Territories, 5,000. Total in the United States. 487,000. Had we had Protective tariffs few of these would have left us, and multitudes more, who came here from Europe and had to leave for the States, would have found full work here. Some statistics given by one farmer will here be quoted:—

"He farms 20 acres of good land, grew on it in 1875—an average year—220 bushels of wheat, 400 bushels of turnips, 120 bushels of potatoes, 2 tons of hay. Amount of imported manufactured goods used by his family of six, in one year as follows:—Sugar, $8; dry goods, $40; crockery, $2; imported hardware $10. Making $60. Their homespun cloth, factory cotton, nails and most of their tools are Canadian made, adding which with what they bought would reach $100 altogether. Now suppose (what is not the case, for Protection cheapens)—but suppose all goods bought, Canadian and imported, heightened in price in proportion to the tariff, and suppose ten per cent added to the existing tariff. It would cost him $10 a year. Now what would he gain? His village wheat market is always ten cents lower than Toronto price; whether it go to Europe or the Maritime Provinces it will cost 15 cents for carriage at least; commission will raise it to 20 cents. Could he have sold it close at hand he would have made $44 on the wheat. His turnips are worth about 15 cents per bushel; but with a manufacturing town at fair teaming distance he could sell them at 25 cents easily—40 more saved. His potatoes could average 30 cents a bushel more—$36 more saved. His farm could receive the great advantage of a supply of manure, which now it cannot get, and it could be relieved from the steady wheat drain, when roots, fruit, and cattle in alternation would pay better. Under Protection there would be within two miles of him a large manufacturing town, for there is one of the best water powers in Canada. Coal, as it is close to a lake port, could also be cheaply obtained. (Few farms in Canada are not near manufacturing facilities of one sort or another.) He has been five years clearing his twenty acres, burning most of the wood—much of it excellent elm, ash beech, maple, basswood, and others—part fit for fire wood—much of it valuable for ship-building and manufactures of various kinds—thus dissipating in smoke full $200

† Some people are telling workmen, "Oh, you don't want Protection. It would make lots of work here, and then workmen would come in in crowds, and lower wages. Why don't they protect labor? put a tariff against workmen coming in?" These people are of dull perceptions, or they would know that workmen laugh at them. All workmen know that labor protects itself. When times are good, and work plenty, trade unions find no difficulty in keeping wages up. Give our cities plenty of factories—give us our home market—and no workman will either lack labor or good wages for many years.

§ The writer noticed an eloquent peroration last week by N. F. Davin, Esq., concerning what Canada might hope from Protection:—"Beyond the narrow stream of difficulty to be crossed are wealthy fields, the hum of teeming cities,and the mighty murmur of a free and prosperous people."

The importation of Indian Corn is not advantageous to many of our farmers, while it is to many of them injurious. We import from two to four million dollars worth, of which much is used for distilling, and a large amount exported leaving but about a fourth, or from half to one million, for those farmers who, in some districts, buy it for feed. On the other hand, there are very large districts of Canada which, with encouragement of a duty on corn, would grow much rye. Again, it conflicts with Canada pea growing—a crop which, in many parts, forms our best preparation for wheat. Protection will free us from American competition, and a great home market from the need of shipping cattle to Europe. With these, farmers will profitably raise their own cattle and their own feed. It is astonishing that no one—of all our well-paid scientifics, raises a voice against the exportation of our new-found phosphates—as well might the man overboard sell his life-buoy.

The writer would express his thanks for a valuable compilation, the work of Mr. Nelson Gorham, Newmarket, which he has used to some extent, but which is worthy of separate publication.

a year, which he could easily have sold had there been manufacturing towns near him. To sum up: What he would lose yearly under Protection, granting all the arguments that it raises prices (which are untrue) would be just $10. What he would have gained yearly under Protection according to the statement above—none of which can be fairly disputed—is: On wheat $44; turnips, $40; potatoes, $36; wool, $200,—in all $320 yearly. He would gain otherwise. His farm is worth $1,000; it would be worth $3,000 under a Protective policy, merely for farming. Moreover, he has five sons, of ages from four to twelve. He does not like to bring these all up as farmers, seeing that he himself—always hard-working and economical—has not succeeded better. One will keep the little farm, and as there are plenty of workers in the neighborhood for all that is done under Free Trade, the rest will leave, and probably bring up at or near the factories of the States. Under Protection, which would cover Canada with manufacturing towns and villages, all his children would find remunerative employment here. This is no fancy picture. In Canada there are many thousand such farmers.

In the contest with the Southern States, to obtain protection, Mr. Stewart, of Pennsylvania, used some arguments, which farmers might well consider. He said:—

"There is another and still stronger view of this subject in relation to its effects upon the interests of the farmer and agriculturist. It was a fact, however strange it might appear, that this nation imported agricultural labor to the amount of many millions a year. He did not mean to say it was imported in its original shape, but it entered into the composition of manufactures, and, thus altered and modified, was imported and consumed among us. Sir, of what is your imported cloth composed, your imported iron, spirits, hemp, linen—in short—almost everything? Count the cost of the raw material, the wool, hemp, flax; then add the price of provisions, the bread, meat, fuel and tea consumed by those employed in the fabrication of these manufactured articles, and you will find that two-thirds of our imported goods consist of agricultural labor, and went to support and sustain the farmers of foreign countries—paying them the money which should go to our own. Agriculture is the great basis and foundation on which everything else depends. When the farmer prospers, all proper; when he sinks, all the rest, professional men and mechanics, go down with him. Make him prosperous and the whole country will prosper. And how is agriculture to be made prosperous but by building up and sustaining home markets? It is not for the manufacturers, but for the mechanics and farmers that I advocate the protective policy. The important fact which lies deep at the foundation of the whole subject, and to which I am anxious to attract the attention of the farmers of the country, is this: That more than half of the entire price of the hundred million dollars a year, of foreign manufactures imported into this country is agricultural produce raised on a foreign soil, worked up and manufactured into goods, then sent here for sale. This may seem strange, but is strictly true. I defy contradiction, I challenge investigation. Let gentlemen disposed to contest it select an article of foreign goods—a yard of cloth, a ton of iron, a hat, a coat, a pair of shoes, anything from a needle to an anchor, examine its constituent parts, the raw material, the clothing and subsistence of the labor employed in its manufacture, and it would be discovered that more than half, often three-fourths of the whole price, is made up of agricultural produce. I have ascertained the fact from my own books, kept at a furnace, that more than three-fourths of the price of every ton of iron sold, was paid to the neighboring farmers for their domestic goods, their meat and flour that clothed and fed my hands, for their hay, corn and oats, that sustained my horses, mules and oxen employed about my works.

"Was this system hurtful to agriculture? Look at the neighboring iron work of Mount Savage, built up within a few years; the land was bought for two dollars an acre, it is now from twenty to a hundred; it employs four or five thousand men. The high price of neighboring farms, shows the effect of giving the farmers a market. Manufacturing establishments multiply the value of farms in their vicinity often ten, twenty—and sometimes of mineral lands a hundred fold. Let three or four more such establishments go up in that vicinity, and you would have a demand for three or four times as many hands, and for all sorts of agricultural produce in the same proportion. No American interest is so much benefited by a protective tariff as that of agriculture. To show the effect upon currency as well as agriculture, suppose the gentleman from Virginia wants a new coat, he goes to a British importer and pays his twenty dollars. Away it goes in quick time. We see no more of it, and as far as circulation is concerned, the gentleman might as well have thrown it in the fire. But I want a coat; I go to the American manufacturer and buy twenty dollars worth of American broad cloth. I wear no other, and I will compare coats with the gentleman on the spot. (A laugh.) Well, the manufacturer the next day gave it to the farmer for wool; he gave it to the shoemaker; the latter, the blacksmith; they gave it back to the farmer for meat and bread, and here it went from one to another. You might perhaps see his busy and bustling twenty-dollar note five or six times in the course of the day. This made money plenty, but where is the other gentleman's twenty dollars? Vanished! gone to reward and enrich the wool-growers and farmers, shoemakers and hatters of Europe. I will give, to conclude, one fact. In England, for no other reason than its nearness to manufactures, land is worth $241 per acre on an average. In the States (this was before the States were to any extent manufacturing), it will average barely $4."

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GRAND LODGE OF ONTARIO.

The Grand Lodge concluded its labors on the 16th. The officers elected for the present year are:—J. T. Hornibrook, M. W. Grand Master, Toronto; J. P. McIntyre, R. W. Deputy Grand Master, St. Catharines; W. H. Cole, R. W. Grand Warden, Brockville; J. B. King, R. W. Grand Secretary, Brantford; W. Badenach, R. W. Grand Treasurer, Toronto; James Woodyatt, R. W. Grand Representative, Brantford; W. N. Ford, R. W. Grand Representative, St. Mary's; Wm. Murphy, R. W. Grand Marshal, Wardsville; T. G. Carson, R. W. Grand Conductor, Picton; T. G. Lowe, R. W. Grand Guardian, London; Wm. Ballantyne, R. W. Grand Chaplain, Ingersoll; John Bailes, R. W. Grand Herald, Oshawa.

The next session of the Grand Lodge will be held in Hamilton on the second Wednesday in August, 1879.

The Peterboro' Review indites the following in the most innocent manner possible:—One of the old "Reform" principles which was loudly advocated while the party were in Opposition was that the Government should not be allowed to influence members of Parliament by giving them employment. It was probably to keep up his character for being consistent, at least to extent of always acting in opposition to his former principles, that Mr. Mowat employed Mr. Hodgins, M.P.P., on the Boundaries Commission.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons:—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

The announcement that the Parliamentary elections are to be brought off within the next four weeks has occasioned very general satisfaction, as people had become tired of the idea of a campaign lasting far into the autumn, or mayhap terminating only after the new year had dawned. It is very generally believed that it is to the Governor General's suggestion—to put it mildly—that further delay has been prevented and the unwilling Ministers brought to put a termination to the suspense which has for some months unfavorably affected the business of the country. To the supporters of the Opposition policy the intelligence is particularly welcome, as in all parts of the country the party is full of certainty of coming victory and ready and eager for the fray.

At the same time, we would urge our friends in this and adjoining counties to organize at once, as they have wily and unscrupulous antagonists to meet, and they must be met at all points. Fully alive to the importance of the occasion, the Conservatives of Belleville are already astir and will hold a mass meeting in the Metropolitan Hall on Thursday evening, when addresses will be delivered by the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge and several of his influential supporters. At the close of the addresses the work of organization will be undertaken and the business of the campaign fairly inaugurated. Let all supporters of good government attend on this occasion and lend their aid to secure the election of the Conservative candidate. Meetings will also be held at an early date, of which due notice will be given, in Sidney and Trenton.

Our friends in the other Ridings will also be up and doing at an early date, and with the energetic work which they will perform between this date and the day of election, we have no doubt they will secure the return of opponents of the present corrupt administration in all the three Ridings of Hastings.

The National Policy at Trenton.

A public meeting, called for the discussion of the National Policy, was held in Trenton on Saturday evening. There was a large attendance, including representative men of both political parties, and great interest was manifested in the proceedings.

D. R. Murphy, Esq., was chosen Chairman, and in his opening remarks stated that the gathering was not of a party nature, having been called to discuss a question which was above the mere range of party politics. For his own part, he was a Conservative, and strongly in favor of a protective policy for the building up of our manufacturing and other industries, but if he were shown that free trade was better adapted to our circumstances he would become a free trader. (Applause.) In conclusion, he asked that a fair hearing be given to the various speakers, who would answer any questions addressed to them.

Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Mr. Joseph Keeler, and several other gentlemen having been invited, took seats on the platform.

Messrs. Larke and Roe then delivered able addresses to the same effect as they had previously given in Belleville, and in the most convincing manner answered some questions which were put to them.

The Chairman then called upon Mr. James Brown, M. P., but that gentleman failed to respond, as was the case in Belleville.

Hon. L. Wallbridge then, in response to an invitation, delivered a most able address, evincing a thorough knowledge of the subject in all its details, and expressing regret at the absence of Mr. Brown, his opponent, who had appeared with him before the people of Trenton on two previous occasions when the discussion was of a non-political character, but was now absent when a most important political topic was under discussion before the electors.

The speakers were most attentively listened to throughout, and at the close votes of thanks were passed to Messrs. Larke, Roe and Wallbridge, and to the Chairman.

"Instructions to Canvassers."

Such is the heading of a circular sent from the Grit head quarters into the South Riding of the County of Bruce, and it may be presumed into other counties also, showing, that neither time nor money is being spared to secure the return of the Ministerial candidates throughout the Dominion. The reader will be surprised to learn from this circular that so much trouble is being taken in South Bruce where the world has been led to believe the name of Mr. Blake was all powerful, and that all that was necessary was to mention the name of the great man, and all would bow down and worship the great Mogul. It is stated necessary, however, to make a more than usual effort to secure his return, hence the organizers have issued the following instructions to the Blake canvassers in South Bruce:—

1. See personally every voter in this book.

2. Note opposite his name whether he is for us or against us. If doubtful, note whether he is inclined to be for us or against us. Note also whether he has been a Reformer or Conservative. If he is a Reformer and has some particular grievance, make note of it. If a voter is absent, state his present Post Office address.

3. Ascertain and state who, of our friends, will undertake to furnish teams upon polling day, if necessary, and which voters will require to be sent for.

4. Inasmuch as the next election will be held upon the Voters' Lists of 1877, make inquiry into, and note the following points as to adverse voters:—

Have they ceased to own, lease, or occupy the property for which they were assessed?

When did they so cease to own, lease, or occupy?

If they have ceased to own, lease, or occupy, do they still reside in this Riding?

As to farmers' sons, state whether they were absent from home four months altogether during the year commencing on 1st July, 1876, and ending 1st July, 1877?

Were they 21 years old on 1st September, 1877?

Endeavor to have your canvass completed within one week after you receive this book and then return it to us.

The following letters may be used:—

B.—Safe for Blake.
S.—Safe for Shaw.
D.—Doubtful.
D. B.—Doubtful, but inclined for Blake.
D. S.—Doubtful, but inclined for Shaw.
R.—Has generally voted Reform.
C.—Has generally voted Conservative.

The Mail in commenting upon this document says:—

"We have reasons to believe that the same system of thorough organization exists throughout the whole Province of Ontario. We may mention, by the way, that the gentleman who kindly supplied us with this valuable information is by no means "safe for Blake," although his misguided friends count upon him as upon many another in whom they will be vastly disappointed.

"The Liberal-Conservative Party have the country with them. Of this we have no doubt. But we implore our friends to remember the strength which the so called Reform Party has hitherto had in Ontario. The great "balance of power" is undoubtedly against the Government and its policy. But let the Opposition but think of the number of unreasoning, unreasonable, and unchangeable Grits who, guided by nothing but their innate fanaticism, will throng to the polls to exemplify the fact that the interests of the country with them are as nothing compared with the interest of the party.

"From Glengarry to Essex let our friends take warning, and remember that as have been their efforts, earnest their work, and thorough their organization, let them not be above taking advice from the enemy, and in every polling sub-division of every constituency of the Province let them proceed to organize, and, if necessary, re-organize, and on the 17th September a magnificent victory will be ours."

HALTON.—Hon. W. McDougall has received the Conservative nomination for this County, but has not yet accepted.

FAMINE IN CASHMERE.—A Calcutta special says the reports from Cashmere are very gloomy. The Durbar is said to be thoroughly aroused to the appalling state of affairs. The authorities are buying grain in large quantities. Relief works are being started in all directions. A mixed committee of Hindoos and Mussulmans are working together to relieve the distress. The crop reports from other parts of India are favorable.

NO POLICY.—The Montreal Star very forcibly says:—"More Pacific Scandal is what the Globe is again serving up to the electors, with a view of enlightening them on the issues of the hour. Over four columns are dished up in yesterday's paper, including copious quotations from the correspondence had as to the formation of Sir Hugh Allan's Company. It seems to be considered that though, as they say, they have nothing to reform, though, as they appear to think, they have no policy to propound, and though they are not prepared to give any account of their sins of omission, the Ministry must do something; and having been placed in power by operation of a scandal, consider they can find no better instrument for securing their retention of office."

MORE CHANGES.—Even in the South Riding of Bruce, upon which the Grits look as the special preserve of the Hon. Mr. Blake, it appears that there are to be found defections from the ranks of the "pairty," and consequently the "great man's" chances of re-election are growing small by degrees and beautifully less. As an index of the popular feeling in the constituency, the following extract from a letter addressed to the Bruce Herald by Leo Noeker, Mildmay, an old Reformer, must be suggestive of unpleasant results to the incapables: "I will support Mr. Shaw at the next election because the men now in power have trampled on every principle held sacred by Reformers, and are unworthy of the trust placed in them. They have been traitors to friends and traitors to their country. I will vote against them and they shall no longer chain us to a rock that Yankee vultures may pick the eyes out of us."

—A Paris special says:—"A sign of the political future may be found in the formation of a Conservative committee consisting of Legitimists, Orleanists and Bonapartists to resist the progress of Radicalism. It is proposed to run the Duc d'Aumale for President in 1880 on a Conservative platform."

"A country whose product is mainly exported can rarely or never boast a substantial and intelligent and virtuous Yeomanry; the condition of the laborer is too precarious and dependent—his average reward too meagre. It may have wealthy capitalists and merchants but never a numerous middle class, nor a flourishing, increasing proportion of small but independent proprietors."—Horace Greeley.

The Orange Question.

CROSS-EXAMINATION OF SIR FRANCIS HINCKS CONTINUED.

At two o'clock the usual crowd of interested persons had gathered in the Court of Queen's Bench room, and while anxiously awaiting the entrance of Mr Bethune, the Police Magistrate, they were surprised by hearing the names of the principal Orange witnesses called, and the persons called were ordered to meet in the Grand Jury room, where the examination was continued before the interested parties only. The cross-examination of Sir Francis Hincks was continued by Mr. Jos. Doutre, Q. C., as follows:

Q. According to the constitution of the British Empire is not the sovereign the head fountain of the Church and State? The Sovereign cannot belong to any other church but the Protestant Church? A. The sovereign must belong to the Protestant Church as by an established law, but if the meaning of the question is to ask my opinion as to the Sovereign maintaining Protestant ascendancy, I refer to the resolution of the House of Commons on the 23rd of February, 1836, in the following words:

"Resolved, That an humble address be presented to His Majesty, praying that His Majesty will be graciously pleased to take such measures as to His Majesty may seem advisable for the effectual discouragement of Orange Lodges, and generally of all political societies excluding persons of a different religious faith, using secret symbols and signs and acting by means of associated branches; and to the reply of King William the Fourth to the said addresses, as follows: I willingly assent to the prayer of my faithful Commons, that I will be pleased to take such measures as may seem to me advisable for the effectual discouragement of Orange lodges, and generally of all political societies excluding persons of a different religious faith, using secret signs and symbols and acting by means of association branches. It is my intention to discourage all such societies in my dominions, and I rely with confidence on the fidelity of my loyal subjects to support me in this determination."

Q. Has this been followed by any legislation on the subject? A. I cannot say positively whether the Party Procession Act was enacted before or after the address to the House of Commons, but there was a Party Procession Act in force in former years.

Q. Is it to your knowledge that no such legislation has been in existence for several years before? A. I am aware that the Party Processions Act, which was specially directed against Orange processions, was repealed several years ago, but it seems to be the opinion of the authorities in Ireland that the common law affords ample means to the authorities to prevent processions calculated to endanger the public peace. I think that it may be well, with reference to an answer to a previous question, to give more precisely the opinion of the Attorney and Solicitor-General of Upper Canada, in accordance with an address from the Commons of Upper Canada, asking for such an opinion, and which was dated 7th April, 1837, in the following words:

"Opinion of Her Majesty's Attorney and Solicitor General on the subject of Orange processions:

"We are of opinion that all processions likely to endanger the public peace, and all processions having such a tendency are illegal and may be suppressed by magisterial authority. Persons engaged in the processions of the description mentioned are liable to be prosecuted for a misdemeanor. It may be sometimes difficult to determine what processions are in themselves illegal or have the tendency to a breach of the peace, and it therefore must rest with the legislature how far it is expedient to pass a law to suppress public processions of every description.

"All which is respectfully submitted,

"ROBERT S. JAMIESON,
Attorney-General.
"CHRISTOPHER A. HAGERMAN, Solicitor-General."

Q. Was this followed by legislation on the subject? A. It is not followed by any legislation in Upper Canada. The House of Assembly, which passed this address, was dissolved very shortly after, and the House, less opposed to Orangeism, was elected, and continued until prohibiting party processions.

Q. Is that law still in existence? No, it was repealed, I think, about the year 1851-52.

Q. You had a majority supporting you at the time? A. We had a majority like other Governments, but it was not deemed expedient by the Government to make the opposition to the bill an act against party processions. Members of the Government, among others Mr. Drummond, voted for the repeal, together with many Catholic supporters of the Government from Lower Canada, in the hope that it would conciliate Orangemen, and cause the discontinuance of their demonstrations. I myself voted against the repeal, as did Mr. Lafontaine, the leader of the Government.

Case progressing.

City and Vicinity.

THE CELLS.—Only one prisoner was captured last night, and no tramps lodged in the cells.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.—A meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Association will be held this evening in the Liberal Conservative Association's rooms.

DEPREDATORS.—Numbers of garden and orchard robbers are abroad at night at the present season. The police are looking after this class of offenders.

FOR THE THOUSAND ISLANDS.—A party of pleasure seekers, who have chartered the steam yacht Annie Gilbert, left this morning for a week's run amongst the Thousand Islands.

LEAD.—The Kingston News says:—"Ten tons of lead of very superior quality were shipped to-day from the Frontenac Lead Mining and Smelting Works. The new furnaces are now at work and doing it well."

Anticipate and prevent sickness with SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

WANTS REPAIRS.—The sidewalk on Moira Street is in a bad condition and sadly in need of repairs. The sidewalk from the Grand Junction Railway station to the Market Square, on Pinnacle Street, is also in a very bad condition, and requires immediate attention.

REMEMBER.—The last excursion to the Thousand Island Park during the meeting of the Sunday School Parliament, takes place to-morrow morning, at 8 o'clock, per steamer Kincardine. In addition to being taken there and back for $1, a trip to Alexandra Bay, on Thursday, is to be given gratis. This with the great attractions of the Thousand Island Park ought to induce a large number to go.

THE AUSTRALIAN CRICKETERS.—The Australians leave England on 10th Sept. They have slightly changed their programme and may possibly play several games in New York before visiting Boston. From the Hub they will come direct to Canada. Leaving the Dominion they will visit Philadelphia, playing at Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis, on their way to San Francisco, on the road home.

DUCK SHOOTING.—Under the amended law, duck shooting in Ontario is not legal until the 1st of September, instead of 15th August, at which date it has commenced for some years back. Those living near ponds and marshes should make a note of this, and warn those who may be found breaking the law. The date for the commencing of pheasant shooting has also been changed, being now fixed for the 1st of October instead of the 1st of September. Sportsmen should bear this in mind.

THEFT OF A BOAT.—The Kingston News says:—"We are informed that two men, one of them colored, stole a yacht belonging to Rev. Mr. Cartwright, on Friday night, and sailed up the bay with it. When about opposite Collinsby they were caught in a squall and upset, with difficulty getting on shore. The boat was smashed to pieces by drifting on shore." This was poetic justice so far as the thieves were concerned, but at the same time very unfortunate for the owner of the boat, who it is to be hoped will be able to secure the punishment of the robbers.

YACHTING.—With the object, doubtless, of justifying themselves for ignoring established rules, and getting up a scrub race for their regatta last week, some of the Brockville "yachtsmen" assert that the Katie Gray did not sail because her owner was afraid to meet the Surprise, with Cuthbert as sailing master. The absurdity of this is apparent when it is stated that the Katie has met the Surprise four times this season and beaten her every time, Cuthbert having sailed her the last time they met. In addition it may be stated that the Katie followed the Surprise to Brockville and the party having her in charge refused to enter only after the so-called "rules" were adopted. In reference to this, Mr. W. H. Campbell, owner of the Katie Gray, requests us to state that he will sail his yacht against any ten ton yacht which competed at Brockville, or any yacht owned there, regardless of tonnage, for from $100 to $500 aside. The race to be sailed at Kingston or Belleville under the rules of the Royal Canadian, the International or the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club. This is a fair offer, and failing its acceptance the Brockville men will show the stuff they are made of.

A woman can do almost anything in a graceful manner, except gnaw green corn off the cob.

School children will soon get ready for business again. The end of vacation is not far distant.

CITY COUNCIL.

MONDAY, Aug. 19.

The Council met at 8 o'clock.

PRESENT.—His Worship the Mayor and Aldermen McIninch, W. J. Diamond, St. Charles, Farley, Doyle, I. Diamond, Brennan, Holden, Hambly, Jellett, Sherwood, Price, Falkiner, Wickett, Proctor, Ridley, Foster, and Robertson.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS, &C.

The following petitions were read:

From Hon. B. Flint, stating that his property had been purchased by Mr. Brown for $16,000, exclusive of taxes, and asking reduction of assessment to that amount.

From Alfred Ellis, pound-keeper, regarding the running at large of cattle.

From B. F. Baker, regarding drain near his dwelling.

From A. R. Lee, asking that the railroad iron at the foot of Front Street be removed.

From W. H. Butcher, for time to pay taxes.

From Chas. N. Ridley and others, for the completion of the well on Pinnacle Street.

From Thos. McIntosh and others, for the sinking of a well on the corner of Isabella and Catharine Streets.

From Geo. C. Holton and employees of the Inland Revenue Office to have income tax struck off.

From Peter Hogan, C. E., regarding water supply.

From Patterson & Co., Detroit, regarding price of lighting streets.

From Robert McCormick, for extension of sidewalk on Herchimer Street.

From J. P. McMillan, Guelph, regarding presentation of municipal address to the Governor General on the 5th of September at Quebec.

From J. S. Backus, and others, for a supply of water for Foster Ward.

From Wm. Severn and others, for repairs to Hillside Street, Murney Ward.

From M. A. Dixon, rendering account for damage to vehicle by injury on Street Railway, $31.50.

The Clerk read the following statement of amounts of taxes paid on the roll of 1878: Foster Ward, $4,743.77; Samson, $10,286.37; Ketcheson, $19,809.27; Baldwin, $10,963.79; Bleecker, $7,412.56; Coleman, $6,461.09; Murney, $10,837.02; Non-resident, $832.45. Total, $76,959.32.

Ald. Sherwood moved that the petition of Wm. Dickens be laid on the table.

Ald. Hambly moved in amendment, that the petition be referred to the Committee on Water and Gas.

The amendment was not seconded, and the original motion was passed.

The Mayor asked to be relieved from presiding for the remainder of the evening, on account of delicate health, and as he was about to leave on the early train in the morning.

On motion of Ald. Falkiner, Ald. Foster was appointed to preside, the mover adding his regret that the Mayor felt poorly, and hoping that the trip he was about to take would prove beneficial to him.

REPORTS.

Of the Finance Committee, that sundry accounts be paid, and that the petition of M. C. Roblin be referred to the Council.

ENQUIRIES.

In answer to Ald. Price, the Street Surveyor said the contractor for Charles and Albert Streets would proceed with his work to-morrow.

In answer to Ald. I. Diamond, the Street Surveyor said the labor on North Front Street and Campbell Street is to be proceeded with, as soon as material can be procured from the river.

In answer to Ald. Ridley, the Solicitor said Mr. Monaghan has agreed to arrange with Mr. Dixon for damage to his vehicle injured on the Street Railway.

Ald. Ridley said that the Street Surveyor has instructions from the Board of Works to make necessary repairs, and is proceeding as rapidly as possible.

Ald. Hambly said they had plenty of bad sidewalks and broken culverts in Bleecker Ward. They had had fair promises, but fair promises do not mend sidewalks or repair culverts.

NOTICES.

Ald. W. J. Diamond asked that his notice regarding the appointment of pound-keeper be allowed to stand.

Ald. Hambly gave notice of a By-law to amend the cow By-law.

Ald. Holden's By-law regarding the collection of taxes was allowed to stand.

Ald. Geen came in.

Ald. Holden said the Finance Committee had met on Friday night and had been called again this afternoon, but he had been unable to get a quorum for more than a minute. The Auditor's report and the collection of taxes or taxes were to be considered, and he would endeavor to get a meeting of the Committee and have these matters considered and reported on to the Council at a special meeting.

WAYS AND MEANS.

Council went into Committee on Ways and Means, Ald. Robertson in the Chair.

The report of the Committee on Finance was considered.

Ald. Price moved, seconded by Ald. Falkiner, that the Council remit the sum of $80 to Mr. M. C. Roblin on the amount of his contract for the rental of the Agricultural Grounds on Dominion Day.

The motion was withdrawn after discussion, and the matter was referred to the Finance Committee to be reported on.

Ald. Sherwood moved for the continuation of work on the well on Campbell Street until a sufficient supply of water be obtained.

This was withdrawn, the matter being left in the hands of the Chairman of the Committee on Water and Gas.

Committee rose and reported.—Adopted. Council adjourned.

By a militia general order the title of Second Lieutenant is substituted for that of Ensign or Cornet in military companies.

Three feet of narrow child, and seven feet of wide ribbon. That's the prevailing fashion for the mites of aristocratic humanity.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—Four nurses sent by the Howard Association to Grenada have the fever. Yellow fever is at Ocean Springs. There has been one death.

VICKSBURG, Miss, August 20.—The health officer is unable to give official figures, but estimates one hundred cases in the city, and increasing rapidly. Four interments to-day from fever, and 78 deaths to date. The City Council abolished quarantine this morning.

GRENADA, Aug. 20, 1 a. m.—Mortality terrible. The scene cannot be described. Dr. Mandeville, an experienced yellow fever physician, says he never saw anything that would begin to compare with it,—that it is fearful beyond description. The total deaths are over 70, with no abatement, and not a hopeful case reported.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—The Chief of Police has been instructed to remove bells from ice cream waggons, and instruct the drivers of vehicles to drive slow when passing in the localities where persons are suffering from fever. The officers report that donations are coming in liberally. The death list includes Max Villery, druggist; A. R. James, Ticket Agent of the Jackson Railway; Brother Sylvanus Ecklett; and D. W. Jones, business manager of the Southwestern Advocate.

PORT EADS, La., Aug. 20.—Two new cases of yellow fever; one death.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Subscriptions to the Fenian Skirmish Fund have fallen off from $1,000 per week to only $118 since O'Donovan Rossa resigned the Presidency.

A. S. Guerber, straw goods, has failed; liabilities $60,000.

George Vining Bowers, the actor, will be buried to-day, from the little church around the corner.

Prof. H. R. Hutton, of the College of the City of New York, died yesterday, aged 52.

A Bismarck despatch states that the swindle in which the Indian agent, J. C. Tappan, was the principal, was vouching for the delivery of $8,000 worth of flour which never existed.

A Grenada special states; An examination shows the city to be in a very filthy condition. All outhouses are overflowing, and stagnant water in many places.

A New Orleans special says, great destitution begins to show itself there. Outside help is needed.

A Cincinnati special says, Harry Murray won a prize fight near there yesterday, whipping Dick Fellows in 72 rounds.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—A Nashville, Tennessee, despatch says the quarantine against the Memphis is so rigid in towns in west Tennessee that their own citizens were not allowed to return and two ladies jumped out of the windows of a car yesterday at Union City. Conductors are forced to lock their cars.

At Columbus, Ky., on Sunday a company of armed citizens stopped a Mobile train a short distance from this place. A steamer from Memphis attempted to land 200 passengers, but was not allowed to.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The Rev. Mr. Vosburgh has been requested to resign his pastorate in Bergen, N. J., by his parishioners.

VIENNA, August 20.—Gen. Philippovich's forces are steadily advancing. It is expected they will arrive at Seragivo to-day, Tuesday.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 20.—The warehouse of Freiburg & Werkum, liquor dealers, has been burned; loss $65,000. Insured.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Navy department does not entertain the slightest fear for the safety of the Wyoming. It is presumed she is out of coal. A tug left Norfolk last night to search for her, between Cape Chesapeake and Delaware.

MAUNCH CHUNK, Pa., August 20.—Judge Dieher overruled the motion for new trials in the cases of McDonnel and Sharp, convicted of the murder of Geo. L. Smith, and sentenced the prisoners to be hanged. Both stoutly denied their guilt.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 20.—The steamer John Porter, which passed up the river last week, with fever on board, anchored three miles below Gallipolis the engineers refusing to remain. The Gallipolis health officers have placed a strong guard over her, to prevent any one leaving the boat. Two cases died. There are ten cases on board; among them is the Captain.

—Nobeling, the assassin who atempted the German Emperor's life, has sufficiently recovered from his self-inflicted wounds to try to open his veins with scissors, inadvertently left on his bed by the surgeon. The attempt was discovered in time to prevent injurious effects, and hereafter he will be handcuffed.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

PARCEL I.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being composed of part of lot number twenty-nine on the East side of Front Street, in the City of Belleville, and County of Hastings, and better known as subdivision number one in the plan called the Campbell Estate, deposited in the Registry Office on the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D., 1865, commencing at the East side of Front Street at the North West corner of said lot No. one, then Easterly parallel with the side line of said lot twenty-nine to the centre line of the block, then Southerly, following the said centre line twenty-two feet more or less to the land sold to John McKeown, then Westerly, parallel with the first mentioned corner to Front Street, then Northerly along Front Street twenty-two feet more or less to the place of beginning, reserving along the centre line of the block on the East end of the lands hereby sold a way twelve feet in width for the use from time to time of the occupants of said lot twenty-nine as well as of the lot twenty-nine on Pinnacle Street, their servants, agents, and workmen. Also all that other part of said lot twenty-nine East side of Front Street, commencing at a point on the line of the East side of Front Street, fifty-one and a half feet South of the North-West corner of said lot number twenty-nine commencing at the South-West corner of part of said lot sold to one Thomas Walters on said side of said Front Street, then Easterly to the South-East corner of said Walters' lot, thence Southerly parallel to Front Street twenty-three feet, thence Westerly to Front Street, thence Northerly twenty-three feet to the place of beginning, reserving thereout and therefrom a right of way twelve feet in width for the use from time to time of the occupants of said lot twenty-nine as well as of the lot twenty-nine on Pinnacle Street their servants, agents, and workmen.

PARCEL II.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being the East half of Lot number twenty-five in the first concession of Thurlow, in the County of Hastings, extending from the travelled road northerly to the Grand Trunk Railway, said to contain one hundred and forty acres, more or less. Also all that part of the West half of Lot number twenty-six, in the first concession of Thurlow, lying between the land owned by Peter and Joseph McDougall and the road travelled from Belleville to Kingston, and being the south half of the said west half of said lot.

Parcel one is situate on the east side of Front Street, between Hotel and Campbell Streets, in a good business location.

Parcel two is situated on the Kingston road, about five miles from Belleville.

On the east half of Lot No. 25 is a stone dwelling house one and a half stories high,—barns and shed in good repair. There are about forty acres of hard wood,—beech and maple.

On the west half of Lot No. 26 is a frame house. The whole is cleared.

The whole is of an excellent clay loam soil, and is well watered.

As Parcel two consists of Farms which must be sold, a bargain is offered.

How to Make the Dairy Profitable.

E. W. STEWARD.

The present outlook for dairy products is considered by the great body of dairymen, as discouraging, and no doubt causes many to desire a change for some other speciality. This uneasiness is often exhibited by some dairymen when dairy products are more remunerative than now. They are wont to change from cows to sheep, from sheep to beef cattle, then back to the dairy again, remaining in one branch only long enough to incur the expense and not to have reached the legitimate profits.

There is not any speciality in agriculture which can be tested properly in two or three years. Experience on a large farm in success in any branch of business. One dairyman will make more clear profit out of his herd with butter at 20 cents than another with butter at 30 cents. The increase of his product per cow from selection and his management in feeding, will add to his neighbor's result more than the 33⅓ per cent. The one will milk his herd, year after year, without learning anything of the individual character of his cows. He does not know which one's pay for what he run him in debt. He is of those who think a cow is a cow, and that all cows average about alike.

A wise dairyman knows that each of his cows has a character of her own, and that character determines her value in the dairy. He knows that, when dairy products rule strongly in the market, it requires a product of 3,000 pounds of milk to pay expenses. If a cow does not exceed that,she pays him no profit and often runs him in debt even for a portion of her food, when the milk is sent to the cheese factory. If the milk is used for butter making,he then knows that 200 lbs. of milk from some cows will make more butter than 300 lbs. from others, and thus it is a quantity. One cow gives milk yielding very rich, yellow, aromatic cream, another colorless and flavorless cream. The latter animal is seldom worth keeping even though yielding a large quantity of milk.

Again, a cow is often given a better character than she deserves because she yields a large mess of milk for a short time at the flush, whilst her yield through the season is less than that of another cow that gives only two-thirds as much per day at the best,but holds out her milk two months longer. The value of a cow depends upon her gross proceeds per year, and not upon her yield of milk for two or three months. All these facts must be determined by a test of each cow on her own merits.

A profit per annum should fix a standard, below which no cow should be retained in the permanent herd. This standard should not require the highest production, but rather such average yield as may easily be reached with good food and care. This standard will then be the yield of the lowest cow in the herd, while the average will be considerably higher. No dairyman, who has studied the question of profit per cow in his business, will fix a standard below 4,000 pounds of milk per year, for this is the minimum yield on which a profit may be made. But he will be able to reach 6,000 pounds or more, and, with reasonable care in selection, his average will reach 5,000 pounds per cow for the herd. And if butter be made, the yield should be 200 lbs. of butter per cow, with a herd of common stock. Yielding this average, and if they have been selected for richness of cream, they should yield 250 lbs., of butter per cow. This will form a basis also for 500 lbs. cheese per cow, and therefore should yield on an average for any term of years, at least $50 per cow besides what may be made from the refuse milk in butter making or whey in cheese making. The refuse milk, in butter making, should pay for the labor, leaving $50 for the keep, interest on the value of the cow, and profit. In cheese making the whey is worth less than for pigs or calves, and would thus reduce the profits somewhat.

The selections of these profitable cows may be made very easily by simply weighing the milk one day in each week, if cheese alone is to be made ; and if butter is to be the product, then in addition to weighing the milk, each cow's milk, for a limited time, must be set by itself, so that the color, quality and quantity of cream may be noted, and the cream must also be churned by itself, and the percentage of cream does not determine the percentage of butter. A cow whose milk requires more than 25 lbs. for a pound of butter should not be kept for butter making, but should be sold for cheese making. Now whilst dairy products are low, the time is most favorable for selecting the herd, and weeding out all cows that do not come up to the standard for which the cows are kept.—Rural New-Yorker.

Apple and Peach Borer.

We are much troubled in this section with the apple and peach borer. I desire information on the subject, and how to destroy them at the proper season, and how to prevent their depredations, if possible.—F. SHEPARD, Saline Co., Mo.

The apple tree borer is the larvæ of a beetle known to entomologists as Saperda bivittata, or striped Saperda, the upper side being marked with two longitudinal white stripes between three of light brown; the under side of the body and legs is white. This beetle is at the proper season, and about July. The female usually deposits her eggs near the base of the tree, upon soft young bark, between the interstices of the old rough scales, if there happens to be any on the tree. Instinct guides the operations of this beetle, consequently the eggs are laid in the most favorable position for their development, and this, of course, would be in a secluded spot, and where the larvæ can readily penetrate the tree. Now, if the stems of apple trees are surrounded with grass and weeds, the bark will not only be soft, but their base just the place the female would choose for depositing her eggs, because she'd only to be disturbed ; hence the reason why uncultivated trees are always more likely to be infested with borers than those well and thoroughly cultivated.

Knowing the habits of this pest, we can apply a partial preventive, at least. The first and most important thing is to give clean cultivation around the immediate stems of the trees. Second, wrap the stems from an inch or more below the surface of the soil to one or two feet above, with some material impervious to the newly-hatched larvæ, provided the beetle should lay eggs thereon, which she will not be very likely to do. The material used may be tar paper or even common brown paper dipped in oil. These envelopes should be put on before the beetles appear, and removed in autumn, if they are worth preserving more than one season.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON,

DEAR SIR : In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not shed one since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs with all feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick ; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 175 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorize you to give it publicity in my name.

I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories,but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside ; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City by-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely these business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz : One page, $10.00 ; half-page, $6.00 ; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishing guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can. It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the Continent. American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Go and buy your bottle now and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

The Sunday School Parliament.

(From a correspondent.)

The much talked of excursion to the Sunday School Parliament on Wells' Island, which tok place per steamer Alexandra on Saturday last, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Building Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Tabernacle, was a great success. The attendance was large, the weather was fine, the Committee were indefatigable in their efforts to make every one comfortable, and the majority of the hundreds who went were bound to have a pleasant time. Of course it is impossible to please everybody; in parties very much smaller than this one there is invariably "the everlasting grumbler," who, being wrong himself—sometimes herself also,—thinks everyone else so, and whom no one can please, let them strive ever so hard, and then there are the inconsiderate ones, who care for no one else's feelings or comfort but their own, and who are constantly doing something or other that causes discomfort to everyone else. These two classes had their representatives on this excursion, and if they could have been—Jonah-like, or any other way—got rid of, what an amount of annoyance and discomfort some would have been saved. Leaving here at 10:45, and calling on the way at Northport, Mill Point, Picton and Kingston, at all of which ports accessions were made to the party, the boat reached Wells Island at 9:30, just in time for the benediction at the meeting in the Tabernacle, as the large tent in which the meetings are held is called. This was somewhat of a disappointment, as the party had expected to have reached the Island in time for the evening service. The disappointment was felt all the more when we heard what we had missed by not hearing a lecture delivered by the Rev. J. F. Hurst, D. D., Principal of Drew Theological Seminary, who lectured on "How England became Protestant." We found all the Canadians in raptures over the sentiments expressed in the lecture, they being so British. One expression will give some idea of the spirit of the lecture. Said the lecturer, "take a drop of English blood, apply a microscope to it, an I on examination it will be found to contain more elements of greatness and goodness than the blood of any other nationality," and from commencement to close the lecture was a constant laudation of England.

Your correspondent, in thinking of the theme of the lecture, could not help thinking of the amount of abuse and ridicule that has recently been heaped on an organization, whose object is to keep in remembrance the event which contributed so largely to make England Protestant, and it is refreshing to find a gentleman of such refined culture, vast learning and extensive travel as the Rev. Dr. Hurst is, preparing and delivering before vast audiences a lecture on a theme, which to some of us who don't know the true American character as well as we ought, would think would be repugnant to them, and to learn that these sentiments find an echo in the hearts of those whom he addresses, and which some would make us believe was "out of joint" with the age. It is impossible for the most prejudiced to visit Wells' Island and mingle—if only for a day—with our American cousins without coming away with some prejudices lessened, and with a higher appreciation of our neighbors. After all there are ties stronger by far than political or national ones, and in such gatherings as assemble on Wells' Island, political or national differences are forgotten, and in no hymn do the sentiments of all hearts find such expression as in that one that is in that place such a favorite and sung with such fervor and enthusiasm:

"Bless be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love."

Since last year the Island has been much improved and looks lovelier than ever, "isn't it charming," "what a beautiful place," "my! what exquisite scenery," "how lovely," "real nice," "one of the most beautiful spots I ever saw," "enchanting," &c., &c., are the expressions you hear from all sides, but after being a visitor there very frequently, your correspondent is convinced that every time he goes it looks better than before. Large numbers of new and beautiful cottages have been erected this season, and places where last year "solitude held sway" are now covered with tents and cottages. The programme of "daily exercises" is much the same as last year's Parliament, namely:

8.15 a.m.	Cottage Prayers.
9 "	Normal Class.
10 to 11	Normal Class,
11	Normal Class:
3	p.m. Lecture.
4:30 to 6	" Normal Class.
7 to 8	" Song Service and Question Box.
8	" Addresses, Lectures, &c.

Then the "general announcements" are:

Rising Bell at 6 a.m.
Breakfast at 7 a.m.
Cottage Prayer at 8 a.m.
Dinner at 12:30 p.m.
Supper at 6 p.m.
Retiring bell at 10 p.m.,

"when all conversations, music, &c., must cease." Careful observation in various parts of the grounds after the lawful hour convinces us that the former part of this rule is "more honored in the breach than in the observance." There are some new features on the grounds the most conspicuous of which is "The Grand Floral Exhibition," which occupies a large tent adjacent to the dining hall, and which has been a great attraction during the season, as well as being a good advertisement for Mr. Vick. Perhaps it was because we are not accustomed to such things, or that we were too suspicious, but it did seem to us that there was a danger of the introduction of too much advertising, in connection with the meetings. As illustrations, a large bunch of flowers on the platform has beneath it the large advertising card of the donor, and Miss or Mrs. or Mr. so and so who sing, or recite, or read, are announced in such a way as to leave the impression on your mind that they come there for the purpose of being advertised. Well, it may be their style "on the other side" but it is not congenial to Canadian minds. We heard it frequently referred to by ministers and laymen and invariably condemned. Let us not be understood as saying that all who sing, or read, or recite, or teach, or lecture, or preach, have this object in view, far, VERY FAR, from it. In ninety-nine out of every hundred their intentions are pure and from the highest motive, that of doing good. Men and women contribute their talents to make the meetings intensely interesting, and do it "as unto the Lord" but where unwisely the object is otherwise, the person should secure such a stern rebuke as that contained in Matthew 21, 12, 13. Mr. A. O. VanLennep, the native Turk, so well known to all who have visited the grounds, is here again this year with a still larger museum than ever, which is constantly filled with visitors, who never come away without having some passage of scripture made clearer by a glimpse at the contents of the museum.

The dining room is as well attended and everything in even better order than last year, it speaks volumes for the way in which everything is managed, that it does not seem to make any difference, whether there be five hundred or two thousand visitors on the grounds, there is "always enough for all." Sometimes, of course, a little patience has to be exercised, before you get all you want, but when you do get it, it is so good you forget the delay.

The Rev. Mr. Dagan, Secretary of the Association, seems to be everywhere from early sunrise until midnight, you are sure to find him, in fact, the question has been asked by more than "does he ever sleep, or rest?" he seems to be everywhere, quietly and without any fuss he goes about his duties, and performs an amount of work that is incredible, nearly the first man to meet you and the last to bid you good-bye—always on hand to welcome the visitors and never tired of answering "the thousand and one" questions put to him daily. A useful man is Mr. Dagan.

The conductor of the Parliament this year is the Rev. F. Widmer, well known to all visitors. He is one of the original promoters of the enterprise, and one to whom much of the great success of it is owing. He makes an admirable conductor, is a good organizer and seems to possess in a large degree, "the power of mastering details." He has everything arranged and, therefore, the machinery of the parliament moves without jars or frictions.

The Parliament this year has been a success, although if compared with last year, it falls below it. The "bright particular stars" who shone last year are "conspicuous by their absence" this year, and in reality there are as few prominent Sabbath School men amongst the speakers this year, as they were plenty last year. In a conversation with the managers of the Association your correspondent learned that so great was the expense connected with [illegible] last year that they found that the cost of it exceeded receipts, and for this season, and that for this season at least they must curtail their expenditure. In this section of the continent there are but two meetings of the kind, the one at Chatauqua—the great original Sabbath School workers' gathering—and the Sunday School Parliament, and yet these are so wide apart as in no way to conflict one with the other. The managers of the Thousand Island Association could so arrange it as to hold their Sabbath School gatherings after the close of the Chatauqua Assembly and induce the "Bishop of Chatauqua"—the great Dr. Vincent—to conduct the Parliament, they would make the Parliament a much greater success in the future, and induce hundreds of Canadian Sabbath School workers to spend all the time of the Parliament in sitting at the feet and learning from him who is by common consent acknowledged by both lands to be the Sunday School "Gamaliel." These Sabbath School "Assemblies" and "Parliaments" are the effects of "Conventions" and "Institutes," it is a step in advance. Those who have been profited and quickened—and their name is "legion"—by spending one two or three days at Conventions and Institutes ask for larger things, and find in the Assemblies and Parliaments more advanced minds, a higher standard, and a more valuable school. The "Service of Song" is this year conducted by Mr. Wm. Tandy, of Kingston, and we confess to a pleasurable disappointment. We had been thinking of last year, and of a Tourgee, a Stebbins, a Sherwin, a Phillips, and while Mr. Tandy is not the equal of these as a conductor of singing, still he far exceeds our expectations. He posse sses a clear, soft and powerful voice, and he does what very few singers do not, he pronounces his words so distinctly as to be understood by all. Oh, ye who think singing "in an unknown tongue" is the correct style, please, go and hear Mr. Tandy, and if your consciences don't condemn you it must be because they are "seared as with a hot iron." Mr. Tandy is a credit to Canada, and is winning golden opinions from all who hear him.

The services on Sunday last were commenced by a "Grace Abounding Meeting" a new name for a very old service and better known as a "Love Feast," "Fellowship Meeting," "Experience Meeting," &c. One feature of this meeting we recommend at similar meetings as a decided improvement, and which will do much to stop stereotyped experiences. Set phrases, and "elongated" addresses, namely the reading from "the book" a verse or two which relates the experience, or feelings, or designs, of those who read. In this meeting, as indeed in all the meetings, all branches of the Christian Church unite heartily, and we defy anyone to tell to what particular branch any of the speakers belong, so mote it be.

The Rev. John Potts, D. D., of Toronto was the preacher in the morning and well did he sustain his reputation as a pulpit orator. We may say in passing that there is no man from either side of the line, more popular at "1000 Island Park" than the Rev. Dr. Potts, the announcement that he is to preach or speak always draws immense audiences. At such services there were fully three thousand persons present. The Rev. gentleman took as his text John 3, 30, "He must increase but I must decrease." He divided his theme into two parts, 1st The nature of Christ's increase,

2nd. The absolute certainty of this increase. The sermon was delivered with more than ordinary ability and was one of Dr. Potts best efforts, it arrested the attention of the most careless, was profitable to the Christian, and could not fail to lead the unbeliever to serious thought. Expressions of delight were on the lips of all, and the unanimous opinion was that it was one of the ablest, if not the ablest, ever preached at "1000 Island Park."

At 2:30 the Sabbath School assembled, being officered by the Rev. Dr. Potts, of Little Falls, N.Y., Pastor; D. McLean, Esq., of Toronto, Superintendent; T.J. Wilkie, Esq., of Toronto, Secretary. The Superintendent will be remembered as the Chairman of the Provincial Business Committee when the Provincial Sabbath School Convention met in Belleville, in 1876, and under his management every detail of the arrangement of the School was provided for; the result was there was no confusion. The School was an ideal one, for in it were the gray haired sire, the middle aged and the young. Although neither the prophet nor the son of a prophet, we venture the prediction, that in less than twenty years, through out our fair Dominion such Schools will be the rule, and that on the afternoon of each Lord's Day, there will assemble for Bible Study, the entire congregation. When this takes place the question of that problem will have been solved, "how to retain the senior scholars." As it is now parents say "go" then they will say "come," we all know which is the most powerful, precept or practice.

There were in the School 27 officers and teachers in senior classes, 674 scholars in intermediate classes, 63 scholars and primary classes 41 scholars and 359 visitors, making a total of 1,069 present.

The Rev. Hugh Johnston, M.A., of Montreal, had been announced to preach to the young at the close of the school, but was unable to be present. In this dilemma, the Rev. Dr. Jaques was called to speak, and with his characteristic courtesy and kindness he consented. His address was one of the most unique and original ones we have listened to; his illustrations of the various branches of the Church, as he likened them to things "in heaven above and earth beneath," were the theme of much admiration. Indeed, it is very few men who could have kept that audience as Dr. Jaques kept it, for before he began they were tired with a service prolonged nearly an hour beyond what was expected.

During the afternoon service, Mrs. Ellis, of Belleville, sang a solo, which was very highly appreciated and referred to in complimentary terms. After she concluded, we heard a typical "Down Easter" say, "Can't them 'ere Canadians sing, why seems to me all the good singers here are Canadians." At the evening service, the Rev. Dr. Hurst, of Drew Theological Seminary, preached, taking as his text Hebrews IV: 1. His theme was God's rest, and the promises given to his children of participation in that rest. This closed the public services of the day. We were delighted to find the high appreciation entertained by our American cousins for Canadian talent, and the very great attention paid and prominence given to Canadian visitors.

The "1000 Island Park" is an assured success. The difficulties inseparable to all new enterprises have by the perseverance, tact, and business ability of the managers of the "1000 Island Park Association" been surmounted, and year by year the place—for which nature has done so much, and wh h now nature's handmaid, art, is so materially helping—will become more and more attractive, and the property become exceedingly valuable. Why, even now, lots that were bought two or three years ago for $100, are sold for $400.

We were pleased to learn that so many Canadians have bought lots and their intendion to make this place their summer residence. Here side by side float the "Star Spangled Banner" and the "Union Jack," and it did seem to us this year that the Canadians were vieing with the Americans in their display of banting. We think that a still greater display of > "The ensign proud that 'neath it is a desirable thing, and that our American cousins are to be admired for their demonstrative devotion to their flag.

> There never lived a slave,"

Anyone who has not yet visited the "1,000 Island Park" ought to embrace the first opportunity of doing so. Here they can obtain, enchanting scenery, splendid fishing, and all that goes to make a holiday enjoyable, at a comparative small cost. Board can be had at the dining hall for $5 a week, and tents with beds, &c., can always be had at moderate charges. Then this place is free from the annoyances of fashionable summer resorts, and owing to the rules adopted and faithfully carried out, there is a feeling of security which one does not enjoy in other places.

An Interesting Relic.—A despatch from Quebec on the 20th says :—"The lifting barge picked up yesterday afternoon an interesting relic of the past, in the shape of an anchor belonging to the barque L'Original, which was sunk in front of the M. O. S. S. Co.'s wharf over 100 years ago ; also a piece of the frame, of white oak."

The Ottawa Riots.—A despatch from Ottawa on the 20th says :—"This morning the young men implicated in the recent religious disturbance were arraigned before the Police Magistrate :— Wm. Lilburn, a Montreal Briton, charged with disorderly conduct and throwing stones, was fined $50 or in default 3 weeks ; J. O'Neil, a Union man, was similarly dealt with ; Thos. Campbell, an Orangeman, was committed for trial for having a loaded revolver in his possession ; John Lunny, a 15 year old boy, was fined $10 for beating a member of a True Blue Lodge ; Thomas Birch, an Orangeman, charged with having a revolver in his possession, was discharged. The three Montreal Britons, Allan, Burritt and Richards, who were similarly charged, were allowed to go. They are the parties who were chased into Stratton's store by a mob. The three Union men, Asselin, O'Neil and Dillon, charged with stone throwing, were remanded until to-morrow, as was also John Hull, a Briton. At the Council last night, Thomas Villeneuve sent in an account for damages to his house during the riot, amounting to $500. It was considered exorbitant, and referred to the finance Committee for investigation. At the Police Court, this morning, he was allowed to give evidence against John Hall, one of the rioters, and swore that thirty-five panes of glass and two doors in his house were demolished, and that it cost him $29 to have them replaced. A warrant has been issued for Ennis, a Montreal Briton, who escaped from the police station on the night of the 12th inst."

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons :—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion ; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home ; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed ; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market ; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade ; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 21.

THE CAMPAIGN.

We again remind the Conservatives of Belleville, and all others who are opposed to the present Government, of the mass meeting to be held in the Metropolitan Hall to-morrow night. The opening speech of the campaign will be made by the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, the Opposition candidate, and other gentlemen will also deliver short addresses, at the conclusion of which the work of organization will be proceeded with. It is in every sense desirable that the gathering should be a large one, which there is reason to believe it will be, as the feeling amongst the opponents of the Government in this city is of the most enthusiastic description, and they are determined to enter upon this contest with vigor and carry it on to a successful conclusion.

EAST HASTINGS.

The work of organizing in this constituency is, we are glad to know, to be entered upon at once by the Conservative party. The Liberal-Conservative Association for East Hastings is to meet at the rooms in the Intelligencer building on Saturday, 31st inst., at 1 o'clock p. m. for organization, and the Committee and members for the Township of Thurlow are to meet at the same hour and place. Mr. White's friends are active and earnest in his support, and there can be no doubt that he will be returned again triumphantly, as he has been before against stronger opponents than Mr. Aylsworth.

Political Notes.

We learn that the contract for building an addition to the New London (P. E. I.) Breakwater has been given to a government favorite without tender. This is the manner in which public money is squandered to feed government supporters.

The policy on which the Government appeals to the unemployed mechanic and suffering manufacturer :—"Pacific Scandal ! Pacific Scandal ! ! Pacific Scandal ! ! !

Mr. Mackenzie told the people of Halifax that he has not the gift of double utterance. At any rate he has in an extraordinary manner the gift of promising nobly and performing contemptibly.

Mr. Shibley is evidently having a hard road to travel in Addington. The Kingston News says :—"When the speeches at the Grit 'mass' meeting at Harrowsmith on Saturday were over, the chairman, Col. Wood, called for three cheers for the Queen, which were given heartily. Then followed rousing cheers for Sir John Macdonald, the three Kingston visitors, Mr. McRory and the chairman. Some man, probably one of Mr. Shibley's bosom friends, had the temerity to call for a cheer for the Government and their supporters, but the sickly abortion of a chuckle which died away on the lips of the person who proposed it was hailed with roars of derisive laughter by the assembled crowd." Mr. Shibley is one of the recreants who took the same course as did David Glass in 1873. He is a man of no ability, and the electors will find in Mr. McRory a much abler and more practical representative of their interests.

The people of Canada should not forget, says the Montreal Star, that Prince Bismarck, within a tolerably recent period, has expressed himself as follows: "I also propose to give protection a chance of ameliorating the condition of the manufacturing and operative classes, and of lightening the load which the budget unquestionably lays upon the shoulders of the nation." Surely, if Free Trade, or, perhaps, better still, a jughandled policy were capable of benefitting any nation, it ought to have a long established and industrious people like the Germans, who have, however, found that great as are their resources, extensive as must be their home market, it does not suit them, and that by acting up to the principle they have been the sufferers rather than the gainers.

The "Loyalty" Cry Once More.

The Globe, lacking anything to advance in support of the Mackenzie administration, continues its silly and bootless efforts to influence public opinion against the National Policy, as propounded by the Opposition, by asserting that the imposition of protective duties in the Dominion will cause a severance of the tie which binds Canada to the parent state. Its issue of the 9th instant contains a leading article of a column and a half in attempted refutation of arguments used in these columns on the 5th, in reply to a former article in the Globe, in which comment upon a previous article of ours appeared. Contrary to its usual custom, the Globe article referred to as appearing on the 9th is courteous in tone and even flattering in its allusion, in attributing to a gentleman of well known ability, although he never saw the article until it was published, our utterances on the subject. This much said, the leader in question may be passed by, as it really contains little more than a reiteration of our contemporary's views in a slightly modified form, and what has been added to this original expression of opinion contains nothing which requires serious consideration or reply. In its issue of the 17th, however, the Government organ returns to the subject, and in the course of a short article says :

"No party in Canada has hitherto systematically taken up the role of praising the Commercial policy of the United States at the expense of that Britain and Canada. That has been done for the first time by Sir John Macdonald and his organs. If it is contented the result must necessarily be to teach the young members of the Conservative party that the path of prosperity lies in the direction of annexation."

Such an accusation as is involved in this assertion comes with a very bad grace from a journal the principal proprietor of which offered most humiliating concessions – concessions a large majority of his countrymen very strongly disapproved of—in order to secure a treaty of reciprocity with the United States. Could it possibly be, that Mr. Brown's object in desiring to throw the markets of Canada open to our neighbors was to teach Canadians that "the path of prosperity lies in the direction of annexation !" We sincerly hope not, yet the arguments of his journal lead irresistibly to that conclusion. Again the Globe says :—

"To suppose that the manufacturers of Canada can earn as much by making for four millions as they can for forty is of course absurd. Britain will be indignant at the exclusion of her goods ; our manufacturers will build more mills and our manufactories will make more goods that our people can consume ; the markets of the world will be closed against them, the Republic will open her arms, and Canada will fall into them under the same pressure which now threatens to drive us from the safe path of a revenue tariff."

This is simply a repetition of the old cry that was used by our contemporary when reciprocity was repealed. Owing to circumstances, as well as to the self-reliance and industry of our people, developed under the incidental protection which the war of the rebellion afforded Canadian manufacturers, as well as to the imposition of the duty on cheese, Canada was able to more than hold her own ; but with the reduction in the cost of production of manufactured goods in the United States, Canada has become a highly convenient slaughter market for the manufacturers of that country. Why the markets of the world should be closed against Canadian goods, supposing a surplus be manufactured here, any more that against those of the mother country or of the United States our contemporary does not attempt to make clear, and failing that contingency even the Globe will not assert that the idea of Miss Canada falling into the arms of Brother Jonathan is farcical as it is in reality— will ever be realized. There are those, however, of the Globe's political friends—members of the Cabinet, even—who would not consider the realization of the Globe's pen-picture as a very terrible calamity to befall this country.

But what is there in the trade relations between the mother country and Canada, to justify the cry that a re-adjustment of the tariff in the direction of protecting the industries of Canada would lead to separation, if we look at the result of the fiscal policy of the present Government as presented to us in official returns ! On referring to the official returns, we find that in 1876 our imports were as follows :—

From United States	$44,093,073
" Great Britain	40,486,060
	$84,579,133

In favor of the United States $3,607,013

Of these goods there were admitted free of duty under our tariff :

From United States ...	$ 22,758,460
" Great Britain ...	8,100,678

shewing no less a sum than $14,657,882 against Great Britain, and in favor of the United States. Yet we are told by the Globe and its echoists that any change in the tariff which will lead to a diversion of the enormous trade now carried on with the United States into English channels, is an act of disloyalty likely to lead to a separation between this and the mother country.

Let us look for a moment at the effect which the change in the policy of the present Government has had upon the tea trade of Canada, and we shall see that its only effect has been in favor of the United States. The aggregate imports of tea have very largely increased since 1874, but the increased trade has been entirely to the interest of the American merchant. Here are the figures, taken from the trade returns of 1874 and 1877 respectively, and our readers will admit that they are sufficiently startling :—

	1874.	1877.
Great Britain	$1,418,267	$1,440,622
United States	12	1,712,028
China	534,290	74,272
Japan	212,587	210,448

Thus while the import trade in tea from Great Britain has remained stationary, that from the United States has gone up from comparatively nothing to over a quarter of a million dollars in excess of that from Great Britain. That in fact the $12 worth of tea imported from the United States in 1874, swelled to $1,712,028 in three short years. Would the transference of the million and a half from the United States to Great Britain or any part of it, be a cause for separation. The argument is the merest nonsense, altogether unworthy of the leading journal of a great party, as the Globe is.

Belleville and North Hastings Railway.

The Board of Directors of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway held meetings yesterday and to-day, at which the question of the construction of the northern road was considered, and we are glad to announce that a contract has been entered into between the Company and Mr. E. O. Bickford, of Toronto, for the construction and completion of the road from the junction with the Grand Junction Railway near Luke's, to the Moore Mine in Madoc, by the 1st of November next. Mr. Wood is now busily engaged in purchasing the right of way along the line, and Mr. Daly, the engineer, has been instructed to proceed with all possible speed with the work. Let us express the hope that there may be no more "hitches" in this undertaking, and to add a further hope that something may be done by which the Grand Junction Railway will be built to Campbellford, at least, this fall.

The Orange Question.

ANOTHER PHASE OF THE CASE—CONTEMPT OF COURT.

The case was continued on Tuesday in the Grand Jury Room.

Mr. E. Carter, Q.C., said that the prosecution now came to another phase of the case connected with the Orange Order. His learned friend, Mr. Doutre, would save a great deal of time if he would admit that the defendants were members of the Orange Order. If this were done he would be able to close the case to-morrow. As soon as he had learned that two of the defendants were not Orangemen he at once applied for their discharge, and if his learned friend was really anxious to test the question he should comply with this proposal. He had no doubt but that the defendants believed themselves in the right, and had been so advised by his learned friend, but others thought differently. He then asked his learned friend to meet him on fair ground.

Mr. Doutre said it was certainly a most extraordinary proceeding to ask defendants to admit charges against them. He had a strange curiosity to see how the prosecution would proceed, and if he were actuated by no other motive he would maintain his ground and ask the prosecutors to proceed.

Mr. E. Barnard, Q. C., then took up the case, and called Colonel George Smith, who was then sworn.

Q. You were present in Court yesterday when Sir Francis Hincks was examined ? A. I was.

Q You heard him allude to an address presented to the Queen by the Orangemen of Canada East ? A. I did.

Q. I believe you signed that address, did you not ? A. As I understand this is a criminal case, I decline to answer that, as I am not obliged to criminate myself.

Q. Do you believe that the Orange Order is illegal, and that its members are subject to a criminal prosecution ?

Mr. Doutre interposed an objection to this question, the ground being that the witness was asked his opinion on a point of law.

Mr. Barnard said he thought that they should bring about from this case an end of the interminable trouble which the question has caused, but that the prosecution was obliged to meet the defence at sword's length again.

Mr. Carter said the objection was based upon the hypothesis that the intent of the question was to elicit the opinion of the witness. The witness could not be exempt from answering a question lest it might convict him, unless the Magistrate were convinced of his sincerity.

Mr. Doutre said the prosecution was not based on the opinion of Col. Smith. If it were he would be compelled to give that opinion on which the action was taken. The action was based on the facts set forth in the information. On the opinion of four Queen's Counsels, the Mayor was advised of the illegality of the Order. These men were sued simply because they were Orangemen, and yet his learned friend asked Col. Smith if he was an Orangeman. He naturally said, "I will not throw myself into your claws."

His Honor—Well, how are they going to reach the existence of the Order ?

Mr. Doutre (laughing)—That is none of my business. Let them go for that.

His Honor—Question allowed.

The question was then repeated, and the witness replied that he refused to answer the question on the ground before mentioned.

Mr. Barnard—Well, we cannot abandon our question ; the law must take its course.

Mr. Carter—The witness is refusing to obey your Worship's authority—

His Honor—No, Mr. Carter, he answered the question in his own way, though not sufficiently.

Mr. Carter said the object was clearly to bring the matter to an issue at once. He then cited the Criminal Act of 1869, Chapter 30, relating to the proceedings in indictable offences, which says that a witness refusing to answer a question may be convicted and sent to jail for a term not exceeding ten days. There was on record the Magistrate's allowance of the question and the persistent refusal of the witness to answer it.

Mr. Barnard then applied for a warant under the above clause. He felt sorry to be reduced to these measures, but he was obliged to resort to it.

Mr. Doutre—I allow the application to go by default.

The following application for the committal of the witness was then placed on record :—

The witness having refused to answer the question, notwithstanding that the objection thereto is overruled, and that such refusal is made without the witness having given any just excuse for such refusal, although the witness has been duly sworn before the presiding magistrate to give evidence under oath :—Application is now made by the said presiding magistrate to issue his warrant committing the witness to the common jail of this district, therein to remain and be imprisoned for such time not exceeding ten days, unless he in the meantime consents to answer the said question.

Mr. Doutre said that as the application had been recorded he would answer it, on the ground that the witness was justified in refusing to answer the question. Surely, if the opinions of his learned friends were worth anything at all the witness's objection was well-founded, for they had both given it as their opinion that the Orange Order was illegal, and according to their own opinions the witness by answering the question would incriminate himself. The question was one of legal opinion, and he would like to know if there exists within the British possessions a magistrate who would commit a witness for refusing to answer a question involving legal opinion, and which would incriminate himself. In support of this proposition he quotes Archibald on Pleading and Evidence in Criminal Cases.

His Honor took the application en delibere till to-morrow at 2 p.m., and the case was accordingly adjourned till then.

City and Vicinity.

OUTSIDE PAGES.—On the first page will be found an interesting account by a correspondent, of Saturday's excursion to Wellesley Island, and of the Sunday services at the Sunday School Parliament. A gossipy letter from our Paris correspondent appears on the fourth page.

ARRIVALS.—One by one the yachts are arriving from their annual cruises. The Kathleen returned last night from a cruise to Charlotte and Cobourg, and the Minnie A. arrived from Brockville and the Thousand Islands. The Enid will arrive this evening.

DOWN TO HARD PAN.—The Oswego Palladium of Monday says:—"On Saturday the lowest rates for lumber freight ever reached since the lake was dug out ruled at Oswego. $1.40 to Troy and Albany, and $1.60 to New York. These are famine prices.

Anticipate and prevent sickness with SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

LAW EXAMINATION.—The examination of Law Students is now in progress in Osgoode Hall. The first Intermediate took place yesterday, the Second Intermediate was held to-day. The examination for attorneys will be on the 22nd inst., and that for barristers on the 23rd.

THE GRAND TRUNK EXCURSION.—This excursion, tickets for which are good for return by any train within ten days, is fixed for Monday next. Tickets will be issued at single fare for the double journey, thus affording all concerned an excellent opportunity of visiting the commercial capital at a cheap rate. Other particulars of general interest will be found in the advertisement, which appears in another column.

CHEAP EXCURSION. — The advantages offered by the excursion to Montreal per steamer Alexandra on Monday next ought not to be overlooked. The fare by boat is but $4, to return by Grand Trunk Railway-$5, which rates are low without parallel. A more delightful trip than that down the St. Lawrence can scarcely be imagined, and as the steamer is as comfortable as a well equipped hotel, the journey can be made with the utmost comfort. Therefore we expect to see a very large attendance.

YOUNG MEN'S LIBERAL CONSERVATIVE ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the above Association to inagurate the political campaign was held in their rooms last evening and was largely attended. The Hon. Lewis Wallbridge addressed the meeting for over an hour, and in an exceedingly able speech stated the policy of the Opposition, adducing arguments, forcible, clear and easily understood, on the great issue before the country.—that of protection to Canadian industries. He was followed by Mr. T. Wills, M. P.P. and several of the young men present, after which a vote of thanks to Mr. Wallbridge for his able address was carried unanimously.

THE DUFFERIN ADDRESS.—The following is the committee for considering and approving a suitable address to be presented by the Municipal Councils of Ontario: John McIntyre, Mayor of Kingston; Wm. Mack, Warden of Stormont, Dundas and Glengary; Alex. Robertson, Mayor of Belleville; W. D. Ardagh, Mayor of Barrie; Jas. McMullen, Reeve of Mount Forest; Paul Ross, Mayor of Walkerton; Robert Henry, Mayor of Brantford; T. H. Parker, Mayor of Woodstock; George Howard, Mayor of Guelph; T. W. Scott, Mayor of Listowell; Arthur Boyle, Warden of Haldimand, and Wm. Buchner, Warden of Welland. 100 municipalities will be represented in the presentation of the address, which will be signed on the two boats which convey the deputation from Toronto. The affair promises to be a great success, and it is expected Lord Dufferin will make a big speech. The address will be presented to His Excellency at Quebec on Thursday, Sept. 5th.

EXPULSION OF FLIES.—We copy the following from the London Garden. Have any of our readers witnessed similar results? The Rev. George Mears Drought, writing from Ireland to the Times says: "For three years I have lived in a town, and during that time my sitting room has been free from flies, three or four only walking about my breakfast table, while all my neighbors rooms were crowded. I often congratulated myself on my escape, but never knew the reason of it until two days ago. I then had occasion to move my goods to another house while I remained on for two days longer. Among other things moved were two boxes of geraniums and calceolarias, which stood in my windows being always open to full extent, top and bottom. The boxes were not gone half and hour before my room was as full of flies as those around me. This, to me, is a new discovery, and perhaps it may serve to encourage others in that which is always a source of pleasure and which now proves also to be a source of comfort, viz., window gardening."

EXCURSION.—The excursion which left for the Thousand Islands this morning, per steamer Kincardine, was a great success, the steamer being crowded.

SANDBANKS.—Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mr. A. Dulmage, who keeps a comfortable house of entertainment at this popular resort, and whose charges are moderate.

WEST HASTINGS.—A list of meetings to be addressed by Hon. Lewis Wallbridge and other gentlemen in his interest, in the Township of Sidney, will be found in our advertising columns. Mr. Brown is invited to attend every meeting, and a fair hearing is guaranteed to him.

SPORTING.—The following appears in the last issue of the New York Sportsman: "Edward Johnson, the celebrated athlete, offers to bet Duncan C. Ross $50 that he will not make a match with Hugh McKinnon, in the same games that formed the Lynch-Ross match. Johnson stipulates that the rules of the North American United Caledonian Association are to govern the contest. By calling at this office the wager can be ratified."

A BIG PULL.—On the morning of the 16th of August, a striking and surprising occurrence took place at the shop of Mr. Timothy Sullivan, Hungerford. A young dog, only four months old, was seen to pull an anvil, weighing 157 lbs., out of the shop and four rods away. An apron belonging to the blacksmith became twisted around the anvil, and he seized the apron and went gliding away. This, though surprising, is true. So much for the blacksmith's dog.—COM.

Deaf and Dumb Convention.

WELCOME OF DELEGATES TO CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug 20.—The proceedings to-day have been very interesting. About one hundred and twenty delegates are now in attendance. At noon to-day Governor R. M. Bishop was introduced to the convention by Superintendent Fay of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb. He was welcomed in an appropriate manner by President Chapin. Governor Bishop responded in an eloquent address, and in conclusion bade the delegates from the United States and Canada welcome to the hearths and homes of Ohio. Dr. W. J. Palmer, Principal of the Ontario Institute for Deaf and Dumb, responded in behalf of the Canada delegates, and Dr. E. M. Gallaudet, of Washington, D. C., in behalf of the delegates from the United States.

The convention adjourns to-morrow. Many delegates to the convention of Principals and instructors of blind institutions, to meet to-morrow, have arrived. Among them are Dr. J. Howard Hunter, Principal, and Miss Tyrell, of the blind institution, Brantford, Ontario.

A thorn in the bush is worth two in the fingers.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

EUROPEAN.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Financier says the recovery in trade generally is satisfactory.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 20.—The Grand Council of the Porte will be held to-day to consider Austria's latest objection to the Turkish proposals for a convention.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Pilot Commissioners have officially appealed to the Federal authorities to stop throwing garbage into New York bay. The Swash channel, through which steamships have to sail to reach this port, is rapidly filling up from this cause.

Large quantities of sugar and cigars have been seized by the Customs officers this week.

A despatch from Grenada says the fever has attacked full-blooded negroes, killing three—something unknown before.

The town of Canton is now being deserted, fever having broken out there, killing Dr. Nathan McKay and two others.

A Michigan City, Indiana, special states that two boys and two girls, children of Jacob Scheffle and Fred. Schwank, were drowned while bathing in Lake Michigan last evening.

A special from New Orleans says that Mr. Sheater, of the Times, was attacked by yellow fever last night. 56,000 citizens are reported as having fled from the city.

J. T. Allen & Co., furniture dealers, have failed; liabilities $80,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—A Portland, Oregon, despatch says this morning three strangers entered the pawnbroker shop of O'Shea, felled the proprietor with a slungshot, locked the door, packed up the jewelry and valuables, and escaped. An alarm was given and an officer pursued the robbers. They fired two shots at the officer, missing him, but instantly killing Louis Joseph, aged 14. The robbers then escaped. If captured they will undoubtedly be lynched. O'Shea's injuries are fatal.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Arrived, the SS. Frisia, from Hamburg, and Wyoming, from Liverpool.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug 21.—The Times reprints interviews between Butler and Kearney, and has an editorial about them and the national party, in which it says of the latter: It might become a serious danger to the republic if possible for the discontented and ignorant masses who have attached themselves to it to pool their issues and combine against capital, but it is doubtful whether those who declaim most wildly against society are not as firmly wedded, each of them to his own theories of reconstruction, as most superstitious fantics of old world creeds. The United States would have more to fear from Butlers and Kearneys if their followers were less passionate, less ignorant of practical limitations of political action, and less torn by internal jealousies.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Forbes the alleged forger, and Froman, a confessed murderer, were both committed to-day, to await information from the United States.

MUNICH, Aug. 21.—Prince Hohenlohe has been re-elected to the Reichstag.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

Extracts from a Letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P., WILLIAM MAIN, REV. THOMAS HARTIN.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John. N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. d&w1m obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims; to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

PATENTS

OUR PARIS LETTER.

THE FRENCH REPUBLIC AND ITS ADMINISTRATION—TUNIS TO BECOME FRENCH TERRITORY—THE GREAT SUCCESS OF THE WALTHAM WATCH EXHIBIT—LACE MAKING—DISAPPOINTED LOVE THE CAUSE OF ITS DISCOVERY AND INTRODUCTION, &C., &C.

(From a Regular Correspondent.)

HOTEL DU LOUVRE, PARIS, Aug. 9.

The Republican feeling is very strong in France, and is daily attracting to it the most timid conservative interests. The mamelukes of the three pretenders count no more only as political fossils, or as harmless eccentrics. Unhappily the Cabinet is afraid to follow public opinion; it is totally deficient in pluck and decision; it has no clear idea of government, no healthy standard for administration. It refuses to give post and place to Republicans, and nominates the enemies of the constitution to office, hoping that the leopards may change their spots and the lion lie down with the lamb—quite possible when the latter is within the other's stomach. The Ministers of Justice and War are sinners almost past redemption in this respect. M. Marcene is the model of the contrary. Matters cannot continue in this lamentable contradiction without an explosion; a time fuse has been fixed calculated to blow up the Ministry after the Senatorial elections. Don't believe a word of the nonsense about MacMahon's resignation, the old soldier will mount guard till the end of his term, though well knowing his departure will never be a calamity.

The Berlin Congress is now next to ancient history: the French are reconciled to the Anglo-Turkish treaty; the more so, as it is now accepted as a settled matter that France, not Italy, shall have Tunis, as an equivalent for Cyprus. The Italians, by the agitation of their extreme patriots, have forfeited much political consideration, and have drawn a profit and loss attention to what they have acquired by good luck more than by arms or diplomacy. Public opinion here recommends Italy to remember that covetousness bursts the bag, and that is the Teutons mean to keep Trieste, the Gauls are of the same way of thinking respecting Nice—depite the Vaterland theories of the world.

Many exhibitors complain, they take no orders; perhaps the state lottery will purchase some of their goods. These are expectations; it is customary to present a judge with a pair of white gloves when at an assizes he "has got no work to do." There is one firm in the American section, the Waltham Watch Making Company, that displays at each corner of its large drawing room case, oriflammes with the inscription in gold letters, 'Contents sold to agents from Bradford, Birmingham, Amsterdam, &c., for the account of the house in Sydney, N. S. Wales, of S. Hoffnung & Co." The value of the sale is a quarter of a million of francs.

The manager in charge deserves a pair of white gloves from his co-exhibitors; but he has got work to do; he is organizing another case for the forthcoming Sydney Show, and founding an agency here. Traders in general, and watchmakers in particular, ought to study how this firm does business, and which is often quoted in the French press in the discussions on free trade. It makes all the parts of the watch by machinery, not by hand; turning out uniform work for uniform prices; not a cheap article at a cheap rate, but a good one at its cost price, and holding themselves responsible for defects. This Company has driven Swiss watches out of the American markets. It competes with English makers, and is now about entering the lists with the Swiss firms that monopolise the watch trade in France.

The most recent improvement in the production of lace is the introduction of shaded tints in the flowers and patterns, giving them the relief of a picture. This effect is produced by varying the application of the two stitches, and in making the flowers—the "trile," which forms the close tissue, and the "grille," employed in the more open part of the pattern. The system is so successfully applied to the laces of France, that it has been adopted with the greatest success.

There is a legend regarding the introduction of this manufacture into Flanders. A poverty-stricken but pious young girl was dying of love for a young man whose wealth precluded all hopes of marriage. One night, as she sat weeping at her hard fate, a beautiful lady entered the cottage, and without saying a word placed in her hand a green cloth cushion, with its bobbins filled with the fine threads which on autumn evenings float in the air, and which the people call "fils de la Vierge." The lady, though of romantic bearing, was a practical manufacturer. She sat down in silence, and with her nimble fingers taught the unhappy maiden how to make all sorts of patterns and complicated articles. As daylight approached the maiden had learned her art, and the mysterious visitor disappeared. The price of lace soon made the poor girl rich. She married the man of her choice, and, surrounded by a large family, lived happy and rich, for she had kept the secret for herself. One evening, when the little folk were playing around her knee by the fireside, and her husband sat fondly watching the happy group, the lady suddenly made her appearance among them; her bearing was distant, she seemed stern and sad, and this time addressed her protege in a trembling voice. "Here," she said, "you enjoy peace and abundance, while without are famine and trouble. I helped you; you have not helped your neighbors. The angels weep for you and turn away their faces." So the next day the woman arose, and, going forth with a green cushion and its bobbins in her hands, went from cottage to cottage, offering to all who would be taught to instruct them in the art she had herself miraculously learned. So they also became rich, and Belgium became famous for this manufacture.

A biblical curiosity in the English section, which attracts crowds, in the model of the Tabernacle as it existed during the wandering of the Israelites in the Desert. The exterior and interior of the tabernacle are faithfully constructed according to the details given in the Old Testament. Complaints are very justly made at the slowness connected with the opening of the Historical Portrait Gallery; it would be better to return the pictures to their owners, rather than preserve them like old lumber, or as the official portraits of Louis Phillippe, Louis Napoleon and other Louises, stored away in the attics of the mayoralties, along with streamers for royal anniversaries. The latter have been turned to a republican account by ripping out the devices in the stuff: this idea of artistic economy is of a Latin origin, for the Romans, when a new Emperor ascended the throne, screwed off the head of his predecessor from the statues, and then placed his likeness thereon.

The appearance of foreign military uniforms is a peculiar feature of the present Exhibitions. Foreign uniforms have appeared at former Exhibitions, but generally worn by visitors. On the present occasion, foreign soldiers do duty in many of the sections, and they may often be seen marching in and out of the building under the command of a corporal or sergeant. The first on the ground were, I believe, English sappers; now there are Spanish infantry men in long iron grey capotes, with green worsted epaulettes, and red trousers like the French. Swiss attendants wearing dark tunics with white facings, having the Swiss cross on their kepis; Dutch marines, in black tunics trimmed with red, with the arms and name of their country embroidered in gold on their collars; United States infantrymen, in simple uniforms, short blue tunics, iron gray trousers; and Norwegian sailors, with linen jackets and broad shirt collars, turned over. There are, I think, Italians and some others, probably, in addition.

LOUIS.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contans a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

MCHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY, 225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours,

W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Don't who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Sore throat, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c,

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "Domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

Daily Intelligencer.

Civic Honors to Lords Beaconsfield and Salisbury.

LONDON, August 6, 1878.

The much talked of ceremony of presenting the freedom of the city to the two British plenipotentiaries at the Berlin Congress came off on Saturday.

The carriage containing the Premier passed along Fleet street punctually at the appointed hour. He was surrounded by a running and shouting mob, which the policemen flanking it could scarcely keep back. At the window was the strange face of the "Mephistopholean" Earl smiling, with a set smile, at his uproarious admirers.

IN THE GUILDHALL.

The plenipotentiaries received, of course, an immense ovation on entering the Guildhall. The Premier, whose magnificent diamond Star and Badge of the Garter flashed again, led the Marchioness of Abergavenny, and so arrived at the dais in the library, whereon My Lord Mayor Owden and the Lady Mayoress sat enthroned. King and Queen of the "city" for the brief year in which they are permitted to strut and fret and lay themselves out for a title. The dais was canopied in maroon cloth, edged with yellow fringe, and on it beside the thrones were two chairs (without arms one must draw the line somewhere) for the two guests. As for the other people, who had tickets admitting them to the platform, they sat on papier mache. Then there was the table, bearing the red velvet stand framed in oak upon which the sword, mace and cap of State are laid. The cap fits on to a block in the middle and the sword and mace are crossed below it.

THE CEREMONY.

Beaconsfield's face, ghastly pale as ever, bore an unchanging mask. Lord Salisbury did not even glance round, and the quaint observances which from time to immemorial have been followed at this solemnity were duly proceeded with. Here again I must quote from one of the English papers lest your readers should be unduly impressed with the scene:—"That English men have no genius for ceremonial is a truism that needed no further evidence. Though the fonction of Saturday must have been rehearsed many times, and its details had doubtless been arranged in solemn council, eager discussion arose as to places, duties and precedence."

The Chamberlain inquired whether any company presented their lordships on their admission as citizens, and the Master and Wardens of the Merchant Tailors handed in certificates of their admission to that guild in 1874. The Chamberlain then invited the two lords to make and sign the customary declaration of a freeman of London. The Premier, then reading from the document printed in gold letters, declared as follows:—"I, the Right Honorable Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, do solemnly declare that I will be good and true to our Sovereign Lady Queen Victoria; that I will be obedient to the Mayor of this city; that I will maintain the franchises and customs thereof, and will keep this city harmless in that which in me is; that I will also keep the Queen's peace in my own person; that I will know no gatherings nor conspiracies made against the Queen's peace, but I will warn the Mayor thereof, or hinder it to my power; and that all these points and articles I will well and truly keep, according to the laws and customs of this city to my power." Lord Salisbury read a similar declaration, and the Chamberlain then addressed the freemen, telling them and about themselves from their cradles by way of showing how eminently fit they were to receive the freedom of the city in a gold box.

BEACONSFIELD'S SPEECH.

The Premier on rising and standing forward to acknowledge the compliment was greeted with tremendous cheering, "the vast assemblage rising en masse and waving hats and handkerchiefs for several minutes," as the Times reporter has it. Lord Beaconsfield said:—"My Lord Mayor, the city of London has conferred upon me this day an honor which history has consecrated and which is a portion of our public life. The possession of it was deemed most precious by those great men whose countenances from your ancient walls now behold us, and who remind us of the great achievements, which they have accomplished for their country. My Lord Mayor, I cannot rival them in those achievements, but I will yield to none in devotion to my common country. The City Chamberlain has touched upon a most gracious point in these proceedings, which to me is a subject of the utmost gratification. He has reminded you that the vote at which the Common Council arrived was a unanimous vote. I know well how strong and determined—and of course how different in some degree—are the political opinions entertained by the court and corporation. All of us know what a great part in the history of the country the corporation of London has fulfilled. But, my Lord Mayor, there are moments in public life when Englishmen forget everything but their country, and the citizens of London, celebrated through ages for their patriotism, have made no exception in my instance. My Lord Mayor and gentlemen, I cannot attempt to express the deep emotion which naturally I feel in such a scene as this; but I will say that in there be anything which supports and strengthens public men in the arduous duties which fall to their lot it is the sympathy of a body like this, and this public declaration that we possess their regard and their respect."

LORD SALISBURY SPEAKS.

When the fresh cheers evoked by this speech had subsided Lord Salisbury, who was also enthusiastically greeted, rose and said: "My Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and citizens of the city of London, the city of London possesses the proud privilege of conferring one of the highest distinctions which this country can offer, compared with which even the distinctions that are in the hands of royalty seem to be scarcely more desirable. That distinction has been desired and has been obtained by some of the greatest names in our history, and it is with no small emotion and no small sense of your indulgence, that I now receive it at your hands. But the city of London possesses other privileges. It has the power of imprinting its own direction, to a great extent, upon the public opinion of this country; and in moments of crisis it is to the city of London that Englishmen often look for the guiding intimation which is to direct their sympathies and to shape their conduct. In the darkest hour of the crisis which we have recently passed through the city of London remembered the power it possessed, and it was to their outspoken sympathy, to their patriotic patriotic sentiments opportunely expressed, that much of the authority which the government was wielded in its communications with foreign Powers was due, for in this country more than in any other country the foreign policy of the government depends upon the public opinion out of doors. It is not that the government servilely follow an opinion which dictates their policy to them, but that in the eyes of foreign countries no policy is powerful, no recommendations are respected unless they are known to be sustained by the free and powerful opinion of the inhabitants of this country. This inestimable support the city of London gave to the government when it was most needed. I will not sit down without asking you not to believe that your responsibility is ended here or that your task is finished. We have brought back a treaty which I hope will give peace to Europe for many years. We have, at the same time, laid on ourselves a task which it was for the interest of this country and of the Europe that we should assume, but which no doubt tax our energies and our solicitude to the utmost. In that difficult duty we look to you for support. We need above all things the sympathy—the expressed sympathy—of our countrymen. We have to effect great objects by the use of the authority of this country. We have to persuade a prince—an enlightened and powerful prince, I believe; we have to persuasion and influence to induce him to extend the blessings which we know ourselves to enjoy from whom they have hitherto been estranged; and if we succeed in that task it can only be because its importance is constantly recognized by our countrymen at home, and that we are countenanced by their unfailing authority. If we obtain that support I believe we shall not only have secured a diplomatic success—we shall not only have gained the political triumph which this morning's newspapers attest—but we shall have done something far more important and far more gratifying than these: we shall have brought a lasting contribution to the civilization of the world."

The two freemen then signed the roll, and it was presented, seconded and cordially carried, that the address of the Chamberlain and the replies of the Earl and Marquis be entered on the journals of the Court. The band struck up "Rule Britannia," and the company dispersed, the two chief actors remaining until it was time to go to the Aldermanic feast to which they had been bidden the same evening.

THE "GOLD BOXES."

The newly made freemen received their certificates emblazoned on scrolls, but the gold boxes in which they are to be kept are not yet ready. A description of them is published, however. The sides are panelled in eight recesses, seven of which are occupied by enamelled shields representing the arms of the Powers at the Congress, the eighth having the arms of the recipients. The cover is surmounted with a figure of Britannia; the base, which is of olive wood, decorated with palm leaves, will bear the city arms and the inscription, and has at its four angles models of Landseer's lions at the Nelson column. The whole design, we are told, is in the Moorish style, the Moorish question having formed the chief subject of discussion at the Berlin Congress.

Fearful Outrages on Mussulmans in Roumelia.

The following remarks made by Sir A. H. Layard in a despatch to Lord Salisbury, dated July 8th, and printed with the last batch of Turkish papers, are not only worth the attention of Russophiles, but also of being placed on record as material for the future historian of the times we live in:—"It would," says Sir A. H. Layard, "be a needless and painful task to collect from the different reports that have been addressed to this Embassy the numberless cases of outrages, cruelty, rape, and massacre committed during the last few months upon the Mussulmans of Roumelia. It would scarcely be too much to affirm that they exceeded in horror and amount the accumulated misdeeds of former years of Turkish misrule. Never have the Turks, even in the worst days of their history, been guilty of such indiscriminate slaughter, such shocking outrages on women and female children, such universal destruction of property, and such general religious persecution. The deeds of the Bashi-Bazouks at Batak and in other Bulgarian villages, immensely exaggerated by thoughtless, designing or unscrupulous men, and the consequences of a panic which subsequent events have shown to have been justified, were sufficient to arouse public opinion in England to such an excitement against Turkey, that a war unparalleled for its horrors, and perhaps for its consequences, has been the result. Yet the atrocities committed without cause or reason upon an inoffensive and defenceless population, upon old men, women, and children have passed unnoticed, have excited but little public sympathy for the victims, and have not affected the character for religion and humanity of the nation that has been the cause of them. It can scarcely be believed that this indifference should have arisen from the fact that the victims are Mussulmans. Yet when the whole of the European press unites in an outcry against the Turkish government, and demands justice and vengeance because houses in a Greek village in insurrection are injured, its church plate stolen and some of its inhabitants killed, and almost passes over in silence the shocking cruelties perpetrated upon the Mohamedans of Turkey, it would seem that public opinion is not altogether uninfluenced by this consideration."—Pall Mall Gazette.

An Extraordinary Fish.

A most interesting discovery has been made in the Sea of Tiberias of a fish which incubates its young in the cavities of the mouth; and, what is most remarkable, it is the male which performs this part of the family function. As soon as the female has deposited its eggs in the hollow of the sand, the male approaches and draws them into the cavities of his mouth by a process of aspiration. Here they are distributed between the leaves of the gills; and in the midst of the respiratory organs the eggs rapidly develop, extending the mouth of the male fish in the most extraordinary manner. Finally the young fish make their appearance, packed in the gills like so many herring, all with their heads directed towards the opening. From this place of safety and safety they run in and out until they are large enough to take care of themselves. It is said that as many as two hundred individuals are sometimes crowded into the mouth and gills of the male fish.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons:—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 22.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

A hearty invitation is extended to all opposed to the ruinous policy of the present Government to attend the meeting on behalf of the Opposition candidate in the Metropolitan Hall this evening. A Central Committee and a Committee for each polling division of the city will be struck, and arrangements made for prosecuting a vigorous canvass. Every opponent of the Government who is disposed to enter actively into the canvass should make it his business to be present.

The Globe's Loyalty Cry.

There is a serious side to this new cry of the Globe, as well as a comical one. It is exceedingly rich to hear the organ of a party crying out against a readjustment of the tariff, with a view to protection, for fear of weakening the ties which bind us to England, and at the same time supporting and defending with all its power and intellect a Government that has now, and has had within it ever since its foundation men the sworn advisers of the Queen's representative in Canada, who boldly declare in favor of the "Independence of Canada," and the separation of Canada from Great Britain. The serious side of the question is that Canada should have such men as Lucius Seth Huntington, Rodolphe Laflamme, Wilfred Laurier, and Alfred Gilpin Jones, to govern and control her destines—men who have declared in favor of separation, and one of whom has even declared that when the flag of England was hauled down, he would throw up his hat and cheer. Let us see who this loyal crew are and have been, and ask the Globe to cease its charge of disloyalty against the Conservative party. Let us first reproduce the Globe utterances of the 27th Oct., 1874, when Goldwin Smith was advocating "Independence," and the reader will be able to judge of its honesty now, in supporting Huntingdon et. al. Here is its language:—

"The advocacy of Canadian Independence touches every individual in the Dominion in all his dearest and most important relations. It puts all his material, social and religious interests into possible jeopardy, and at the least, into a condition of manifest uncertainty. It cannot even be discussed without implying that there is no present national feeling, and not even present national prejudices. Its coming up as a question to be discussed, or even tolerated, implies the utmost indifference to the present order of things, if not the most absolute hostility to the continuance of it. . . . No Government worth the name, no people possessed of the very first breathing of national life, would ever tolerate, under the plea of free discussion, assaults upon the very existence of that form of government, or the advocacy of schemes which struck at all that had hitherto been held dear, and all that had made the nation what it was."

This is strong language, but it will find an echo in every loyal heart in Canada. But what will the people think when they they look at the men who compose Mackenzie's Cabinet and whose most subservient supporter is the Globe. Here they are, as portrayed by themselves:—

"Lucius Seth Huntington, Postmaster-General, the leader of the Independence movement, who, in the Parliamentary Companion (1875, p. 92,) boldly proclaims himself "A Liberal, and in favor of the Independence of Canada."

"Telesphore Fournier, late Minister of Justice, who avows himself (Par. Comp. 1875, p. 219,) "A Liberal, and in favor of the Political Independence of Canada."

"Coisinet Antoine Rodolphe Laflamme, Minister of Justice, who proclaims himself (Par. Comp. 1875, p. 242,) "a member of the Parti National," one of whose leading planks is Independence!

"Luc Letellier de St. Just, late Minister of Agriculture, at present Lieut.-Governor of the Province of Quebec, who proclaims himself (Par. Comp. 1875, p. 85,) "a Liberal and Nationaliste!"

"Alfred Gilpin Jones, Minister of Militia, who declared "he would take off his hat and cheer when the British flag was hauled down."

The Globe supports these, and yet cries out about loyalty!

BRITISH COLUMBIA.—A Victoria despatch states that in the Provincial Parliament the Attorney-General introduced a memorial to the Queen, setting forth the grievances of the Province against the Dominion, and praying that in case the terms of union are not carried out by the first of May next, British Columbia be allowed to withdraw from the Union. The memorial will be carried by a large majority.

How Protection Affects Business.

The following items, which we copy from the last issue of the Chicago Railway Age, show that Protection has not quite killed out all the industries of the United States, despite the assertions of the Canadian Free-traders to the contrary:

The Ohio Falls Car Company has increased its force to 600 men.

Nearly 4,000 freight cars are being built at the Altoona shops, for the Fort Wayne and Pan-handle Railroads.

The Ohio Falls Car Company has received a contract to build 1,000 cars for the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad.

The Chicago, Pekin and Southwestern Company has ordered six first class locomotives built at the Dickson manufactory, Scranton, Pa.

Work was resumed in all the departments of the Rensselaer Rail mill on Tuesday, giving employment to about 400 persons.

Five hundred new freight cars are being built by Wells, French & Co. for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway Comp'y: they are to be finished by October 1st.

The Hinkley Locomotive works, Boston, which have lately started up, have orders for one locomotive a week for the next three months, and have just added 100 hands to their working force.

The Rolling Mill of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, at Reading, Pa., is again running day and night, to procure in advance a stock of rails for the Reading Road and branches. Work on rails for the Brazilian Road has been suspended for the present, though more will be made hereafter.

News Condensed.

—The national debt of Great Britain, according to a return just published, amounts to £777,781,399. Within the last ten years £103,019,468 has been paid off, and £41,281,738 added to the debt.

RAILWAY MATTERS.—The railway managers in conference at Saratoga decided to abolish the sale of rickets on commission. The live stock difficulties and the question of east-bound rates were referred to a committee.

PARTY TROUBLES IN KINGSTON.—On Tuesday night a Young Briton's Lodge, which with a party of friends, had gathered on the wharf for an excursion, was stoned by some Roman Catholic young men. One of the bandsmen named Donnelly and a young man named Payne, were severely hurt. The stone throwers were pursued. One of them, named Robert Stacey, was brought up in the Police Court on Wednesday, and fined $20 and costs.

VANDERBILT AND THE GRAND TRUNK.—The Chicago Railway Age says:—"There is no reason to doubt the statements that Mr. Vanderbilt has offered the Grand Trunk Company accommodations in connection with the Michigan Central road as liberal as to remove any occasion for disagreement. Mr. Vanderbilt is demonstrating a foresight and breadth of view upon the great problems of competition and co-operation that are giving him a very high place in the admiration of thinking men."

DISGRACING THE BENCH.—At a Grit meeting held at Grafton on Friday evening last, Judge Dumble, the newly appointed Judge for Northumberland and Durham, delivered a very intemperate partizan address. This is bringing the bench down to a lower level than it ever before stood upon in Canada. Mr. Mowat having shown some slight regard for decency in resigning his judgeship before entering actively into the political arena. It is the duty of the Government to dismiss this partizan judge who has thus disgraced his high position and offended against the practice that Government officials shall not interfere actively in elections.

THE ORANGE PROSECUTIONS.—A telegram from Montreal on the 21st says:—"The Police Magistrate, after considering the matter since yesterday, refused at the sitting of the Court this afternoon to commit Colonel George Smith for contempt for refusing to answer the following question: Do you believe the Orange Order is illegal, and that its members are liable to prosecution? The case is going on." The examination of Col. Smith elicted simply nothing, he getting the best of the lawyers most completely. On his refusal to answer a question as to whether the words County Master do not indicate a certain rank or office in the Orange order, application was again made for a warrant for his commital for contempt of Court. The application was taken into consideration and the Court adjourned till this afternoon.

Political Notes.

Hon. Mr. Abbott has been nominated by the Conservatives of Argenteuil.

Samuel Platt, of Goderich, has been chosen as the Conservative candidate for Centre Huron.

Mr. W. H. Burk, the retiring member, has been nominated by the Grits in West Durham.

Hon. H. Aylmer, the Grit candidate in Richmond and Wolfe has retired, and Mr. J. P. Stockwell has assumed the party candidature.

John May, ex-Church of England clergyman, this morning publishes his address to the electors of the County of Carleton. He will run in the Conservative interest; with John Rochester, the sitting member, there are now three Opposition candidates for that county. As yet no Reform candidate has announced himself.

Mr. H. T. Taschereau having declined to be renominated in Montmagny, Mr. Carbonneau, merchant, of Berthier, has accepted the candidature.

Mr. Methot will, its said, again offer himself in Nicolet, being opposed by Dr. Turcotte, brother of the Local Speaker. Mr. M. J. Perrault, Advocate, of Murray Bay, will oppose Mr. P. A. Tremblay, in Charlevoix.

The close-up-the-manufactories party in Montreal have succeeded in nominating one candidate—Mr. Archambeault—who is to oppose Mr. Coursol (late judge) in the eastern division. In regard to getting candidates for the west and centre the Party is in a straight. The Evening Post says: "No Reformer has the ghost of a chance in the Centre."

The Montreal Star says:—"The Conservatives are working night and day. It will not be their fault if Montreal does not return three Opposition members. The betting is in favor of their doing so."

The Globe keeps up its reputation as an unscrupulous party organ, says the Toronto Telegram, by its deliberate mutilation and garbling of speeches delivered by opponents of Mr. Mackenzie's policy. The addresses of Hon. Wm. Macdougall and Mr. Armstrong, for instance, at the Amphitheatre the other night, were reproduced next morning in the Globe in such a manner that the chief points made against Mr. Brown and the Ministerial policy were turned into nonsense and ridicule. It shows the worst kind of journalistic depravity when what professed to be a verbatim report of speeches is so given as to convey an altogether absurd or contrary meaning to the uttered words. But they, what can one expect of the man who attacked a judge on the Bench for daring to point out the meaning of the Big Push letter!

Dreadful indeed was it, in the estimation of the Grit organs, for Senator Macpherson to accept an invitation to deliver a few speeches in the old Saugeen district; but it is all right for Senator Pelletier, a member of the Government too, to address public meetings in the interest of a Grit candidate in the City of Quebec!

St. Thomas Times:—"What many farmers are asking themselves just now is, whether good crops with a poor price are any better than poor crops and a good price. They have now a good crop, but cannot look for a very good price. They need never look with certainty for that until we have built up a good home market by the adoption of a National Policy."

Port Perry Observer:—"Anyone who by his vote or influence seeks to continue the sinister rule of the Mackenzie Government becomes a participant in their guilty and ruinous courses in the past, and shares with them the guilt of the disaster which their do-nothing policy has brought upon the country, and can only be regarded as an enemy to the best interests of the country."

Georgetown Herald:—"We believe that the necessities of the country absolutely require a change in policy, and we shall use all our influence to secure that change, not for the purpose of advancing the ends of either party, but solely because we believe that unless Canada can be placed on an equality with other nations in the matter of controlling her own markets, the future before her is black indeed."

Says the Coburg, Ont., Sentinel:—We make the unwelcome announcement this week that on Wednesday the Ontario Woollen Mills of this town were compelled, from want of orders, to shut down. The overstocked state of the market makes it impossible for Messrs. Routh and Rossmond to continue the mills in operation at this time. Mr. Routh informs us that in a few weeks he will run the factory two days in the week to fill the orders already received; that from the present appearance of things throughout the country the prospects are exceedingly disheartening. The American manufacturers have sent their surplus stock of woollen goods to this country to be sold at prices with which Canadian manufacturers cannot hope to compete, and in Mr. Routh's own words "there must either be a change of tariff, or the factory hands must leave this country."

Mr. Glass may be summarily disposed of. A clergyman who was pronouncing an eloquent discourse heard one of his hearers mutter at the end of a brilliant sentence, "that's South," and another "that's Stillingfleet," again, "that's Jeremy Taylor," yet again, "that's Barrow." "You are an impertinent puppy, sir," shouted the clergyman. "That's his own," said the imperturbable listener. Mr. Glass asserts that the 15 cents duty on barley is repaid by the consumer. That's Mills. He cites Governor Robinson and David A. Wells to prove that the United States is ruined by Protection. That's Cartwright. He quotes the sheep story. That's Dr. Brouse. He asserts that the boot and shoe manufacturers here received a premium of three millions last year. That's Mackenzie. And he says he took a bald stand in 1873 against the constituents who elected him, and who asked him to resign when they found that he had betrayed them. That's himself. We leave Glass to his own reflections. Really the silly nonsense is upon us when the Grit organ can give its readers nothing except such speeches as those we have noted, and the equally wild, unfounded and contradictory absurdities of its editorial comments upon the questions of the day.—Mail.

THE HALIFAX Chronicle says:—"If at any time protection might be desirable, this year or two, at least, it should be shunned with the greatest caution. The purchasing power of the country is far less than it has hitherto been. The business and laboring classes are not now as able as before to pay high prices for their goods: it will, in fact, take them some years to recoup themselves from the losses they sustained." Upon which the Montreal Star comments as follows:—"Now, this is to a great extent begging the question. Our purchasing power is undoubtedly less than it has hitherto been, and why? Because our money has been sent out of the country, and there remains less to expend, which year after year will be getting further diminished. To the other portion of the sentence a reply may be given by asking the question of what use is it to have a free breakfast-table cheap clothing, and all those attendant advantages, provided we have not the money to avail ourselves of them? We sometimes express our pride in the fact that Canada is a free country; but it would appear that the greatest freedom which is now being vouchsafed to us is liberty to starve. We are not able to expend as much money as we previously did, and for the best of all reasons, because we do not possess it. We are reminded of an old story in illustration of this. A newly-arrived immigrant in the United States, after he had exhausted his little substance, loudly complained of the high prices that were exacted, as compared with the low rates that had obtained in his native land. 'Why, then, said an interrogator, did you come out here?' Of what use, he replied, were cheap prices to me there, since I had no opportunity of earning any money at all?"

It is exceedingly amusing to hear the Grit organs of Ontario damning Messrs. Tilley, King and Palmer because they are "Tories." The fact is that they are all old school Liberals, who regard Sir John Macdonald as the true Liberal leader of the Dominion, and Mr. Brown and Mackenzie as shams. But what of the other side? We deal with Mr. Burpee elsewhere. Mr. Do Veber is as blue-bellied a Tory as there is in Canada, and comes of an old Tory stock. And as to Mr. Weldon, who is running on the same ticket as Mr. Burpee, let us hear himself:—"Mr. King had taken great offence because Mr. Burpee had called him a Tory. He (Mr. Weldon) was not ashamed of having been a Tory; the Loyalists from whom he descended were Tories. (Cheers.)" Will the Grit organs not be at least shamed into decency.

In reference to the Hon. S. C. Wood's letter to the Rev. Mr. Stafford the Nat onal says:—"The echo of those twelve thousand shillings says that Mr. Wood's letter was stolen, and it insinuates that it wasn't, written, and it says besides that its agents send weekly one hundred new subscribers at two dollars each. Now suppose that the amount received from old subscribers and from advertisements amount to another two hundred dollars weekly, we leave it to the proprietor of any weekly paper in Canada, if the proprietor of a weekly paper like the Tribune, whose receipts are $400 weekly, would not be guilty of obtaining money on false pretences when he asked for a party subscription, on the pretence that his paper was losing money."

"A correspondent of the New York Times thus characterizes the conduct of Mr. Gladstone and his adherents in regard of the recent policy of the Government:—"The conduct of her Majesty's Opposition is unworthy of the Liberal leaders, who have done nothing but carp at the policy of the Cabinet without offering at any one time of the crisis through which the country has passed an alternative course. The absence of unanimity in all they have done, just as there is a want of heart and earnestness. Their opposition to the Government as it appears in the debates has a controversial flavor throughout. The most responsible of their orators speak like mere debaters who have been told off to lead "the other side" in a "put up" controversy."

Mr. James Young, in Yorkville, challenged any one to controvert his statements (wild statements they were indeed,) and when Mr. William Macdougall accepted the challenge he would not be allowed to speak. Such is the Grit idea of free discussion! No wonder two thirds of the meeting left the hall with Mr. Macdougall, leaving just 84 persons, by actual count, to listen to the oft-told tale of that infant in the cradle, and mild-mannered child of genius, Mr. A. H. Dymond.

The Liberals of Quebec consider that Mr. Laurier lacks pluck in not attempting to rescue Drummond and Arthabaska. It is considered too bad that he should persist in sticking to Quebec East, which was merely loaned by Mr. Thibaudeau to him when he could not obtain election in his own constituency.

To prove his constituency and firm adhesion to the old Grit principle of complete separation between the Dominion and Provincial Governments, Mr. Pardee has called public meetings in Mr. Mackenzie's interest in the Township of Moore. Are the Starvationists becoming nervous about their banner township in the constituency of Lambton?

A Farmer's Reasons for Opposing the Present Government.

FARMERS OF ONTARIO.—Do not be misled and DECEIVED BY FREE TRADE THEORISTS. DO NOT ALLOW FOREIGN RIVALS TO GET ALL THE PROFITS FROM THE CANADIAN BUYERS. DO NOT ALLOW FOREIGN BANKS TO ABSORB ALL THE MONEY THAT SHOULD BE KEPT AT HOME TO FOSTER THE PROGRESS, AND MAINTAIN THE FUTURE PROSPERITY OF THE DOMINION. "TELL THEM TO MIND THEIR PLAY." LET US INSIST UPON HAVING IT AT THE HANDS OF OUR LEGISLATORS. VOTE AGAINST EVERY GOVERNMENT CANDIDATE, AND PROVE THAT MEN WHO ARE RECREANT TO THEIR TRUST WILL NOT BE ENDORSED BY INTELLIGENT ELECTORS.

1. The Government has increased the public debt $44,000,000 without any definite improvement to the public works.

2. They have increased the offices of the country, and increased the salaries of the officials to the extent of $160,000 per year.

3. They increased the number of Cabinet Ministers and increased their salaries, though when in Opposition, they claimed the number should be reduced to seven, with a proportionate saving in salaries.

4. They opposed coalitions when in such Opposition, and coalesced with such life-long Conservatives as Cartwright, Scott, Burpee, Smith and Cauchon.

5. They objected to any connection between the Federal and the Local Governments and afterwards went hand in glove with the Reform Government in the different Provinces, for the interest of party and against the interests of the country.

6. They objected when Sir John A. and John Sandfield addressed the electors together, and last summer Mackenzie and Mowat went hand in hand through the county and addressed the electors from the same platform.

7. They have allowed American wheat to come into Canada, free of duty, thereby lessening the price of every bushel sold by our farmers and inflicting a loss in many counties of thousands of dollars.

8. They allowed American corn to come into Canada free of duty and have reduced the price of our corn twenty cents per bushel.

9. They have increased the excise duty on spirits from 30 to 72 cents per bushel. The result is that it does not pay our farmers to raise barley, the returns from the whole of Canada showing that not one bushel more is now where ten was raised a few years ago.

10. This action of the Government reduces the quantity of beer made out of Canadian barley and increases the quantity of whiskey made out of American corn.

11. They allow American oats to come into Canada free of duty, thereby lessening the price of every bushel raised by our farmers.

12. They allow American garden stuffs to come into Canada, while our own market gardeners find it impossible to sell their produce at a living price and are prevented by the Americans from sending anything to the States.

13. They allow American machinery, marble ware, waggons, buggies, parlor furniture, pianos, sofas, tables, lounge-frames, chairs, &c., &c., to come into Canada on a low tariff, while our own mechanics are walking the streets without employment.

14. They have gone back on every profession made when in opposition and find themselves "a Reform party without anything to Reform."

15. They are responsible to a great extent for the hard times, and their policy, or rather want of policy, is tending to make the times tighter.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 22.

City and Vicinity.

MUSICAL.—The band of the 15th Battalion will play on Murney's Hill to-night.

PERSONAL.—Wm. Jones, Esq., formerly of the lumbering firm of Baker, Jones & Co., is revisiting his old home here and has received a hearty welcome from his many friends.

CHANGED TO ODESSA.—The annual rifle matches of the Lennox and Addington Rifle Association have been changed from Bath to Odessa, on the 4th, 5th and 6th September.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Palmer, Principal, and Mr. A. Christie Bussar, of the Otario Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, represented Canada in the Convention of Instructors of the Deaf and Dumb at Cincinnati.

TRIP ON THE BAY.—The three hours' trip on the bay yesterday afternoon on the steamer City of Belleville was very enjoyable, the weather being highly favorable. A considerable number of intending excursionists were left behind, owing to a change in the hour of departure.

NOTES RECOVERED.—The notes stolen from Mr. Lapum's safe at Centreville last month have been recovered. They were found in an old leather pocket book, in a field near Centreville and are decipherable. They were evidently dropped by the burglars, as the book was saturated with water, and was mouldy.

MASONIC GRAND LODGE.—The Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada will hold its annual communication in Shaftesbury Hall, Toronto, on Wednesday, the 11th September next. Arrangement have been made with the different lines of railway to carry delegates at one and one third-fare, tickets good from the 7th September until the 14th of October following.

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.—We understand that a proposition for the completion of this line to Campbellford this season was submitted last night to the Finance Committee and that the Committee resolved to recommend its acceptance. The Board of Directors will meet to-morrow afternoon to consider the proposition, which is generally regarded as being likely of acceptance.

FIRE IN TRENTON.—A fire occurred in Trenton at three o'clock this morning in a double brick cottage belonging to Dr. Dean. The fire originated in a part of the building that was unoccupied, pointing straight to incendiarism as the cause of the fire. The building was consumed. Insured for $900. The occupants of part of the building, and neighboring houses lost considerable by the removal of their furniture.

NEW YACHT.—The Whig says:—"Dr Curtis now owns one of the finest yachts in the Dominion, taking the character of the material of which it is composed, and the workmanship as well as appearance into consideration. The yacht registers 24 tons. She measures 40 feet over all, in length, is five feet depth of hold, and has a breadth of beam of some 11 feet 6 inches. Her cabin—an elegant affair, by the way—is 20 feet long and can accommodate 40 persons, and in full sail she spreads 400 yards of canvas. The boat was built by Capt. Pierce, who superintended the structure of the fast running and handsome steamer Geneva, and also the yacht Pierce. Her fasterings are all of galvanized iron, and her outfit has been made with uniform taste."

PEDDLERS.—An exchange says, and very truly: "There is a class of itinerant merchants who ought to be looked after and guarded against. They sell all sorts of things, some worthless, some valuable; but never fail to charge a large price than the same article can be bought for at any legitimate shop. The first thing one of these peddlers does on entering a town is to secure a list of the best known people. He then presents himself at a house, exhibits his wares, and says that the article has been bought by Mrs. so and so, Mrs. Blank, Mrs. Whatshername, Mrs. Whatdoyoucallher, and so on through the list. He also says that these ladies recommended him to call on the lady he is addressing, whose name, whether she buys or not, he adds to his list before calling at the next house. It is a pure swindle, and ladies should be very careful in dealing with unknown peddlers. They will inveriably find, if they purchase, that they have paid too much for the article bought."

ST. NICHOLAS FOR SEPTEMBER.—The current number of ST. NICHOLAS is pervaded with the spirit of the season, and the delight and doings of September days are well represented in its pages. Near the beginning is an interesting short article on "Mackerel-fishing," with a fine picture showing a fleet of mackerel-boats; "My St George" is a strong exciting story of the sea, admirably illustrated by Alfred Kappes; and we catch a pleasant glimpse of the beach in Walter Satterlee's picture "By the Sad Sea Waves." There is, also, a good story by Emily H. Leland, entitled, "How Lily-toes was Caught in a Shower," with a capital picture by Jessie Curtis; and a series of very funny cuts, called "How He Caught Him," representing a queer fisherman's difficulties with his catch. Other good outdoor pictures are scattered through the number, and the installment of Miss Alcott's serial, "Under the Lilacs," contains a large and beautiful brook-scene by Thomas Moran.

We are authorized to state that so far as the leading officers and members of the Orange, Orange Young Britons, Prentice Boys and True Blue organizations are concerned, they indignantly deny the statements made by a contemporary that they propose to burn Mayor Beaudry in effigy on Monday evening next, and a document to this effect will be published to-morrow.

THE SEPTEMBER SCRIBNER.—SCRIBNER for September opens with an engraving by Cole of Mr. W. M. Chase's painting, "Ready for the Ride," recently exhibited in New York, and now owned by the Union League Club of that city. A rondel, suggested by the painting, is contributed by Mr. H. C. Bunner, editor of "Puck." The leading illustrated paper is entitled "Hunting the Mule-Deer in Colorado," and Mr. J. Harrison Mills appears in the treble capacity of writer, wood-draughtsman and engraver. There are also drawings by George Inness, Jr., W. M. Cary, and Frederick Dielman. Dr. William J. Morton follows up his paper in the August number, entitled "To South Africa for Diamonds!" with a second and concluding installment of personal experience at "the diggin's," chiefly about the Cape diamond, diamond buying and stealing, incidents and life in Kimberley, the morning market, etc. Among the illustrations are views of the Dudley and Stewart diamonds in their settings. In "Topics of the Time," Dr Holland discusses "The Terrible Congress," "Goodness as Literary Material," and "The Ornamental Branches." "The Old Cabinet" is about "A Sneeze at Wallack's," "Hard Facts," "Minor and Major Poetry," etc., with a sonnet entitled "Congress: 1878."

The Athletic Heavy Weight Championship.

When Hugh McKinnon, of Hamilton, (who had won the heavy-weight championship at the Centennial competition at Philadelphia in 1876, and at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, against the most noted athletes in America) was appointed Chief of Police of this City in February of last year, he relinquished his career as an athlete, and determined to retire permanently from the ring. Events have, however, caused Mr. McKinnon to alter his determination. A man named Duncan C. Ross, of Toronto, a second-class athlete, who had been repeatedly beaten by McKinnon, as well as others, made bold to assume without any right, the title of "champion of the Provinces," and matched himself against one Thomas Lynch, of New York, a self-dubbed "champion of the United States," by whom he was lately defeated. Lynch thereupon assumed the title of "champion of America," in which character he has been advertising himself extensively. Indignant at the braggadocio of these men, and at their dragging the honorable title of "champion," (which belongs to him alone) through the mud, Mr. McKinnon has obtained the consent of the Police Commissioners to his entering into a competition with Ross or Lynch, or both. He has accordingly issued the following manly and straightforward challenge, failing to accept which the self-styled "champions" must subside to their original dimensions as inferior athletes. The challenge, which has been forwarded to the New York Clipper, a leading sporting journal, is as follows:—

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 22, 1878.

FRANK QUEEN, Esq., Clipper Office, New York.

DEAR SIR,—"The heavy Weight Athletic Championship of America," such was the title of a competition which took place in Jones' Wood Colosseum, New York, on the 15th inst., between Thomas Lynch, the so called "Irish Champion," and Duncan C. Ross, the self-styled "Scotch Heavy Weight Champion Athlete of Canada." In this competition it appears that Lynch succeeded in vanquishing his opponent, and now claims to be the "Champion Heavy Weight Athlete of the United States and British Provinces"—(New York Star, August 16th, 1878.)

As I feel in this matter that Athletic Championship of the "British Provinces," Canada, was not in the care and keeping of Mr. D. C. Ross, and consequently he was not in a position to make either a gift or a public presentation, "amidst great and wild enthusiasm," of said championship to Mr. Thomas Lynch or any other person, I now issue the following challenge to Thomas Lynch or Duncan C. Ross: To compete with me in Putting the Heavy Stone (21 lbs); Putting the Light Stone (14 lbs); Throwing the 56lb. Weight; Throwing Heavy Hammer (16 lbs); Throwing Light Hammer (12 lbs); Tossing the Caber; Standing Jump; Running High Leap; Running 100 yards race; for any sum from five hundred dollars ($500) to one thousand dollars ($1,000) a side, the winner of five (5) competitions or games to be the winner of the match and money. The rules of the North American United Caledonian Association to govern the competition. Challenge to be accepted within 16 days. Match to take place four weeks after signing articles of agreement.

Accompany this challenge you will find two hundred dollars ($200), which I send you as a deposit. The acceptor of this challenge to put up a like forfeit deposit in your hands. Now, gentlemen, let me hear from you in a practical way.

HUGH MCKINNON,
Chief of Police,
City of Belleville,
Province of Ontario,
Dominion of Canada.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

YANKTON, D. T., Aug. 22.—News from the Spotted Tail agency says that on Tuesday morning the moving Indians, then 125 miles out, had serious trouble, in which shots were exchanged. Two Indians were killed. About 800 young Indians have left the main body, and are travelling north. The cause of the trouble is not given, but it may have grown out of differences of opinion existing amongst the Indians in regard to the move.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—The Directors of the Masonic Savings Bank anncunce that in consequence of improvident loans heretofore made on navy-pay certificates, the bank will retire from business.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—At the coroner's inquest on the murdered policeman, Smith, at Jersey City yesterday, Prof. Doreman testified that no blood was found on the clothing of Cove Bennett. It is probable he will be released from custody.

Eight Turkish officers who have been here for some time purchasing and inspecting arms and ammunition, left yesterday for home.

Arrived, the Acapulco, from Aspinwall.

Kearney is reported as saying in a speech at Bloomington, Ill., yesterday, that the red flag of the Commune is the emblem of order and peace.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Special despatches from Southern cities report the physicians there as saying the percentage of deaths is 36 out of every hundred attacked by yellow fever

About $7,000 has reached here for the South during the past two days.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Eleven deaths have occurred in Bristol during the past week of typhoid fever. Altogether 114 cases have been reported since the outbreak of fever. The disease was caused by the bad quality of the milk lately supplied to the inhabitants.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 22.—The Le Nord states that the Russian expedition to Central Asia has been definitely and completely countermanded.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 22.—Reports have been received from country districts that the crops have been very seriously damaged by recent rains.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Times prints two columns of a description of the mechanical display of the United States at the Paris Exhibition. In an editorial article commenting thereon, the Times says the pre-eminence of the mechanical genius of the citizens of the United States may be admitted, and is illustrated, not for the first time, in the exhibition at Paris. The Times, without trying to exhaust the whole secret of the phenomenon of inventive genius across the Atlantic, finds reasons therefor in the greater efficiency of labor there, and increased cost and difficulty of living. The conditions of the Union as an economic society drive its inhabitants towards invention, and there, as elsewhere, necessity may be said to be the mother of it.

VIENNA, Aug. 22.—News of the brilliant success at Serajevo has excited enthusiasm here.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Manchester Guardian says the market does not improve. Orders are small. A large business in staple goods can only be had at prices considerably below those now current.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 22.—Arrived, the Caledonia from New York.

MADRID, Aug. 22.—The Epoca says the Minister of Finance has declined a loan offered by several foreign capitalists. The Treasury has resources sufficient to meet its engagements.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The first race, one mile, was won by La Belle Helene, time 1.45¾. The second race, purse of $500, free-handicap, one mile and five-eighths, Clemmie G. won, time 2.54½.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 22.—Samuel Armstrong, a wealthy young farmer, living near London, Ohio, was murdered asleep last night. His wife was awakened by the report of a pistol, but could discover no trace of the murderer.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 22.—The powder mills near Negaunee, Mich., exploded yesterday, killing four employees.

HAVRE, Aug 22.—Queen Christina died last night at Sainte Adresse, near this city.

FORT MONROE, Va., Aug 22.—The frigate Wyoming passed up for Norfolk this morning in tow of the tug Fortune.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Indications:—Partly cloudy weather.

Cheese Market.

The tone of the cheese market at the moment is certainly more hopeful than it was about two weeks ago, shippers being more inclined to operate. The markets at Utica and Little Falls on Monday last were more satisfactory, offerings being pretty well cleaned up at prices ranging between 7¼c and 8½c, which left only a few July cheese in those districts unsold. Although the shipments of cheese from New York last year were considered so enormous as to be almost incredible, yet this season they have been 28 per cent heavier. Last year up to July 25th the shipments from New York aggregated 38,000,000 pounds, whilst for the same period this year 49,000,000 lbs were shipped, showing an increase for the present season so far of 11,000,000 pounds, or nearly 200,000 boxes of cheese. A great many Canadian cheese were included in the above figures, at least two-thirds of the cheese from the Ingersoll and Stratford districts having been exported to England via New York this year. This week a Montreal exporting house having 5,200 boxes of cheese to ship to Liverpool from points West of Toronto, sent forward 5,000 boxes via New York. We find there is a shipping demand for really choice lots of late made cheese at 8c to 8½c, but we understand that 9c would have to be paid for August make. The excitement among factorymen out West does not subside, and a great many are undecided whether to accept 10c for their August, September and October cheese, or to take the chances further on in the season. The Liverpool public cable is reported firm at 44s for choice American, but we learn from private sources that 45s is the figure that is being paid for fine Canadian stock. Whether the recent improvement will prove permanent or not is a question upon which there are various opinions, some being sanguine that it will, whilst others are confident of a reaction. Sales of late have been made on spot upon a basis of 8c to 8½c for strictly choice descriptions, and 6c to 7½c for less desirable offerings.—Montreal Star.

Marine Disasters.

A telegram from Quebec on the 21st says:—"A telegram was received yesterday afternoon by Sir Archibald Nicol, from Captain Gillon, informing him that the S. S. Vindolana, from Liverpool, Aug. 1st, via Barrow the 6th, was ashore four miles east of Fox Bay, Anticosti, and requesting him to send assistance. The steamer Progress left during the night with steam-pumps, divers &c., in charge of Mr. George T. Davis. Messrs. D. & J. Maguire are in receipt of a telegram from Captain Heggie, informing them that the three masted schooner City of Minitowoc, from Pentwater, Michigan, via Quebec the 9th inst., for Liverpool, has been water-logged at Ellis, Bay, Anticosti, and requiring the assistance of a steamer and steam-pump to get off. Her cargo consists of about 75 standards of oak plank and 70 standards Michigan pine deals."

HORSES.—The following shipments of horses purchased in Montreal were made from that city to the United States during the past week:—Twenty horses costing an average of $70.35, one horse costing $105, and two horses costing $170, eight horses averaging $82, four horses averaging $66.25, nine horses averaging $72.66, twenty-two horses averaging $80.86, twenty-three horses averaging $84.90, fifteen horses averaging $84.90, and twelve horses averaging $76.08 each.

CIRCULATION OF MINERAL SOLUTIONS IN PLANTS.

Plants frequently take up from the soil and circulate in their sap a great deal that is not assimilated by them. This is the case with the rank odors of night soil, hog manure, etc., which often taint root crops, tobacco and other plants so as to render them unfit for use. A more notable example is found in sodic compounds. It is found that sugar beets grown on the alkaline land of California grow large but contain an excessive quantity of soda in the juice and are unfit for sugar making. A few crops are said to remove the alkali from the soil and make it fit for ordinary tillage. The quality of mangel-wurzel is also changed when grown on land manured with salt, but the crop is much increased. English experimenters have found that cabbage on salted land will take up in their circulation so much saline matter that the salt will effloresce in white crystals on the leaves. From two to five hundred pounds of salt is as much as any land will bear per acre and this should not all be applied at once.

SOLUTION OF PLANT-FOOD IN THE SOIL.

The necessity of having fertilizing material in a solutely form is evident when we consider the extreme minuteness of the little passages by which they made their way through spongiole and rootlet into the plant. It was calculated by Lawes, the English chemist, that two thousand grains of water pass through a plant, in at the roots and out at through the green parts, for every grain of solid or mineral matter deposited. A German scientist, Knap, states that one half this degree of solution, one part of mineral matter in a thousand, is quite as much as a plant can bear without injury, even of those substances which in a more diluted state nourish the plant. Practically, the requisite solution of fertilizers is best secured by their thorough and uniform distribution in a deep and finely pulverized soil.

ASHES AND HEN MANURE

A correspondent asks if he shall mix ashes with hen manure, for manuring corn in the hill. No. If covered with moist earth, the escaping ammonia might perhaps be caught and utilized; but it will be bettor to mix the hen droppings with plaster for use in the hill, and to apply the ashes on the surface when the corn is eight or ten inches high. The nitorgenized manure will be sufficient to start the plants, and the potash and silica will help it most when the stalk is growing.

SALT AND SOILS.

Salt can be used to advantage on light, sandy soils, but not on stiff clays. It is supposed to act mainly as a chemical agent in dissolving silica, which gives strength to the straw, by forming the hard, shining external coat. This has been shown by experiments, in which the ash of wheat straw gave five per cent more silica, when grown on land manured with salt than that from straw grown on precisely the same soil without salt. Four hundred weight per acre was applied in installments, at different seasons of the year. The relative yield was as seven of good to five of inferior grain in favor of the field manured with salt. Voelcker's experiments on a calcareous clay loam—a clay containing some carbonate of lime—showed that salt on such soil produced scarcely any gain in the yield of grain, while it slightly diminished the weight of the straw. Mixed with nitrate of soda, a substance containing much nitrogen, it produced better results than the nitrate alone. It may therefore be laid down as a general rule that, except on true sand, salt should be mixed with the nitrate which is imported from South America, under the name of cubic nitre and Chili saltpeter.

A Frightful Scourge.

The Province of Bahia, Brazil, is afflicted with a scourge of vampires. Whole herds of cattle are sometimes destroyed by this venemous bat. It was long a matter of conjecture how the animal accomplished the insidious and deadly work; but scientific men have now decided that the tongue, which is capable of considerable extension, is furnished at its extremity with a number of papillæ, which are so arranged as to form an organ of suction, the lips having also tubercles symmetrically arranged. Fastening themselves upon cattle these dreadful animals can draw the life blood of their victims. The wound made, probably by the small, needlelike teeth, is a fine round hole, the bleeding from which it is very difficult to stop. It is said that the wings of this deadly bat fly around, during the operation of wounding and drawing the blood, with great velocity, thus fanning the victim and lulling while the terrible work is in progress. Some of these creatures measure two feet between the tips of their wings, and they are often found in great numbers in deserted dwellings in the outskirts of Bahia City. The negroes and Indians especially dread them, and there are numerous superstitions among the natives in regard to them.

Extracts from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs,, and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lot number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot number Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage.

The aforesaid premises which are well watered and on which are erected a large brick dwelling house, a small frame dwelling house, and a large frame barn, are situated about 1½ miles from Stirling, and 13½ miles from Belleville.

An abstract of title of the said lands will be produced at the sale, and the vendor will convey his interest only in the said lands to the purchaser.

The purchaser shall at the time of sale pay one-tenth of the purchase money and the balance within ten days thereafter. For further particulars apply at the law offices of Messrs. FLINT & JELLETT, and

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closse-ly those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIEGNCER Office, Belleville.

Dr, Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

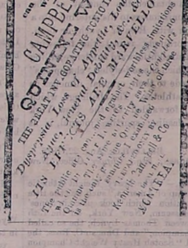

Before Taking After Taking

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $1, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

WILLIAM GRAY & Co

THE FOUR QUARTERLY REVIEWS AND BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

The Leonard Scott Publishing Co
41 BARCLAY ST., NEW YORK,

CONTINUE their authorized Reprints of

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig),
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW (Conservative),
THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW (Evangelical),
AND
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH REVIEW.

These Reprints are not selections; they give the originals in full, and at about one-third the price of the English Editions.

The latest advances and discoveries in the arts and sciences, the recent additions to knowledge in every department of literature, and all the new publications as they issue from the press, are fully reported and discussed in the pages of these periodicals, in language at once clear, forcible and comprehensive. The articles are commonly more condensed and full of matter than the average books of the period.

Terms for 1878 (including postage

PAYABLE STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

For any one Review	$4,00	per an'm
For any two Reviews	7,00	"

For Blackwood and one Review	7,00	"
For Blackwood and two Reviews	10,00	"
For Blackwood and three "	13,00	"
For " and the four "	15,00	"

CLUBS.

A discount of twenty per cent. will be allowed to clubs of four or more persons. Thus: four copies of Blackwood or of one Review will be sent to one address for $12.80, four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $48, and so on.

To clubs of ten or more, in addition to the above discount, a copy gratis will be allowed the getter-up of the club.

PREMIUMS.

New subscribers (applying early) for the year 1878 may have, without charge, the numbers for the last quarter of 1877 of such periodicals as they may subscribe for.

Or instead, new subscribers to any two, three or four of the above periodicals, may have one of the "Four Reviews" for 1877; subscribers to all five may have two of the "Four Reviews," or one set of Blackwood's Magazine for 1877.

Neither premiums to subscribers nor discount to clubs can be allowed, unless the money is remitted direct to the publishers. No premiums given to Clubs.

To secure premiums it will be necessary to make early application, as the stock available for that purpose is limited.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.
EMPRESS RELIEF.
THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.
AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.
BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

Daily Intelligencer.

A Disgusted Reformer.

Mr. Christopher Macon, of the Township of Chatham, thus shows cause for abandoning the party with which he has hitherto worked, and supporting Mr. Rufus Stephenson:—

"GENTLEMEN,—As I am supporting Mr. Rufus Stephenson in the present contest against Mr. MacMahon, of London, and as I have worked and voted heretofore for the Reform party and against Mr. Stephenson, I deem it my duty, as your old representative in the Township and County Councils, to state briefly my reasons for so doing.

"I find the leaders of the Reform party in power quite a different set of men to what they were in Opposition; I find that they have abandoned all the great principles so loudly boasted of since obtaining office; I find that they have increased the public debt unnecessarily, and that they are far more extravagant than the old Government; I find that they are enriching many of their supporters at the expense of the country; I find that, instead of curtailing the expenses and expenditure of the Dominion during the present depression and hard times (when many good and true men are striving hard to make a scanty living for themselves and their families), they have increased the expenditure, increased the offices for their needy friends, and increased the salaries; I find that the policy of the Government in allowing wheat, oats, corn and garden produce to come into Canada from the States, free of duty, is an injury to every farmer in the land—the Americans have a free market with us, while we are kept out of their markets by heavy duties. Does any one suppose for a moment that the cute Yankee does not know what he is about when protecting and enriching his farmers as he is? * * * I am a Reformer, but cannot support the kind of reform we have been having for the past five years. Reformers, don't be afraid of being called 'turn-coats,' but step boldly out and support the measures best calculated to ensure the prosperity of the country. In my judgment the policy of the Conservatives is the one for Canada at the present time. I intend doing so myself and would advise all my friends to vote for Rufus Stephenson."

There are thousands like Mr. Macon throughout the country, and to their patriotism in this crisis the country owes a debt of gratitude. And yet the Globe says not a vote has been changed, which is about as true as its statements usually are. So far as Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and other neighboring constituencies are concerned, the Government will find to their sorrow that very many votes have been lost to them and transferred to their opponents.

"Spikes" and the Government.

CARRYING THE WAR INTO AFRICA.

(From a Speech by G. M. Domville in King's County, N. B.)

Mr. William Pugsley a few days ago told you in his speech here that with reference to steel rails improperly purchased by Mr. Mackenzie it came with a bad grace from the leader of the Opposition, inasmuch as the representative of King's (Mr. Domville) had contracted with the Macdonald Government "for delivering spikes on the Intercolonial Railway at $96 per ton, which a few months afterwards were obtained by Mackenzie for $64 per ton; and that the same gentleman supplied nails to the railway authorities at $6.50 per keg, whih Mr. Mackenzie, immediately after his entrance into office, purchased at $3.10 per keg." Mr. Pugsley most condescendingly stated that he "did not refer to this for the purpose of making a charge against Mr. Domville, because in the good old days of Tory Government it was not thought illegal or contrary to the public interests for members of Parliament to have fat contracts with the Government." He promulgated this falsehood, although he was aware, or should have been, if he had read what was going on (it can be found in Hansard) that I challenged Mr. Mackenzie from my seat to substantiate the slander he uttered in his pic-nic speeches; that he was unable to do so; and from the public papers brought down to the House in response to a motion, it was shown that in June, 1872, a public advertisement was placed in the papers, and that after a severe competition the contract was awarded to my firm at $94 by public tender, and not by private bargain, as these slanderers state. At that time I was not a member of Parliament, or a candidate for it. In fact nothing was further from my mind at the moment. In January, 1873, tenders were again asked, and I declined to put one in, as I knew the law on the subject. The highest then was $175 per ton, the lowest $94. This was six months afterwards, although it is stated that almost immediately after (June 1872) Mackenzie purchased spikes at $54. Hon. Isaac Burpee's firm on this occasion put in three bids of $115, $114, and $113. Why? In March, 1874 tenders were again invited for a further lot of spikes, and were awarded to Quebec at $79,95, thus proving Mackenzie's and Mr. Pugsley's statements were unfounded, viz., a few months after June, 1872, they were buying spikes at $54 per ton. But what next do we find? In 1874, the firm of I. & F. Burpee & Co., (of which the Minister of Customs was then a member, for I can prove it by affidavits in my possession,) were supplying the Government by private arrangement—not public tender—with spikes at $100, $123 and $168 per ton; cut nails $5 and $6 per keg; cut spikes $6 per keg. Why did not Mr. Burpee deny this in Parliament? Either the charge against him was false or that Mr. Mackenzie had done me an injustice. He endorsed this bill by his evidence, and at the same time admitted his own shortcomings. Mr. Burpee had the fat bargain, and not I, and what was the worst part of it the spikes came from the United States, and they charged five per cent. commission for importing them, under the plea there were none here, whilst they could have been supplied by the Cold Brook Rolling Mills at nearly half the money; but no, they were imported. A loss was sustained by the country in consequence and our industries not even patronized. If it was corrupt for me to tender when I was not a member, it must have been more corrupt for Mr. Burpee to get those exorbitant prices when he was a Minister of the Crown.

Shattered Hopes.

The advent of Mackenzie to power in 1873 was hailed with acclamation by Reformers throughout the Dominion, because they believed he was going to introduce an era of purity, good government and economy such as had never been known before—many even of those who had formerly been opposed to him, putting faith in his professions and resolving to give him a fair trial. In his address to the electors of Lambton he proclaimed:

"We will strive to elevate the standard of public morality, which our opponents have done so much to debase; and to conduct public affairs upon principles which honest men can approve, and by practices which will bear the light of day."

How has he fulfilled that promise? Let every elector read the record of facts, and judge for himself!

The Globe of July 3, 1867, said:—

"The Cabinet is thus reported to consist of thirteen members, and in order to find duties for them, or pretence of duties, the actual business of the country is cut up into infinitesimal portions with a most ludicrous result. It would have been less absurd to have appointed two men to the same office, one to watch the other, as they do in Japan. * * * When the whole business of the United States is transacted by seven Cabinet officers, it is surely absurd to appoint thirteen for the Dominion of Canada."

Mackenzie loudly re-echoed these sentiments in the House, but when he got into power, appointed thirteen Cabinet officers, and an additional Minister without portfolio! And last session he tried to imitate Japan by a Bill (Mar. 18, '78) to appoint two Ministers to preside over the same department!

No Coalition!

Every elector in the Dominion will remember how bitterly Mackenzie and his party opposed Coalitions. "Down with Coalitions!" was the watch-word at every election, was proclaimed from every hustings and re-echoed through the press, till Reformers were led to believe that to form a Coalition was one of the greatest outrages that could be perpetrated upon the people. Here is what the Reform Convention which met in Toronto on 27th June, 1867, said:—

"Coalitions of opposing political parties for ordinary administrative purposes inevitably result in the abandonment of principle by one or both parties to the compact, the lowering of public morality, lavish public expenditure, and wide spread corruption, * * * and that no government will be satisfactory to the people of Upper Canada which is formed and maintained by a Coalition of public men holding opposite political principles." (Globe, June 28, 1867.)

When Mackenzie got into power he formed a Coalition with R. J. Cartwright, who was condemned by the Globe as a "mixer and muddler," who had been denounced by the same paper during the last general election for having "voted to reward foul murder in the Northwest," for voting for the long route for the Intercolonial, frustrating economy by voting down Holton's motion to re-organize the civil service, voting "to deliver the Treasury into the hands of the most unscrupulous of men" by opposing Mackenzie's fortification motion, voting down Blake's motion for independence of Parliament, voting for violating the constitution in respect of Nova Scotia subsidy, with a long list of other votes; and who still describes himself a Conservative! (Par. Companion, p. 129.) He also took into his Cabinet R. W. Scott, who was one of the most pronounced Tories in the old Parliament of Canada, who in the Ontario Legislature voted steadily against Blake and McKellar till they formed a Coalition with him, and who yet described himself as a Conservative! (Par. Comp. p. 108.) In addition to these he took in Burpee, Coffin, Ross and Smith, two of whom voted with Sir John Macdonald and against Mackenzie on every vote in connection with Huntington's Pacific Railway charges, and the other two on every vote when they were present! (Journals 1873, pp. 115, 280, 290, 368, 369.) Not content with these, on 7th December, 1875, apparently lost to all sense of shame, he took the notorious Cauchon into his Ministry!

Reformers, who have followed Mackenzie in denouncing Coalitions, what think you of his shameful abandonment of the cardinal principle of the party?

Facts About our Finances.

Mackenzie, when in opposition was strong on economy, and never tired of declaring how the country was being ruined by the wasteful extravagance of Sir John A. Macdonald. Since he got into power, how has he shown his economy? Look at the figures:—

The total expenditure out of Consolidated Fund for the year ending 30th June, 1873, the last of Sir John Macdonald's administration, was $19,174,647; the first year Mackenzie had complete control, ending June, 1875, he ran up the expenditure to $23,713,071, and the next year (1875-76) again increased it to $24,488,372, and for 1876-7 expended $23,519,301! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xix.)

In every year under Sir John A. Macdonald the Finance Minister could congratulate the country on a large surplus. Look at the list:—for the year ending 30th June, 1868, surplus $201,836; for 1868-69, surplus $341,000; for 1869-70, surplus $1,166,716; for 1870-1, surplus $3,712,479; for 1871-2, surplus $3,125,345; for 1872-3, surplus $1,638,822! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xix.) But although Mackenzie's first act was to put three millions of additional taxation on the people, (Budget Speech 1874,) he had only been two years in power when the "mixing and muddling" of Cartwright changed surplusses into deficits—for 1875-6, we had a deficit of $1,900,785; and for 1876-7 a deficit of $1,460,027! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xix.) and this year another large deficit is anticipated!

Total surpluses under Sir John Macdonald, $10,186,288! Two year's deficits under Mackenzie, $3,360,812!

In addition to his continual surpluses, Sir John Macdonald spent more on capital account each year than he increased the public debt. Look at the figures:—1867-8, excess of capital expenditure over increase of debt, $545,714; 1868-9, $411,838; 1869-70, $1,320,681; 1870-1, $4,173,621; 1871-2, $3,417,995; 1872-3, $2,202,929; or a total of $12,07?,778 for permanent works paid out of ordinary revenue! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xvi.) But when Mackenzie got into power he increased the public debt each year more than he expended on capital account! Here are the figures:—1874-5, $760,228; 1875-6, $1,389,017; 1876 7, $1,057,448 or in three years, debt increased $3,206,693 more than expended on capital account! (Pub. Acc. 1877, p. xvii.)

Electors of Canada, look at the contrast, and say which style of managing your finances you prefer!

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 23.

WEST HASTINGS.

THE INAUGURAL MEETING.

If anything were wanting to show the spirit and unanimity which animates the opposition to the present incapable ministry in the city of Belleville and in West Hastings it was furnished to a demonstration at the inaugural meeting of the friends of Mr. Wallbridge last night. Not only was the attendance of well-known Conservative workers—the men who win elections—very large, but we were also pleased to see present a considerable number of Independent Reformers, representatives of that large class of honest men who have become disgusted with the corruption and incapacity of their party leaders, and are determined to aid in securing the return to power of more capable men. A number of this class of electors also took part in the formation of the committees. A more largely attended, a more influential, or a more heartily enthusiastic meeting of the kind we do not remember to have seen in Belleville.

The speech delivered by the candidate was worthy of his reputation. It was a calm, courteous discussion of the issues of the day, a fair critisism of the acts of the Government, and a clear, decisive exposition of the course which Mr. Wallbridge intends to pursue, if elected, as there seems no reason whatever to doubt that he will be. A tolerably full report of this address appears in other columns, from which the electors can judge of its tone and character.

The Committees which were formed are composed of men who are well known as active and successful canvassers; but at the same time they ask such friends of the cause as are disposed to actively interest themselves in the election to come forward without further invitation and enroll their names on the committees, which will henceforward meet almost nightly in the rooms of the Liberal-Conservative Association, or in such other places as their respective Chairmen shall designate.

The campaign has thus been fairly opened in Belleville, and it depends solely upon the energy and industry of the canvassers on behalf of the Opposition candidate to determine the extent of his majority in the City.

From Sidney and Trenton the most satisfactory accounts are heard; but although the supporters of the Opposition are well organized in those localities, central organizations are still necessary, and these we hope will be formed at once.

If our friends do not fall short of their usual activity, a sweeping victory is assured for them in West, as in East and North Hastings.

BALANCE OF TRADE.

The Free Traders persistently assert that Canada is in a prosperous condition, which is the result of low impost duties or those only levied incidentally for the sole purpose of revenue, and not for the purpose of fostering or protecting our struggling industries.

Now, it is a well known rule in business matters that if a man buys more than he can pay for each year by what he produces and sells, such a person is running into debt. Thus, if a laborer or other person can only earn $100 a year, and spends $99, he is happy; his neighbor earns $200 a year and spends $210, he is miserable.

Let us apply this same rule to communities or nations, where it must hold equally good. If, therefore, we find that a country is continuously importing more than she exports, that country must be running in debt in the annual amount indicated by the difference between the two items.

Upon the examination of the official records for the last five years, the following is the result. Out of fairness to the present Government we have divided these five years into two periods, the first period consisting of the years 1873, '4 and '5; the second period includes 1876 and '7. This Government came into power in 1873, and might contend that they had no time during that year to mature their fiscal policy. The year 1875 might with a great stretch of charity be considered a year of partial experiment, but the years following must be taken as the matured and deliberate policy of the Government. Let us therefore see how the policy has worked in both periods. Take the first period:

CANADIAN EXPORTS.

1873.....	$89,789,922	Yearly average
1874.....	89,331,228	$85,676,276
1875.....	77,866,979
Total Exports.....		$257,028,829

IMPORTS.

1873.....	$128,011,281	Yearly average
1874.....	128,213,582	$126,431,715
1875.....	123,070,283
Total Imports.....		$379,295,150

Showing that during these three years we had fallen in debt to the incredible amount of $122,266,321, or a yearly average of $40,755,442! Does this show prosperity!

EXPORTS FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS.

1876.....	$89,996,435	Yearly average
1877.....	75,875,395	$78,420,914
Total Exports.....		$156,841,828

IMPORTS.

1876.....	$94,732,218	Yearly average
1877.....	96,300,483	$95,516,850
Total Imports.....		$191,033,701

or a balance against Canada of $34,191,873.

These two years compared with the former three years, shows also a yearly average of decline in the volume of trade to the enormous amount of $38,070,239; and yet with all this prosperity we are not happy!

WEST HASTINGS.

The Opposition Mass Meeting.

ABLE SPEECH OF MR. WALLBRIDGE.

THE CAMPAIGN AUSPICIOUSLY BEGUN.

The gathering of the friends and supporters of the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, which had been announced two days previously, took place last night in the Metropolitan Hall, and was characterized by the utmost enthusiasm, showing that all who attended are earnest in the good cause.

The audience, owing to the extreme warmth of the evening, was smaller than it would otherwise have been, but still it numbered not less than five hundred, amongst whom were present not only many of the leading Conservatives of the city, and the hard-working energetic men of the party, but also a considerable number of Reformers who have lost confidence in the present Government, and have determined to support Mr. Wallbridge in the present contest. Amongst those present we observed Messrs. E. B. Fralick, Dr. Stewart, Ald. Sherwood, Alex. Thompson, T. J. W. Meyers, J. W. Johnson, W. C. Nunn, E. Burrell, J. W. Clarke, Jas. Mackie, E. Carnew, Ald. Lloyd, J. A. Campion, J. W. Campion, J. P. Reeves, J. H. Simpson, Wm. Johnson, Ald. M. Jellett, Ald. W. J. Diamond, S. S. Wallbridge, T. H. B. Purdy, L. H. Henderson, R. C. Solmes, W. Sutherland, Jno. McMullen, Jas. Nesworthy, Hugh Walker, R. Costello, F. Wallbridge, J. C. Overell, Thos. Wills, M. P. P., P. O'Hora, Jos. Feeney, J. C. Lake, Jas. Richards, Jas. Robertson, W. Alford, Jacob Wilson, Thos. Ritchie, Jas. McGuire, W. Boswell, J. C. Small, W. Templeton, Jas. H. Peck, Geo. D. Dickson, S. S. Lazier, S. C. Edwards, Jas. O'Brien Jas. Hennesay, Dr. Willson, Dr. Murphy, and many other well-known electors.

On motion, Mr. James Smith was appointed Chairman, and briefly introduced

Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, who on coming forward, was received with cheers and continued applause. He said that when he was first nominated at the meeting of the Conservative Association he had expressed his gratitude for the honor done him, and felt with the promises made to him then that he would be successful in the contest, and from the expressions of opinion made in favor of the Opposition since, he felt the prospects of the party were very encouraging. The lives of the members of the Government are now public, and men filling such important offices as it embraces must expect to have their actions looked into. Your rights are committed to their hands, and they make laws which may be beneficial or hurtful; therefore, their lives are public. It was right at this time to know what the Government had done, as the confidence of the people goes with the votes that will be cast at the election. The professions and practices of those who constitute the Reform party should be looked into, and it was now his desire to show what the doings of those now in power had been in times past. Mr. Mackenzie, before he came into power, had denounced coalitions, they were bad, they were wrong, they were immoral. The coalition of Sir John Macdonald was held by him to be wrong, as was also that of John Sandfield Macdonald. It could hardly be expected that one who could use such strong language in reference to coalitions and condemn them so generally would, in the end, approve of a compact he had condemned as immoral. The leader of the present Government, when he came into power, stated that his Cabinet would be pure. In coalitions people came together whose opinions on certain subjects differed; those differences were set aside, harmony ruled, and prejudices were cast away. To him it was a difficult matter to understand how the leader of the present Government could reconcile his present conduct with his past professions in regard to coalitions. Now the name of Cartwright carries with it the name of a blue blooded Tory; the gentleman of that name had sat under and steadfastly supported Sir John Macdonald, and wished to become Finance Minister of this country; but as Sir John Macdonald preferred Mr. Hincks, the desire of Mr. Cartwright could not be gratified. Through the labors of Mr. Hincks, who became Finance Minister under Sir John Macdonald, this country got rid of the American silver, which had flooded it, and that was got rid of a question which had troubled the people to a considerable extent. Sir John had said he was unwilling to commit such an office to the hands of a man like Mr. Cartwright, whom the Globe at that time described as a "mixer and muddler of figures." When the present Government came into power they gave him the office he craved, and this appeased his desire, as he became Finance Minister—a position he had coveted so long. The men who first constituted the present Government obtained no less than six of their Ministers from the opposite party,—from the ranks of those they had formerly denounced. In unmeasured terms had they decried coalitions, and yet as soon as they came into power that plank in their platform was at once discarded. Cartwright, Scott, Ross, Coffin, and Smith, all Conservatives, became members of the Grit administration, and thus did the Reform party show what they thought of Coalitions. If what was said by them when in opposition was true, they should not have carried out an opposite policy when they came into power. The speeches of the prominent men of the Reform party had rang against coalitions; Sir John had said he was rather in favor of coalitions; Robert Baldwin, the great Reformer, had approved of coalitions, and had written a strong letter to that effect. He (the speaker) at one time opposed Sir John; it was well known that those who sat in opposition had nothing to gain politically, but if they could gain office a great change would come over them. He had been in opposition to Sir John when Representation by Population was demanded; he was in accord with that sentiment; yet it was not achieved until Confederation was brought about. Then parties came together for the common good; they united on principle,—the benefit of the people was all they had to gain. It should be the policy of every party to carry out, when in power, what they professed when in opposition. Mr. Mackenzie had made a declaration of this kind, but he had not fulfilled it, and his actions had proved that he had not done so, for he had bought over several of his former opponents. When he (Mr. Wallbridge) was in Parliament, the Macdonald-Dorion Government was formed; the became their Solicitor-General and subsequently Speaker of the House. That Government began their career with a majority of nine; it was eventually reduced to four, and when it failed to do an act to satisfy the people of the county of Leeds it was materially lessened in strength. Another plank in the platform of the Grits before they came into power was economy; it was asked in the administration of public affairs. He would ask his hearers if the Sandfield Macdonald Government of this Province did not carry out economy to the letter, and yet it met with the determined opposition of the Reform party, and it had to fall. George Brown had—at one time—come over to Sir John; Howland, McDougall, Blair and Aikens had also allied themselves with Sir John, but though Mr. Brown had left the Conservative leader the others never went back; they were well known Reformers before Mr. Brown came to this country and they are supporters of Sir John to-day. He (Mr. Wallbridge) had suffered with them, and he felt with them. The Reform party to-day followed a newspaper, but the leaders of the people were followers of Sir John. Men who come before the public must follow public opinion, but the power of the Globe even against a man possessing his attainments was too great, and he had to knuckle. As time advanced changes took place in the Government, but were the vacancies filled with men of their own ilk? No. As an instance of the truth of his statement that they did not, they gave an office to Mr. Cauchon, whose "sins were rank and smelled to Heaven." In this manner had the Reform party denied the existence of the anti-coalition plank which had existed in their platform when they sat in opposition. (Applause.) He (the speaker) had voted with the Conservative party after the betrayal of the Sandfield Macdonald Government; he had gone over to Sir John then, and there he was to-day. He had used his own judgment, and in his endeavors to aid Sir John had voted for his present opponent, Mr. James Brown; he had approved of his nomination as the Conservative candidate, declared himself a follower of Sir John. Now that gentleman was a follower of Mr. Mackenzie. It was not his (Mr. Wallbridge's) desire to deceive the people; if he was with them he told them so, and if not he told them so. In defiance of parliamentary practice the present Government gave their business to one; to another they gave work on the Intercolonial and so on. They had elected their Speaker Mr. Anglin and put $18,000 worth of printing into his pocket, and to the honor and credit of Mr. Bowell, be it said he was the one to bring him to book. (Loud applause.) That Speaker was elected to do justice to the opposition and how could he be expected when he had been favored with contracts to the extent of $18,000? What sort of a man could that be who was expected to act as a judge, and yet sat in his chair with that sum in his pocket. As the Speaker of that House and occupying such an important position as he did, he should feel were he (Mr. W.) in his place as guilty as Judas Iscariot. (Loud applause.) A friend of his, Mr. Thomas Workman, on account of selling hardware to the Government, had not sat in the House during the last session and out of necessity, as he would have been proceeded against for the penalty, being a rich man. An act had to be passed to enable certain members to take their seats as representatives of the people, and this was done to prevent the consequences of their acts. The Conservative party appeal to the good sense of the people; to their knowledge of what is right and wrong; the records show this, as does also their history. The matters now in dispute are questions of vital interest to the people of the entire country, and it is for the people of this Dominion how to show whether or not they approve of the vacillating policy of those at present in power. The Reform party have condemned coalition as unholy, and yet have formed a Coalition Government; they have violated through their representatives the independence of Parliament; they have denounced any alliance between the Local and Dominion Governments, and still in the latter regard the leaders of both Governments go together through the country, and to use a common expression "hunt in couples." (Cheers.) Mowat and Mackenzie perambulated the country together and made speeches, and now acted in a contrary spirit to what they had formerly professed. With regard to the Pacific Scandal, the public lost nothing thereby; what money was expended came from the pockets of Sir John's political friends. Great stress was laid on this charge, but should not the same apply to George Brown, the author of the famous Big Push letter, in which he asked his friends to "come down handsomely, as our resources have been crippled by the expenditure in the out-counties"? (Applause.) What was the difference, he would ask, in this case between A. and B. If the Reform party was the "party of purity" it represented itself to be, why was it that thirty-six of its representatives were unseated for bribery and corrupt practices at elections? (Cheers.) The Reform party now deny the very principles on which they had appealed to the electors for support. In the Steel Rails transaction, Mr. Mackenzie's brother figured very prominently and at the public expense, as a large loss was thereby occasioned. That transaction wore a very flashy appearance and attracted a vast amount of attention, as it should have done (Mr. Wallbridge) was in Parliament every office in this county was vacant. Did he fill any position with any of his brothers? No. (Great cheering). Mr. Mackenzie had put public business in the hands of those to whom he should not have entrusted it, and his transactions were a very bad look. It was the motto of the Reform party to elevate the standard of public morality, but the "party of purity," by their transactions, only brought themselves into ridicule and were consequently laughed at for their conduct, and were now known as a party of rascals. (Applause). The Nepising Hotel—a collection of slabs—cost this country $5,029, and yet any carpenter in the audience would put up a similar structure for $200 at any time. The purchase of that building was made for the benefit of Oliver, Davidson & Co., the senior partner of which firm had made way for Mr. Crooks in South Oxford, when he could not get a seat in the Legislature, and as they did not get enough out of that land they have bought it from them at equally exorbitant prices, and some of it paid for twice. Was such an act as that just cited a justification of what the Reform party had professed when in opposition? The present was a period of "hard times," no man could readily get work, as it was very scarce; people suffered for want of employment. Those who earn a living by hard toil feel the want of work sorely; the artizan and the mechanic feel it, as do also their wives and children. They appeal for help, but the Governments say, wait till the time need. That is a "fly on the wheel" policy. (Cheers.) The principle of Responsible Government was, that those men should be turned out of power who do not practice what they profess. The present Government had no policy except that of Free Trade, and as a consequence the opposite side had styled them a set of incapables. If Free Trade is a truth; if the present depression exists on account of the want of policy of the party at present in power, turn them out; for if the Government does not do what the people ask of them, it should resign. They had been challenged to do so over and over again. (Cheers.) The Opposition had declared that this country must be governed by the will of the people; that the present Government had no policy nor capacity; and if this declaration was true, they asked that it should be turned out of power. The Opposition had challenged an appeal to the people for months, but in vain. Now the people were asked to decide on the questions of Protection and Free Trade; these questions were not at all new—they were old; the country was divided on them. If the Opposition succeed in obtaining power, Protection will follow; if they are unsuccessful, Free Trade will be the result. Free Trade is good for any country for which it is adapted. Ours is not now a manufacturing country, but we should endeavour to make it such, as our facilities are unparalleled in the world. We raise more grain than we can consume, and therefore we export the surplus. And what do we get in return for it? If we send our grain or flour to England we get—say knives in exchange; we send out a bulky article and get in return the manufactures of other countries in small bulk, hence we pay freight both ways. (Applause.) Would it not be better to get these manufactures here? We should now endeavor to get manufactures here and have what we require made at our own door and sell our surplus produce at home. Boots and shoes for our use were formerly made at Auburn and Rochester in the State of New York, but through protection and competition they are now manufactured in Canada, and can be had very cheaply. It was Sir A. T. Galt's policy that brought boot and shoe manufactures to the city of Montreal for then a duty of 25 per cent was exacted, which was now probably 17½ per cent. Is the theory of Free Trade true; and is the duty put on manufactured goods a development of that fact? A high duty steadies business and protection does not increase the price, for it creates competition, and that lowers it. Competition regulates the prices of all manufactured articles, and protection steadies the market. The American manufacturer makes a certain quantity of an article during a certain season, and when he finds at the end of the year that he has a surplus stock he disposes of it here at whatever price he can obtain and is glad to do it. In England's priority was established by protection; she did not raise enough provisions for her people, as she is more of a manufacturing country than an agricultural country, so she admitted what she could not raise free. In our case we raise more than we can consume, and therefore we have to export what we do not require. We raise wheat, barley, and coarse grains and send them away; we had a home market in the lumber shantues once, but it is gone. If instead of sending our surplus products away we can bring mechanics here to consume them, we of course must benefit therefrom, people come where manufactures are. What is required now is the establishment of manufactures in our midst, and then we would become a prosperous people, as employment would be given to our laborers, carters, carpenters, hotel men, and people generally. The consumer pays the duty and not the man who produces the article. If a resident of Canada takes five horses to the United States and a man in that country also has five horses for sale, the Canadian gets less for his animals by the amount of duty he pays than his American neighbor, supposing the horses equally valuable. Again in the matter of barley the American sells his grain for the full price, whereas the Canadian sells it under a 15 per cent. duty. A duty is exacted from us on our grain, but grain from the United States, say corn and oats, is admitted free. Distillers get their corn infree, whereas rye, which we send to Germany through dealers in New York who buy it, could be utilized here in its stead were a duty put upon it; therefore we deal in that regard with a loss to ourselves, and we cannot stand it. We at one time had to go for good cheese to England, and to the United States, but on account of a 3 cents per pound duty put upon it we now manufacture it here, and not only that but supply the English market. Would any one say it was dearer now than before? It was said that by putting on a protective duty the price of the protected article would rise, yet it did not do so in this case. The trade returns show that our trade with Free Trade England has decreased, whilst with the protected United States it has increased. When manufactures are established here we can compete with all the world. What made England? It was her manufactures and the proper development of her industries. Are our industries developed; are the powers of the Trent, the Moira, the Salmon, and the Napanee rivers developed, equal as they are to any water power in the world, and cheaper than steam as a motive power. No, and simply because this country has become a sacrifice market. To impose a protective duty, it had been said, would make a product dearer, but that was not so in the case of cheese, boots and shoes and blankets, all of which were now made in this country. There was no country in the world with a manufacturing power as great as this, and yet we send our products to other countries. This was the result of the "fly on the wheel policy" at present favored by the Reform Government. With protection times would improve, people would have something to do, and if we could get manufacturers here and could utilize our immense water power, how much better we would be off, and the country would certainly advance very materially. When protection was exacted on leather, it was manufactured here. In sugar, by taking the duty off the raw material we can get it manufactured here instead of having to import it from England, Scotland and New York State. If protection was the proper platform, and it was on that he would go before the people, then he asked the people to endorse him; but if not, then he would ask them to vote for his opponent. Mr. James Brown's claim was dishonest, although he advocated protection, for he would support the present Government, and it would not grant protection. Mr. Brown's actions were peculiar, for he said he would support Sir John as well as he (Mr. Wallbridge) would. (Laughter and applause.) He had watched Sir John's course for years and was able to judge its value, and it was his opinion that Sir John was the ablest statesman that Canada has produced. Sir John was far ahead of Blake, who was the ablest man amongst the Government party. The stories of Sir John's drinking were not true, for no one could act as ably as he were he the debauchee he was represented to be. No man could carry out the great legislative efforts he had made, were he the character the Grits had painted him. (Applause.) He (Mr. Wallbridge) greatly admired of Sir John, for he was a man of vast ability and great experience. George Brown would not allow say one in the ranks of the Reform party to think for himself, and Mr. Blake started a paper in Toronto, but eventually had to knuckle. He (the speaker) had refused to knuckle to George Brown, as had also Mr. Howland, Mr. Blair, Mr. Macdougall and others. Mr. George Brown acted the deceiver once, but he could never do it again to him. Sir John had moved for protection several times; he would do so again; and he (Wallbridge) would support him because he believed his policy the proper one. As the country is governed by the intelligence of the people, so will the record be, and if the workingmen believe him they should stand by him; if not they would oppose him.

After thanking the audience for the patience they had manifested and the attention they had paid him, the hon. gentleman took his seat amidst enthusiastic applause.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wallbridge's address, which, lasted for about one hour and forty minutes, the meeting was finished amidst a perfect storm of applause, the work of striking Committees for the various Wards was proceeded with, the result being that excellent working Committees were formed, composed of men who are prepared to push the canvass vigorously.

The Central Committee will be composed of the Chairmen and Secretaries of the Ward Committees.

His Worship the Mayor was appointed Chairman of the Central Committee; James Smith, Vice-Chairman; Eugene McMahon, Secretary; J. W. Johnson, Assistant-Secretary.

The meeting broke up at about 10:30 o'clock, after cheers had been given for the Queen, the Candidate, the Chairman and Sir John A. Macdonald.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 23.

City and Vicinity.

THE CELLS.—No less than four prisoners charged with drunkenness were lodged in the cells last night.

RETURNED.—The yacht Mabel returned home last night from a cruise of nearly three weeks' duration, during which the boys forming her crew had much enjoyment.

SATURDAY EVENING EXCURSION.—Still anther of those popular Saturday evening excursions will take place on the favorite steamer Alexandra to-morrow evening. Full particulars are contained in the advertisement.

ONTARIO RIFLE ASSOCIATION MATCHES.—On Monday next the Ontario Rifle Association matches will commence at Toronto, and extend during four or five days. It is expected that the attendance of competitors will be larger than on any previous occasion.

CHARITY PIC-NIC.—A grand charity picnic under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul Society is to be held in the Agricultural Grounds on Wednesday, Sept. 5th. A most attractive programme has been arranged, to which we will refer more fully hereafter. Full particulars will be found in our advertising columns.

"THE REMOVAL OF MOUNTAINS."—This is the title of the Baccalaurlate Sermon delivered by the Rev. President Jaques, of Albert College, in the First M. E. Church here on June 16th. The discourse, which is characterized by the author's usual ability and force, has been printed in pamphlet form, and will no doubt be not only read but preserved by the Rev. Dr's many admirers.

MILLERS AS UNDERWRITERS.—The millers of Canada have fully determined to do their own insurance, notwithstanding the experience stock companies have had insuring mill property. On Friday last an adjourned meeting was held in Hamilton, and those present were plucky enough to organize "The Millers Mutual Fire Insurance Company," with headquarters in that city. It was considered by one of the speakers at the meeting that the Company would be among the most useful and reliable insurance institutions in the country. The report of the meeting does not state whether the Company intends confining its favors to grist mills only, or whether it will be more generous and include saw mills, planing mills, etc., etc. We shall probably hear more of this new organization.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—It having been rumored through the city that it is proposed to hold a procession on next Monday evening and burn Mayor Beaudry in effigy, we the undersigned officers of the various Orange, Orange Young Britons, 'Prentice Boys and True Blue Organizations, express our strong disapprobation of any such demonstration.

FRIDAY, Aug 23.

THE LIQUOR LAW.

Patrick Tansey was charged by the Inspector with selling liquor without license. On account of the absence of a witness the case was enlarged until Monday.

DRUNK.

Frank Huckleberry, first offience, was dismissed.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

Sarah Bawden was remanded for a week.

ASSAULT.

William Mack charged Frank Bird with assaulting him. The case was adjourned till Monday for evidence.

"A country whose product is mainly exported can rarely or never boast a substantial and intelligent and virtuous Yeomanry; the condition of the laborer is too precarious and dependent—his average reward too meagre. It may have wealthy capitalists and merchants but never a numerous middle class, nor a flourishing, increasing proportion of small but independent proprietors."—Horace Greeley.

SIGNS OF WEAKNESS.

Notwithstanding all the braggadocio of the Ministerial press, in relation to Prince Edward Island, they are willing to compromise, showing that the Grits in the Island do not act with the confidence which one should expect if the organ speaks the truth. Hear the Charlottetown Examiner:—

"Their false art having failed utterly, what do our readers—the honest, intelligent electors of this Island—suppose is the next dodge of the Grits in this Island? From falsehood the most unblushing, they have descended to meanness the most contemptible. They actually approached Liberal-Conservatives with the shameless proposition to accept Pope, if the Liberal-Conservatives would consent to accept Sinclair!"

Of course the proposal was rejected. Mr. Pope has on the ticket with him Mr. Brecken, an eloquent and able lawyer, who would be an ornament to the House of Commons and a credit to any constituency which elects him.

The Independence Dodge.

The repudiation of the Mackenzie Ministry by such men as Mr. Snowball, in Northumberland; Mr. Wallace of Albert; and Mr. Appleby of Carleton; all in New Brunswick, shows clearly the unpopularity of the Government in that province. These gentlemen discard openly the Mackenzie Government and run on neutral issues. This is all right in one way, showing Ministerial weakness, but it will not work in another, for so soon as they are elected they will throw off their neutrality, as in the past, and become as servile followers of the powers that he as they have been in the past.

News Condensed.

—Sir John Macdonald arrived in Kingston yesterday.

—A Paris despatch says the Exposition will certainly close on Oct. 31st.

—A great festival was held yesterday in Servia in celebration of its independence.

—Five steamers have left San Stefano for Odessa with Russian troops returning home.

—It is rumored Count Schouvaloff is to be appointed Russian Minister of the Interior.

—President MacMahon has pardoned or commuted the sentences of 80 communists.

—The Marquis of Lorne is expected to make an extensive tour in the United States after he has been installed.

—Definite arrangements have been made for the Australian cricketers to play at Toronto on the 8th and 9th October.

—The Local Legislature of Nova Scotia has been dissolved, and the elections will take place the same day as the Dominion elections.

—The traffic receipts of the Grand Trunk for the week ending 17th inst. were $160,275, being a decrease of $11,465 from the corresponding week of last year.

—Richardson, the cashier in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, turns out to be a defaulter to the extent of $1,200. He has been heard of at Albany, N. Y.

—As the Rhodope insurgents ignored the summons to evacuate their positions, the Russians attacked Karanussalar and Akbunar, but the insurgents held their positions.

—The Young Britons and Union men who were fined by the Ottawa Police Magistrate have all appealed their cases, and will consequently go before the County Judge.

—Work was commenced on Thursday upon the new Kent gate, which forms a portion of the Dufferin improvements at Quebec. Operations have also been commenced on the graving dock.

—More remains have been discovered on the site of the old Jeusit barracks at Quebec, some of which have been identified with the aid of the records of the Jesuits. They are in some cases remains of men of historical importance, and Mr. Joly has given orders that they be carefully preserved.

THE HOME RULERS.—The Executive Committee of the Home Rule Confederation unanimously refuse to rescind the resolutions adopted on the 7th inst., which condemn Dr. Butt and the majority of the Home Rule members of Parliament for their conciliatory policy towards the Goverment. Mr. O'Donnell, who proposed that they be rescinded, did not even find a member to second him. An additional resolution was adopted censuring the conduct of Mr. O'Donnell.

SIR JOHN AT KINGSTON.—Sir John A. Macdonald had a rousing reception from his constituents at Kingston on the night of the 22nd, when the campaign was formally opened with a public meeting, at which the attendance was very large and influential, in the City Hall. Stirring speeches were made by Sir John, Mayor McIntyre and Dr. Sullivan, and a resolution expressing confidence in the leader of the Opposition and the determination of the meeting to return him again as member for the city was carried amidst cheering and applause.

THE MONTREAL ORANGE CASE.—The Star of Thursday says:—"At two o'clock, the time fixed for the further hearing of this case, the Grand Jury room was crowded with all manner of interested parties. Mr. Brehaut, Police Magistrate, was asked to give his decision, reserved from Wednesday, in the matter of the application from Honor to compel Colonel George Smith to answer explicitly the question, "What is the meaning of the words County Master—is it any rank or degree connected with the Orange order?" Mr. Brehaut was not prepared to decide the matter and the case was, therefore, adjourned until to-day, owing greatly to the want of witnesses, as Mr. Desnoyers, Enquete Magistrate, on whose behalf Mr. Brehaut acted for a day or two, was present, and ready to proceed. A number of witnesses will be summoned for to-day, including some members of the police force.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—A telegram from the agent of the Jackson Railroad at Canton, Mis., states that at Summit, Miss., a town of 3,000 inhabitants, 186 miles south of Grenada, fever had broken out in the country four miles west of there, and already eight persons had fallen victims. The fever was imported there by refugees from New Orleans.

At Jackson, Miss., a great many have left the place, while others packed their goods ready to leave, though not a single case has appeared yet.

The Times' Grenada special, dated Thursday evening says: The brave Gen. Smith, vice-President of the Howard Association of Memphis, is stricken down with fever. It is useless to attempt to describe the state of affairs. The negroes are demoralized, stores broken open last night, goods carried off, and to-night many more will be plundered, as there is not a man on the streets. Everyone is at the bedsides of the sufferers. There were only five deaths within the past twenty-four hours and a few new cases are reported, among women and children principally. Eighteen nurses arrrived from New Orleans this morning, and in half an hour all were busy. Supplies are being received, but there is no one to cook or furnish them to the needy. Hereafter I shall be compelled to get my death list from the grave diggers, as everything is now so disorganized that information is unattainable. The Secretary of War telegraphed to the relief Committe that 200 tents would be sent here. The question is who will put them up. There are not twenty active men in this town to-night. When the special train that was sent here to carry Gen. Smith to Memphis arrived, it seemed that all hope was gone, and to-night the agony of suffering for ice-water, and attention and calls for help, can better be imagined than described.

An anonymous letter to the Louisville Journal states that young Whipple was shot because he had tampered with the sister of the writer of the anonymous letter and the body thrown into the river.

The steamers Plymouth Rock and Twilight collided last night. Although great crowds of passengers were on both vessels no lives were lost.

Nearly the whole town of Steubenville, Ohio, last night, were out searching for a tramp who had outraged an old lady of eighty years and then partiallly beheaded her with a hatchet.

Henry O'Neil, a well known telegrapher, was found dead in an hotel at Long Branch last night, having accidently fallen on a washbowl in his chamber. The bowl broke and cut his throat he bleeding to death before assistance could reach him.

DEADWOOD, D. T., Aug. 22.—This morning the north bound stage from Cheyenne was stopped between the Cheyenne river and Lightning creek by three road agents, who after compelling the passengers to throw up their hands, went through their pockets, obtaining two watches and a small amount of money. After securing what the passengers had, they cut open all the mail sacks and appropriated all the registered letters, leaving the balance of the mail strewn over the ground.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Garibaldi denounces Austria and Germany and approves of socialism.

NOON.—A heavy thunder storm here.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Samuel Wild, cotton spinner, and colliery proprietor of Rochdale, has failed. Liabilities $620,000.

A despatch from Vienna says, an Imperial order names Phillipovitch Commander-in-Chief of the 12th corps, the Grand Duke of Wirtemburg, Commander of the 13th crops, General Ramberg, Commander of the 15th corps, General Szapary, Commander of the 3rd corps, and General Biernert, Commander of the 4th corps.

These corps, numbering 180,000 men, form the 2nd army. This development of military force seems principally directed against Servia and Montenegro, whose participation in the insurrection is manifest.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 23.—The Union publishes a description of what appears to be a valid claim to the ownership of Coney island. A sole heiress of one fourth of the island has been discovered in this county, and possesses papers to substantiate the title. She is an elderly lady named Gifford, who married one of the four children of Major J. Gifford, boarding officer of New York in 1781.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Michael Stapleton was shot on Wednesday evening as a trespasser, and died this morning.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The will of Montague, the actor, leaves all he was worth to his mother.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23.—John Scull, editor of the Somerset, Pa., Herald, was drowned near Cumberland yesterday.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate to fresh southerly or southerly winds, increasing cloudiness to-night, local rain tomorrow. For the St. Lawrence, moderate winds, and clear to partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate winds, generally clear, warm weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Indications:—warmer, clear weather.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

Political Notes.

BY THE CENSUS of 1871 there were 64,447 Americans in Canada. By the U. S. census of 1872 there were 487,000 Canadians in the United States. For every American of the forty millions who come to Canada to enjoy the blessings of one-sided Free Trade, seven Canadians of the four millions go to the United States to groan and die under a Protective tariff. Also for the perversity of human nature!

SATISFIED that the Americans are rapidly destroying themselves by Protection, only 4,473,000 immigrants took up their homes there between 1861 and 1877. This is over a million more than the total population of this country. No emigrant catchers were employed; the victims came of their own sweet will. Felo de se extraordinary, was it not!

The principal of the public debt of the United States on the 1st July, 1869, was $2,773,236,000; on the 31st July, 1878, $2,278,717,000; decrease, $494,519,000. In 1873 the public debt of Canada was $99,000,000; it is now $133,000,000. If the States are going to ruin, can it be said that Canada is on the high road to prosperity!

The Mail says:—"As sure as we are of anything human we are sure that the general election is going to reverse the state of parties in the Dominion, and we base this certainty of assurance on the testimony of shrewd men and experienced politicians in every province of the Confederation, as well as our own observation."

Statford Times:—"A farmer puts the horse illustration in a new light. He says: If I buy a horse that suits my purpose in the States for $100, I can bring it over to Canada free of duty. But if from any cause I wish to resell it to the man from whom I bought it, he will only give me $80 for it, because he tells me that when he takes it across again he will have to pay $20 duty. And yet the Grits will tell you that that is a fair trade."

While Mr. Mackenzie was in opposition, and while the question of increased salaries was being discussed, he presented a resolution, (which he afterwards withdrew) that the salaries of the Cabinet should not exceed $75,000, and that they should be graduated according to the responsibilities and duties of the offices. These being Mr. Mackenzie's ideas, when he got into power of course he would see them carried out; and he did it,—but in this manner: Twelve Cabinet Ministers, $7,000 a year each, (no gradation) $84,000, additional $1,000 each sessional allowance, $12,000. Total $96,000. or $21,000 more than Mr. Mackenzie (in Opposition) thought they ought to get! "Oh consistency, thou art a jewel," but how seldom found decking the brow of a Grit Prime Minister!

It must strike the contemplative mind as somewhat striking that distinguished men in many parts of the Dominion are relinquishing high and lucrative positions, and risking the chances of election to the House of Commons, with the patriotic motive of assisting to rescue our country from the leeches who are sucking the very life blood from her. Can there be any stronger proof of the unfitness of the present Government for the position they hold, than the fact that honorable men who had decided to retire from politics, are now moved with disgust and disapprobation of the regime sufficiently strong to cause them to relinquish Judgeships, Governorships, Premierships, &c., that they may record their protest against the reckless extravagance and incompetency so prominently displayed by the "Organized Hypocrisy" which is ruining our country with its moral leprosy! We need only mention the names of Judge Coursol, of Montreal, Mr. Tilley, of St. John, and Mr. King, of St. John County, and many others, to prove what we say to be correct.

Suppose a farmer in this country takes five horses, valued at $100 each, to Detroit to sell. The duty on horses in the United States is twenty per cent., which the Canadian farmer must pay before he can enter the Detroit market. That is, he must pay $20 a horse, and on his five horses $100, or the value of one horse, at the United States custom house before he can take them to market. There he will get no more for them than a Michigan farmer will get for five equally good horses. Suppose that he and a Michigan farmer each sell five horses at $100 a horse, each gets $500 for his five horses. The American farmer takes his $500 home in his pocket, while the Canadian farmer takes home only $400. He had to pay $100 for duty. The Canadian farmer would hardly be in any doubt as to who paid the duty on his horses. So it is with barley, wool and all cases where the Canadian producer comes into competition with the American producer in the markets of the United States—he receives the same price as the American producer, and has to pay the duty, whatever that may be.

Extracts from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh; my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P., WILLIAM MAIN, REV. THOMAS HARTIN.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. d&w1m

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

MORTGAGE SALE

OF

VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

TO be sold by PUBLIC AUCTION, pursuant to the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, to be produced at the Sale, on

Saturday, 31st day of August, next,

at the Court House, in the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, at twelve o'clock noon, to wit:—The following valuable Farm property:

Being composed of the north half of Lot number Twenty-five, and the east half of Lot nbmber Twenty-four, in the eighth concession of the Township of Sidney, in the said County, which said parcels are more particularly described in said Mortgage.

The aforesaid premises which are well wattered and on which are erected a large brick dwelling house, a small frame dwelling house, and a large frame barn, are situated about 1½ miles from Stirling, and 13½ miles from Belleville.

An abstract of title of the said lands will be produced at the sale, and the vendor will convey his interest only in the said lands to the purchaser.

The purchaser shall at the time of sale pay one-tenth of the purchase money. and the balance within ten days thereafter. For further particulars apply at the law offices of Messrs FLINT & JELLETT, and

ALEX. ROBERTSON,

Belleville, July 17, A. D., 1878. d&wtd

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of such of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIEGNCER Office, Belleville.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its original title of the New Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and has kept fairly abreast of the times, thanks to the enterprise of the publishers and the tact and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery and fiction, the average reader of to-day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expectantly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago; there is the same admirable variety of contents, and the same freshness and suggestiveness in its editorial departments now as then.—Boston Journal.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

ARE ALL THE CHILDREN IN?

The darkness falls, the wind is high,
Dense black clouds fill the western sky;
The storm will soon begin;
The thunder roar, the lightning flash,
I hear the great round rain drops dash
Are all the children in?

They're coming softly to my side;
Their forms within my arms I hide;
No other arms are sure;
The storm may rage with fury wild,
With trusting faith each little child
With mother feels secure.

But future days are drawing near;
They'll go from this warm shelter here
Out in the world's wild din;
The rain will fall, the wind will blow,
I'll sit alone and long to know
Are all the children in?

Will they have shelter then secure,
Where hearts are waiting, strong and sure,
And love is true when tried;
Or will they find a broken reed,
When strength of heart they so much need
To help them brave the tide?

God knows it all; His will is best;
I'll shield them now, and yield the rest
In his most righteous hand;
Sometimes souls He loves are riven
By tempests wild, and thus are driven
Nearer the better land.

If He should call me home before
The children go, on that blessed shore,
Afar from care and sin,
I know that I shall watch and wait
Till He, the Keeper of the Gate,
Lets all the children in.

RETURNS NO MORE!

WILLIAM WINTER.

Spring will return and woods grow green,
From shore to shore;
But she, unseeing and unseen,
Returns no more.

Low in the ground her sleep is sweet,
And dark and long;
No more she treads, with wandering feet,
Our maze of wrong.

No more the world's rebuke can fret
Her soul's repose;
Nor kindness woo her to forget
Her bitter woes.

She will not stir, nor speak, nor heed,
Though eyes that weep,
And sorrow-stricken hearts that bleed
Beseech her sleep.

Yet be it mine, above her pall,
To shed one tear;
And speak one word of love, that all
The world may hear.

A brother's place in that fond breast
'Twas mine to hold;
Ah, they loved most who knew her best—
That heart of gold.

She was more kind than morning light
To eyes that grieve;
And constant as the star of night,
That can't deceive.

There was no sorrow on this earth
But touched her heart;
And in a gentle, child-like mirth
She bore her part.

There was no goodness but it won
Her reverent praise;
And full of kind deeds, simply done,
Were all her days.

She strove, through trouble's lasting blight,
For pathways smooth;
And many hands she found to smite,
And few to smoothe.

Tempering Things.

Observe the pains taken with the temperature of the globe. See how the earth has its shores cooled and bathed by the sea and air; its surface so graded that the rains shall neither rest on it too long nor run off it too speedily; the strata are so tipped that the water gushes out, here and there, in cool springs; the mountains and hills are so arranged that the rivers meander to and fro over the surface of each continent, fertilizing and connecting all parts; mountains rise in the heated tropics, carrying the land up into cooler regions, catching the sea breeze, and compelling it to deposit its burden of water in daily and nightly showers. Great masses of ice at the poles set at motion currents in the ocean and atmosphere rolling down towards the equator, and bringing perpetual reinforcements of cool water and cool air. Clouds sail to and fro—great ships of heaven—going about their Master's business, carrying water from one part of the continent to the other; carrying also a freight of electric fire from where it is in excess to where it is needed. So they do the work of a mercantile navy; and sometimes, too, they meet in battle, like ships of war, and we have a terrible naval engagement, with awful discharges of lightning and rolling thunder, yet not to destroy life but to save it. Such pains are taken to keep the earth in good temper, with equal balance to heat and cold, moist and dry. So, too, when the aurora borealis appears in the heavens, it is not merely to delight us with its beauty. Use always lies under the beauty, as the skeleton beneath the outward human form. These steady discharges of aurora to the zenith along innumerable conducting lines come, it is thought, to equalize the electric conditions of the air. As the engine blows off its excess of steam, so the earth is blowing off its excess of electricity, and tempering its climate for human use.

If God takes pains to temper the climate of the earth on which our bodies live, does he not also temper the climate for the soul? Let us trust in his providence; let us believe that the events of live, its trials and disasters, its varied experiences, come, not blindly nor by accident, but are sent to give the right temper to our moral and spiritual nature, to fit us for the work we have to do here and in eternity.

The word temper is applied to the manufacture of steel. To temper steel exactly is the difficult point, and even the cutlers themselves do not know how to do it; they see something in the look of steel which shows them that it is of the right temper. The utmost care, the most delicate and constant attention, are necessary in that ancient and wonderful process by which iron imbibes carbon and turns to steel. The smallest crack in the side of the furnace vitiates the result. Day after day the fire rages in the heart of the shut trough, and there the work goes on. So the steel gets its proper temper, whether it be a razor, a coach-spring, or a file.

And does not God take as much care to temper us as the steel manufacturer in Damascus or Sheffield takes of his knives and sabres? We also are often put into a raging furnace, and there, amid the stern experiences of life, we lie in the fire to be tempered, and go under the hammer to be compacted for the work we are to do in the universe. One is to be made into a delicate instrument like a razor; another into a hard one, like a file; and each needs to be brought to a different temper. So, too, has our nation been tempered in the fire and furnace of war, and since then in the financial disasters of peace. We have gone under the heavy hammer blows of disaster and ruin. We need to be tempered. We have either been going into excess of self-love, into aberrations of egotism, which are destroying our national life. We have been intemperate in our self-love. We have forgotten to worship God with reverence, to love man with tenderness. We need to be tempered again, and our great war and all the subsequent evils have been sent to do the work.—Rev. J. Freeman Clark.

Home Piety.

It is in the family life that a man's piety gets tested. Let the husband be cross and surly, giving a slap here and a cuff there, and see how out of sorts everything goes. The wife grows cold and unamiable too. Both are tuned on one key. They vibrate in unison, giving tone for tone, raising harmony or discord together. The children grow up saucy and savage as young bears. The father becomes callous, peevish, hard—a kind of two-legged brute with clothes on. The wife bristles in self-defence. They develope an unnatural growth and sharpness of teeth, and the house is haunted by ugliness and domestic brawls. Is that what God meant the family to be—He who made it a place for love to build her nest in, and where kindness and sweet courtesy might come to their finest manifestations! The divine can be realized, There is sunshine enough in the world to warm all; why will not men come out of their cares to enjoy it? Some men make it a point to treat every other man's family well but their own—have smiles for all but their kindred. Strange, pitiable picture of human weakness, when those we love best are treated worst,—when courtesy is shown to all save our friends! If one must be rude to any, let it be to some one he does not love—not to wife, sister, brother or parent. Let one of our loved ones be taken away, and memory recalls a thousand sayings to regret. Death quickens recollection painfully. The grave cannot hide the white faces of those who sleep. The coffin and the green ground are cruel magnates—they draw us farther than we would go; they force us to remember. A man never sees so far into human life as when he looks over a wife's or mother's grave; his eyesight is wondrous clear then, and he sees as never before what it is to love and be loved, what it is to injure the feelings of the loved.

Life is Short.

Life is short, and you have much work to do. Work for others as well as yourself. You will not pretend you are never selfish. You are more or less so every day of your existence. In the very face of conviction you play the part of contradicted littleness. How often did you forget the interest of others, in eager desire for yourself, and how readily you silence the whispers of reason, by calling for precedents respectable example. Yet you know the value of disinterested virtue—and how that avarice, or any selfish passion, can never acquire your felicity—but the appearance of the moment persuade you otherwise, and hence the cause of error and crime. Study, therefore, not only to be convinced of truth, but establish it firmly on your mind, beyond the reach of doubt. Then, not till then, your character will be uniform, and your principle strong enough to carry you through the trials and temptations of life. No one can be happy long, unless he is governed by virtue; and to be regulated by this sublime principle, he must early learn to make any sacrifice, even life and all that renders it sweet in the eyes of mankind.

Thoughts About Work.

To be relieved from the sordid necessities of life is indeed a great responsibility—a responsibility never to be discharged. Men are not mere animals, but beings whose nature is touched with the solemnity of infinity. If we are lifted in any degree above the tending of the bodily frame it is only that we may minister to the infinite spirit, infinite in desire and in destiny, infinite in passion, infinite in life or death. As long as men are bounded and crushed down by lack of knowledge and failure of power, there is enough to be done in freeing for them wider space of thought and lifting them to nobler heights of aspiration. Idleness! there is no such word in the vocabulary of a generous man. Others, or even we ourselves, may have worked in the past and have won the position in which we are placed; but it is with the world of to-day that we are concerned. This is a world for workers, and each is bound to work if he can.

If he can; but there are some people who must be worked for. Yet even they may do spiritual work in return. How many a sick girl, lying helpless upon her couch from week to week, is yet a source of high and holy power in the world! Men willingly toil for her and tend her with care and reverence. And she more than repays it all. The weak come to her for counsel, and the sad for sympathy. Her arm may be helpless, but her heart is strong. She is forced to be a spectator of the battle of life only, but she can impart the secret of victory. She lies inactive, but her spirit bears the burden of others' care; her enduring patience has the power to restrain the fierceness of wrath and despair, and from her still and quiet presence goes forth the mighty thrill of love which nerves the wise and the strong of earth to noble deeds.

All cannot labor physically, nor is it given to many to set forth the secret of the universe for the knowledge of others, or to lead the footsteps of mankind to fresh regions in the domain of truth. But the work which is dictated by the heart is not less indispensable to the world's welfare.

What constitutes our share of the world's work must be left to the conscience of each man and woman to decide. It is obviously not merely that which people can be got to pay us to do.

When, indeed, we recognize that there are higher laws than those of political economy, we begin to ask ourselves whether we have got all we can, whether we have given all we can. We shall always be striving to make our work better, more valuable to others. We do not, in the long run, estimate things according to what has been paid for them, but according to what power of helpfulness and guidance and insight is in them. And just in proportion as our own work becomes noble we shall love it for its own sake, and scorn to measure it against the portion of this world's good which we have received in exchange for it. To take care to do our share is, after all, but little, yet we must at least do that. The money which I spend so lightly—have I earned it? This question must at least be answered; but when it is settled, another still remains. Cannot I do more? Cannot I make my work wider in its range of usefulness? A mute cry goes up from the dumb lips of millions of our fellow men—a cry, not for alms or pity, but for help and counsel—for patient guidance and for wise example.

You do your share of the world's work, let us assume, to its full limit. You are a man of business, a merchant, a banker, a lawyer, or perhaps a clerk: Your work is not ignoble, for it is needed in the world. But is this all? Political economy answers—yes, all. But the highest voice proclaims no limit to your work but the solemn darkness of the night which cometh, and the shadows of which are already falling around you. See these struggling, ignorant men. See this toil—worse than physical—moral doubt and nescience and despair. Can you do nothing to help? You have earned your food and clothing; but is it all to be a question of mere debtor and creditor? Have you nothing more to give? Cannot you make two blades of grass grow where one grew before, or plant one fair, springing leaf of knowledge in some desert spot of ignorance?

Time presses, and the world is wide, and to each the call comes that he should be up and doing. This universe, amid all its ruin, is full of loveliness still, and, with all its sorrows, is yet glowing with the warmth of love; but its store of blessings can only be grasped by hands that are stretched out to honest labor, and the softest radiance of its happiness refuses to fall except upon the helpful.

Influence.

Influence is one of the most powerful levers that moves or ever has moved the actions of mankind. All persons have been under its magical power at some period of their lives, and have been guided by its dictations to a greater or less extent. Influence may be divided into two classes—the seen and the unseen—the former being confined mostly to mankind. Unseen influence affects almost everything, and often objects which we deem of little consequence, and appears to be most insignificant, possess it in the highest degree. Nature unfolds many lessons and imparts much influence. Go where you will, how many beautiful illustrations can she show of real life? The grand old trees, with their massive trunks, stand like monarchs seeming to await the wishes of their Divine Maker. There is a world of music in their presence, and influence in their motion, yet so silent, so hidden, that it is imparted as gently as the dews of heaven. The glossy leaves, as they bend gracefully downward to receive the refreshing breeze of heaven, pay homage to the Power that sends them blessings; they appeal to the heart of man in their voiceless eloquent to worship at the same shrine.

What is more sublime than the early morn in some quiet country place? To rise just as light begins breaking, and notice what a hallowed, sacred peace abounds, is pleasant indeed; and as the sun first peeps over the crest of the hills to see how soon all nature is stirring, the birds sing their morning hymns of thanksgiving to the Almighty. The calming, softening influence of such a scene, once witnessed, is one never to be forgotten.

A little keepsake given to us by one we love, whose path has diverged from ours, will arouse thoughts and feelings when the little treasure is looked upon that has lain dormant perhaps for years. And often how great is its influence? It conveys more than words. Each portion of our lives daily exerts some influence, not only individually but collectively. Youth's fiery impetuosity and ambition inspires older hearts to greater works, while the silvery voice of old age chimes in and teaches those who have only started in life that the voyage may be rough, and a wreck seems inevitable, but there is a strong arm at the helm which will guide the frail bark safely through. D.L.

Gems of Thought.

He that has no cross deserves no crown.

Vows made in storms are forgotten in calms.

He who expects a friend without faults may expect.

It is better for a young man to blush than to turn pale.

We would rather trust a vivacious woman than a vain one.

Who soars too near the sun, with golden wings, melts them.

The good are better made by ill, as odor crushed are sweeter still!

You should forgive many things in others, but nothing in yourself.

Learn not to judge too harshly of any one, either in respect to good or evil.

Do not eat cherries with your supperiors; they will blind you with the stones.

Time is gold; throw not one minute away, but place each to account.

He is not so good as he should be who does not strive to be better than he is.

No woman, even the most intellectual, believes herself to be decidedly homely.

Call to mind the heavier sufferings of others; so may you better bear your own small troubles.

The angels may have wider spheres of action, may have nobler forms of duty, but right with them and with us is one and the same thing.

Nothing does so fool a man as extreme passion. This doth make them fools, which otherwise are not, and show them to be fools which are so.

The essence of true nobility is neglect of self. Let thought of self pass in, and the beauty of a great action is gone, like the bloom of a soiled flower.

No man ever stated his griefs as lightly as he might. For it is only the finite that has wrought and suffered; the infinite has stretchd in silent repose.

Most of their faults women owe to us, whilst we are indebted to them for most of our better qualities.

When we are alone we have our thoughts to watch; in our families, our temper; and in society, our tongues.

Individual character is in the right that is in strict consistence with itself. Self-contradiction is the only wrong.

Prosperity is a great teacher; adversity is a greater. Possession pampers the mind; privation trains and strengthens it.

Nothing is so wholesome, nothing does so much for people's looks, as a little interchange of the small coin of benevolence.

If you would find a great many faults, be on the look out. If you would find them in still greater abundance, be on the look in.

Freaks of the Wallingford Tornado

Some curious incidents are related to show the character of the moving column of wind. Soon after it started, it appears to have bounded over, as it were, one house, and again on the hill to have bounded over two houses. That the water in the lake was bodily lifted is shown by the mud on houses a mile away—mud which was taken from the bottom of the lake. Capt. Mix's theory is that the two storms, one from the north-west and the other from the south-west, met at an oblique angle, and that the direction of the tornado was not the resultant of the two lines, but that one was the heavier storm and prevailed over the other. A cow had her horns knocked or blown off. Fifty-two chickens were taken from one place, and they have not been heard of. Two hogs, each weighing 350 pounds, were carried a quarter of a mile and not hurt. These facts show the force of the tornado. A wooden splinter was driven through a lead water-pipe; a shingle was driven through four and a half inches of wood; some of the houses had holes through them, as if pieces of wood had been shot through them endwise. Upon the lake was only one man, Daniel Reilly, in a boat. Stricken by fear, he hurried to the shore, but the commotion of the waters cast him and his boat 60 feet high and dry beyond the beach, and, receding, left him bruised and battered, and suffering from a shock whose effects may never leave him.—New Haven Palladium.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUG. 24.

WEST HASTINGS.

Mr. Wallbridge's Committees will meet every evening, unless otherwise notified, in the Liberal-Conservative Association Rooms, Intelligencer building. All electors favorable to the Opposition policy, who desire to assist in the canvass, are cordially invited to attend.

At last night's meeting there was a good attendance, and the reports of the work already done were of the most satisfactory character. Equally favorable reports continue to reach us from Sidney and Trenton. The first meeting in the interest of the Opposition candidate will be held at Sager's Hall, Frankford, on Tuesday evening; the next at Sager's School House on Wednesday evening; the third at Clark's School House on Friday evening; and the fourth at Sidney Town Hall on Monday evening, September 2nd. Mr Brown is invited to attend all these meetings.

A FIZZLE.

Mr. Brown's canvass goes on badly, his former Conservative friends having, almost to a man, deserted him since he stultified himself by accepting the nomination of a Grit Convention, whilst very many independent Reformers refuse to accord him their support, having no faith in the conversion of the man who since 1867 had sat in Parliament in spite of their efforts to defeat him. This was evidenced nicely last night, when a private meeting of supporters of the Government candidate was called, but resulted in a complete fizzle, the attendance being, we are informed, infinitesimally small, and the proceedings, which were of a gloomy character, closing at about 9 o'clock. Mr. Brown will find that on this occasion his old-time majority in Belleville has been transferred to his opponent.

The Campaign of Lies.

As is usual with the Grit organs at election times, a vigorous campaign of lying has been commenced. Witness the mendacious falsehoods which have of late appeared in the local Grit organ concerning the member for North Hastings, whose political record cannot be successfully attacked, but who the aforesaid organ imagines can be injured by untruths often repeated, even if they have to be swallowed at a later date. Of a like nature are the assertions regarding the Opposition mass meeting on Thursday night. "Two hundred men and boys—mostly boys," and "hilarity confined to a few gamins on the back benches," are assertions worthy of the original Tom Pepper. We are quite content to leave the public to place a value upon these and future assertions emanating from the same quarter.

"Human Influences."

True to their record, the Government party are endeavoring to make the most out of the public patronage which chance has placed at their disposal. The Collectorship of Customs has been made to do duty in keeping a score or so applicants true to "the party," whilst the support of several others has been secured by promises that the Government shall purchase their property as a site for the proposed Government building. Of course these weighty matters will not be decided upon till after the elections, and then great will be the disappointment of many who will find that they have been sold, but too late to avenge themselves.

The same game is being played in other parts of the country, as witness the following from the Kingston News:

"Various rumors have been current for several days to the effect that ere long changes will take place in the Kingston Postmastership, the Accountantship of the Penitentiary, and the Engineership of the Military College. The names of two very zealous gentlemen are mentioned in connection with the first office; that of Mr J. Duncan Thompson with the second; and a Mr Maddox is to get the third. The latter position is expected by another gentleman, but he is to be doomed to be disappointed. Of course the offices will be kept open till after the election, so as not to cause any trouble in the ranks o' the Party. But if the Government should get its walking ticket on the 17th?"

Government Road Building.

North Hastings is not the only section of the country which has to complain of the money of the country being thrown away upon men who have no interest in the roads they are sent to repair. The system in the past of overseers of the repairs on Colonization Roads, putting two dollars in their own pocket and one on the Roads seems to prevail wherever the present Government have sent strangers to look after the Colonization Roads. The Sault St. Marie Pioneer says:—"We hope that we have "seen the last of strangers being sent into "this district with stocks of supplies and "laborers, to work on the Government "roads, as such a proceeding is unjust to "to our business men and cruel to the "new settlers, and the continuance of such "a practice is not calculated to create that "sympathy between Government and peo- "ple which, we think, should exist in On- "tario." The only way to stop this system is to change the Government.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—The recent geological survey of Newfoundland shows that the island contains, 6,000 square miles more territory than is given in the geographical books in common use viz, 42,000. It is 317 miles in length by 316 in width, and has a coast line of 2,000 miles. There are 3,000,000 acres of land suitable for cultivation, and the fisheries are said to be capable of indefinite expansion. At present 1,500 vessels are employed in the fishing business, having a tonnage of 61,500 tons, manned by 82,000 fishermen sailors.

THE LOYALTY CRY.

Either abuse or the false imputation of motives, is an exhibition of weakness, and is only resorted to by men who have no arguments in favor of the cause they espouse that will bring conviction to the minds of those to whom they appeal.

An illustration of this is seen in the action of the Globe and the leaders of the Reform (?) party, in the present contest. The electors desire that the issues to be determined in the present election shall be; the fitness or otherwise of our present rulers to continue to control the destinies of the Dominion for another five years, and whether it is desirable or otherwise that Canadian industries—agricultural, mining and manufacturing—should be built up and fostered by a protective tariff; but instead of discussing these important issues, there being no others before the country, the Globe and its followers cry "Pacific scandal," and make the silly charge that Sir John Macdonald and those in favor of a Canadian national policy are disloyal.

Let our readers consider for a moment and ask themselves to which party does any man of their acquaintance, holding annexation or independence sentiments, belong? Do they know a single individual, in either public or private, identified with the Conservative party, who is in favor, in the most remote degree, of promoting the annexation of this country to the United States, or its separation, as an independent nation, from the British Empire? Not one.

But there are men in this country who openly advocate one or other of these national changes, and who are they? They are leaders of the Grit party, members of the Grit Cabinet, and the men whom the Globe delights to honor. To again refresh our contemporary's memory, we will mention a few names of those who hold these views who are Mr. Mackenzie's colleagues in the Government: Mr. Jones, of "haul down the flag" fame, Mr. Huntington, Mr. Laurier, Mr. Laflamme, and Mr. Mills. It must be a desperate cause indeed that drives men to such fatuous cries as that now made to do duty for the Government.

The working of the National Policy, we maintain, would result in strengthening the ties that unite us to the Empire, by making us better worth retaining, in having within ourselves all the elements of national power, and the ability to assist in the defence of the Empire; while the continuance and logical consequence of the present Government's policy will lead to annexation by making us dependent upon the United States for articles required in our every day life. India became a British colony through the efforts of British traders, who made the country so dependent upon their wares that political conquest had to follow,—and political conquest will follow commercial dependence in the case of Canada and the United States, just as surely as in the case cited. Is not the present policy driving out English manufactures? and are not American goods taking their place? What cotton, plain or printed, do we now see in the dry goods stores? Is not American seen where we used to see English? What boiler iron and tubes do our people now use? Are they not American in place of English? In the columns of the Toronto press may be seen the advertisements of the resident Canadian agents of American manufacturers in nearly every line, and while the Globe takes money for puffing American wares, which it knows are supplanting English goods and starving Canadian workmen, it falsely and hypocritically charges the Conservative party with disloyalty for advocating a policy that will secure to Canadians the right to manufacture for Canadians and give employment to our own people, instead of consuming the products of foreigners.

It is the Globe and its party that are disloyal to Canada, and as Canada is an integral part of the British Empire, just as England and any other portion of it is, so are they disloyal to the Empire. England is not the British Empire because it is the seat of Government, any more than Ontario is the Dominion of Canada because Parliament assembles, and our gracious Queen's representative resides in Ottawa.

We have no doubt the interests of the manufacturers of Scotland and Ireland clash occasionally with those of the manufacturers of England, but in demanding the redress of a grievance would the former be charged with disloyalty to the Empire? John Smith & Co., of Birmingham, are no more British subjects than are John Brown & Co., of Belfast, or John Robinson & Co., of Melbourne, or Robert Hay & Co., of Toronto, and as slavery was abolished from the Empire many years ago, as our contemporary may have heard, we see no reason why John Smith & Co., of Birmingham, should dictate a policy, solely in their interests, and by legislation bind the others to follow it, while the interests of the whole Empire are in another direction.

Doomed Industries.

Among the victims of the present trade policy may be mentioned Ontario Woollen Mills, Cobourg, Norval Cotton Mills, Rosamond Woollen Mills, of Almonte, Woollen Mills at Cornwall. The Sherbrooke Woollen Mills, the largest in Canada, employing over six hundred hands. The managers of these manufactories state that the American manufacturers have sent their surplus stock of woollen goods to this country to be sold at prices with which the Canadian manufacturers cannot compete. In the words of Mr. Routh, one of the most prominent of these manufacturers, "There must either be a change of tariff, or the factory hands must leave this country."

DIOCESE OF MONTREAL.—It was rumored that at a preliminary Conference of the Bishops of Canada, they came to the resolution of refusing the resignation of the present Metropolitan, at least until the question is settled as to who is entitled to become his successor. It is asserted, however, that Dr. Oxenden will not return to the Diocese, and the present interregnum will continue.

—One of severest punishments inflicted upon criminals in Holland, up to a few years since, was to deprive them of salt.

News Condensed.

—The Emperor of Morocco is ill from the effects of poison.

—Up to date 256 more vessels have arrived in Quebec this season than last year.

—Wm. Wells, brakesman, died from injuries received whilst coupling cars at Stratford on the 23rd.

—The Governor-General and suite will return to Ottawa next month and remain there till his final departure from Canada.

—The steamship Memphis took out yesterday from Point Levis for Liverpool about 1,500 sheep, and will ship 147 cattle.

—Hosmer won first prize at the Hamilton regatta, Morris second, Wallace Ross third, McKen fourth, Plaisted fifth, Luther sixth, Elliott seventh, and Coulter last.

—Judge Keogh, who will be remembered as having presided at the trial of the celebrated Galway case a few years ago, has lost his reason, and had to be put under restraint.

—At Hartford yesterday Rarus trotted three heats in 2:15, 2:13¾, 2:13¾. Edwin Forrest trotted a mile in 2:14½ and a half mile in 1:03¼. Hopeful made a half mile in 1:06¼.

—The Laurentian Phosphate Company, of Ottawa, shipped 700 tons of phosphate from Templeton mine last week, by the ship Signet to Hamburg, Germany. This is the first cargo of the mineral from Canada, all former lots having been exported as ballast only.

—Up to date 175 anchors have been raised by the lifting barge in Quebec harbor; 24 of these were broken; 8,000 fathoms of chain were also recovered. Both are of large dimensions. Some of the recovered anchors have been sold at prices varying from 2c to 3c per lb.

—William Headly, a farmer, living on the second line of Torbolton, was killed by lightning during the storm of Thursday evening, 15th instant. He was binding in the harvest field at the time. Another man was working with him was knocked insensible by the same shock. Deceased leaves a wife and two children.

—Inventors have seldom the felicity of having the worth of their services to the world recognised so promptly and ungrudgingly as Edison has had. Of the honors heaped upon him there is probably none on which he will set a higher value than on the grand prize of the Paris Exposition, which has been awarded to him for "the most wonderful inventions of the age."

The Montreal Orange Case.

The Star of the 23rd says: "His Honor the Police Magistrate gave decision in the application of the advocates for the prosecution, asking for a warrant to issue against Colonel George Smith, for refusing to satisfactorily answer questions put to him while under examination. The application was granted, and the warrant will issue to-morrow.

Mr. Barnard, Q.C., proposed that the witness for the defence make application for a Royal pardon, in case they should criminate themselves in giving evidence. He declared himself willing to read a letter which he had drawn up, which would embody his proposal, and which they could agree to.

Mr. J. Doutre, Q.C., objected to the speech of his learned friend; he said the accused were not there to beg pardons; he wanted the evidence to be proceed with.

Mr. Bernard—You are here to throw obstacles in our way.

Mr. Doutre—We beg for no pardon and we want none.

Mr. Dunbar Brown was next sworn as a witness. Before giving his testimony Mr. Brown desired to make an explanation. It had been stated in the papers that he was called yesterday to give evidence, but was not present; he desired to say that an understanding had been arrived at between himself and the prosecuting counsel that he would not be called before he had been told previously he would be absolutely wanted. He objected to appear before the public as a man who refused to comply with Her Majesty's subpœna.

A Suggestion.—The editor of the Irish Canadian indicates Mr. Dalton McCarthy as the coming leader of the Irish Catholics, a Protestant who, if elected by South Simcoe, which will assuredly be the case, will have become a centre for the unification of the Irish people of this Province in a restoration of their old influence and reassertion of their national pride.

Death of a Centenarian.—The Napanee Beaver says:—"On Thursday last an old colored man passed away, who had lived nearly, if not quite, a quarter of a century beyond the age alloted to man by the Psalmist. Old Dan, as he was popularly known, or Daniel Johnson, was a pensioner on the bounty and kindness of Mr. Alex. Smith, of Merchants' Bank in this place. Old Dan has been a familiar name in Napanee and vicinity for the past fifty years. About ten or twelve years ago Mr. Smith took him in the capacity of a servant, but he soon superannuated him and gave him quarters and means for maintenance. He lived en garcon as happy as a prince, and enjoyed his leisure with an unpretending dignity that could hardly have been expected of a man who spent the best years of his life in slavery. At the time of his death the old man must have been nearly an hundred years old."

Great Meeting at St. John, N.B.—A telegram from St John on the 23rd says:—"The Opposition mass-meeting to-night was the greatest success of the campaign. The Institution was packed early and the candidates were received with deafening cheers, which rose again and again. Mr. Palmer, who has just returned from an engagement on the Osborne murder case, was warmly welcomed, and made an able speech, pricking some of Cartwright's bubbles, defending Sir John Macdonald and ridiculing Cartwright as the great temperance advocate. Mr. Tilley spoke, replying with telling effect to Messrs. Mackenzie and Cartwright's statements and showing up the character of Sir Albert Smith in reference to the offer of the Governorship for a second term. Mr. King made a splendid speech on Free Trade, Protection, misappropriations and extravagance of the Government and their coalition record. The Building rang with cheers. The Opposition feel jubilant since last night, at which the Ministers disappointed everybody. The Ministerialists are cross and unhappy."

I gave him my support, believing him, what he professed to be, the uncompromising enemy of corruption in every form. Unfortunately, his conduct during that election utterly destroyed my confidence in his political integrity. Early in the canvass I refused to contribute a sum demanded by him to a fund which I had reason to believe was being used for corrupt purposes. This led to a rupture between us which has never been healed."—Address of Dr. McGill, M. P. P., to his South Ontario Constituents.

Speaking from memory, the expenses of my campaigns were as follows:—In 1871, they might have amounted to $13,000, but I do not charge my mind with $2,000 or $3,000 in election matters. In 1872, my expenses did not exceed $15,000. In 1874, the expenditures were much smaller, because I thought I would have the sympathy of the people in consequence of my expenditures in 1872, and that my opponent would have to carry the Pacific Scandal on his back. —Evidence of H. McLennan, of Victoria, N. S.

Political Notes.

It is said that there is a probability of Dr. Ferguson retiring from the contest in North Leeds and Grenville. In such an event either Mr. Montgomery, a former candidate, or Mr. T. White will likely carry the Conservative banner.

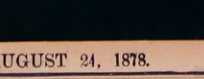

No candidate has been brought out yet for West Montreal in the Liberal interest. Capt. Shepherd, who was waited upon by a deputation, declined to accept the candidature for personal reasons.

Mayor Bangs or Dr. Sweetland will most likely contest Ottawa in the Reform interest. The nomination will be made on Monday next.

Mr. N. V. Lefrancois, of Lange Gardien, who intended to run in the Liberal interest for Montmorency, has withdrawn his candidature in favor of the ex-member, Mr. J. Langlois. There are still two Conservative candidates in the field.

The first general political meeting was held on Wednesday at Winnipeg. Ex-Governor Morrai and Mr. Donald A. Smith addressed a large and orderly audience. Both had a fair hearing.

We understand that a political pic-nic will be held by the Conservatives at Stella Point, Amherst Island, on Friday, September 6th. East and West Hastings, Prince Edward, Addington and Frontenac will be asked to co operate. Sir John A. Macdonald and George Kirkpatrick, Esq., M.P., have consented to attend and deliver addresses, and other prominent public men will be invited.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUG. 24.

City and Vicinity.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Johnson, Commissioner of Customs, was in the city to-day.

ARRIVED. — The steamship Polynesian passed Father Point inwards at 6.10 a. m.

COWS KILLED.—We understand that two cows were killed by the cars on the Grand Trunk near town to-day.

Better than whiskey and quinine for Chills, SANDFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

EXCURSION.—Our readers are once more reminded of the cheap excursion to Montreal per steamer Alexandra, which is to leave here on Monday evening. Consult the advertisement for particulars.

HUNGARIAN GRASS.—Mr. William Towers, of Plainfield, brought to this office to-day some Hungarian grass 6 feet high, grown on his farm. This beats all previous records that we have seen.

GRAND TRUNK EXCURSION.—Particulars of the Grand Trunk excursion to Montreal appear in an advertisement in another column. The inducements offered to visit Montreal by this excursion are very strong.

BOGUS SILVER. — Merchants report a quantity of spurious silver in circulation, of which it would be well to beware. The imitation is good but can be easily detected by the greasy feeling of the spurious metal.

FIRST BARLEY.—The Oswego Palladium of Thursday says:—"The first cargo of barley of this season arrived here this morning on the schooner Nellie P. Downey. It consists of 5,000 bushels and was consigned to Irwin & Sloan and was shipped from Napanee. It is a very fair sample."

MAMMOTH APPLES.—Mr. David Milne, of the Kingston Road, showed some apples, not fully grown at that, on the market this morning. They were as big as well-grown turnips, weighed 21 ounces each, and looked nice enough to tempt the appetite of anybody.

FIRE.—The firemen were called out by an alarm last night, which proved to have been caused by an outbreak of fire in the roof of Thompson's sash factory building. The incipient fire was put out before the engines, which were even more than usually prompt, could arrive.

HISTORY PRIMERS.—A series of useful little historical Primers, for use in the Public Schools, is being issued by Messrs. James Campbell & Sons, Toronto. One of the series, "Canada," by J. Frith Jeffers, M. A., Principal of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has been received from Mr. C. R. VanNorman, bookseller.

AN OLD GRIEVANCE.—Is there nothing that will cause the firemen to run their hose carts and chemical engine on any other part of the streets than the sidewalks? It seems not, as despite dangers to life and limb and damages for breaking plate glass windows, the firemen will run the apparatus on the sidewalks. It is full time that the Fire Committee dealt with this matter authoritatively.

FIFE AND DRUM BAND.—We understand that a fife and drum band is being organized by the True Blues of this city. The instruments, which are of excellent quality, have been procured by Mr. McCornock, music dealer, from Messrs. S.T. Gordon & Son, of New York, the well-known manufacturers. They consist of 16 flutes, 1 piccolo, 5 snare drums and 1 bass drum. The band will be organized next week, a competent instructor having been secured.

CHRIST CHURCH.—The Rev. J. J. Roy, of Montreal, one of the missionaries of the church of England French Canadian Mission, known as "the Sabrevois Mission" will officiate in Christ Church next Sunday. We understand that Mr. Roy will preach in the evening a sermon bearing on the grievances of the French Canadians. He will also, on Monday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall, deliver a lecture on "The National prosperity, enlightenment, Political and Religious Liberties of the people in the Province of Quebec." Admission free.

BACKED DOWN.—Mr. W. S. Williams, of Napanee, a well-known Grit, was in town yesterday and was very loud in his offers to bet $600 that Mr. Cartwright would be elected in Lennox by 500 majority. One of the Aldermen for Ketchenon Ward, a lawyer and Conservative, learning of this, met Mr. Williams and offered to accept the bet and put the money up at once. Williams said he had not the necessary money with him, but an offer was made to accept his cheque, and after some further talk Mr. Cartwright's friend backed down squarely and was given the parting assurance that he could not work a game of "bluff" of that nature here, as his money could be covered to any amount. The five hundred majority is more likely to be in favor of Mr. Hooper, despite the blustering assertions of Mr. Cartwright's supporters to the contrary.

A WARNING TO HOUSEHOLDERS.—The Stratford Herald says a family in town who kept Paris Green for the purpose of destroying vermin, were nearly poisoned the other day through some of the poison accidentally sifting into a cream jug. As it was several of them were very sick, and had a narrow escape. This should be a warning to others how they handle the stuff, as it is volatile and virulent.

GRAIN MARKET.—A little stir to-day in the grain market denoted the opening of the season. About 1,000 bushels of barley and rye were sold. No. 1 barley was purchased readily at 80c., and for a few prime lots as high as 85c. was paid, which was an extreme price. Most of the rye was bought at from 50 to 53 cents; in one or two cases 55c. was offered. Peas selling at 40c.

ROSE-BELFORD CANADIAN MONTHLY.—The September number, which is on our table, is very beautifully illustrated, and presents an excellent table of contents, as follows:—A Visit to the Dolomites, by W. D. Reed; William Cullen Bryant, by H. S. Spencer; The Haunted Hotel, by Wilkie Collins; Humor, by Edgar Fawcett; A Quarrel with the XIXth Century, by M. J. Griffin; The Whippoorwill, by Hon. W.C. Howells; Women's Work, by Fidelis; The Monks of Thelema, by Walter Besant and James Rice; One of Canada's Heroines, by John Reade; Matthew Arnold as a Poet, by Walter Townsend; A Stray Leaf from an old Diary, by J. M. LeMoine; An Animated Molecule and its Nearest Relative, by Daniel Clark, M.D.; New Aspects of the Copyright Question, by G. Mercer Adam; Round the Table; Current Literature. Toronto: the Rose-Belford Publishing Co. Price, 25cts. per number.

Another Phase of the Grand Junction Muddle.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of this road was held on Friday, 23rd inst., in Belleville, for the purpose of considering a proposition made by Mr. E. O. Bickford, of Toronto, to complete the road from the water's edge in Belleville to Campbellford, by the 1st of December this year. The Directors present were: Messrs. Kelso, President; Boulter, Harrison, Diamond, Brown, Ferris, Fowlds, Read, Sutherland and Dickson.

The proposition of Mr. Bickford was to build the road to Campbellford by the 1st of December, 1878, for the sum of one hundred thousand dollars, taking the assets of the company so far as they would go in payment, the balance to remain a debt against the Company. He also agreed to pay for all the right of way now owing by the Company, taking in payment therefor paid up stock in the Company at par.

It was argued that the interest of Belleville could only be served by the road being built to Hastings, thence to Peterboro, and that if the road were built to Campbellford now, without provision being made for continuing it, it might never be carried further. It was therefore Moved by Mr. Fowlds, seconded by Mr. Dickson, "That the Board having heard the offer of Mr. Bickford to construct the Road to the village of Campbellford.

"Be it Resolved, that this Board do not approve of making a contract short of the village of Hastings."—Carried.

It was then

Moved by Mr. Diamond, seconded by Mr. Fowlds, "That the President be authorized to make and negotiate a note of this Company for the sum of ten thousand dollars, for the purpose of putting the Road in running order to the village of Stirling, and that the Corporate Seal of this Company be attached to this Resolution, and it to have the force of a By-Law."—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned until 7.30 in the evening.

In the evening the adjourned meeting was held. Present: Messrs Kelso, Dickson, Ferris, Read, Fowlds, Sutherland, Aylsworth and Bowell.

Mr. Bickford was present, and stated that he was not prepared to enter into a contract for the construction of the road to Hastings now, but intended ultimately to build the road through to Peterboro', so soon as certain aid by way of bonuses could be obtained, and submitted a scheme which was not considered feasible and consequently was not entertained.

A letter was then read from Mr. Bickford, stating that he had entered into a contract for the building of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, and asking permission to run a construction train over the Grand Junction Railway, to carry iron and supplies to the junction of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway.

Moved by Mr. Bowell, seconded by Mr. Read, "That the request of Mr. E. O. Bickford to be given Mr. Bickford to use the Grand Junction Railway between Belleville and the junction of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, for the purpose of carrying supplies over said Road for the construction of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, be acceded to, upon conditions that said Bickford enter into a bond to hold the Company harmless in any action that might be instituted for damages done to person or property while so using the said Road, and guarantee that he will pay for any damage done to said Grand Junction Railway on any part of the Road while so using it; and paying for use of the said Road any reasonable sum that may be agreed upon."

Moved in amendment by Mr. Dickson, seconded by Mr. Ferris, "That Mr. Bickford have the privilege asked to use the Grand Junction Railway, upon condition that he contracts to build the Grand Junction Railway to Hastings, or that satisfactory arrangements can be entered into between the Grand Junction Railway and the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, for the joint ownership or use of the Grand Junction Railway from Belleville to its junction with the Belleville and North Hastings Railway."

Mr. Bowell expressed his surprise at the motion in amendment, as it looked to him like a dog-in-the-manger style of doing business. The Belleville and North Hastings Railway Company were not asking for any favors; when their road was built it would be time enough to ask them to make arrangements for running over the Grand Junction Railway. It was Mr. Bickford, as a contractor, they were now dealing with, who simply asked permission to carry supplies over the road as far as the junction, binding himself to pay not only all damages, if any, but any reasonable sum for the use of the road that might be agreed upon. The road had been used by some one to bring ties from Reid's bridge with an engine, without a cent being charged for the use of the road, and a hand car had been run over the road for months, to the serious injury of some of the farmers along the line, whose fences had been thrown down, and their grain injured, without the Company being paid one cent, and now when a gentleman asked permission to carry supplies over it, and pay for said use, he is told he shall not do it unless he will enter into a contract to build another road to Hastings. It looked like an attempt at coercion, not likely to succeed, and if he were any judge of human nature, it would not succeed, and certainly was displaying a spirit he could not understand. It simply meant this, that the members of the Board were determined, if they could not coerce Mr. Bickford into entering into a contract to build the Grand Junction to Hastings, they would throw all the obstacles in the way possible to prevent him building the North Hastings Road.

Mr. Ferris asked why, if they finished the road to Stirling, they should not carry the freight for Mr. Bickford as well as for others?

Mr. Bowell replied, Certainly. If the Board was prepared to carry the freight, they should have the benefit of it, but were they in that position? True, they had passed a resolution authorizing the raising of $10,000 to finish the road to Stirling, but if he were to judge of the future by the past, there was very little hope of that money being raised; and if it were, the work could not be finished in time to carry this freight over it.

Mr. Dickson contended that now was the time to enforce a contract to Hastings, as Mr. Bickford had the Company by the throat and had threatened to close the mortgage and clean them all out, if he did not get his way. It was that he was fighting about, and did not intend to give anything unless they got something in return. It was true the North Hastings Railway Company was not asking anything as a Company, but every one know that Mr. Bickford owned that road, as he was to run the Grand Junction, and he would prevent it if possible.

Mr. Bickford—You can easily prevent that by paying me my mortgage, which if not done I will sell you all out.

Some further discussion took place of a similar character to the foregoing, when the vote was taken on the amendment of Mr. Dickson.

YEAS.—Messrs. Dickson, Ferris, Fowlds, Brown, Sutherland.—5.

NAYS.—Messrs. Aylesworth, Bowell, and Read.—3

Mr. Bickford asked for a copy of the resolution so that he could frame it, and then in a dramatic style exclaimed "Good night, gentlemen."

A discussion then arose upon the question of people using the road without the permission of the Directors, doing damage to the farmers along the line, when it was Moved by Mr. Dickson, seconded by Mr. Read, "That no person or Corporation be allowed to use the Road in any way, or any portion of it, without the consent of the Board or of the Finance Committee."—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A letter from the city of Mexico on Aug. 23rd says the Mexican Secretary of War, Gen. Gonzales, has no apprehensions of trouble between his country and the United States. He thinks, however, the United States unreasonable in insisting on Mexico preventing all Indians from crossing into their territory, as the U. S. have shown their inability to prevent, or are willfully careless in allowing, Escobedo and his men to cross into Mexico with the avowed purpose of shedding blood.

A Grenada, Miss., special says the negroes are falling like sheep and the whites have no sympathy for them, as they have shown none for the whites.

Canton, Miss., is depopulated. Only one hundred people are left out of a population of 3,500. All the quarantined towns are suffering for the common necessaries of life. The scare, however, is said to be over, and many people are returning to their homes to stay and fight off the fever.

An Atlanta, Ga., despatch says no fever case has occurred in Georgia yet, although a few cases have reached there from New Orleans which have yielded to treatment.

A Vicksburg despatch says the fever is spreading there.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Six clerks in the Philadelphia water department are under arrest charged with forgery and embezzlement aggregating some $30,000. The charges are made by engineer McFadden.

Four steamers sail for Europe to-day, taking the usual cargoes and a fair list of passengers.

It is stated that the defrauding Indian agent, Livingston, is to be immediately proceeded against by the Government for his dealings. His friends defy the Government, and openly say they can control any jury or federal officials in Yankton or that vicinity.

The attack upon the crew of the schooner Rankin, wrecked on the coast of St. Domingo, was a clear act of piracy, but the Dominican Government is powerless and evidently an American gunboat is needed there to protect Americans.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

ROME, Aug. 24.—Lazzaretti, a fanatic of Grosseto, who proclaimed himself prophet and king, was killed at the head of 3,000 followers, who first fired upon the Gen. d'Armes after they had been ordered to disperse.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Arrived, the steamship Scythia from New York and the steamship Celtic from New York.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 24.—Arrived, the steamship Scythia from New York and the steamship Celtic from New York.

ST PETERSBURG, Aug. 24.—A new five per cent loan of 300,000,000 roubles is announced. Issue price 93. The Russian Imperial Bank undertakes to issue the loan.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The house, cheese factory and barns of Jas. Brodie, Rural hill, Jefferson Co., were burned this morning. The fire caught from a steam thresher. Loss $9,000.

NEW YORK, Aug 24.—On July 4th a sneak thief entered the office of Alexander Fraser, Receiver-General at Toronto, Ont., and carried off $12,400 in one and two dollar notes of the Dominion of Canada. Yesterday a man who gave his name as Jacob D. Otis, and his residence as Orange, New Jersey, was arrested, and part of the stolen money, which he was trying to sell, was found in his possession. He was locked up until this morning, when the detectives arraigned him before the Judge of the Police Court, and asked that he be remanded until they heard from Mr. Frazer. The Judge granted the request and remanded Otis until Monday afternoon.

He Took Notes.

The other day a boy of thirteen who looked very innocent and child-like as he reposed very innocently under a shady tree on Beech street, roused up when joined by another lad of his own age and confidentially inquired:

"Well, did you make observashuns?"

"I did," was the reply.

"And we kin hook the apples and not git cotched, kin we?"

"You wait a minute," commanded the other as he held an old shingle up to the light to enable him to read the following "notes" in pencil:

"Went down in front of house; saw old woman with club; saw dog lyin' low for us; saw red-headed girl ready to ring cow-bell and give alarm; saw man inside breathin' hard and achin' to kill a boy; hull fam'ly looked me in eye; pressure too heavy, and I backed off; nice appuls, them, but under the circumstances I guess we'd better keep on chowin' old lemons."

"Nother disappointment added to our burdens," sighed the first, and they loafed on.—Detroit Free Press.

Thomas Jefferson was a tender-hearted man. He would always turn aside rather than step on a wasp when he was barefooted.

When an arrow is dismissed from a bow it goes off in a hurry; but a beau dismissed by a belle sometimes goes off with equal haste.

The difference between the tenant who lives in a widow's house and her only son is, that the tenant has to pay rents while the widow's son has not two parents.

"Do you know, Elvira, that I saw a singular sight this morning? I saw our poor old crippled gardener walk." "That's nothing, William. I saw the garden walk."

"The worst does of 'hop bitters' I ever had," said a young man, "was the other night when I took a girl to a hop, and some other fellow danced with her every set!"

A landlady complained of the propensity of her servant girl to run out and spend her time in the streets. "Why," she said, "that girl will go out twenty times to coming in once!"

A peddler overtaking another of the fraternity on the road, exclaimed: "Halloo! What do you carry?" "Patent medicines," was the reply. "Good. You go ahead. I carry gravestones!" was the rejoinder.

A philosopher says: "The most dangerous period of a boy's history is when he begins to think his mother doesn't know enough to select clothing for him; but, if she has energy and muscle, he may yet be saved."

What is the difference between a provident widow and a wife who talks about her "liege lord?" One husbands her means, and the other means her husband.

Lady (anxious to get home)—"Shall we turn to the right or go straight on?" Thomas (the new boy, much flattered at having his taste consulted.) "Laws, my lady, it don't make no odds to me."

Every plain girl has one consolation. Though not a pretty young lady, she will, if she lives long enough, be a pretty old one.

Boyle Roche once said in the Irish Parliament—"Mr. Speaker, I would give the half of the constitution—nay, the whole of it—to preserve the remainder."

"Sam, you are not honest. Why do you put all the good peaches on the top of the measure, and the little ones below?" "Same reason, sah, dat makes de front of your house marble and de back gate chiefly slop bar'l, sah."

A jeweller being sent to prison, said to the turnkey: "If you'll let me out, I'll sell your watch for you to good advantage." "No, no," responded the turnkey; "instead of letting you sell my watch, I'll watch your cell."

A little girl who had been very observant of her parents' mode of exhibiting their charity, being asked what generosity was, answered: "It's giving to the poor all the old stuff you don't want yourself."

"Don't talk to me of Switzerland!" exclaimed a young lady who had just come home from the foreign tour. "It's a horrid place! All mountains, and lakes, and glaciers, and hardly a young man to be seen!"

A little boy asked his mother if fish were not thieves. She told him she guessed not, and wanted to know why he asked the question, to which he responded; "Well, ma, I thought they must be, because it is so common to see a fish hook!"

Political Notes.

The Americans are organizing to crush out Canadian industry, they shut us out of their markets and refuse to do business with us in the way of buying without we pay into their treasury such sums of money as make it impossible to compete with them in that country. We throw open our gate to them and invite them to enter almost free, allowing them to bring such unfair competition as to ruin our manufacturers. Our population of four millions giving all the odds and getting none cannot be expected to compete with forty-five millions. If they would allow us to enter their markets upon the same terms as they enter ours, we would have nothing to say. But as they will not trade with us on these terms it is our duty to put a barrier upon them, as they have upon us. We cannot prosper without this is done. The one-sided free rade policy is weighing us down.

An endeavor is being made to induce Mr. Laurier, in default of a more eligible Liberal candidate, to oppose Mr. McDougall at Three Rivers, Mr. Laurier was inclined to take the bait; but there is reason to believe that after having tested the feeling of the constituency by meetings which he was called, he is inclined to say "nonpossumus." Considerable champagne is said to have been expended in the operation of pulse feeling, one grand supper having been made use of.

Extracts from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P.,

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contans a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

McHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY, 225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully, ROBERT COTTON.

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

A discount of twenty per cent. will be allowed to clubs of four or more persons. Thus: four copies of Blackwood or of one Review will be sent to one address for $12.80, four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $48, and so on.

To clubs of ten or more, in addition to the above discount, a copy gratis will be allowed the getter-up of the club.

PREMIUMS.

New subscribers (applying early) for the year 1878 may have, without charge, the numbers for the last quarter of 1877 of such periodicals as they may subscribe for.

Or instead, new subscribers to any two, three or four of the above periodicals, may have one of the "Four Reviews" for 1877; subscribers to all five may have two of the "Four Reviews," or one set of Blackwood's Magazine for 1877.

Neither premiums to subscribers nor discount to clubs can be allowed, unless the money is remitted direct to the publishers. No premiums given to Clubs.

To secure premiums it will be necessary to make early application, as the stock available for that purpose is limited.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Denvit who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time.

Pocket your pesjs ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are daily coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "Domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

Daily Intelligencer.

Consorting with Traitors!

"There's a land that bears a well-known name,
Though it is but a little spot,
'Tis first on the blazing scroll of fame,
And who dare say 'tis not?"

From that land Canadians are proud to have sprung, and our connection with it we prize as our greatest glory, but a party has lately arisen in Canada which would sever our connection with the old flag, and under the specious name of "Canadian Independence," pave the way for Annexation. Read what the Globe said on 27th October, 1874, when Goldwin Smith advocated Independence :—

"The advocacy of Canadian Independence touches every individual in the Dominion in all his dearest and most important relations. It puts all his material, social and religious interests into possible jeopardy, and at the least, into a condition of manifest uncertainty. It cannot even be discussed without implying that there is no present national feeling, and not even present national prejudices. Its coming up as a question to be discussed, or even tolerated, implies the utmost indifference to the present order of things, if not the most absolute hostility to its continuance. * * * No Government worth the name, no people possessed of the very first breathings of national life, would ever tolerate, under the plea of free discussion, assaults upon the very existence of the form of government, or the advocacy of schemes which struck at all that had hitherto been held dear, and all that had been won by years of war."

Though the language is strong, it will find an echo in every loyal heart throughout the Dominion. Let electors ponder it, and then

LOOK AT THE DISLOYAL CREW

Whom Mackenzie has taken in to help him govern the country :

Lucius Seth Huntington, Postmaster General, the leader of the Independence movement, who in the Parliamentary Companion, (1875, p. 32,) boldly proclaims himself "A Liberal, and in favor of the Political Independence of Canada."

Telesphore Fournier, late Minister of Justice who says of himself (Par. Comp. 1878, p. 219) "A Liberal, and in favor of the Political Independence of Canada."

Toussaint Antoine Rodolphe Laflamme, Minister of Justice, who proclaims himself (Par. Comp., 1875, p. 242), "A member of the Parti National," one of whose leading planks is Independence!

Luc Letellier de St. Just, late Minister of Agriculture, who proclaims himself (Par. Comp. 1875, p. 85,) "A Liberal and Nationalist."

Alfred Gilpin Jones, Minister of Militia, who declared he would take off his hat and cheer when the British flag was hauled down!"

Loyal electors of the Dominion, who still cherish the old flag, will you tolerate a Ministry composed of such men !

"If all unite, as once we did, to keep that flag unfurled, Britannia yet may fearless bid defiance to the world !"

But we have traitors amongst us who would pull down that flag, because as the emblem of Britain's might it stands in the way of their base designs ! Alfred Jones, now made Minister of Militia by Mackenzie, in a Public Meeting at Halifax, declared he would take off his hat and cheer when the British flag was hauled down ! That loyal old soldier, General Sir Hastings Doyle, who was Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia at the time, could not tolerate traitors to the flag he had fought for, and thus wrote of Jones :—

"GOVERNMENT HOUSE, Halifax, March 1, 1871.

"MY DEAR TUPPER,—More about my friend (!) Alfred Jones ! Herewith I send an account of the meeting at which he made use of the disloyal expression that 'when the British flag is hauled down from the citadel he would take off his hat and cheer.' The judges who were present most distinctly heard him say so, and Thompson 'Hoss' a son-in-law (!) and others who were at the meeting all declare to his having made use of those expression, and that his whole speech was of a most inflammatory nature. The occasion of his making use of the above named disloyal harangue, was at the meeting held to prevent the Governor General receiving an address, or being in any way recognized by the Local Government, who strictly abided by their decision. I have telegraphed you to-day to remind you of this speech, so that when he makes his appearance at Ottawa you may not throw your arms around him and embrace him. I do not venture to dictate to others what line they should adopt towards persons who publicly preach disloyalty, but it is but right that I should remind my friends at Ottawa that he was guilty of making that speech, and that I have sent him to Coventry ever since.

"Vail, who is somehow or other related to him, came to me some time ago, to say that what he (Jones) did utter was in the heat of the moment, and that he never intended to say what had been attributed to him that was he meant to say was that he would cheer when the British flag was hauled down from the citadel, because Nova Scotia could then fight Canada and shake off her yoke, but this he did not add because his voice was drowned with hisses and hooting. I told Mr. Vail that I would not sit at the same table with him until he publicly denied his disloyal sentiments, but he has never done so. If he would even now do so publicly at Ottawa, I would make bygones be bygones.

Yours sincerely,

"HASTINGS DOYLE."

The Judges of the Supreme Court were present, but promptly got up and left the meeting, to mark their disapprobation of the traitor's speech. Here is what Chief Justice Young and Judge Debarres say :—

"In August, 1869, the then Governor General, Sir John Young, visited Halifax on his official visit. It was the first official visit of her Majesty's representative since the passage of the Dominion Act. An address was called by the Mayor to make arrangements for the reception of his Excellency, and the Judges of the Supreme Court, having conferred together, thought it their duty to attend and take part in the proceedings. They went, therefore, in a body to the City Council Chamber. In the course of the discussion that ensued, Mr. Jones addressed the meeting in very warm language, in which the Judges listened in silence, till he uttered these words : 'When the British flag is hauled down from the Citadel Hill, I shall take off my hat and cheer.' Four of the Judges, the late Judge Johnson, that late Judge Dodd, the Chief Justice, and Judge Desbarres, at once rose from their seats and left the room, without saying a word, but to mark their strong disapprobation of so disloyal a sentiment. This fact was witnessed, and the objectionable speech was heard, by a crowded audience, and if any one was daring enough to question so memorable an occurrence, it could be easily and abundantly proved.

(Signed) "W. YOUNG,
"W. S. DESBARRES.

"Halifax, Feb'y 18, '78."

This is the man whom Mackenzie has taken into the Government and made Minister of Militia !

Let the loyal electors of the Dominion say how they regard the taking of this traitor into the Cabinet !

The London Foreign Times says :—"England's sugar trade is going to the dogs, like many others already gone and going, all brought about through a stupidly one-sided Free Trade policy, which we have constantly and strenuously opposed." Ours went to the "demnition bow wows" some time ago.

Elevating the Standard.

Mackenzie sought to gain the confidence of the country by proclaiming that his was the party of purity, and when he dissolved the House in 1874 he announced to the country that they were going to "elevate the standard of morality !"

THIS IS HOW HE DID IT : Major Walker spent $10,000 in London in "putting down bribery and corruption ;" Cameron of Huron confessed to spending $6,000 ; Cook of Simcoe spent $28,000 in two elections ; Norris with his "missionary money" in Lincoln ; besides Shibley, Jodoin, McGregor, Irving, Wood, Devlin, Coupal, Biggar, Aylmer, Wilkes, Prevost, Higginbotham, Gushing, Tremblay, Macdonald of Cornwall, McNab, Mackenzie of Montreal, Stuart, Kerr, J. Lorn McDougall, O'Donohue, Dymond and other standard elevators all unseated for bribery and corruption !

Reader, what think you of the hypocrites who proclaimed they were "elevating the standard of morality ?"

Some More Elevating of the Standard.

One of the great doctrines which Mackenzie in Opposition was never tired of upholding was the Independence of Parliament. Electors will all remember how fiercely Blake and Mackenzie denounced Col. Gray being selected to codify the laws and paid for his services. But when Mackenzie got into power, this, with other Reform doctrines, was thrown to the winds ! He subsidized the Speaker of the House with printing contracts to the amount of $18,648 ! (Sess. Pap. 59, 1877). The printing office of which Vail of Digby and Jones of Halifax were part proprietors was subsidized with $26,793 Post Office printing ! (Sess. Pap. 59, 1877). Norris of Lincoln and his partner got contracts for carrying steel rails to the amount of $126,186 ! (Pacific R. Rep. 1877, pp. 392,395,) and they got their contract at $6.20 per ton when another person had offered to carry them for $6 ! A. G. B. Bannerman, member for Provencher, was subsidized with large sums for various contracts, drawing $24,051 of public money in 1877 ! (Pub. Acc. 1877). Besides these, there were Wood, Bannerman, of Montreal, McLeod, of Kent, and others, all drawing large sums in defiance of the Independence of Parliament Act ! When his wholesale violation of the Independence of Parliament was discovered, Mackenzie PASSED A WHITEWASHING ACT to relieve his friends from the penalties incurred in violating the law ! (40 Vic., chap. 2).

What do the Electors think of this great champion of the Independence of Parliament ?

Political Notes.

Here is more evidence that a Protective tariff ruins industry and swamps capital : In 1861, when the Morill tariff came into force the exports of iron and steel from the United States amounted to $5,932,000 ; in 1876 they amounted to $16,175,000

Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, Prime Minister of Canada, Salary per year, $8,000 ; additional for sessional allowance, $1,000 ;—Total $9,000. Sir John A. Macdonald, Prime Minister of Canada, salary, $5,000 ; additional for sessional allowance, $600 ;—Total $5,600. Increased salary per annum of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, Prime Minister of Canada over that of Sir John A. Macdonald, while holding the same office, THREE THOUSAND FOUR HUNDRED DOLLARS. Next !

St. John's (Que) News :—"The way the tariff works to the advantage (?) of Canadian farmers has just received another practical illustration. Speculators across the Vermont frontier are buying up pork and sending it to Montreal. The duty on it is only ten per cent. On pork going from Canada to the States the duty is one cent per lb., or about forty per cent. But the advantage of all this is to make Canada a cheap place to live in."

The St. Paul Press says :—"A number of Canadians are settling in a colony just below the boundary line. They have at least been made to understand the tariff question. One of them writes that he used to be a Free Trader but would like to remain one, but one-sided Free Trade is too much for him." It is getting too much for us all.

The Peterboro' Review indites the following in the most innocent manner possible :—One of the old "Reform" principles which was loudly advocated while the party were in Opposition was that the Government should not be allowed to influence members of Parliament by giving them employment. It was probably to keep up his character for being consistent, at least to extent of always acting in opposition to his former principles, that Mr. Mowat employed Mr. Hodgins, M.P.P., on the Boundaries Commission.

Mr. Mills has been quite energetic in his efforts to impress upon the people of Canada the beauty and purity of American sugar ; in fact, he considerf it almost beneficial that we should import American sugar instead of manufacturing for ourselves. Among other nice little frauds that the special agents of the Government at Washington have discovered, is the fact that from molasses is manufactured sugar of a low grade not fit for consumption, but which is made purposely for sale and work up with imported sugar and converted into different classes of refined sugars suitable for export —suitable for export to Canada, doubtless.

In three ordinary years under the government of Sir John Macdonald, 1870-1-2, there was expended in contingencies, the sum of $956,635. In the first three years under Mr. Mackenzie, there was expended for the same purpose, one million one hundred and sixty thousand seven hundred and fifty-one dollars, or an increase of two HUNDRED AND FOUR THOUSAND ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY DOLLARS over and above the sum expended by the government of Sir John ; the increase being at the rate of $68,039 a year. Mr. Mackenzie said before coming into power that there were so many clerks around the parliament buildings at Ottawa, that he could not go through the halls without stumbling over them. Of course when Mr. Mackenzie came into power he would decrease them ! This is how he did it : Of the increased expenditure just quoted for contingencies during Mr. Mackenzie's first three years of office, the sum of EIGHTY-THREE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND EIGHTY DOLLARS was for EXTRA CLERKS, being at the annual rate of $27,960. Oh, Grit Reform, how consistent thou art !

St. Thomas Times :—"What many farmers are asking themselves just now is, whether good crops with a poor price are any better than poor crops and a good price. They have now a good crop, but cannot look for a very good price. They need never look with certainty for that until we have built up a good home market by the adoption of a National Policy."

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons :—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 26.

What We Pay the Yankees.

We have previously shown that for the past seven years at least the balance of trade has been largely against Canada, and that we have as a country been running in debt to the extent of over twenty millions of dollars a year. We now propose to show that Canada is in effect tributary to the United States, and pays a large amount each year into the Washington Treasury, without which the United States Government could not succeed in wiping off their war debt as fast as they are doing.

To illustrate, we shall choose only a few of the leading articles of Canadian export, as it would make the matter more tedious to read, and we include all dutiable articles. For the same reason we choose only one year, 1875, which cannot be considered unfair, by way of illustration. In that year we have the following result :—

	Bushels.	Duty.
Barley and Rye	5,419,054	$ 812,858
Oats	298,933	29,898
Peas	2,830,731	283,073
Wheat	4,383,022	876,604
Beans	111,450	11,145
Other Seeds	45,375	13,567
Flour	302,782 brls	309,048
Meal	30,726	14,039
No. of Horses	4,382	92,134
" Cattle	38,968	164,704
" Sheep	242,438	127,512
" Swine	16,779	30,456
Lumber	579,686 M.	1,159,372
Total		$3,925,309

The above does not include many articles such as skins, furs, manufactured goods, &c., &c., which would swell up the amount to over $4,000,000 per year that we are paying brother Jonathan, for which we get no perceptible return.

We may also mention that during the same year the Americans sent us, free of duty :

Corn	3,679,746	bushels,
Wheat	5,105,188	"
Other Grain	294,623	"
Total	9,079,557	"

Is there anything in this arrangement? The figures, taken from the Blue Book, require no comment.

ANOTHER GRIT TRICK.

The St. Catharines Journal informs its readers that "a Grit emissary is at present "going about the country calling upon the "manufacturers and mechanics, making "special inquiries as to the amount of pro-"tection they would like for the several ar-"ticles which they manufacture, at the same "time stating that he has been sent by the "Government with a view to having the "tariff altered after the elections. We "wonder if this gentleman takes the peo-"ple of this country to be a set of fools." We presume there are a host of these Grit minions at work just now. "We heard," says the Mail, "lately of the operations of one of them in Toronto. His position enabled him to speak with authority. Talking with some dissatisfied Reformers—men whom the trade policy of the Government has driven into Opposition—he pleaded with them to exercise patience, and assured them that if they would but vote for the Government this time, they would get all the protection they wanted. It is not easy to fancy anything more despicable."

THE DECLINE IN BRITISH EXPORTS.—The Sheffield Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting yesterday, passed the following resolution :—" That, in the opinion of this association, it is desirable that a Royal Commission or Parliamentary Committee should be appointed for the purpose of making inquiry into the present condition of British foreign trade, with special reference to the effect which has been produced upon it by foreign competition, and that such a commission or committee should investigate the cause of the decline of British exports."—London Times.

This is an important piece of evidence as to the amazing power of American manufactures to beat out of the home market English made goods, and as to the constantly questioned fact that British exports are declining seriously. The cry for Protection will greatly gain in England in a short time.

—An Erie, Pa., telegram says the new tramp law under which tramps are sentenced to thirty days' hard labor works admirably.

Beautiful Consistency.

The only policy which the Mackenzie Government profess to have is a "do-nothing" policy in fiscal matters, with a strong bias in favor of free trade. The columns of the Globe are daily burdened with arguments in favor of free trade, and all the minor organs fairly bristle with matter of a similar character. Yet what do we find in West Hastings? Why, that the Grit free-traders of the constituency have placed in the field as their candidate a gentleman who has been their life-long opponent—who defeated their candidates in 1867 and in 1872, and whom they dare not oppose in 1874—who has, moreover, voted steadily in favor of the principle of Protection, except in one solitary instance, and is therefore diametrically opposed to them on the one plank of which their platform is constructed. The spectacle presented is certainly an edifying and instructive one, namely : A Free-trade party supporting a Protectionist candidate, and on the other hand a Protectionist candidate supporting a Free-trade Government. Which is the prettier of the two? "You pays your money and you takes your choice." Truly, misfortune makes strange bedfellows, and this is a fine instance of the truth of the adage.

Our Fiscal Policy.

The Montreal Journal of Commerce, an independent commercial journal, to which Sir Francis Hincks is a contributor, and which usually espouses the cause of the Grits, says in its last issue, and its opinions are entitled to great weight in this connection : "Even Professor Fawcett acknowledges the difficulty of applying Free Trade principles to established industries, and, although it may be urged that our industries grew up under a very moderate protection, yet it can hardly be denied that such protection is less operative at present than it was a few years ago. Even at the risk of some loss, owing to increased price, we would favor a policy which would give Canadian markets to our Canadian industries, and we believe that the result of such a policy would not be an increase of price. Our object, of course, would not be to obtain revenue from such duties, but to exclude foreign competition. We own that it is not without considerable hesitation that we have arrived at the conclusion that it is safe to deviate, as far as we have suggested, from what we believe the sound policy of Free Trade."

MR. BROWN'S MEETING.

A meeting of the friends and supporters of Mr. James Brown, the Reform nominee for West Hastings, was held in the Metropolitan Hall on Saturday evening for the purpose of organization. The attendance was much smaller that at the initial meeting of the Conservatives on Thursday evening, those present numbering, at a liberal estimate, perhaps 300, of whom at least one-third (some say as many as two-thirds) were supporters of Mr. Wallbridge, probably from 50 to 100 non-voters, and the remainder were personally adherents of the Grit candidate in the impending contest.

Mr. J. J. B. Flint, President of the Reform Association, presided, and announced that the meeting was one of the friends and supporters of Mr. Brown, not for the purpose of discussing the political questions of the day, but for organization.

Mr. Brown was then introduced, and spoke at some length, but so indistinctly that the pleasure of hearing more than a few words occasionally was confined to the very few who occupied the front benches. He was, however, understood to leave the questions of the day untouched, saying that they would be discussed at future meetings, and to state that in this, as in previous contests, he ran as an independent candidate.

Mr. Thomas Holden was the Demosthenes of the occasion, and made a speech of some length, being very careful to say, in the first place, that he was not present at the Convention which nominated Mr. Brown, thereby inferentially disclaiming any responsibility for placing his party in the anomalous position which it now occupies. He said that he had looked over Mr. Brown's addresses in former contests, and found that he occupied the same position now that he had always occupied, namely that of an independent candidate ; therefore he was at a loss to know why those who formerly supported Mr. Brown were opposing him now. This query can best be answered by propounding another, namely : Why is it that Mr. Holden and others who formerly, with might and main, opposed Mr. Brown (occupying, they say, the same position then as now) are now classed amongst his most ardent supporters? Mr. Holden also asserted that in Parliament Mr. Brown had done nothing of which any one could disapprove—an assertion which would there and then have been clearly shown to be false had not the declaration been previously made that the meeting was not one for discussion. The speaker also made some terrible threats of what he will do when he meets Mr. Wallbridge in discussion. Well, we shall see what we shall see. A short story may here be appropriately told for Mr. Holden's delectation, namely that once upon a time a man walked twenty miles to whip another man, but when the would-be fighter reached the goal of his journey the man he went to beat would not allow him to do it.

Mr. D. B. Robertson also made a short speech, "full of sound and fury." He declared that, as a Liberal-Conservative, he saw no change in Mr. Brown's position, meaning we suppose, that it is his belief that if Sir John A. Macdonald, the leader of the party to which Mr. Robertson belongs, be returned to power, Mr. Brown will support him, just as he did before.

This was the last speech, except a few manly words from the Chairman as to how he wished the contest to be conducted, and business was then proceeded with, Committees being formed from the (by actual count) sixty-seven persons who remained to assist actively in securing the election of Mr. Brown.

The smallness of the meeting must have a disheartening effect upon our opponents, who seemingly lack all enthusiasm in support of their candidate and evidently regard defeat as a foregone conclusion. Their only hope is in Sidney and there, we venture to say, a great disappointment awaits them.

The Globe and the Grits used to denounce C. J. Brydges as an incompetent railway manager ;—when they got into power they made him Manager of Government Railways, at $8,000 a year !

An Absurdity Exposed.

The Montreal Journal of Commerce thus shows the absurdity of the Globe's assertion that if Canada imposes higher duties on British manufactures Great Britain will impose a heavy duty on Canadian food products : "We are in the position in which England has been for upwards of 30 years with the United States and other foreign countries, that is, harassed with a hostile tariff. The policy of England has been to reduce to the lowest price every article consumed by her people, so as to enable her industries to thrive as much as possible. Her industrious classes, having cheap food and clothing are enabled to subsist on low wages. The English Free Trade policy has, therefore, been as Mr. Macpherson, very correctly expressed it, 'an exceedingly able and profound policy of protection.' That policy has been to protect the consumers, not the producers, by furnishing every necessary of life as low as possible to those who supply the exports. We cannot, however, look to England to countenance such an absurdity as a duty on the articles which we export, and that proposition is one of the fallacies which are gravely proposed at present, although we have no apprehension whatever that they will be carried out."

Political Notes.

Sir John Macdonald is making a personal canvass and receiving very flattering assurances of support.

Messrs. J. M. Currier and Joseph Tasse have been nominated by the Conservatives in Ottawa.

No opponent as yet to Hon. Joseph Dubuc, independent candidate for Provencher. Dr. Schultz is the Opposition candidate for Lisgar, and Mr. Ryan the Opposition candidate for Marquette.

Mr. Rainville of Arthabaskaville, has been selected to be the Rouge candidate for Drummond and Arthabaska, Hon. Mr. Laurier having declined to again contest the county. Mr. Bourbeau, who defeated Mr. Laurier, will again be the Conservative candidate.

Dr. Laberge will oppose Hon. Mr. Holton in Chateauguay. He was the Conservative candidate in the recent Local election, and was defeated by only 88.

No candidate has yet been found by the Liberals to oppose Mr. Desjardins in Hochelaga.

The Rouges have been unable to get a candidate to oppose Mr. Macdougall in Three Rivers, and he will probably walk the course. In any case the fight will be between two Conservatives.

Mr. McCarthy has been nominated by the Grits in Halton, and Mr. Macdougall has accepted the Opposition nomination under circumstances which give the strongest possible assurances of his election.

The Globe daily bores its readers with a column of quotations from Bastiat, Fawcett, Edmund About, and other Free Trade theorists. Why doesn't it reproduce that quotation from John Stewart Mill, the most eminent of all Free Traders, on the duty of a country circumstanced as Canada is.

There is a general rumor in Kingston that the Grit candidate will not face the music in Frontenac, not deeming his chances worth fifty dollars. He is wise.

The Finance Minister, "mixer and muddler of figures," announced in Nova Scotia a few days ago, that he expects to have AN-OTHER DEFICIT THIS YEAR ! Hurrah for the party of taxation and deficits !

F. X. Archambeault, the Grit candidate in Montreal West, has declared himself to be a Protectionist. Grit Protectionists who invariably vote to sustain a Free Trade Government, are strange creatures.

Lieut.-Col. the Hon. E. G. P. Littleton has been appointed Military Secretary to the Marquis of Lorne, the new Governor-General of Canada.

And still a Grit candidate for Montreal West cannot be obtained. The Government party are evidently in a bad way in the commercial capital, as in two divisions of the leading city of the country they cannot get a candidate to carry their banner.

Mr. Tasse has definitely decided to accept the Conservative nomination for Ottawa, the conditions upon which he agreed to do so having been complied with by the Conservative Association of that city. It is pretty certain that the contest will lie between Messrs. Currier and Tasse on the one side, and Dr. St. Jean and Mayor Bangs on the other. There are rumors afloat that an independent candidate will be brought out, and several names are mentioned in this connection.

Mr. Fugure, of Batiscan, is to be the Liberal candidate for the County of Champlain in opposition to Mr. Montplaisir, Conservative.

Mr. Fred. Houde, of Montreal, Conservative candidate for the Country of Maskinonge, is now on his way to the County, where he goes to push his candidature.

Rails bought 1875, 55,000 tons or 555 miles—Railway under contract, 1878, 3 years after, only 309 miles ! (P. Works Rep. p. 189.)

For the year ending 30th June, 1873, $13,033,856 of Customs revenue was collected by Sir John Macdonald at an expenditure of $676,705, (Pub. Acc. p. 9 ;) but in 1877 it cost under Mackenzie $721,804 to collect $12,556,767, (Pub. Acc. p. 11,) or $153,839 more to collect $477,089 less !

For the year ending 30th June, 1873, Sir John Macdonald collected $4,527,287 of Excise revenue at an expense of $171,704, or about $3.79 per $100. (Pub. Acc. p. 13.) For year ending June, 1877, Mackenzie's government took $211,157 to collect $4,973,951, or about $4.24 per $100 ! (Pub. Acc. p. 15.)

For year ending June, 1873, under Sir John Macdonald, the Montreal Custom House collected $5,017,207, at an expence of $877,33. Pub. Acc. p. 5. In 1877, under Mackenzie, they had run the expenses up $117,689 for collecting $3,869,704, (Pub. Acc. p. 5,) or $30,256 more for collecting $1,147,505 less !

Sheriff Chauveau, of Jacques Cartier, being too ill to receive the writ and arrange for the coming election, the next persons, according to the Act, whose services should have been invoked, were Messrs. Nicotte and Filiatrault, the Registrars for the district, but they were not approached, and now the writ for the County of Jacques Cartier has been handed over to Mr. P. C. Valois, N. P., one of Mr. Laflamme's strongest supporters, and Chairman of his Committee at the last election. This course requires explanation. If it is not afforded, there would seem prima facie evidence of something highly irregular, not to say improper. Rumour in the county says that one of Mr. Laflamme's principal supporters, in fact his fidus Achates, is to have the contract for completing the Carillon canal, and that he is holding out as an inducement to voters the prospect of work on the celebrated Isle Bizard quarry. Other new works are being freely spoken of.

Another Exhibition of the Two-Faced Shield.

Said Mr. Cartwright at Halifax :—

"In short, sir, if I were to select any term of seven years since the adoption of the present constitution which exhibited a scene of the wide spread dismay and desolation, it would be exactly that term of seven years which immediately preceded the establishment of the Tariff of 1874."

And again, by way of contrast :—

"If the term of seven years were to be selected of the greatest prosperity which the people have enjoyed since the establishment of their present constitution, it would be exactly that period of seven years which immediately followed the passage of the tariff of 1874."

We can well fancy what the reader's criticism of such fustian as this will be. Our own brief comment is simply that there is reason to doubt the entire sanity of a man who could be guilty of speaking so foolishly and absurdly before an intelligent audience. Be it remembered, too, that for the greater part of the first period of seven years Mr. Cartwright was the humble follower of Sir John A. Macdonald! —Mail.

A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—The one-dollar Dominion note counterfeits in circulation are said to be hard to detect. The first "I" in Dickinson is not dotted, and the green back ground is of a lighter shade than in the genuine note.

A FRACTIONAL DIVIDEND.—Says the Montreal Journal of Commerce :—"The creditors of the estate of Bond Bros. were surprised this week at receiving a copy of the dividend sheet from the assignee, which showed them that in a few days they will receive a quarter of a cent on the dollar of their claims."

HANLAN AND COURTNEY.—On Thursday last David Ward, Vice-President of the Hanlan Club, met the representatives of the Courtney Club at Rochester, and drew up articles of agreement for a race to take place between the two great scullers on the 1st of October. The distance will be five miles, with a turn, the stakes to be $2,500 a side. The place at which the race will come off has not yet been decided on, but the Courtney party offer $5,000 for the privilege of naming the water.

THE OSBORNE MURDER TRIAL.—The trial of the Osborne family for the murder of the Moncton tavernkeeper, Timothy McCarthy, at Shediac, in October last, has ended in the disagreement of the jury, after being out 13 hours. The prisoners have been remanded to jail, and the Court adjourned until Tuesday, November 2nd. John Osborne, who has been held as accessory, has been released on bail. Annie Parker, the principal witness, is to be kept in custody. One report says the jury stood ten for conviction two for acquittal ;—Another report four were for conviction, and two for acquittal, the remainder doubting. The trial has occupied the Court from the 12th of July to the present time, and 119 witnesses in all were examined.

Though Mackenzie and his party declared that the Pacific Railway was almost too huge an undertaking for Canada ; yet as soon as he got into power, instead of using our resources to build the railway proper, he subsidized the Canada Central $1,440,000, and proposed to add the unnecessary Georgian Bay Branch and 65 miles of railway on Vancouver Island, at a cost of several millions more ! The latter was opposed by Blake, and thrown out by the Senate.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, AUG. 26.

City and Vicinity.

Launch.—Mr. Wm. Pike was to launch his new ten ton standing keel yacht to-day.

Personal.—Mr. Thos. J. Shanks, editor of the New York Witness, who is a graduate of the Intelligencer office, is in the city.

Registered.—In the list of names registered in the London office of the Globe during the past week we see the name of Mr. S. J. Bull, of Belleville.

For a Cruise.—The Katie Gray will leave to-morrow for a cruise amongst the Thousand Islands, with Mr. W. H. Campbell, her owner, and a party.

Cheese Fair.—The dates for the holding of the Ingersoll Cheese Fair have been altered from the 16th and 17th of September to the 13th and 14th.

Strike on the Midland.—We are informed that about two hundred men on the Midland Railway extension struck work on Friday.

First Meeting.—Mr. Wallbridge will hold his first meeting at Sager's Hall, Frankford, to-morrow night. The candidate and several of his prominent supporters will address the meeting. Mr. Brown is invited to be present.

Pic-Nic.—The annual pic-nic of Christ Church Sunday School will take place at the Lake on the Mountain on Thursday next, per steamer Hastings. The steamer will leave her wharf at 8:30 a. m., returning at 7 in the evening.

Dedication.—The Mill Point Echo says:—"The new Orange Hall in this place will be dedicated on the 3rd prox. The Grand Master and Deputy Grand Master and several of the leading men of the order will assist at the dedication."

Better than whiskey and quinine for Chills, Sandford's Jamaica Ginger.

Accidents.—John Bradford, a fireman of No. 2 Company, had an ugly gash cut in his forehead by a branch pipe at the fire to-day, and a man named McMullen was run over by the engine horses, the hoofs of one striking his head, causing a very bad wound.

The M. E. Conference.—The city of Belleville is to be the seat of the General Conference of the M.E. Church in Canada, which will meet to-morrow at 10 a. m. The session will probably last two weeks, and among the distinguished visitors from abroad will be Rev. Dr. Todd, and the Rev. Bishop Haven, D. D., one of the Bishops of the M. E. Church, U. S. A.

Stone Throwing.—As Messrs. W. H. Hastings and H. Green, of this city, were driving through Foxboro last night, some evil disposed person threw a stone at the buggy in which they were and struck Mr Green on the head, causing a very seriou wound, from which he bled profusely. He was taken to Dr. Fairfield's, in the village, who dressed the wound, and they proceeded homeward.

Erratum.—In our report of Hon. Mr. Wallbridge's speech at the great meeting on Thursday night, he is represented as saying "The consumer pays the duty, and not the man who produces the article." That this is a misreport can easily be perceived by the context, Mr. Wallbridge's whole argument being devoted to proving that the Canadian producer and not the consumer pays the duty on articles which enter into competition with similar products of the countries to whose markets our produce is sent.

Fire.—A fire broke out shortly after noon in the brick Foundry occupied by Messrs. Martin, on Mill Street. The fire took place in the roof, and is supposed to have been caused by a spark from the axe factory. The hose of the axe factory was first turned on the fire, and had got it pretty well under subjection when the engines arrived. The building is owned by Mr. Burrell, and the roof was almost entirely burned off. Mr. Burrell's loss is covered by an insurance in the Royal. The heaviest losers are the Martin Bros., who lose a large quantity of patterns, as well as having their machinery very much damaged. They estimate their loss at about $2,000, on which they have no insurance. A portion of the building is occupied as a carding mill by Mr. Lott, who experiences a loss in the wetting of wool and machinery.

Harper's Magazine.—Harper's Magazine for September, with the two serial stories by Black and Harty, representing the best work of these two great novelists; three brilliant short stories by Mrs E. Latimer, Rebecca Harding Davis, and Rose Terry Cooke; a dramatic sketch of thrilling interest by T. B. Aldrich, with three admirable illustrations by Abbey; a humorous sketch by Charles D. Deshler, entitled "Ab'm: A Glimpse of Modern Dixie," illustrated by Pyle; an illustrated poem, of pathetic interest, the "Foreclosure of the Mortgage," by Mrs E. T. Corbett; other poems by Ruth Dana and Harriet Prescott Spofford; several illustrated articles, covering a variety of subjects; timely articles of great and immediate interest to all readers, and the five admirably sustained editoral departments—is an exceedinly rich, beautiful and entertaining Number.

Midland Central Fair.—The time for holding this Fair has been unavoidably postponed to the 9th, 10th and 11th Oct., as the county of Lennox Show has been fixed for the days formerly advertised for the Central, and it would be injurious to the Exhibitions to hold them on the same days.

International Courtesy.—The Ottawa Citizen of Saturday says:—"As an evidence of a good feeling existing between the Canadians and our American cousins, a corps of Utica rifles have been permitted to visit Ottawa on Tuesday next, with their arms and uniform. Capt. McCuaig, who is agent for the Utica and Black River Railway in this city, yesterday interviewed the Department of Militia on the subject, and arrangements have been made which will enable the corps to visit our city. Col. Ross, and other officers, will meet the Americans at the depot, and the Foot Guards' Band will play them through the principal streets. The Utica corps muster 250 strong, and take an annual excursion."

HORSE STEALING.

Lewis Smith charged William Gordon with stealing his horse, case laid over until Aug. 28th.

Butter Making.

A sweet milk-room with a right temperature is of vast importance in the manufacture of good butter. There is little danger of keeping things too nice. By this I do not wish to imply that by daily moping of the floor is either a necessity or a benefit. On the contrary, the less you wet the floor the sweeter the room will remain. Once a week is often enough to give the place a thorough wetting. Add a little carbolic acid to the water and wipe the floor very dry and every sour or musty odor will be dispelled. Sunshine is a necessity in the milk-room. A little morning brightness helps to keep the atmosphere pure and wholesome. Flies and dust must be excluded when fresh air is admitted. Screen cloth serve to keep the flies out, while cloth frames, hung from the tops of the window frames, on the outside, will keep out the dust and will also give a perfect circulation within. I do not like water in any form about the milk-room. I have tried several methods of using it such as running water, passed through tubes in which the pans were set; pans with water pipes passing through them, etc. Butter made from cream which has risen in a dry atmosphere is certainly of better quality than that made where there is a water moisture exhaled constantly. And it is also firmer and keeps better.

I like large, flat pans best, for we get more cream from them; it is much easier to skim them than if they were smaller and deeper, and they are easier to keep clean.

I did not try the Cooley system of setting the milk in tin cans placing them in a water tank, for years of experience has taught me that air was a necessity to the making of perfect butter. Those who were at first enchanted with this new arrangement after a few months trial discarded it and gone back to the open pans.

Perfect butter requires perfect management in making, as also perfect neatness. Dish-cloths, towels and strainers cannot be kept too sweat, and the breath of blooming flowers and green grass in a milk-room is of no benefit. No odors which are not sweet should not be admitted. Mats to wipe the feet upon are a necessity before coming in from cow-stables or yard, and sometimes the bottoms of the milk-pails need wiping too. A housewife has all this to see to as well as to know that a broom has been used to brush off the cows before milking that no dust or hairs shall fall into the milk. Good sweet pasturage as well as fresh, running water must be provided if good butter is to be the result. Stagnant water will impart to both milk and butter an offensive taste, and impair the health of the cattle as well. Frequent salting is not to be neglected as the butter comes much quicker and is harder if this be not omitted. Never put the hands into butter. There is no excuse for so doing, and every sense of cleanliness forbids it. True, the hands are clean, still as butter absorbs any and every impurity with which it comes in contact, excessive perspiration of the hands or any humor of the blood might thus be imparted to the butter. A wooden ladle to lift the butter from the churn, or to turn it over while being washed, answers just as well, and a great deal better. As regards salting, use the best salt, and to work in just the right quantity, weigh both butter and salt. As regards quantity, there can be no rule, taste of the consumers alone being consulted. If the butter be well worked before salting, less salt is required than if salted when partially worked. Tubs and boxes should be well looked after before the butter is packed in them. Scrub them and soak in brine for a few days, then wash thoroughly and rub the inside with a little salt before packing in butter.—Grandmother in the Rural.

While Mr. Mackenzie was in opposition, and while the question of increased salaries was being discussed, he presented a resolution, (which he afterwards withdrew) that the salaries of the Cabinet should not exceed $75,000, and that they should be graduated according to the responsibilities and duties of the offices. These being Mr. Mackenzie's ideas, when he got into power of course he would see them carried out; and he did it,—but in this manner: Twelve Cabinet Ministers, $7.000 a year each, (no gradation) $84,000, additional $1,000 each sessional allowance, $12,000. Total $96,000, or $21,000 more than Mr. Mackenzie (in Opposition) thought they ought to get! "Oh consistency, thou art a jewel," but how seldom found decking the brow of a Grit Prime Minister!

The principal of the public debt of the United States on the 1st July, 1869, was $2,773,236,000; on the 31st July, 1878, $2,278,717,000; decrease, $494,519,000. In 1873 the public debt of Canada was $99,000,000; it is now $133,000,000. If the States are going to ruin, can it be said that Canada is on the high road to prosperity?

The Mail says:—"As sure as we are of anything human we are sure that the general election is going to reverse the state of parties in the Dominion, and we base this certainty of assurance on the testimony of shrewd men and experienced politicians in every province of the Confederation, as well as our own observation."

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

New York, Aug. 26.—Four burglars entered the house of Mr. Engle at Fairview, N. J., on Saturday night. They first chloroformed the watch dogs which have always been the terror of tramps and burglars. They then proceeded to the room where old Mr. Engle and wife were sleeping, woke them, knocked the old man senseless, gagged him, and tied his hands and feet. One of the villains, with a revolver stood over the old couple, while the other three ransacked the closets, &c. An old man named Earl, chief farmer of the place, and two children slept on the same floor, and the burglars bound Earl and threatened his life, bound the oldest child and took the youngest in the arms of one of the robbers. Young Mr. Engle, a nephew of the old couple, slept on a lower floor. The nephew grasped his revolver and in a few moments fired to draw the fire of the robbers. A succession of shots ensued, one of the robbers exclaiming "I am shot!" when they smashed a window frame and took their wounded thief off, young Mr. Engle following with shot after shot till his revolvers were empty. The neighbors were alarmed, but the scoundrels escaped. A well known thief was arrested late last night in New York wounded, who is believed to be the robber shot.

A San Francisco special says Sand Lot orators on Sunday fiercely denounced Beecher for his lectures.

Latest advices from the fighting revenue officers and illicit distillers in Cooksville, Tenn., are that three distillers are killed and five or six revenue officers wounded. Revenue Officer Davis and men will hold the fort until assistance reaches him.

Arrived, the S. S. City of New York from Liverpool.

The Tribune says Gen. Butler told a personal friend that the original of the alleged Sherman letter has been obtained, and is now in the possession of the Potter Commission. It will be put in evidence in October that he (Butler) had seen it, and has no doubts of its genuineness.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Geneva, Aug. 26.—The Austrian police have surrendered to the Bernese authorities a Swiss lady who, under the name of the Countess Cojewska, sold false jewelry to the amount of a million francs during the past three years at Paris, Nice, Monaco, and other fashionable resorts.

Constantinople, Aug. 26.—The Russian headquarters have been transferred from San Stefano to Rodosto. The British Consul at Adrianople reports that the Bulgarians continue to plunder and outrage Mussulmans. The Greek Archibishop has communicated to the Consul details of the most horrible atrocities.

Munich, Aug. 26.—An order has been issued designating 23 public houses in this city frequented by Socialists, which soldiers are forbidden from visiting.

Washington, Aug. 26.—The Treasurer will to-day issue a call for the redemption of five million 5-20s of '65, Consols of '65, half coupon and half registered.

Glasgow, Aug. 26.—Arrived, the S.S. State of Pennsylvania, from New York.

Southampton, Aug. 26.—Arrived, the S.S. Suevia, from New York.

Providence, R. I., Aug. 26.—An attempt was made early on Thursday morning to rob the First National Bank of Hopkinton at Hope Valley. The neighbors were aroused, and the robbers fled. This is the third unsuccessful attempt to rob this bank.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 26.—As the 6 o'clock train was leaving for the west this morning a train in charge of switch engineer Wm. Thornton run across its track. The result was a collision, by which the two of the locomotives and several cars were damaged and the track badly torn up. Engineer Thornton was killed. He was one of the oldest engineers on the road and leaves a family of 7 grown up children.

Boston, Aug. 26.—Horace H. Day died at Manchester on Friday night, aged 67. He was one of the first manufacturers of vulcanized rubber under the Goodyear patent.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, fresh to brisk westerly to southerly winds, and clear to partly cloudy weather. For the St. Lawrence, brisk westerly to southerly winds, partly cloudy to clear weather. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh westerly to southerly winds, partly cloudy to clear weather.

Washington, Aug. 26.—Indications:—Clear or partly cloudy weather.

Dreadful indeed was it, in the estimation of the Grit organs, for Senator Macpherson to accept an invitation to deliver a few speeches in the old Saugeen district; but it is all right for Senator Pelletier, a member of the Government too, to address public meetings in the interest of a Grit candidate in the City of Quebec!

The close-up-the-manufactories party in Montreal have succeeded in nominating one candidate—Mr. Archambeault—who is to oppose Mr. Coursol (late judge) in the eastern division. In regard to getting candidates for the west and centre the Party is in a straight. The Evening Post says: "No Reformer has the ghost of a chance in the Centre."

The Montreal Star says:—"The Conservatives are working night and day. It will not be their fault if Montreal does not return three Opposition members. The betting is in favor of their doing so."

A man was seen coming out of a Texas newspaper office with one eye gouged out, his nose spread all over his face, and one of his ears chewed off. To a policeman who interviewed him, he replied, "I didn't like an article that peared in the paper last week, an' I went ter see the man who writ it. He were there, stranger."

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

The Farmer's Girl's Choice.

I am only a farmer's girl,
John is only a farmer's lad,
But somehow when we chance to meet,
The very sound of his coming feet
Can make my heart so glad
That up to my cheek the warm blush flies,
And he reads his welcome in my eyes.

I am only a farmer's girl,
Master Tom is the Squire's son,
But, strange to tell, his feet this way
Turn often towards the close of day,
After the chores are done,
When John (he passes the meadow gate)
Gives me a scowl, and—will not wait.

I am only a farmer's girl,
So what can the Squire want of me?
My heart is John's—John knows it well;
But it isn't for me the truth to tell—
So bashful a lad is he!— [go,
So the Squire may come and the Squire may
But all the answer he'll get is "no!"

The Squire praises my hair and eyes;
The Squire says I'm a lady born
What care I for his foolish speech?
'Tis John's voice only my heart can teach
To sing like birds at morn.
But John is jealous, the foolish boy,
And my days are shorn of half their joy.

Oh, I'm only a farmer's girl,
And John is only a farmer's lad,
But I'd rather be his in humble life
Than be a "lady" as Squire's wife,
With a restless heart and sad!
But John—so bashful a boy is he!—
Is a long time asking my heart of me.

Selecting Dairy Cows.

Buyers of cows are often deceived in making purchases for dairy purposes, and in many cases they have only themselves to blame. A cow is not like a horse, whose merits—or want of merits—require, in many cases, a good deal of time to prove them. Her milk and butter-producing qualities can soon be made apparent, and the seller who cannot give reliable facts and figures on these points, and who is unwilling to sell on trial—the price to depend on the test—had better be allowed to keep his stock until he learns that guesses, or yields of "about" so much, have no commercial value.

Let the buyer select his cow or cows, choosing those which please his eye when he has nothing better to depend upon, and take them home, and feed them at first somewhat in porportion to past treatment—if that can be ascertained. I mean—do not feed high too suddenly; past poor feeding may have unfitted them for immediate high living, and so it should be approached gradually. But weigh every milking and every churning, and note them down—then you have a collection of facts before you and from them and the amount of feed given you can easily deduct whether a cow will pay at the price asked, and whether she is "what she is cracked up to be." If from different treatment to good food, good treatment and good shelter for a month or two, the cow makes a steady gain, there is much to hope regarding her; but if the contrary, nothing. Take her back with thanks, pay the forfeit, if any, and try again.

It is certainly a matter for astonishment that those farmers who breed cows to sell, or who buy them sometimes merely to sell again, should not, if honest, keep an honest record of each cow's yield, on which to base their recommendations to customers. It is true that sometimes a record would prove poor qualities rather than good ones, but I think that quite as often it would be the reverse. Most cows which now do decently well with very ordinary treatment, would do vastly better with careful attention and feeding. The professional seller, I think, would find an advantage in this course, even with careless buyers, because the glamour of a great reputation for a cow would lead some persons to buy who would not stop to reflect that such a reputation could be maintained only by the most careful attention to all the cows wants. An old broken down horse, which had in his prime trotted his mile in 2:20 or less, would always bring more than one with no record, or whose best was seven or eight minutes. So of a cow; the fact that she had once done admirably, would give her an attraction in the eyes of many buyers, which no recent disappointment could entirely allay.

The glowing statements which dairymen and dealers now and then make so much of, viz., that a certain cow when fresh, once gave 25 to 30 quarts of milk a day, or 15 or 20 pounds of butter per week, on a certain trial, are more or less delusive. They may be true, and yet the very extreme of the truth. An extra large yield of milk may be truthfully recorded for a single day, by milking the last time at an unusually late hour; and an extraordinary butter yield for a single week may be obtained by artfully crowding three or four churnings into it instead of two, the preceding and the subsequent week being each drawn upon for this purpose. The merit of a really good cow consists not in what she will do with such tests, but in what she will do though a long series of weeks or months, or even years. It is her staying qualities to which the buyer should look. Find a cow, for instance, whose record shows indisputable that she has given, say ten quarts of milk per day for a year, with little fluctuation as to the extremes, or a pound of butter per day for the same time, and then you will have a cow to be proud of. If, on the other hand, the record shows that the cow has "eaten her head off" several times a year, then if you own such a prize you had better dispose of her beef at the earliest moment; or if you do not own her avoid the unhapy consequence of placing yourself in that position.

First-class cows will often be sought for by rich buyers at a price which will pay one to take, even though the cows may be paying well to keep. Good ones, poorly treated, may be brought to their places at cheap rates, and greatly improved by judicious treatment. But in any case keep a record, sell on its merits and buy on its merits, and then some financial danger will be avoided. It is a positive test, while to judge by the "escutcheon," the length and shape of her horns, the size of the milk vein, or any other physical conformation, is more or less delusive.—Conntry Gentleman.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America

PARCEL I.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being composed of part of lot number twenty-nine on the East side of Front Street, in the City of Belleville, and County of Hastings and better known as subdivision number one in the plan called the Campbell Estate, deposited in the Registry Office on the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D., 1865, commencing at the East side of Front Street at the North West corner of said lot No. one, then Easterly parallel with the side line of said lot twenty-nine to the centre line of the block, then Southerly, following the said centre line twenty-two feet more or less to the land sold to John McKeown, then Westerly, parallel with the first mentioned corner to Front Street, then Northerly along Front Street twenty-two feet more or less to the place of beginning, reserving along the centre line of the block on the East end of the lands hereby sold a way twelve feet in width for the use from time to time of the occupants of said lot twenty-nine as well as of the lot twenty-nine on Pinnacle Street, their servants, agents, and workmen. Also all that other part of said lot twenty-nine East side of Front Street, commencing at a point on the line of the East side of Front Street, fifty-one and a half feet South of the North-West corner of said lot number twenty-nine commencing at the South-West corner of part of said lot sold to one Thomas Walters on said side of said Front Street, then Easterly to the South-East corner of said Walters' lot, thence Southerly parallel to Front Street twenty-three feet, thence Westerly to Front Street, thence Northerly twenty-three feet to the place of beginning, reserving thereout and therefrom a right of way twelve feet in width for the use from time to time of the occupants of said lot twenty-nine as well as of the lot twenty-nine on Pinnacle Street their servants, agents, and workmen.

PARCEL II.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being the East half of Lot number twenty-five in the first concession of Thurlow, in the County of Hastings, extending from the travelled road northerly to the Grand Trunk Railway, said to contain one hundred and forty acres, more or less. Also all that part of the West half of Lot number twenty-six, in the first concession of Thurlow, lying between the land owned by Peter and Joseph McDougall and the road travelled from Belleville to Kingston, and being the south half of the said west half of said lot.

Parcel one is situate on the east side of Front Street, between Hotel and Campbell Streets, in a good business location.

Parcel two is situated on the Kingston road, about five miles from Belleville.

On the east half of Lot No. 25 is a stone dwelling house one and a half stories high,—barns and shed in good repair. There are about forty acres of hard wood,—beech and maple.

On the west half of Lot No. 26 is a frame house. The whole is cleared.

The whole is of an excellent clay loam soil, and is well watered.

As Parcel two consists of Farms which must be sold, a bargain is offered.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

Before Taking After Taking

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $1, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig),
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW (Conservative),
THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW (Evangelical,
AND
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH REVIEW.

These Reprints are not selections; they give the originals in full, and at about one-third the price of the English Editions.

The latest advances and discoveries in the arts and sciences, the recent additions to to knowledge in every department of literature, and all the new publications as they issue from the press, are fully reported and discussed in the pages of these periodicals, in language at once clear, forcible and comprehensive. The articles are commonly more condensed and full of matter than the average books of the period.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your proud ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

A Quarter of a Million Squandered.

The Pacific Railway Act, section 12, provides that works in connection with the Railway "shall be let out by contracts offered to public competition," but in defiance of this Mackenzie on May 11, 1875, sent Hugh Sutherland, the defeated Grit candidate of East Simcoe, up to commence the Fort Francis Lock as part of the Pacific Railway, without contract, without estimates, without a proper plan, without a report of a Pacific Railway engineer recommending it, but in the face of a report from Mr. Mortimer in which he distinctly condemns it, saying, "I think the lake facilities at the Shebandowan end, even improved, would hardly justify the expense of putting in locks" (Pacific Railway Report 1877, p. 212.) Every elector should read the record of this stupendous folly given in Sessional Paper 88, 1877, and the report of evidence before Senate Committe, and he will stand amazed at the reckless blundering of the Premier! Sutherland was sent up without plans or estimates; on 24th July, over two months after he has gone up, Mr. Hazlewood, engineer is instructed to go up "with all possible despatch," and ascertain "whether or no the labors of Mr. Sutherland are in the right direction!" August 2nd, months after the work has been commenced, the plans are only in preparation! In the fall of 1876, a year and a half after the work has been going on, Mr. Sailberg, another engineer, is sent up, and from his report of Dec. 27, 1876, it appears that although the lock is being constructed 7 feet deep, the navigation below only averages from 5 to 7 feet, and above is only 4½ feet! In the spring of 1877, Sutherland got orders to reduce depth to 4½ feet, but he was already a foot lower, and he had to make it 5½ (Evidence p. 25.) The wildness of the Premier's undertaking can be imagined when it is understood that he proposed to carry freight to Manitoba by a short piece of railway from Thunder Bay, then through these "water stretches" over nine portages, (where it would have to be handled twice at each,) and then another short railway at Selkirk; and that Fort Francis is the only one of comes one of these portages! Shortly after the Lock was commenced, the Premier changed the line of railway to run about ninety or a hundred miles north of Fort Francis, which renders the utilization of the water stretches practically impossible! (See evidence of Capt. Dick and others.) The lock will cost at least a quarter of a million, and is on the Rainy River, the boundary between Canada and the States. If improvements are needed, Americans should do their share, but our "practical Premier" wants Canada to clean out the river for the Americans!

What do the electors think of squandering our money on this stupendous folly?

$41,000 More Gone.

Although Mackenzie, when in opposition, was loud in declaiming about the madness of letting a contract for Pacific Railway before surveys were made, when he got into power he determined to build a line to French River, which was not necessary as part of the Pacific Railway, and was not included in the original scheme; and in such a hurry was he to let the contract to his friend ex-Senator Foster, that he refused to have surveys made before letting the contract (Sessional Pap. 27, 1877). Mackenzie then cancelled the contract, gave Foster back the security he had deposited, and paid him $41,000 besides without proper authority! Here is what Sandford Fleming, Chief Engineer, says on oath:—

Are you aware that the Order in Council requires that the payment should be made on the certificate of the Engineer; and do you hold yourself responsible for the payment of the $41,000?—No, I have not certified for the payment of the $41,000!

You have not seen the vouchers, and have not certified the payments?—No! (App. No. 2, Journals 1877).

What do the electors think of Mackenzie paying out their money in this way?

Violating the Statute!

The Pacific Railway Act, Section 5, enacts that:—

A line of electric telegraph shall be constructed in advance of the said railway and branches, along their whole extent respectively, as soon as possible after the location of the line shall have been determined upon."

The plain intention of that Act is that the telegraph shall be constructed after the location of the line, so that the work of clearing, &c., done on it shall be so much towards the construction of the railway. But Mackenzie never allows even Acts of Parliament to stand in his way, and in October and November 1874, and February 1875, he let telegraph contracts for the whole line from Lake Superior to British Columbia, (Pacific Railway Report 1877, pp. 384, 385,) at a cost of about a million of dollars, (Hansard, March 5, 1875,) before the line was located! At that time, of the 430 miles from Lake Superior to Red River, only 160 miles had been located; a portion of the line had been located through the prairies region, but no location whatever had been made through the Rocky Mountains and westward! (Hansard, March 5, 1875.) On 2, 1875, Messrs. Bowell and Kirkpatrick moved regretting that telegraph contracts should be let contrary to statute, before the line was located. Blake could not sanction such a plain violation of the statute, and shirked the vote, but Mackenzie with his usual scrupulous followers voted it down! (Journals, p. 346.) A few days after voting this down (April 9,) Mackenzie telegraphed to Sandford, who had the contract in British Columbia, to stop work! But the contractor had already 50 miles almost completed, and some supplies on hand, and had a bill of $43,720 for expense he had been put to! (Sess. Paper 82, 1876.) Three years and a half after this contract was let, and two years and a half after it was to be completed, the location of the line through British Columbia was only being determined on, (Mackenzie's explanation, May 4, 1878,) but in the meantime, thousands have been squandered through the Premier's reckless violation of statute!

Electors, how do you like the Premier squandering your money in defiance of law?

The Cauchon Disgrace.

Never in the history of Canada was a more shameless Coalition entered into than when Mackenzie took the notorious Cauchon into his Cabinet, and electors will not soon forget the indelible disgrace it brought on those who had heretofore paraded their purity. Here is what the Globe on Dec. 9, 1872, said of Cauchon:

"The Beauport job is rank and smells to heaven. That Cauchon has been proved guilty of jobbery, and of defiantly breaking the law for years, is we think not doubted in any sane man!"

When this scandalous affair had compelled Cauchon to resign his seat to avoid being expelled, and he was re-elected, the Globe said: "Mr. Cauchon comes back apparently to brazen out the whole of his iniquities!" While the Herald, the leading Grit paper in Montreal, said the job was perpetrated at the expense of "those who suffer from the saddest infirmity to which human nature is liable, because what was bought and sold was the power of squeezing the highest possible profit out of economies exercised at the cost of the most helpless of God's creatures!" and went on to say that if this were a matter of life and death in the criminal court, "the evidence of M. Cauchon WOULD BE SUFFICIENT TO HANG HIM!"

Yet Mackenzie "elevates the standard of public morality" by shamelessly taking this man into his Cabinet, and after brazening it out for a couple of years, elevated him to the Lieutenant-Governorship of Manitoba!

Electors, you will be called upon to say what you think of the Coalition with Cauchon! Voting for the Government means approval of it—can you honestly do so?

IS IT FAIR?

FIGURES WHICH EVERYBODY SHOULD CONSIDER.

The following table shows the difference between the Canadian and American tariffs, the excess of the latter over the former being what Canadians have to pay as an extra premium for using the United States market:—

	Canadian duty.	United States duty.
Wheat	Free	20c. per bushel.
Rye and Barley	Free	15c "
Indian Corn and oats	Free	10c "
Wheat Flour	Free	20 per cent.
Rye flour & corn meal	Free	10 p. c.
Potatoes	Free	15c per lb.
Potatoes	10 p. c.	15c per bush.
Live animals	10 p. c.	20 per cent.
Coal	Free	75c per ton.
Salt	Free	In packages 12c. per 100 lbs.; in bulk 8c per 100 lbs.
Wool	Free	25 to 50 per cent.
Pig iron	Free	87 per ton.
Bar iron	5 p. c.	35 to 75 per cent.
Plate and Boiler Iron	5 p. c.	$25 to $30 per ton
Iron Rails	Free	$14 per ton.
Steel Rails	Free	$25 per ton.
Bricks	Free	20 per cent.
Trees, plants & shrubs	10 p. c.	20 per cent.
Flax, dressed	Free	$40 per ton.
Flax, undressed	Free	$20 per ton.
Flax seed	Free	20c per bush.
Starch	3c per lb.	1c. per lb. and 20 per cent ad val.

The following articles, all of which in our tariff come under the general figure of 17½ per cent., are, by the American tariff, charged with the rates undermentioned:—

Wood screws	50 to 60 per cent.
Saws	40 to 50 "
Cars and locomotives	35 "
Cotton yarn	40 to 60 "
Spool thread	41 to 81 "
Silk cloths	50 to 60 "
Machinery	35 "
Stoves and other iron castings	30 "

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime & Soda is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can enable them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the ttatement is correct in every particular.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the important organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. To aid digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons :—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, AUG. 27.

An Appeal to History.

How do the Grit Free-Traders like the following, which is from the pen of the Rev Alfred J. Bray, editor of the Montreal Canadian Spectator, a journal thoroughly independent in politics :—"But I should like to know where Mr. Mackenzie got his history from, and by what rules he is guided in the interpretation of it. At a Reform meeting in Nova Scotia he is reported to to have said, that "our policy should, as nearly as possible, be in harmony with that which had made England the greatest commercial and maritime nation in the world." That seems to me about as foggy as Mr. Mackenzie's often repeated idea of the condition of the workingmen when Abraham lived in Egypt and the Pyramids were being built. The truth is, that under a system of protection England became "the greatest commercial and maritime nation in the world" ; and then, when there was a feeble foreign competition, when England was—by reason of money and perfect machinery and skilled artisans—master of the situation, Free Trade was demanded and granted. It is also true that under Protection France and the United States have thriven most wonderfully—and that now there is a strong feeling gaining ground in England that the situation is changed, and that there may have to be a readoption of the old policy. Free Trade is sublime as an ideal ; when the Millennium comes it will come along with it doubtless. I like to think of four millions fighting for a great principle as against forty millions—but when I am one of the small militant party, the thing gets to be hard."

A Disreputable Party Dodge.

Despite the previously expressed disapprobation of the leading officers in town of the Orangemen, Orange Young Britons, Prentice Boys and True Blues, some sixteen insubordinate boys of the True Blue Lodge proceeded last night to burn the effigy of Mayor Beaudry of Montreal. At about 9 o'clock they proceeded down Front Street, followed by a noisy crowd, to the market square, where the effigy was set on fire and burned. Incensed by the spectacle, some of the bystanders had hard words with those engaged in the demonstration, and blows were exchanged in some instances, though the police succeeded in preventing anything approaching a general row.

After the effigy had been partly consumed, the party engaged in its burning proceeded up street, and we understand that some stones were thrown, breaking windows in Moynes' dry good store. For a long time a row was threatened, the True Blues and their friends having gathered on one side of the street and a number of Roman Catholic young men on the other side, but by the efforts of the police and of several gentlemen not interested themselves further disturbance was prevented.

Such rowdyism as was shown last night is disgraceful, and must be put a stop to. We have reason to believe, however, that the action of the unreflecting boys of the True Blues was instigated by one or more supporters of Mr. Brown, with the hope that it would benefit their party. It is stated that an investigation will be held, when the truth will be brought to light, pending which we forbear from commenting further on the subject.

Since writing the above, we learn that through the efforts of leading Orangemen and Young Britons, the True Blues promised to forego their proposed demonstration, but yesterday persons from whom better might be expected, and whose names will probably be made public, urged them to hold the demonstration, promising financial support. The True Blues attempted to form a procession at the Orange Hall last night, when L. O. L. No. 274 were in session, but were ordered away.

The Orange Case.—The examination of Col. Dunbar Brown was concluded on the 26th in the Montreal Orange case. Nothing of importance was elicited.

The Globe's "Loyalty" Cry.

The following, from the London Times of the 26th, effectually and authoritatively disposes of the Globe's absurd "loyalty" cry :—

> "There is no disposition to fetter Canadian liberty of action, even if the establishment of a Customs Union with the United States was the result of it, but the prospects of this are, at least, extremely doubtful."

What will be the next absurd cry put forth by the Grit organ in its efforts to humbug the electors !

A COMPLETE REPLY.

In a speech delivered by Hon. Mr. Macdougall in the amphitheatre at Toronto on the 19th inst, that gentleman so completely disposed of the Globe's spurious loyalty cry and at the same time so convincingly showed how our grain market is affected by that of the United States, that we give editorial prominence to Mr. Macdougall's eminently practical remarks on the points in question.

The hon. gentleman said :

"If we choose to give our Government power to re-luce the duties upon any trade article, whenever the Americans reduced them to the same standard, we could do that without requiring us to make any special arrangement with the Mother Country. The question was one of policy on our part, one of revenue. It was a question which was most beneficial to us and to the Mother Country. If they did that which was in their interest to be in their own interest, they would find some persons in England who would raise objections. There was an article in the Globe that day—a miserable whining article—on this question. It told us that if we raised duties upon commodities from the Mother Country we were disloyal, and that England would resent the action. Every reader of history knew that that feeling was the one which years ago caused the great American Revolution. It was that feeling that prompted English statesmen and politicians not to allow even a horse nail to be manufactured in the Colonies. The idea was with them to hold the Colonies to be in no respect worthy to engage in trade, and to look upon the colonists as mere serfs. Since that time they had heard and seen how disadvantageous that step had been to England, and the state of affairs he was happy to say, had changed. He remembered, himself, not so many years ago, being introduced in Liverpool to one of the large manufacturers in cotton ; when the manufacturer was told that he (Mr. Macdougall) was from Canada, he looked upon him almost with contempt, and asked what the Canadians meant by pursuing a policy under which his supplies of cotton-manufactured goods to the Canadian market had fallen off and that, notwithstanding that he paid taxes towards supporting an army and navy, portions of which were engaged in the defence of Canada. That showed that the feeling did exist among some people that Canada should be kept as a market only. But in the matter of Australia the question had arisen whether the people of that and other colonies, where a system of self-government prevailed, had a right to impose such duties as, in their judgment, might tend to their interest ; and Lord Kimberly, when that question was being discussed, in his despatch upon it, distinctly stated that it was the right of the colonies—however unpleasant a few English tradesmen might think it—to make such arrangements as would be to their advantage. Therefore, there was no necessity to talk about disloyalty or about the people of England interfering with what we do, for—in addition to what we have already said, and as had been said before—if, by our prosperity we could build up a powerful nation of British subjects on this continent into another Reciprocity Treaty. Correspondence was opened with the American Government, an agent was sent to Washington, the American press was canvassed, he was led to think, by a distinguished political missionary from this country—(laughter and a voice, "That's Brown,")—and in fact every effort we would be adding to the strength of England and her prestige among the nations—(loud applause)—and our fellow-subjects on the other side of the Atlantic would be delighted to see us making such strides. At all events we had the right to take the step indicated by those who favored Protection, and the question was whether we ought to take it. For his part he could say that if we could have Free Trade with the United States ; if we could have reciprocity with that country, he would hold up both hands for it. We had a Reciprocity treaty once, and it worked admirably ; the country advantaged by it, and he thought the United States benefitted by it. But, in consequence of foolish articles which were published in some newspapers, and foolish statements which were made by some speakers, the politicians over there came to the conclusion that Canada was not as friendly to the United States as it might be, and when the treaty came to an end it was never renewed, the idea being that by the nonrenewal of the treaty Canadians would be compelled to go knocking at the door of the United States and asking for admission into its family. But after those feelings had somewhat calmed the Government of Canada endeavored to induce the Americans to enter was made to bring about a reciprocal relation once more. But the United States Government laughed at Mr. Brown's story when he told them how many millions they were to gain by a treaty, which Canada was to gain nothing by. They discredited his figures, and would not accept his propositions. Every person must, therefore, be satisfied that the policy of the United States was a substantially protective one, that the Americans intended to keep their markets for themselves and that there was no reason to suppose that their markets would be opened to us. Then what had we, as Canadians, to do ? Should we do nothing but gabble about Free Trade when no one trades freely with us ? No, it was our duty to consider our position, and regulate ourselves accordingly. Was it to our advantage to allow the producer of corn, barley, and wheat in the great Prairie States of the West to send their surplus products into our market whenever they might think they could get a cent more a bushel here, and to drive our own farmers out of our markets ? (Hear, hear.) But it was said, "Oh, consider the poor man." In his opinion, a change of policy would make the poor men so few that the poor would not have to be thought of. Then again, the argument was that the prices in Liverpool controlled our markets. That was very near the truth so far as those articles which we shipped to Liverpool were concerned. If it were true, as the free traders would have the people believe, that Liverpool invariably regulated the price of grain, how could there be any increase to the price under Protection ? But he did not think it was true that the prices of oats, corn, and barley, were regulated at Liverpool, there were circumstances which determined the prices amongst ourselves. A farmer in the County of Lennox had three or four hundred bushels of barley to sell, and he went to a dealer to ask how much he would give for them. The dealer said he would tell in half an hour, and immediately telegraphed to Chicago to ask the price of corn on that market, and after he had found out how much corn brought there would cost when arrived at Mill Point, he calculated what he could give for barley, and the farmer found out not only that he could not get so much for his barley that day as on the previous day, but that the price of corn in Chicago regulated the price of barley at Mill Point. That state of things was unfair, and should certainly be dealt with."

Hastings.—The Mail says :—"We hear good reports from the three Ridings of Hastings. Mr. Powell in the North, Mr. White in the East, and Mr. Wallbridge in the West, are making active canvasses and receiving the most flattering assurances of support. It only needs the necessary amount of good work to secure a splendid victory in all the Ridings."

All honest men will bear watching. It is the rascals who cannot stand it.

Political Notes.

Mr. Sydney Bellingham is a candidate for the county of Argenteuil. Canvassers are actively at work in his behalf.

On dit that Mr. C. P. Davidson, Q. C., will oppose Mr. Scriver in the County of Huntingdon.

It now transpires that Mr. Cartwright is not quite so sure of his election in Lennox, for just before leaving for the Maritime Provinces he held a lengthy conference with Mr. Massey, of Newcastle, the result being that he expressed his willingness to accept the nomination for West Durham, providing a satisfactory requisition could be secured. The requisition, however, is not yet forthcoming.

The Premier and Mr. Cartwright arranged with the Local Premier of Nova Scotia that the elections in that Province should take place simultaneously with those of the Dominion. And yet, you know, there should be "no alliance between the Federal and Provincial Governments !" Mr. Mackenzie thus strangles a former profession, squarely in the face of the people, when appealing for a renewal of confidence on the part of the electorate.

The Montreal Gazette says :—"By the way, Messrs. Mackenzie and Cartwright, in their recent starring exhibition in the Maritime Provinces, travelled always by special trains. Who pays for them ? At a time when minute calculations are being made as to the travelling expenses of Ministers as compared with those of their predecessors, would it not be well to have some information on this point. Why should the members of the Government be permitted to travel, for purely party objects, at the public expense."

A merchant writing to the Goderich Star on home industries, says :—"For $100 or $125, as the case may be, we have a suit of bedroom furniture made of bird's-eye maple ; the wood in many cases shipped from Canada in the rough, at a first cost of not to exceed $2 ; this, polished up in a foreign country, is returned to ours, with an additional charge for labour of fr m $50 to $100 ; and we export our good $100 or $125 cash for it, the only thing remaining in the country being 15 or 17½ per cent. collected on the valuation dictated by the shipper for purposes of customs duty."

At Summerside, P. E. I., Mr. Mackenzie, who devoted himself exclusively to the denunciation of protection, left no leg for the Ministerialists, who pretend to be protectionists, to stand upon. He said :—

"Those duties are at present 17½ per cent., and the administration consider that it is as much as the people should bear. They do not propose to add to it for any purpose, least of all for cultivating the protectionist principle."

In the face of such a declaration, any Ministerial candidate, who pretends to be a protectionist, and claims election as such, is either a knave or a fool. He certainly pays a poor compliment to the electors whose suffrages he is soliciting.

Mr. Mackenzie rivals old Rip Van Winkle of the Montreal Herald. In a speech at Summerside, referring to the burdens of protection in the United States, he said :—"One gentleman, a clergyman, told me that he took a trip to Canada, paid $25 for his railway ticket, bought a suit of clothes, and saved enough to pay the expenses of his trip." That was the case during the war and down to 1873, and it afforded so great a protection to Canadian industries and commerce, that tariff protection was unnecessary. To-day the very reverse is the case. The Americans are underselling the Canadians, and the result is that a change of policy is essential.

Here is another gem from Mr. Mackenzie's Summerside speech : "A new tariff, proposed "last session of Congress, was only defeated "by 18 or 20 votes, which shows that the "Americans are alive to free trade principles." The fact is that this new tariff was, compared with that of Canada, an emphatically protectionist tariff. Had it passed it would have been more dangerous to us, because in the interests of the manufacturers it provided for a system of drawbacks practically bounties, on manufactured goods exported, which operating, as in the case of the sugar drawbacks as a bounty, would have proved the last straw in destroying the manufactures of Canada, unless met by countervailing duties, which Mr. Mackenzie would never grant.

Steel Rails.

On the 19th of May, 1874, Mackenzie got a resolution passed authorizing him to make a gift of the Truro and Pictou branch of the Intercolonial (52 miles) to any Company that would extend the line into Cape Breton ; but the Premier had those notorious Pacific Steel Rails to use up, and after deciding to give this branch away he took up the iron rails and re-laid it with steel. (Public Works Rep. 1877, p. 167,) thus laying out in the neighborhood of a million, to be given as a gift to a private Company, in addition to what was originally contemplated ! While Mackenzie is thus relaying with steel a branch which is to be given away, the old iron rails are considered good enough to lay on other feeders to the Intercolonial ? (Public Works' Rep. 1876, p. 63.) If iron rails are good enough to lay on new lines, they ought to be good enough to repair a road to be given away !

Let the electors say what they think of this style of throwing away their property !

Iron vs. Steel Rails.

In 1871, Blake and Mackenzie insisted that iron rails should be laid on the Intercolonial, and voted for a motion to that effect, (Journals, p. 223 ;) but in 1876, having those steel rails on hand, and wanting to hide them away, Mackenzie took up the iron rails, and took 17,000 tons of the 50,000 bought for the Pacific to lay the track with steel ! (Cess. Pap. 77, 1877.) He thus had the iron rails on hand, and despite protests, he took power to lend (!) them to whatever railways he pleased, without naming the roads, (Journals 1876, p. 298,) although he and Blake denounced Sandfield Macdonald for taking power to subsidize railways without naming them, and turned him out of power on that very point ! (Ont. Journals, 1871, p. 18.)

The M. O. O. Railway.—Macdonald, the M. O. O. Railway contractor, declines to hand over the road to the Provincial Government on the ground that the latter is indebted to him $400,000, whereas the Government claim that he has been overpaid some $600,000. A demand of surrender will be made to-morrow, after which, if necessary, forcible means will be used.

A small white fly is attacking and destroying the leaves of the tomato vine, seconed by a small black bug.

Don't moralize to a man who is on his beck. Help him up, set him firmly on his feet, and then give him advice and means. The means, by all means.

Terrible Drowning Accident.

THREE CHILDREN DROWNED AT TORONTO.

A terrible drowning accident took place on Sunday evening, off the waterworks at Toronto, by which Mr. John Venables, Chief Engineer of the works, lost three of his five children. It seems he and Mrs. Venables left the children playing near the wharf, about 7 o'clock, while they went for a short walk, cautioning the children to be careful and not go near the water. When they returned about 9 o'clock they were surprised to find they had not returned home. The servant stated she had been rocking the baby till 8 o'clock, and then went in search of the children, whom she could not find, although she visited all the neighbors' houses. On Monday morning at 7 o'clock two of the bodies were recovered on the east side of the wharf in twelve feet of water, and the other was found an hour afterwards. Their names were Elizabeth, Emily and Willie, aged 9 years, three years three months, and 2 years 4 months. It is supposed the two youngest fell in and the eldest attempted to rescue them and lost her balance. The face of the eldest girl, Elizabeth, was terribly contorted, as if she had suffered the greatest agony, and this, it is supposed, was the result of screaming in hopes of getting assistance. Finding her screams vain, it is thought she took off her shawl to try to save her little brother and sister, and lost her balance. The shawl was found floating near the youngest child.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, AUG. 27.

City and Vicinity.

THE CELLS.—There was but one prisoner in the cells last night.

BARLEY.—The barley market still shows signs of improvement. The price went up to 90c to-day.

PRINCE EDWARD.—A rumor is afloat in Toronto that John O'Donohoe will contest Prince Edward in the Conservative interest.

MUSICAL.—The band of the 15th battalion will play at the Grand Trunk Station on Thursday night. A programme of new music is promised.

WEST HASTINGS.—Mr. Wallbridge and some of his supporters will address meetings of the electors at Sager's Hall, Frankford, to-night, and at Sager's School House to-morrow night. Mr. Brown is invited to attend.

PERSONAL.—Mr. James Cronley, formerly of the Oswego Palladium, is now local editor of the Morning Herald, a morning paper lately started in that city. Our old friend will make the Herald's local department lively and spicy.

PERSONAL.—Dr. W. J. Palmer, Principal of the Ontario Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Dumb, has returned from a few weeks' trip, during which his journeyings extended from Belleville to the Maritime Provinces, thence to Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio. We note with pleasure that our friend the Doctor has benefitted largely in health by his trip.

MUTUAL AID.—Dr. Kenwendeshun, of Detroit, is in town, and is taking steps for the formation of a Lodge of the Independent Order of Mutual Aid, a fraternal and benevolent organization, which is just now being introduced into Canada. The Dr. comes with full power, having been appointed as a special delegate by the Grand Lodge.

CORRECTION.—We are glad to be able to correct our report of Mr. Martin's loss by the fire yesterday, which we stated to be about two thousand dollars, as Mr. Martin after taking an inventory of loss sustained, now considers that his total loss will be under a thousand dollars, as he finds his machinery is not injured so as to delay his work.

PLEASANT GATHERING.—The teachers and friends of the West Belleville Sabbath School met by invitation at the house of the Rev. Mr. Locke on Friday evening last for tea, after which the affairs of the school were thoroughly discussed, a few vacancies for teachers filled and a committee appointed for the re-organization of the school. This step seems to be one in the right direction for the better conducting of Sabbath Schools generally.

CLEVER ARREST.—Messrs. J. A. Brock & Co. having missed a number of diamonds for glass cutting and other articles from their workshop, put the case in the hands of Sergeant Snider, who cleverly captured a boy named Spear, who owned to having stolen the articles in question, and stated where he had disposed of them. Acting under this information Sergeant Snider proceeded to Sills' second hand store, where he found one of the diamonds, worth about five dollars, which the boy had sold for five cents.

DISORDERLY.—The streets last night were reported very disorderly until a late hour, many small rows occurring which kept the police force busy. A row on Front Street about midnight resulted in the breaking of two large panes of glass in Moynes' store, which will prove expensive to the parties who broke them, as they are known. A row about the same time occurred in Buchanan's Hotel amongst a party of young men who were drinking. The row becoming general, resulted in the breaking of a number of bottles by the crowd, who seemed masters of the situation, when the Chief of Police arrived on the scene and summarily landed the whole crowd into the street.

LAUNCH.—Yesterday afternoon Mr. W. Pike's new standing keel yacht (to be named, we believe, the Sylvia) was conveyed from the spot where she was built, on Meyers street, to the water's edge. The vehicle on which the yacht was transported was manufactured by Mr. Pike himself, and answered the purpose admirably. The services of the tug Bonar were procured to drag the yacht, carriage and all, into her "native element," but after upwards of an hour spent in this work and the breaking of two heavy lines, the work had to be abandoned for the night, the boat being then only partly in the water. This morning she was drawn in by the tug and sits very gracefully on the surface of the river. All the spars, rigging canvas and ballast being ready, the Sylvia will be at once ballasted and rigged, and in a few days will be ready for trial. She is of full ten tons measurement, being 9 ft 4 in beam, about 31 ft keel, will draw 4 ft 9 in of water, and will carry more canvas than any other ten ton yacht in the fleet. She is the best built vessel of any description that we have ever seen, her lines are fine, indicating speed, and she is in every respect highly creditable to her owner, Mr. Wm. Pike, who modelled and built her with the assistance of his brother. The fleet has received a very welcome addition, and we trust that the Sylvia will fulfil every expectation.

AT PARIS.—Amongst the list of Canadian visitors to Paris on the 7th of August, we observe the name of the Rev. J. C. Ash, of Redneerville.

M. E. CONFERENCE.—The General Conference of the M. E. Church in Canada opened to-day, in the Tabernacle here. There is a large attendance of members.

M. E. TABERNACLE.—Service will be held in the Tabernacle to-night, when a sermon will be preached by one of the Rev. delegates to the Conference now in session.

ONTARIO RIFLE MATCHES.—Corporal Hilton, of the 49th, scored 30 in the All-comers' match on the opening day, the highest score being 32. The 49th is not represented this year in the Battalion and Company matches.

BLOOD WILL TELL.—The Oswego Times says:—"W. B. Phelps, jr., Captain of the yacht Phantom, was last evening elected Sergeant by Company F (Citizen's Corps) of the 48th Regiment. It is scarcely necessary to say that Sergeant Phelps is a son of W. B. Phelps, Esq., sr., formerly 'Corporal' Phelps, of the Oswego Guards, and in a military sense it is enough to wish that he may be a chip of the old block." We congratulate Sergeant Phelps on his promotion. He is well known to many of our yachtsmen as a member of the S. S. Club, an organization which is ever ready to extend courtesies to visitors, and more especially to those from Belleville.

BETTING ON ELECTIONS.—Mr. Blake's "Act for the Repression of betting and pool selling, assented to on the 28th April, 1877, provides as follows:—(1) In case any person who uses or knowingly allows any part of any premises under his control to be used for the purpose of recording or registering any bet or wager, or selling any pool, or (2) keeps, exhibits, or employs, or knowingly allows to be kept, exhibited, or employed, in any part of any premises under his control, any device or apparatus for the purpose of recording or registering any bet or wager or selling any pool, or (3) becomes the custodian or depositary of any money, property, or valuable things staked, waged or pledged, or (3) records or registers any bet or wager, or sells any pool;—upon the result (a) of any political or municipal election, or (b) of any race, or (c) of any contest or trial of skill of endurance of man or beast—such person is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to be imprisoned in any common jail for any term less than one year, with or without hard labor, and to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars."

Mr. Selley Taylor communicates to the Physical Society a process for making sound waves visible to the eye. A hole cut in cardboard is filled with film of soap in glycerine, just thick enough to produce bands of color. This is fastened to a tuning-fork, which is thrown into vibration by a violin bow. The colored film is immediately thrown into vibration, and vortex rings and square bands of color are produced.

Nothing makes a man so in love with purity as purity. Many a man has been lifted out of debasing sins, against which he has vainly struggled, by coming to know and love a pure sweet woman. It is the sight of embodied goodness that makes us want to be good. Many a mother, by the quiet unselfishness of her life, fills her children with a desire to be unselfish. There are obscure men and women who hardly in their lives utter a word of conscious teaching, who, by their example, do more to make people around them gentle and thruthful and Christ-like than any preacher can do. It is not those who talk about goodness, but those who are good, that are the light of the world.

One reason why philosophers are great men is because their coat collars are always covered with dandruff.

BANKRUPTCIES.

THE FEVER SCOURGE.

KEARNEY REBUKED.

FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER.

VANDERBILT INTERVIEWED.

Confession of Arson.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—The British steamer Yorkshire yesterday brought the crew of the Russian barque Arvid, of the Genne line from Bull River, S. C., for Ipswich, with phosphates, abandoned at sea August 20th. The cook of the Arvid was lost in attempting to get into the boat.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Thirty-one bankrupt petitions were filed yesterday, with aggregate liabilities of $350,000.

JAMESBURG, N. J., Aug. 27.—A mild form of typhoid fever has broken out at the State reform school; 45 inmates are sick. The sewerage and water are bad.

NEW YORK, August 27.—A special reports the compositors on the Memphis papers much reduced by fever. The Appeal is barely able to issue a half sheet. It is estimated that only 3,000 whites of 30,000 in Memphis, remain in the city. The expenses of the Howard Association are $2,000 daily. A corpse was found in a house yesterday; the case had never been reported, or received for medical attention. Probably there were twenty new cases last night that would not receive any attention before this morning, although the fever requires very prompt treatment.

Columbus, Ky., has quarantined against everybody.

Christopher Harmes, a Swede from New Orleans, arrived at Washington yesterday with the yellow fever; he was taken to the hospital.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Herald's Cincinnati special says that Kearney had a brief interview with Archbishop Purcell on Sunday, and complained that the Catholic Telegraph, edited by the Archbishop's brother, had called him an Orangeman. The bishop rebuked him severely for stirring up the passions of the people, and urged him to cease.

The Times' Chicago special reports a shocking story by a girl in the Erring Woman's refuge named Lucy Downs, of Suffolk, Long Island. She charges the Superintendent and keeper of the Yahpank almshouse on Long Island, where she formerly lived, with having scandalous relations with the young girl inmates.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The Chamber of Commerce raised $4,750 yesterday for fever sufferers. Other gifts swelled yesterday's contributions to $5,370.

EX-Assemblyman Peter Woods & Brother, dealers in paint, failed; liabilities, $20,000; assets, nominal. S. J. Tilden is the largest creditor.

The Coroner's jury in the case of Smith, the murdered of the Jersey City policeman, find Mrs. Smith and an unknown accomplice guilty.

Geo. W. Herbert, formerly P. T. Barnum's private secretary, poisoned himself in Newark yesterday.

The Tribune's Saratoga despatch reports an interview with Wm. H. Vanderbilt, who expressed great satisfaction with the results of the recent railway conference. He said the pooling system is working well, and will result in a benefit to the general public as well as to railway owners. He anticipates a revival of business in the fall. He said the New York Central has ordered 800 new cars and the Erie 2,000 to meet expected demands. He declared he does not wish to injure any other road or the Erie Canal, and would not have the latter closed if he could. He thought there would be sufficient business during the next six months for all the railways, and the Erie Canal too. The lines cannot now supply cars enough to meet the demands upon them. Vanderbilt thought possibly a month may be required to get the pooling system in operation, and that the late conference was one of the most important railroad gatherings ever convened in the United States.

Arrived, the steamships State of Indiana and Circassia, from Glasgow.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Aug. 27.—Harvey West, a colored man, was arrested last night at Howell's, after having fired the farm house of Gilbert Conwin, for whom he worked. He was taken to the barn by the neighbors, and a rope placed about his neck, when he confessed he had fired the house, also several barns. He implicated two other colored men, one of whom was arrested. Great relief is felt.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, August 27.—A Vienna despatch says the complicity of the Servians in the Bosnian insurrection is again asserted. The insurgents about Doboj have been largely reinforced, and vigorously attacked Doboj, endeavoring to turn Szapary's positions and destroy his pontoons across the Bosnia, to prevent reinforcements. According to Vienna advices, Szapary repulsed all the attacks, but the insurgents declare that Szapary has withdrawn from Doboj to the left bank of the Bosnia, and destroyed the bridges,—also that Philippovich's army at Serajevo is seriously threatened on both flanks. Reinforcements are hurrying from Austria. The insurgents are increasing in every direction.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 27.—Thomas and Louisa Bigelow, Americans, have been arrested charged with robbing the financial department of the Receiver-General at Toronto on the 4th July of $5,000 in money and some Canadian bonds.

FARGO, D. T., Aug. 27.—A tornado last evening prostrated ten or fifteen buildings, including the Episcopal Church and new City Hall. No lives lost.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—New cases of fever, 194; deaths, 49.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate southwesterly to southeasterly winds, and clear to partly cloudy weather. For the St. Lawrence, moderate westerly to southerly winds, and partly cloudy to clear weather. For the Maritime Provinces, light to moderate winds, and partly cloudy to clear weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Indications:—middle States warm, clear or partly cloudy.

Who is the "Stretcher?"

LETTER FROM HON. D. L. MACPHERSON.

A SCATHING INDICTMENT.

To the Editor of the Mail.

SIR,—I beg you will do me the favor to publish in The Mail the accompanying copy of a letter which I have addressed to the Hon. George Brown for publication in the Globe. I am,

Your very obedt. serv't,
D. L. MACPHERSON.

Toronto, Aug. 20th, 1878.

To the Hon. George Brown, Editor and Managing Director of the Toronto Globe.

SIR,—My attention has been called to the following sentence in an editorial paragraph which appeared in the Globe of Thursday last:—"As to Senator Macpherson, as a stretcher he rivals Tupper."

I am not aware that you ever convicted Dr. Tupper of "stretching," and I am quite sure that that able and highly gifted man was never guilty of intentional misrepresentation. But where a damaging statement cannot be refuted it is doubtless often convenient, if not honest, to dispose of it by a "stretch" and call it a "stretcher."

Your obvious intention in referring to me was to cast doubt upon the correctness of the statements relating to the increased public expenditure by the present Government which I have submitted from time to time to the public—most recently during my late visit to the County of Bruce. If these statements contain inaccuracies, I should like the errors pointed out specifically. The details were taken from the public accounts. If this be true, if items are not included, except such as are in the public accounts, it follows that there cannot possibly be exaggeration or stretching in the statements. Items were no doubt overlooked and omitted, and the truth understated. That was almost unavoidable when the researches were so intricate and multiform, but these omissions were to the advantage of the Government; whatever may be the sum of them, to that extent I have understated the amount of the expenditure for which the present Government is responsible. To set at rest once and for all the question of accuracy, and to determine whether I am correct or the Ministers of the Crown, who have impugned my statements I made the following proposition when speaking on the 25th of June last at Kincardine:—

"What I have stated to you touching the increased expenditure is taken from the public accounts. It is unseemly to have members of the Government and myself standing up before the public, the one denying what the other asserts. To put an end to these charges of misstatement and to stop recrimination, I am perfectly willing to leave the audit of my statement to gentlemen who are qualified for the work and strictly non-partizan. I will name the General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, Mr. Angus; the General manager of the Merchants' Bank, Mr. Hague; the General Manager of the Canada Life Insurance Company, Mr. Ramsey, and the General Manager of the Permanent Loan and Saving Company, Mr. Mason. I am willing to leave it to any two or three of these gentlemen to say whether my statements are correct or not. (Prolonged cheering.) If it were a matter of politics, these gentlemen would not act, but it is not. They would simply have to deal with matters of account, to see whether such of my statements as the Government may question are correctly taken from the public accounts. Two or three of my statements are estimates, but all others are from the public accounts. Unless the Government are willing to come before the tribunal I have suggested, and prove my statements are incorrect, let them forever be silent, upon the subject of inaccuracies, so far as I am concerned, and unless they be silent, I hope that fairminded people will not listen to them until they accept my challenge. (Renewed cheering.)"

I think you will admit that a tribunal of audit could not be composed of gentlemen of higher character or better qualified for the work, being, as they are, experts in matters of account, and in politics non-partizan.

The members of the Government have not accepted my challenge. Mr. Mackenzie stated at a public meeting last year that there was "a falsehood on every page" of my first pamphlet.

One would have supposed that he would have been glad to go before a high tribunal and endeavor to prove his accusation, but he has not shown a willingness to do so, and for a very good reason. Mr. Mackenzie well knows that if he went before such a tribunal he would retire discomfited.

Ministers may advance as an excuse for not accepting my challenge the demands which electioneering occupations make upon their time at present.

Well, to relieve them, I include you in it. You are a man of comparative leisure, free from stumping engagements. You, moreover, are the real head of the Government—without portfolio or responsibility. There would seem, therefore, a special fitness and propriety in your undertaking to prove before an independent and competent tribunal the truthfulness of what has been alleged by yourself and by Ministers in respect to my financial statements. If you succeed in this you will do much to prove that the present Government has redeemed the pledges of economy and retrenchment which I accuse its members of having violated. I will epitomize the statements which I challenge you to disprove. They are as follows, namely:—

That the expenditure for salaries and contingencies of the Public offices at Ottawa and for Legislation for the three years, 1875-76-77, under Mr. Mackenzie, was $1,300,718 more than the same services cost for the three years 1870-71-72, under Sir John Macdonald. That the contingencies and general expenses of the Department at Ottawa and of the House of Commons for the same period were increased under Mr. Mackenzie's Government $204,116, and that the amount paid to extra clerks during the same period was increased from $16,829 to $100,709.

That the salaries of Mr. Mackenzie and his Cabinet for five years, from November, 1873, to November 1878, will exceed the salaries of Sir John Macdonald and his Cabinet for the five years anterior to 1873 $161,000, and that Mr. Mackenzie's personal emoluments are $3,400 a year more than those of Sir John Macdonald were before 1873.

That the expenditure for the Administration of Justice has increased under the regime of Messrs. Mackenzie and Blake by the enormous sum of $166,631 a year.

That the annual loss on the performance of the Post Office service has increased under the same regime $356,157.

That although the Customs revenue diminished, the costs of collecting it in 1877 was $153,929 more than in 1873, and that if this revenue had been collected in 1877 as economically as in 1873 the country would have saved $172,026. That at the Montreal Custom House alone, where the revenue was $1,145,744 less in 1877 than in 1873, the cost of collecting it in 1877 was $30,256 more than in 1873, and that if the revenue had been collected at Montreal in 1877 as economically as in 1873 the country would have saved $50,352.

That in New Brunswick the Customs revenue between 1873 and 1877 fell off $155,220, yet that the increased cost of collecting the diminished revenue in 1877 was $22,818, and that if the New Brunswick Customs revenue had been collected in 1877 as economically as in 1873 the country would have saved $32,893 in that Province. That the per centage of costs of collecting the Customs revenue of the Dominion increased from 4.38 per cent. in 1873 to 5.75 per cent. in 1877; at Montreal the increase was from 1.75 per cent. in 1873 to 3.80 in 1877; and in New Brunswick from 5.08 per cent. in 1873 to 8.90 in 1877. That if the Excise revenue had been collected in 1877 as economically as in 1873 the country would have saved $23,361. That the per captia cost of immigrants who came in by the ports of the Dominion—who were the only ones induced to come through the agency of the Immigration Department—increased from $7.76 in 1873 to $27.04 in 1877.

That the expenditure for telegraphing increased under the present Government (a portion being actually charged to Capital); the average for years 1874-5,6,7 was $28,498, while the average for 1872-3 was only $24,860.

That the loss by the steel rail speculation, with interest and extra charges, will be in the neighbourhood of $2,000,000.

That there was a surplus of revenue over expenditure every year from Confederation to the end of the financial year 1874-5; that these surpluses amounted in the aggregate to $12,010,708 notwithstanding that taxes estimated to yield $2,000,000 were remitted in 1871 and 1872.

That the deficits for 1875-76 and 1876-77 amounted to $3,704,403 (including the cooked item $343,591 for Intercolonial railway renewals). That there was expended in 1874, on works not commenced in 1873, $327,552, in 1875, on works not commenced in '73, $203,546, in 1876, on works not commenced in 1873, $556,596, and in 1875 and '76, on works not commenced in 1874, $621,669.

That the increased annual controllable expenditure since 1873, for which the present Government is responsible, is $2,300,000, as per table in pamphlet containing my speeches in Bruce, page 14. That the annual amount for interest on public debt, management of bebt and sinking fund, was increased between 1873 and 1877 by the enormous sum of $2,032,812.

That the estimates of the Minister of Finance set forth in his Budget Speeches of 1874 and 1875 proved alarmingly fallacious. That for the three years, for which we have returns down to 30th June, 1877, the revenue was $5,704,424 less than he estimated. That for the same period he estimated that there would be an annual surplus of $1,000,000, instead of which there have been two deficits, the discrepancy between estimate and result in this case being $5,768,759. That he estimated having an annual increase for 1874 of $1,000,000 in the amount of deposits in the Government savings banks, instead of which those deposits in 1875-6-7 were less than in 1874, the discrepancy between estimate and result being $4,460,383.

That the Minister of Finance negotiated loans on unwise and improvident conditions and sunk in the prepayment of interest, &c., out of the principal of the loan of 1877 ($12,166,666), nearly a million and a half of dollars, and sunk in this way, while he has been in office, the colossal sum of $3,862,070. That the Minister of Finance, in a speech delivered at Lindsay on 29th May last, fell into an error of no less than $1,460,000.

That you yourself in the Senate last session, according to the report of your speech, industriously distributed in Bruce by a Government contractor, understated the amount of the expenditure for contingencies at Ottawa, omitting altogether those of the House of Commons; that you stated the contingencies for 1871-2, '72-3, '73-4 were $565,270, and for 1874, '75-6, 76-7 $538,734, while the correct amounts were, for 1871-2, '72-3, '73-4, $1,079,639, and for 1874-5, '75-6, '76-7 $1,160,751. That you stated that the per capita cost of immigrants in 1875 was $4.08, which upon the expenditure of the department would give upwards of 61,000 immigrants as the number who landed in the country, whereas the official returns show that only 6,785 entered from the sea. That you understated the expenditure on telegraphing by the present Government, placing the amount for 1874-5 at $19,326, '75-6 at $19,421, '76-7 at $15,255, making for these three years of Mr. Mackenzie's Government $54,002, whereas the amount, according to the Public Accounts, was $90,132, being a discrepancy of no less than $36,130. That you represented also, in the Senate, the expenditure of the Macdonald Government from Confederation to close of 1872-3 as culpably extravagant, but concealed the fact that there was a surplus in every one of those years amounting in the aggregate to $12,010,708, and also concealed the fact that taxes estimated to yield $2,000,000 were remitted in 1871 and 1872.

That you declared the Macdonald Government to be responsible for the whole of the expenditure for Contingencies and Telegraphing in 1873-4, although the present Government actually directed that expenditure during eight months of that year.

That you declared the Macdonald Government to be responsible for the whole of the public expenditure of 1873-4, although the present Government controlled it during eight months of that year.

Now, sir, these are some of the statements which I call upon you to dispove. Either refute them to the satisfaction of an independent and impartial tribunal, or withdraw the epithet which you dared to apply to me, and withdraw also the unjust and offensive imputation which you intend the epithet to convey.

If you will not appear before the proposed tribunal, you will thereby practically admit that you are deterred by a consciousness that its decision would necessarily be against you—would declare you to be the "stretcher," and if you will neither appear nor retrrct, you will lay yourself open to be considered by the people at large as the unrivalled, the giant "stretcher" of the Dominion.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. L. MACPHERSON.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Don't who can."

It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer.

It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.,

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prqu ice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over diseases any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Neebing Swindle.

Every elector ought to read the exposure of this notorious swindle given in evidence before the Senate Committee. It is there sworn on oath, that Davidson, (of Oliver, Davidson & Co.,) knew in January or February, 1875, that the town plot of Fort William was selected as the terminus for the Pacific Railway, (p. 120,) while Brown, another partner, knew in the winter of 1874-5. (p. 17.) But the firm had a saw-mill there, and in July, 1875, six months after they knew it was wanted for the railway, they conceived the brilliant idea of putting up a lot of their culls (p. 112,) and common lumber in the shape of a hotel, and selling it the Government at an enormous price! The builder was notified by a number of people, and by a railway engineer, that he was trespassing on the land reserved for the railway, but Oliver told them to keep on! (p. 113). The swindle thus deliberately planned was well carried out. When the valuators came to it, they took whatever accounts Oliver, Davidson & Co., liked to hand in, without taking any steps to verify them, (p. 6,) and $5,029 was allowed for this unfinished rookery! Here are some specimens of the accounts:—16,872 ft. flooring charged, although only the lower floor (1,920 feet,) and part of the upper floor laid; 23 boxes and 2032 panes of glass charged, though only four windows were in; 44 doors charged, but 24 delivered, and only 10 used; doors charged $2.75, worth $1.50; 43 pairs of sash charged, and only 36 delivered; 6 charged $1.50 per pair, worth 60c.; 16 tins of white lead charged, which were used in another building; and so on through the list. (pp. 7, 8, 110, 111, 112.) To show how careless the valuators were in examining the accounts,—when they were being investigated by a committee a year and a half after it was discovered that the land on which the hotel stands was charged twice! (p. 8.) The highest estimate of the building is $3,000 (pp. 113, 140.) Even the valuators would not allow such a palpable fraud, and made this report:

"In the claim of the Neebing Hotel Co., we are not prepared to recognize the erection of this hotel, commenced in July, 1875, about six months after the reservation of the property had been made." (p. 38.)

But not withstanding this report, the Government helped the swindle through and paid the money!

Electors, what think you of the Neebing swindle?

Another $30,000 Gone!

In the beginning of January, 1874, Mr. Mackenzie received tenders for the Goderich Harbor Works. The lowest tender was that of John S. Tolton of Walkerton, $182,630; but notwithstanding that he offered ample security, his tender was rejected, and the contract was given to D. Moore & Co., of Walkerton, at $212,540, thus absolutely throwing away $29,910! (Sess. Paper 75, 1877.) In February, 1877, three years afterwards, when the matter had been discussed in the House, Mr. Pope, an official of the Department, writes a letter to explain why Tolton did not get the contract, and the reasons there stated are, that "some trouble was taken to ascertain whether he was a person acquainted with such work, but no information could be obtained about him;" also that "the other surety offered was Henry Tolton, a farmer of Eramosa," and they were afraid that "Mr. Tolton might also be a farmer!" (Sess. Pap. 75, 1877, p. 15.) How much "trouble" was taken, may be judged from the fact that although they knew Mr. Tolton lived at Walkerton, and must be known to the leading men in the County of Bruce, there is not a single letter or telegram from the Department making enquiries about him, while on the other hand, D. Stirton, Esq., Postmaster of Guelph, (and well known to the Treasurer) sent the following telegram on January 4th 1874, which for some reason is omitted from the documents published:—

"To the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Minister of Public Works, Ottawa:

"I understand that John Tolton, of Walkerton, has tendered for the Goderich Harbor Works. Mr. Tolton is a thorough, practical, honest and reliable man, financially able and accustomed to the construction of public works. The securities named are reliable, sound men."

(Signed) D. STIRTON.

In addition to this, this same Mr. Tolton got the contract for Meaford harbor works, and according to Mr. Mackenzie's own report, "satisfactorily performed" the work: (Pub. Works Rep. 1877, p. 35.) As to Mr. Moore, there appear to have been no enquiries whether he was acquainted with such work, no statements to that effect, and no apprehension that he might be a farmer—he had at a previous election deserted his party and supported Blake, who now introduced him as "my friend Moore." (Sess. Pap. 75,) which was apparently sufficient!

Friend Foster Gets Some Rails.

Mackenzie having agreed to subsidize the Canada Central Railway to the extent of $12,000 per mile, his friend ex-Senator Foster had the contract, and delivered some iron rails in September and October, 1875, for which, without any information as to quality, (App. No. P. P. 16, Journals 1877,) he was allowed $48 per ton, and $68,000 paid on them. Mr. Reynolds testifies that he bought steel rails a few months after for $37.71! (p. 31.) Mr. Mussen, the engineer who laid some of these iron rails, testifies: "I consider the quality poor." "I don't think I have ever seen worse rails." (p. 28.) In June, 1876, Mr. Mackenzie loaned Foster 100 tons of these rails, but in April, 1877, the engineer was sent up to see what was taken, and it was discovered that he had been allowed to carry off 227½ tons! (p. 27.) Although the rails were to have been returned in a few months, nine months afterwards the rails were gone, and neither Mackenzie nor his Deputy knew whether the bonds they had taken in security were worth anything! (pp. 19, 24.)

This is how the business of the country is being managed, in the interest of the Premier's friends!

The Kamimistiquia Job.

Mackenzie having located the terminus of the Pacific Railway on the Kaministiquia, sent up Messrs. Wilson and Reid in 1876, to value the lands to be taken, and appointed Peter J. Brown, a partner in the firm of Oliver, Davidson & Co., the principal owners of the property to be taken, as their legal adviser! The Premier states (Evidence p. 154,) that he did not know at that time that Brown was a partner, but this is in the face of the fact that previous to that time he had entered into a telegraph contract with them, where the names of the partners are set out in full, and Mackenzie's name as Minister of Public Works is signed to it below Brown's name as a partner in the firm! (Sess. Paper 61, 1878.) One of the partners of this lucky firm by some mysterious means gets early information of what lands are wanted, and goes around buying up lots. (Evidence of Clark and Savigny.) The result of this valuation is that $51,650, or over $600 per acre is given for about 100 acres of land in a comparative wilderness! (Sess. Pap. 57, 1877.) Although Murdoch, an engineer, had recommended further down the river as more convenient, and a site could have been got there for about $75 per acre! (Evidence p. 51.) Half acre lots bought from the Government two or three years before for $4 each are paid for at $250 and $275. Lot No. 6, Neebing, 113 acres, was bought from the Government at $1 per acre in 1869; was purchased from the owner in 1873 by Oliver, Davidson & Co., for $350, in addition to which they paid balance due Government, getting the patent for less than $4 per acre. (See records in Crown Lands Office.) But the valuators allowed them $5,047 for about ten acres of this wild farm lot! (Sess. Pap. 57, 1877.) Although the Railway Act, subsection 18 of Section 9, makes provision that the increased value given to the rest of the property by the railway shall be taken into account, the valuators consulted Brown, one of the owners, and under his advice did not apply the Act! (Evidence of Wilson, p. 13.)

Electors should read the evidence and see if a more barefaced swindle was ever perpetrated in the Dominion.

More Consistency!

When in Opposition, Mackenzie and Blake used to insist on the House getting full particulars of where the money was to be expended before voting it. In the Ontario House in 1869, Blake and his followers moved an amendment to the item for Drainage, that it be referred back for the purpose of specifying certain localities and improvements to which, or some of which, the sum would be applied, so as not to leave so large a sum of money to be expended at the mere will of the Executive, without a vote appropriating the same as far as possible, to particular works. (Journals, p. 145.) In 1878, Mackenzie asked $110,000 for dredging, without stating where it was to expended. Mr. Stephenson moved to have particular works specified, copying almost word for word the resolution moved by Opposition in Ontario, but Mackenzie and Blake, with their followers, voted it down! (Votes and Proceedings, p. 393).

This is another specimen of "carrying out in power the principles advocated in Opposition!"

Elevating the Standard.

Mackenzie sought to gain the confidence of the country by proclaiming that his was the party of purity, and when he dissolved the House in 1874 announced to the country that they were going to "elevate the standard of morality!"

THIS IS HOW HE DID IT: Major Walker spent $10,000 in London in "putting down bribery and corruption;" Cameron of Huron confessed to spending $6,000; Cook of Simcoe spent $28,000 in two elections; Norris with his "missionary money" in Lincoln; besides Shibley, Jodoin, McGregor, Irving, Wood, Devlin, Coupal, Biggar, Aylmer, Wilkes, Prevost, Higginbotham, Dashing, Tremblay, Macdonald of Cornwall, McNab, Mackenzie of Montreal, Stuart, Kerr, J. Lorn McDougall, O'Donohue, Dymond and other standard elevators all unseated for bribery and corruption!

Reader, what think you of the hypocrites who proclaimed they were "elevating the standard of morality!"

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON,

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lime-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lusty man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorize you to give it publicity in my name.

I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons:—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 28.

Why Don't They Agree to Agree?

The political war in New Brunswick is waxing strong and bitter. Messrs. Tilley and King are driving home the errors and blunders by our present rulers, and exposing their shortcomings, in such a manner as to call forth all the powers and energies of those who have profited by favors received from the Government. So anxious are these to prove that the members of the Mackenzie Government have been friends to New Brunswick, that they do not hesitate to misquote and falsify history. The Hon. Mr. Burpee, Commissioner of Customs, backed by the Ministerial Press, is loud in his declarations that the present Government is more friendly to that Province than was the old Government, and in doing so "Mr. Burpee," says the Montreal Gazette, "in his speech stated that Mr. Mackenzie had not opposed the grant of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to New Brunswick in lieu of the timber export duty ceded under the Washton treaty. In reply to this statement, Mr. Tilley, who has an awkward way of always having witnesses at hand, introduced Mr. Cartwright to the audience to establish the incorrectness of Mr. Burpee's statement. He quoted as follows from one of Mr. Cartwright's pic-nic speeches, as revised and printed for the instruction of the faithful:—

"The first item and the largest one was the assumption of the Provincial debt and the subsidy to New Brunswick amounting to $150,000 per year. NOW IF THERE WERE TWO MEN IN CANADA, WHO MORE THAN ANY OTHERS PROTESTED AGAINST THAT UNFORTUNATE MEASURE, IT WAS MR. MACKENZIE AND MYSELF."

"And as if that was not enough, and to show that it was not a mere accidental statement, but one deliberately made, and of such importance as to justify repetition, Mr. Tilley quoted from another of Mr. Cartwright's speeches, to the same effect, as follows:—

"Of these four millions the first and by far the largest item is $810,000, which was added to the interest on the public debt by the assumption of the debt of the Provinces, and by paying the sum of $150,000 to the Province of New Brunswick, which sum of $150,000 is to this day, the sole and only benefit—or rather the privilege of paying that money is the sole and only benefit—which has resulted from that wise treaty framed by Sir John A. Macdonald and his English colleagues at Washington. It is a great privilege, truly. Let us prize it as it deserves, as the one and only advantage which has as yet accrued to any part of this Dominion from the treaty making talent of our own illustrious chieftain, our own beloved John A.,—(Hear, hear)—ONLY I TRUST YOU WILL REMEMBER THAT BOTH MR. MACKENZIE AND MYSELF WERE STRONGLY OPPOSED TO THAT GRANT, because we felt whatever might be said for part of that proposal, Canada was in no position at that time to be generous to the Provinces which composed it, at the expense of risking the inability to fulfil our existing obligations. WE OPPOSED IT TOOTH AND NAIL, AND IT WAS CARRIED OVER OUR HEADS BY SIR JOHN AND HIS SUPPORTERS."

"Now that is certainly sufficiently strong. How does the Telegraph get out of this dilemma? How does it attempt to explain this contradiction of the statement of the Minister of Customs by the Minister of Finance? Why, by the suggestion that the letter was drawing a long bow. Here is the explanation:—

"The financial condition of Canada, according to Mr. Cartwright, did not warrant the assumption of those large debts, with the additional burthen of $150,000 a year in lieu of export duty. ADDRESSING A WESTERN AUDIENCE, IN A STUMP SPEECH, MR. CARTWRIGHT RATHER EXAGGERATED THE EXTENT OF HIS AND MR. MACKENZIE'S OPPOSITION TO THE WAY IN WHICH THE DEBT OF CANADA WAS INCREASED AT THAT TIME.'

"Now, that, we submit, is cruel—very cruel. That one of Mr. Cartwright's carefully and eleborately prepared addresses should be sneered at as "a stump speech" is simply unbearable. And that the gentleman should be accused of having "rather exaggerated"—that's a splendid expression in which to clothe a charge of downright lying! Our contemporary, however, does not hesitate to assert still more broadly his charge of falsehood. "The New Brunswick Liberal members of the House of Commons know well, WHATEVER MAY HAVE BEEN SAID ON THE SUBJECT IN THE WEST, that the Liberal Opposition were in sympathy with the committee of the New Brunswick members, who aided in getting the export duty arranged." That is terribly severe. Here we have had Mr. Cartwright appealing strongly to the people of Ontario against the late Government and in favor of the present, upon his statement that he and the Premier had opposed "tooth and nail," this grant to New Brunswick. And here we have his chief organ in New Brunswick declaring, that no matter what he may have said "in the west," the liberal members from New Brunswick know that on this subject he has been guilty of falsehood. This is hard—very hard; but it is none of our funeral. It is a family quarrel, and perhaps on the whole it is better to leave the parties to it free to fight it out themselves. Only the people of Ontario, the people "in the west" will probably think that if Mr. Cartwright was so economical of the truth in this case, there is not much dependence to be placed upon his other statements; while the people of New Brunswick will be lost in wonder that they should be asked to support a Government whose leading men, according to the testimony of their own friends, thus lie in the interests of their sectional appeals and for the sake of their sectional support."

MEETING TO-NIGHT.

The electors of Sidney will be addressed at Sager's School House to-night by Mr. Wallbridge and some of his friends. To Mr. Brown, who received a fair hearing at Frankford last night, despite previous insinuations to the contrary, a cordial invitation is extended.

AN UNKIND CUT.

At the Conservative meeting at Frankford on Tuesday evening, Mr. Brown, who attended, indignantly denied that he is the nominee of the Grit party. This was very unkind of Mr. Brown, who seems to be forgetful of the fact that he was nominated at the instance of the Government, by the Grit Convention, and further he appeared before that Convention and accepted the nomination. It is quite evident that Mr. Brown is ashamed of and disgusted with the political company in which his own acts have placed him, but he cannot escape from it now. It is too late.

ANOTHER GRIT ABSURDITY.

"A long thin shadow" of Mr. Brown (who, when that gentleman was an advocate of the Conservative party, was one of his most bitter opponents), said at the Frankford meeting that no one but a native Canadian had a right to address the people gathered there. This is a most extraordinary contention, even for a Grit. Its acceptance would silence the eloquence of Mr. Brown and render him ineligible for Parliament, throwing the representation of West Hastings without a contest into the the hands of Mr. Wallbridge, who, as it happens, is a native Canadian. We are not disposed, nor are the people disposed to accept such a doctrine, which the aforesaid backer of Mr. Brown merely promulgated in an attempt to stifle discussion.

"Save me from my Friends."

Mr. Brown may well pray to be saved from such friends as the gentleman who spoke in his behalf at Frankford. That speaker condemned a general measure of protection, for which Mr. Brown has always voted; the route of the Intercolonial Railway on which the road has been built, and for which Mr. Brown voted; and the resolution moved in Parliament proposing a duty on wheat and flour, which resolution was moved by Mr. Brown himself towards the close of last session. No wonder that Mr. Brown is tired of his company and disgusted with the orators whom the Reform Association, whose nominee he is, have sent forth to "assist" him in the campaign.

A SAMPLE OF PROTECTION.

The Government of Sir John A. Macdonald took a duty of 7cts. per pound and 15 per cent. ad valorem off tea, but put a protective duty of 10 per cent. on all teas coming from the United States. This threw the tea trade of Canada into Japan, China and England, and took it away from New York. The present Government put a tax of 6cts. a pound on green and Japan teas and 4c. on blacks, but took the 10 per cent. off teas coming from the United States. This took all the Canadian tea trade away from England, put a stop to direct importing, and made New York the great market for Canadians. How does this agree with the Grit Loyalty cry?

The Trade Returns for 1874 and 1877 conclusively bear out this statement, as the following returns of importations conclusively show:

	1874.	1877.
Great Britain	$1,418,267	.... $1,440,622
United States	12	 1,712,028
China	834,290	 72,772
Japan	212,587	 210,448

Hon. Mr. Tilley deals with the tea duties very happily. In that phenomenal speech of his at St. John, Hon. Mr. Burpee is reported to have said:

"The average price of black tea for the past eight years was rated at 27 cents per lb., and the amount of duty chargeable thereon now is equal to 18½ per cent. The price of green tea for the same period is 32 cents per lb., the percentage of duty thereon proving to be the same as in black tea. In this hard-hip does not appear, nor could it possibly be shown to exist."

To which Mr. Tilley made the following reply:

"On the tea question, he must say that he was surprised at the calmness with which the people submitted to the injustice. The rich man who bought a pound of tea at $1.20 paid 15 cents duty, while the poor man, who bought two pounds of sixty-cent tea, paid twenty cents tax. Mr. Burpee said this was an inducement to the poor people to buy good tea! (Laughter.) Suppose the man of small means should be taxed one per cent on his property, and the rich man were taxed but a half per cent, Mr. Burpee would say that this was an inducement to the poor to get rich." (Great laughter.)

That is a settler for Burpee.

NO POLICY.—The Toronto Telegram says:—"The Official Gazette does not contain much new matter of interest in these days, but all the Government organs are determined not to let the country forget the Pacific Scandal. What they would do if they were not continually 'waking' that old corpse, goodness only knows; they don't appear to have any other capital. Why don't they issue their programme?"

West Hastings.

Large and Enthusiastic Meeting in favor of Mr. Wallbridge at Frankford.

A meeting called by Mr. Wallbridge was held in the village of Frankford last evening, and resulted in a demonstration in favor of the Conservative candidate, which proved the dissatisfaction with which the policy of the present Government is regarded in that section of the riding, as well as the confidence felt in the proposed National Policy that Mr. Wallbridge and the Conservative party are pledged to carry out.

The Chair was occupied by C. Armstrong, Esq., who announced that as Mr. Brown and several of his friends had come from Belleville they would be permitted to address the meeting and he asked for them as well as for Mr. Wallbridge and his friends a patient and attentive hearing.

Owing to the large numbers present, the original intention to hold the meeting in a hall had to be abandoned, and it was held in the open air, the speakers addressing the audience from the balcony of the hotel.

Mr. WALLBRIDGE was the first speaker. He alluded to not having been in Frankford for fifteen years, and was pleased to note its growth. Pointing to the river Trent, which was but a few feet from the audience, he shewed what prosperity would follow the adoption of a National policy, when mills and factories would line it on either side, making the goods which we now purchase from that highly protected country the United States. The demand for the products of the farm which it would create, would give the farmer a home market for every variety of produce, and enable thme to keep that rotation of crops which the soil of this country so much needed, after growing wheat and barley so long. To the young men of the country it would afford an opening in occupations which they are now obliged to seek in a foreign country, because they don't exist here. Mr. Wallbridge shewed that the consumer does not pay the duty on barley and other Canadian exports going into the States, but that our farmers pay it, while the United States farmer can send here his corn and oats free, to compete against our people. He convincingly proved that a protective tariff cheapens manufactured articles by the competition it creates—and asked, if protection makes articles dearer, how is it that American goods are driving out English and home manufactured articles out of the Canadian market? He ably covered the ground of argument in favor of a National Policy, and then arraigned the Government for the desertion of every principle, in power, which they contended for in opposition. He pointed out their utter incapacity for dealing with the great questions that are now before the country, and concluded by stating that if elected he would give the National Policy his heartfelt support. Cheer after cheer greeted the hon. gentleman as he resumed his seat.

Mr. BROWN was the next speaker. He began by stating that he would discuss the questions of the day by proxy, and pointed out Mr. Clute as his substitute. The audience thinking that a candidate for their suffrages who has had eleven years' experience of Parliament should be able to discuss the questions before the electors without employing counsel, expressed their astonishment at Mr. Brown's inability to touch on even one of the questions which many of them had come so far to hear explained. Mr. Brown made a few general remarks and claimed to be an independent candidate.

Mr. J. W. JOHNSON was the next speaker. He referred to the prosperity enjoyed in Canada prior to the existence of Mr. Mackenzie's Government, and contrasted the state of things then with the condition of the country to-day. He pointed out the increase in the controllable expenditure by the present Government, notwithstanding the principles of economy and retrenchment preached when they were in opposition, and the need during such times as these for their practice. He showed they had failed to carry out, on obtaining power, any of the great principles they contended when in opposition were essential to good Government. He argued in favor of a national policy, pointing out that to manufacture was to create wealth, and the country where that wealth was created, and the people who created it must be richer and more prosperous than countries and people that did not create it. He instanced the United States and France as highly protected countries that are enjoying the fruits of the policy now advocated for Canada. In conclusion he pointed out the difference between the position of the two candidates. Mr. Wallbridge had unmistakably declared his policy—that of protection to the industries of Canada—and he had in their hearing pledged himself to support it. But Mr. Brown asked them to elect him simply as Mr. Brown, without any pledge or policy, and without even favoring them with a statement of what he believed, is a sound policy for the country.

Mr. Brown's proxy, Mr. CLUTE, was the next speaker, and having Mr. Brown's Power of Attorney (given him before the audience,) his statements may be taken as those of that gentleman. He contended that the Government policy was not that of free trade, but that of a revenue tariff. He said that the policy of the Opposition was simply to impose taxes for the sake of imposing them,—that protective duties were simply a bonus given to manufacturers. He proceeded to urge that the Government has been economical,—has given no contracts without consulting Parliament, and stating that power to purchase the steel rails was obtained by Mr. Mackenzie from Parliament before being purchased,—and generally to defend them against the charges made by the previous speakers.

An extraordinary doctrine was propounded by Mr. Clute, namely, that as Mr. Johnson was not a native Canadian he had no right to address the electors. This species of "liberalism" found little favor among the audience. When Mr. Clute sat down Mr. Johnson requested permission to ask a question, and being permitted he said, Will Mr. Clute inform the audience how long a man must live in this country before he can exercise the rights of citizenship? Who is Mr. Mackenzie? He is a Scotchman. Who is Sir John Macdonald? He is a Scotchman. He, Mr. Johnson, is an Irishman, has lived fourteen years in Canada, has seen more of it than Mr. Clute has, and understands the questions which interest its people quite as well as he, and yet, liberal as he claims to be, Mr. Clute says that the right to discuss public affairs should be denied him. This question was received with great cheering by the audience. Mr. Clute made no attempt to reply.

Mr. KETCHAN GRAHAM addressed the audience for a short time, but his utterances were received with marked disfavor. After lauding Mr. Brown and condemning Mr. Wallbridge he sat down.

Mr. WALLBRIDGE replied to all that Mr. Brown and Mr. Clute had advanced. When stating to the audience that Mr. Brown is the nominee of the Grit party and their candidate, Mr. Wallbridge was interrupted by Mr. Brown, who declared he was not the candidate of the Grit party. In reply Mr. Wallbridge stated that Mr. Mackenzie whipped the party into taking Mr. Brown up, and Mr. Thomas Holden took special pains to declare publicly on Saturday evening last that he was not responsible for Mr. Brown's being the nominee of his party. Mr. Wallbridge, addressing the Reformers present said, gentlemen, Mr. Brown d'sowns you, you are now orphans, having neither father nor mother, come to me and I will gladly adopt you.

Mr. Brown said a few words, when a vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman, and with three cheers for the Queen, Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, and Sir John Macdonald, the meeting terminated at 11:15.

THE COLLECTORSHIP.

The Mail says:—

"There is another matter in which Mr. Brown is exercising his peculiar electioneering tactics. The Collectorship of Customs in Belleville has been vacant for some time past. The number of applicants for the position is said not to be fewer than fifty-three. To each one of these fifty-three Mr. Brown is understood to have given assurances of a perfectly satisfactory kind. Now this is very wrong of Mr. Brown, as he knows full well that not one of them will get the office. The coming man is Mr. Ketchan Graham, ex-M. P. P., a traitor to the Conservative Party, and on that account, no doubt, the more acceptable to the Premier, who has for five years bedded so comfortably with renegade Tories such as Cartwright, W. Ross, R. W. Scott, Cauchon, and many others. We cannot allow Mr. James Brown to continue to hold out hopes to fifty-three men who are all doomed to a weighty disappointment without telling them where they stand."

This may account for Mr. Graham's anxiety to speak at Frankford on behalf of Mr. Brown, as it was said a few days previous, by some of his most intimate friends, that Mr. Graham was undecided whether to support Mr. Wallbridge or Mr. Brown.

Political Notes.

Mr. C. H. Champagne, notary, declines the candidature against Mr. Daoust, the Conservative nominee in Two Mountains.

Six thousand persons attended the Conservative gathering at Victoria Park, near Toronto, on the 27th. Sir John Macdenald, Mr. Boultbee, Hon. T. N. Gibbs, Hon. Wm. McDougall, Mr. J. B. Plumb, and Mr. R. W. Phipps, were the speakers.

The Reform Association of Ottawa have nominated Dr. St. Jean and Mayor Bangs as the canidates of their party at the coming election for the House of Commons.

Rumor has it that a new candidate has appeared in St. Maurice county in the person of Dr. Desaulniers, inspector of prisons, who has already represented the county, and is very popular, where he runs in the Conservative interest.

Dr. Oliver, of St. Ferdinand, Megantic, has accepted the Liberal candidature of the county.

Dr. Tupper's opponent is W. T. Piper, a lawyer of Amherst.

A Montreal telegram of the 27th says:—"The Reform party in Montreal are still in great perplexity and anxiety on account of being unable to obtain a candidate for the Centre and Western Divisions. Several other parties were waited upon yesterday, but declined the honor offered them. James Howley, contractor, will probably come out as a straight Grit in the centre, provided Mr. Devlin runs as an opponent of the Government. The latter being convalescent from his recent serious illness, is expected to issue his address to-day or to-morrow. A public meeting of the party in this city is called for Thursday night. It is said a Government candidate has been decided upon for the Western Division, but the name of the unfortunate cannot be learned."

On Tuesday afternoon a number of influental Roman Catholic gentlemen, from various parts of the Province, assembled in Toronto, to consider the present aspect of political affairs. After appointing a committee to draft resolutions, the meeting adjourned till the evening, when Mr. T. Barry presided. Several speeches were delivered, the speakers, prominent among whom was Mr. John O'Donohoe, unanimously denounced the departure of the Mackenzie Government from True Reform principles. A number of Grit contractors and others pecuniarily interested in sustaining the present Administration had, however, managed to obtain admission, and, by their disorderly conduct, caused constant interruptions, and finally induced the chairman to leave the chair in disgust.

SOCIALISM IN GERMANY.—The German Federal Council has adopted the bill against the different States, and not the central Federal authorities shall be empowered to prohibit Socialist associations, and that appeals shall be taken to a Committee of the Federal Council, and not to the Imperial bureaus.

THE R. C. Y. C. REGATTA.—At a meeting of the Committee of Management of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, held last evening, the annual regatta was arranged to take place on Saturday, the 7th September, when the following prizes will be competed for:—Prince of Wales' Cup, two Cups presented by the Dr. Hodder, and a Cup presented by Mr. A. R. Boswell, Commodore. These prizes are open to competition by Club yachts only.

TERRIBLE STORM.—Advices from the Magdalen Islands to Saturday last announce that a violent storm of wind and rain visited the Islands on the morning of the 19th, and continued till the 23rd, doing much damage. The wind commenced blowing from the southeast and veered around to the northeast, with great fury. At the fishing station of Etang du Nord, a number of boats were damaged and others destroyed. Hay and grain crops suffered severely, large quantities being kept lying on the ground.

THE METROPOLITAN.—The Montreal Gazette says:—"We learn that the mail received yesterday brought out the paper of resignation of the Bishop of Montreal and Metropolitan of the Anglican Church in Canada. The resignation dates from September 2nd, and, according to the rules of the Diocese, the notices for the meeting of Synod to elect his successor will require to be sent out in a fortnight. The Synod must be summoned to meet within thirty days from date and no other business can be transacted. We earnestly hope that this special meeting may result in giving to the Anglican Church a worthy successor to the See and one who will command the confidence of all the clergy and laity of the Diocese."

SANDBANKS.

AS the people in our Towns and Cities are prostrated with the past extreme heat, and our farmers' crops gathered, Picn-ics and pleasure excursions will be the order of the day. We expect thousands the next month on the Sandbanks, as recreation is an essential to health. Solomon says also, "as iron sharpeneth iron, so the countenance of another his friend." So come one, come all, 'tis here we have the enjoyment. We have a large saloon for dancing where the sweet breezes from the lake are flowing, and a first class violin player always on hand. Our tables are furnished with all the luxuries our country affords, as well as other refreshments to be found in our towns and cities. Yours truly—come!

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, AUG. 28.

City and Vicinity.

ONTARIO RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—Corporal Hilton, of the 49th, won a prize in the Gordon match on the 27th, with a score of 24 out of a possible 35 at 500 yards.

BLEECKER WARD.—A meeting of the friends and supporters of Mr. Wallbridge is to be held on the lot opposite the Station School House to-morrow night. Let there be a large attendance.

LARGE APPLES.—Mr. Wilson, of the 6th concession of Huntingdon, exhibited some extraordinary large apples, the growth of his orchard, this morning. The largest of them measured 13 inches in circumference.

EXCURSION.—The annual excursion of Christ Church and St. George's Sunday Schools will take place to-morrow at the beautiful Lake on the Mountain. The steamer Hastings will leave here at 8:30 a.m., returning at 7 in the evening.

DEDICATION.—The new Orange Hall at Mill Point is to be dedicated on Tuesday next, the 3rd September, at 2 p. m., and in the evening a tea meeting is to take place. An invitation has been extended to surrounding lodges to take part in the ceremony.

A PUBLIC NUISANCE.—The Whig says: "The whistling of the steamers in the harbor is to be suppressed, on the ground that it is a public nuisance. Whistling will not be allowed in any case except when there is danger of a collision, or in a fog." Similar legislation is needed here, though the nuisance is not, perhaps, so great in Belleville as it is in Kingston.

CRICKET MATCH.—A match game of cricket was played between the Belleville and Stirling clubs on the ground here today. The Belleville club made 74 in their first innings, of which 20 were byes and leg byes. The double figures were Mills 18 and Jenkins 18. At 2 o'clock the Stirling club had scored 21, of which Bruce made 11, with three wickets down.

DOMINION RIFLE ASSOCIATION.—We learn from the Prize List of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, recently issued, that an unusually attractive programme has been prepared for the annual meeting, to take place at the Rideau Rifle Range, Ottawa, commencing on Tuesday next, the 3rd September. Cash prizes and prizes in kind—amounting in the aggregate to $4,330 in value, will be competed for. The several Railway Companies have offered facilities to competitors, by carrying them to Ottawa at a single fare for the double journey.

SOCIAL.—Yesterday evening another of the series of socials inaugurated by the Ladies' Aid of the Bridge Street Methodist Church, was held at the residence of J. H. Meacham, Esq. The social was held for a two-fold object—to meet and welcome back from Japan the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Macdonald, and to intensify still more the interest taken by the Methodists of Belleville in the missions to Japan. A great many articles illustrating Japanese manners and customs were on view, and excited a great deal of interest. A lady, noted for her graceful manner and figure, looked charming attired in the unique costume of a Japanese lady. The Rev. Dr. Macdonald gave a most interesting "talk" on Japan. It is evident that the conversion of Japan has become a passion with the Reverend gentleman, for, as he dilated last evening on the future of that great and interesting country, his whole manner showed that he was enamored with his work, and intensely interested in the people amongst whom he is laboring. Mr. W. F. Jones, who very happily acted as chairman, in thanking Mr. Macdonald for his address, expressed a hope that all the citizens of Belleville would have an opportunity of hearing him before he returns to Japan.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—A report having been circulated that the torches used by the processionists on Monday night were loaned them by Active Fire Company No. 4, I beg to state that such was not the case. The torches were stolen from the Company's shed by unknown persons, who, if found out, will be severely dealt with.

R. D. ROBERTSON,
Captain Active Fire Co., No. 4.

We understand that a political pic-nic will be held by the Conservatives at Stella Point, Amherst Island, on Friday, September 6th. East and West Hastings, Prince Edward, Addington and Frontenac will be asked to co operate. Sir John A. Macdonald and George Kirkpatrick, Esq., M.P., have consented to attend and deliver addresses, and other prominent public men will be invited.

M. E. General Conference.

The General Conference of the M. E. Church, the sittings of which are held quadrennially, commenced its session in the Tabernacle here yesterday, Bishop Carman presiding. There were a large number of delegates present, of whom the following is a complete list:—

BAY QUINTE CONFERENCE.—W. Service, T. W. Pickett, J. Young, I. B. Aylesworth, L. L. D., S. G. Stone, D. D., A. D. Traveller, W. H. Graham, F. B. Stratton, W. Blair, B. A., W. Brown, J. H. Andrews, F. Chisholm, E. I. Badgley, L. L. D., J. Mavety, D. Wilson, G. S. White, A. Martion, H. Williams. Reserve Delegates.—J. P. Wilson, B. A., B. F. Austin, M. A., J. D. Bell, J. S. Eastman.

ONTARIO CONFERENCE.—G. Abbs, T. Argue, J. Curtis, A. Campbell, G. Clark, R. B. Denike, F. M. Finn, J. H. Hilts, J. R. Jaques, Ph. D., B. Lane, M. A., S. Morrison, G. Miller, W. Pirritte, J. M. Simpson, C. A. Simpson, R. Sanderson, G. Bennett. Reserve Delegates.—R. Large, R. E. Lund, J. C. Pomeroy, B. A., C. Taylor.

NIAGARA CONFERENCE.—S. Gardiner, E. Lounsbury, R. C. Parsons, W. G. Brown, J. N. Elliott, W. D. Hughson, J. S. Williamson, E. Bristol, J. Reynolds, O. G. Collamore, S. Card, T. Webster, D. D., J. H. Kennedy, E. H. Pilcher, D. D., Wm. Benson, W. A. Shaw, J. R Phillips, J. T. Davis, B. C. Moore, A. E. Griffith, C. E. Benson, J. Wood, S. L. Kerr, B. Bristol, C. Burdett. Reserve Delegates.—J. F. Fairchilds, J. Laycock, M. Dimmick, H. Locke, J. B. Cutler.

Bishop Carman conducted the opening devotional exercises, reading the forty-third chapter of Isaiah, and the sixteenth chapter of St. John's Gospel. These services were interspersed with singing, prayer being offered by Revs. Messrs. Traveller, Argue, Lounsbury, Webster, Morrison, and Andrews, the Bishop closing with the Lord's Prayer, in which he was joined by the Conference.

The Conference being constituted, the call for the election of Secretary was made, when it was ordered that the choice be determined by ballot, the second and third highest numbers to be assistants. On the casting of the first ballot there was no election, none of the candidates having a majority of the Conference. On the second ballot, Rev. F. B. Stratton having the required majority, was declared Secretary.

Rev. T. Argue was appointed Journal Secretary.

Revs. B. Lane, M. A., W. Pirritte, I. B. Aylesworth, LL. D., and E. Lounsbury were appointed a Committee on Divine Service.

The Conference then adjourned to meet at three o'clock, the benediction being given by Rev. G. Bennett.

SECOND SESSION.

The Conference met pursuant to adjournment at three o'clock, the religious services being conducted by Rev. D. Wilson, who read Isaiah lxii., and gave out a hymn, after the singing of which he engaged in prayer.

The roll being called the minutes of the forenoon session were read and approved and the Conference proceeded to business

Rev. Dr. Todd, of Philadelphia, representative from the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States, was introduced by Rev. W. Pirritte and took his seat on the platform.

The Bishop now took the opportunity of delivering his quadrennial address, which was an able document. He referred in the beginning to the history of the General Conferences of which this now assembled is the thirteenth. In doing this he necessarily touched upon many silent points in the history of the M. E. Church. The prosperity which has attended the efforts put forth calls for gratitude to Almighty God. He went on to refer to the dignity, authority, and responsibility of the General Conference, calling for a deep sense of obligation on the part of all its members. The Conference is the guardian of the interests of the church taking cognizance of the work of book agent and editor, missionary secretary, educational institutions, Sabbath School, &c., &c. This body is the enactor of law, the provider for its enforcement and may confirm or reverse the decisions of the lower courts. Here law and order must prevail, authority must be respected and law must be maintained. The responsibility being so great it is needful to seek Divine aid. The Bishop referred to the action of the late General Conference relating to lay representation, provision therefor having been made, but the mode of appointing the delegates vetoed by the quarterly Conferences. He recommended action on this question at the present session, believing that the counsels of the laity are desired by the ministerial representatives. He spoke of previous action respecting the Parent Missionary Board, the employment of a missionary secretary, the appointment of a book agent, as well as an editor four years ago, the agent having resigned his position. Reference was also made to the Ladies' College now in course of erection at St. Thomas, which enterprise has been inaugurated since the last quadrennial session. The Bishop also referred to the centenary of Canadian Methodism, the proposed Council of all the Methodism of the world, the Methodist union and other important consideration which would be brought before the conference for its action. Reference was also made to Sabbath School work, urging action to secure a more thorough organization, to Church extension, and the course of study for candidates who claim a share of attention. The Bishop referred in a very feeling and eulogistic manner to the late Bishop Richardson, who has died since the session of the General Conference in 1874. He reccomended the appointment of a delgation to meet the Marquis of Lorne with a loyal address on his arrival in Canada as the representative of our Gracious Sovereign, and closed his address with a few references to his own work, urging the necessity of deep devotion, brotherly forbearance and earnest zeal on the part of all members of the Conference.

The following committees were ordered:—Lay Delegation, Episcopacy, Itinerancy, Church Extension, Missionary Interests, Revision of Discipline, Boundaries, State of the Church, Lay Institutions, Conference Expenses, Temporal Economy, Camp Meetings, Printing and Publishing, Education, Sabbath Schools, Evangelists, Centenary of Canadian Methodism, Correspondence, Incorporations, Temperance, to draft address to the Governor-General, Obituary.

The Conference adjourned at 5:30.

Cungonde suburb, he ran to the canal, jumped in, and in attempting to escape by swimming away, was drowned.

The Orange Question.

APPLICATION BEFORE A BENCH OF JUDGES FOR A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS ON BEHALF OF THE WITNESS COLONEL SMITH.

(From the Witness, Aug. 27th.)

Mr. Brehaut, police magistrate, having rendered judgment committing Col. Smith for refrusing to answer a question in examination, as to whether he conscientiously believed that by answering a previous question he would criminate himself, the form of law was duly observed and this morning Col. Smith was conveyed to jail, from whence he was brought at eleven o'clock to the ante-chamber of the Court of Appeals, where Mr. Joseph Doutre, Q. C. presented an application for a writ of habeas corpus before Chief Justice Sir A. A. Dorion and the Hon. Justices Ramsay and Cross. There were also present the counsel, and a few of the defendants.

Mr. Doutre said his petition presented before Their Honors was to bring the body of Col. Smith, a witness examined in the case of the Queen against David Grant and others, from custody.

Mr. Carter, Q.C., raised the preliminary objection that it was not within the jurisdiction of the Court to interfere in the case as he would show by strong authorities.

The Chief Justice said the case was analogous to that of Devlin, who was sent to gaol by Justice Mackay for refusing to answer a case, on the ground that the Court could not proceed in the vacation.

Mr. F. X. Archambault, Q. C., as representing the Attorney-General, said he left the case in the hands of Mr. Carter, Q. C., as he was obliged to withdraw.

Mr. Doutre said the prosecution was taken under chapter 10, Statutes of Lower Canada, concerning secret association. He read the warrant of commitment, and the questions which Col. Smith had declined to answer. The words "David Grant, County Master," appeared in an advertisement in a city paper, but it had been proved that David Grant had signed the advertisement. He took exception to the words "contempt of court," which had been introduced into the warrant, that his learned friend might be able to raise the objection concerning the jurisdiction of the court. The law did not call the refusal to answer a contempt of court but simply a misdemeanor. This was doubtless a clever way of proceeding, but did not alter the facts as presented to the court. At the time he was a little doubtful as to whether the question was direct enough for the witness to refuse to answer, but on investigating the matter he found the opinion universal that the witness was fully justified in his position. He cited various authorities concurring in the opinion that a witness was only exempt from answering a question which might directly criminate himself, but which might from one link in a chain of evidence convict him.

Messrs. Carter, Q.C., and Barnard, Q.C., addressed the court at length, resisting the application, on the grounds that the witness himself had said that he could not tell whether the answer to the question would criminate him or not, and that if he had answered he could not be proceeded against on a confession made under the order of the court. The great pressure upon our columns this evening precludes the possibility of a full report of the weighty argument of the counsel or the shrewdly patient remarks of the honorable justice. Mr. Doutre replied to the arguments of his opponents, and the application was taken en delibere till 3.30 p.m.

JUDGMENT.

At 4.15 p.m. Chief Justice Dorion rendered judgment maintained the writ of habeas corpus, and liberating Col. Smith, as he had been denied a substantial right when committed.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington ; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

A Cold-Blooded Murder.

A FARMER DELIBERATELY SHOT ON THE PUBLIC HIGHWAY—THE MURDERER WALKS 21 MILES TO GIVE HIMSELF UP.

QUEBEC, Aug. 26.—At St. Catharine's Parish, in the County of Port Neuf, in the vicinity of the Gosford Railway, two Irishmen, named Francis Conway and Michael Farrell, have lived since their childhood as neighbors. Yesterday afternoon, after vespers, Conway, in company with two of his children and his brother, started off to visit their father in Valcartier, which is about four miles from where he lived. On his way he saw Farrell. In a conversation with him at the roadside, Conway asked Farrell to remove his fence, in answer to which, it is said, that Farrell told him that before he would do it, either one or the other of them present would be killed. In parting, Farrell got into a dreadful state of excitement, and in a loud voice advised Conway not to pass the road in returning or there would be bad work. Conway did not reply but proceeded on his way to his father's, in company with his children and his brother. After spending the afternoon there they returned about 5 o'clock. On approaching the residence of Farrell the occupant could be easily discerned with a gun in his hand. He is a tall, robust man, fair complexion, about 40 years old, and of sanguine temperment. He is reported to be very passionate and revengful. On seeing the party returning, he walked quietly down the path of his farm to the road, and met there Conway and party without a word. It is charged that Farrell took a deadly aim with his gun at Conway, who had both his children by the hand, and pulled with a deliberate aim the trigger, he fired at Conway, and killed him instantly. The children threw themselves upon the body of their father, and piteously appealed to him to speak. Farrell looked on, while the brother felt all the time alarmed that he would be fired at, too. Conway was a quiet, inoffensive man, and bore a remarkably good character. Farrell, who is charged with the murder, was a prisoner on a similiar charge before the courts here about twelve years ago, and was acquitted on the ground that he acted in self-defence. In that instance he killed the man with an axe. Farrell walked into town last night, a distance of 21 miles, and on entering the No. 1 Police Station at four o'clock this morning, said he was there to give himself up for shooting and killing Conway. Farrell takes it very quietly.

More About the Kindergarten.

BY MISS ADA MAREN, KINDERGARTNER, TORONTO.

The true Kindergarten forms a bridge from the nursery to the school; in it every want and inclination of the healthy child's nature seems to have been provided for. With proper means and guidance, the child can, even in infancy, begin to explore the different paths of knowledge opening around him, and come out naturally, and with eager expectation, into the field of actual study.

At the age of three years, the little one no longer needs the watchful hand of the mother to guide his wavering steps, or her constant loving care to anticipate the wants which he can now express. With his independence physically there arise new wants and desires. He longs for the companionship of othee children of his own age and capabilities. He is not wholly satisfied by the condescending playfulness of older persons. He instinctively feels that such condescension is not natural to the grown person, and it is solely for his benefit that such a character is assumed. This naturally leads him to consider himself of great importance to others, and if he is not a timid child, tends to centre his thoughts more and more in himself, and leads him to consider his wishes of first importance to everybody else.

As he grows older, disagreeable points begin to grow more prominent in his character, often giving great annoyance to his friends.

A timid child, on the other hand, grows more sensitive as he grows older, if brought in contract with only a few members of his own family, and he suffers untold mental agonies during his youth from this one cause.

The Kindergarten, though not claimed to be a specific for all the ills of character and disposition, natural or acquired, to which childhood is subject, helps to keep the soil of this new field from being overgrown with weeds of selfishness, and makes it fit for the production of healthy, well-balanced characters.

Each child in the Kindergarten becomes, for a few hours in each day, a member of society, in which he is no longer a prominent person, but one among many having common interest and pleasures. He receives no attention except as a part of the whole, and yet feels no unhappiness from lack of the accustomed attention, being fully occupied with the pleasure derived from the companionship of those around him.

A timid child has a sense of shelter surrounded by others of his own age, and gradually forgets himself in the enjoyment of the play. His motions become free and unstudied, and accordingly graceful and easy. Being no longer awkward, he is no longer pained by his own efforts.

The Kindergarten is not a mild school of correction for the taming of rude boys and the improvement of illy trained girls, but aims rather to prevent the formation of such characters.

There is no hurry, and no cramming done. The Kindergartener if she has the true spirit, gives no assistance until the little one has reached the extent of its own ability, and when suggesting or assisting, allows the child to proceed alone as soon as a fresh idea has been presented, or a new line of thought has opened the way for independent action. A quick child often says, when receiving assistance, "Oh, I can do it now," before having fully grasped the directions given, and should be allowed to make the attempt, thus by its own efforts proving the necessity for careful and patient attention.

The work of plays of the Kindergarten advance step by step towards a higher plane of knowledge, and require more and more skill in the execution, but the advance is so gradual that the child finds it possible always to accomplish the work of the fresh step, with some satisfactory degree of perfection.

Nothing has been claimed for the Kindergarten that has not been fully tested and approved by the best friends of education, in view of the results seen in connection with the practical application of its principles. Truth must live, and the day will surely come when the Kindergarten will be a necessary part of the educational system in every intelligent community.—Canada School Journal.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contans a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

MCHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY,
225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully, ROBERT COTTON.

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence. The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

A Million or Two Thrown Away.

In December, 1874, and Janurry and February, 1875, Mackenzie made contracts for 50,000 tons of Steel Rails for the Pacific Railway, before he had a single contract which required rails let on the railway, (Pacific Railway Rep. pp. 385-7,) and years before the great bulk of them will be required! He purchased in a falling market at an average of $54 per ton delivered in Montreal, and in 1876 steel rails were bought delivered at Prescott for $37.71 per ton! (Evidence of Thomas Reynolds, App. Journals 1877, p. 31.) Allowing $1.71 for extra freight to Prescott, this would make a difference of $18 per ton, or Nine Hundred Thousand Dollars which Mackenzie has squandered in his haste to put a good contract in the way of Cooper, Fairman & Co! But this is not all—in January, 1877, about two years after the purchase, only 2,295 tons have been used on the Pacific Railway, (Sess. Pap. 77, 1877,) and January, 1878, three years after, only 6,210 tons have been used! (Public Works Rep. 1877, p. 189.) 5,577 tons of these rails are piled up on the wharves at Nanaimo, British Columbia, (Sess. Pap. 77, 1877,) and to the present day there is not even a sign of commencing the railway there! During 1877 (see above) only 3,915 tons were laid on the Pacific, and at that rate it would take about thirteen years to use up 50,000 tons! Meanwhile, rust and interest tell their expensive tale. The amount paid in England for rails and fastenings was $2,923,917, (Sess. Pap. 77,) and for transport $428,452, (Pacific Railway Report 1877, pp. 391-5,) making an aggregate of $3,352,369, on which say a 5 per cent. interest runs on at the rate of $167,618 per annum! How many years it will be before the account is closed by using the rails, nobody knows, but with loss on first cost, interest, rust, &c., it is safe to say the country will lose in the neighborhood of two millions before this job or blunder is through with!

Electors, isn't it about time we got rid of such blundering?

Sacrificing our Bonds.

In the fall of 1876, Cartwright went to England to negotiate a loan of $12,166,666, (£2,500,000 stg.) When he got there he found Canadian 4 per cents quoted at 94½ to 95½, (London Times, Oct. 31,) but instead of asking offers to see how much he can get for them, a day or two after he deliberately sits down and writes an advertisement offering our bonds for 91, or three or four per cent. below what they are quoted in the market! (Sess. Pap. 39, 1877.) But that is not all, he only asked the money for the bonds in installments—5 per cent. on application. 15 per cent. on allotment, 20 per cent. on the 31st January, 1877, 20 per cent. on the 27th march, 20 per cent. on 25th May, and 11 per cent. on 25th July,—but pays interest on the whole amount from 1st of November, 1876, that is, pays interest for money he has not got and actually allows the six months' interest up to the first of May, to be deducted from the installment to be paid on 25th May! (Sess. Pap. 39. 1877.) Was ever such a transaction heard of before? The loan was closed on 8th November, and the Londen Times of next evening thus speaks of it:—

"The applications for the new Canadian loan ... excess of the amount offered, it being considered cheap, and therefore easily retailable at a premium."

While the London correspondent of the Globe telegraphs, "the amount of the loan was subscribed three times over!" (Globe Nov. 9.) When the London money lenders found a Finance Minister from Canada so crazy as to sacrifice bonds in this style, is it to be wondered there was a rush for them? It is difficult to estimate the exact loss to the Dominion by this transaction but taking only 2 per cent. thrown away by offering too low, $243,333; interest paid for money before it was received, about $176,200, or a total of above $419,500 loss to the Dominion through Cartwright's folly!

Farmers, if any of you sent a servant to town with wheat, and instead of going on to the market to get the highest offer he could, he voluntarily offered it at 91c., when it was quoted in the papers at 94c. to 95c., and took his pay in installments ranging over eight or nine months, would you not dismiss him instantly? What will you do with the Finance Minister who sold your bonds in a similar fashion?

The Ingonish Harbor Job.

In 1873, Sir John Macdonald's government let a contract for Ingonish Harbor works to F. W. McKenzie for the sum of $78,208.60. In 1874, after Mackenzie's Government came into power, the contract was transferred by the original contractor to John Ross (a relative of the Minister of Militia,) and James McKay. (Sess. Pap. 67, 1877.) From that time the dealings in connection with this contract appear to be of a most extraordinary nature. Although by the contract the work was to be completed by 31st of December, 1874, no attempt was made to get it done at that time, and it was not finished till the end of 1876, or the beginning of 1877! In September, 1876 Mr. Ross resigned his contract to run as the Grit candidate in Victoria, N. S., but Mackenzie kept his resignation in suspense till he was defeated, and then permitted him to resume the contract! Although the contract bound the contractor to "make good at his own expense any damage by storm or from any cause whatever, during the progress of the work;" when a portion of the pier was carried away by a storm, instead of compelling the contractors to repair it according to their contract, Mackenzie allowed them to abandon that part, and shorten the pier! The final result was, that instead of 700 feet of pier, the contractors only built 565 feet, yet they were paid the full amount of their contract $78,208,) and $3,643 for extras!

This is the way in which friends of the Government are compelled to fulfil their contracts!

A Sample Statement.

On 2nd July, 1877, at Newmarket, Mr. Cartwright denounced the re-adjustment of the debts of the Provinces, declaring how hard Mr. Mackenzie and himself had worked against it—"We did all in our power to prevent it, * * it "was an act of the grossest folly to saddle ourselves with "nearly one million additional to our permanent debt." (Picnic Speeches, p. 47.) The Journals show that they never moved a single amendment, and so far from their party opposing it, eight of their colleagues (Burpee, Cauchon, Coffin, Dorion, Fournier, Geoffrion, Jones, Pelletier and Ross,) voted for the Bill, while only one (D. A. Macdonald) voted against it! (Journals, 1873, p. 420.)

The Finance Minister who boasts of presenting one statement to British capitalists and another to the Canadian public, cannot expect people now to take his assertions on trust—they are apt to look and see which side of the shield he is presenting!

Suppressing Returns.

On the 2nd of March, 1876, on motion of Dr. Tupper, an order of the House was issued for an important return relating to the tenders for Steel Rails and other information concerning them. (Journals, p. 98.) On the return being received, it was referred to the Joint Committee on Printing, which is the proper authority to decide whether it should be printed. The Committee reported that it should be printed, (Journals p. 296,) and the House adopted the report (p. 305.) But in defiance of the order of the House the publication of these important documents has been suppressed! To add to the offence, the suppression is attempted to be covered up by a falsehood! In the volume of sessional papers, after indicating the title of this return, it is stated that "in accordance with the recommendation of the Joint Committee on Printing, the above returns are not printed," (Sess. Pap. 65,) when the recommendation was the reverse!

Electors, what think you of this style of suppressing information? Is this "conducting public affairs by practices which will bear the light of day?"

Some More Elevating of the Standard.

One of the great doctrines which Mackenzie in Opposition was never tired of upholding was the Independence of Parliament. Electors will all remember how fiercely Blake and Mackenzie denounced Col. Gray being selected to codify the laws and paid for his services. But when Mackenzie got into power, this, with other Reform doctrines, was thrown to the winds! He subsidized the Speaker of the House with printing contracts to the amount of $18,648! (Sess. Pap. 59, 1877). The printing office of which Vail of Digby and Jones of Halifax were part proprietors was subsidized with $26,793 Post Office printing! (Sess. Pap. 59, 1877). Norris of Lincoln and his partner got contracts for carrying steel rails to the amount of $156,186! (Pacific R. Rep. 1877, pp. 392,395,) and they got their contract at $6.20 per ton when another person had offered to carry them for $6! A. G. B. Bannatyne, member for Provencher, was subsidized with large sums for various contracts, drawing $24,051 of public money in 1877! (Pub. Acc. 1877). Besides these, there were Workman, of Montreal, McLeod, of Kent, and others, all drawing large sums in defiance of the Independence of Parliament Act! When his wholesale violation of the Independence of Parliament was discovered, Mackenzie PASSED A WHITEWASHING ACT to relieve his friends from the penalties incurred in violating the law! (40 Vic., chap. 2).

What do the Electors think of this great champion of the Independence of Parliament?

The Globe and the Grits used to denounce C. J. Brydges as an incompetent railway manager;—when they got into power they made him Manager of Government Railways at $8,000 a year!

Extracts from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons:—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

More Globe Stupidity.

The following appears in the Globe of the 27th:—

"Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, the Conservative candidate for West Hastings, seems inclined to go through the whole gamut of protectionist twaddle. He now says:

"We at one time had to go for good cheese to England and the United States, but on account of a 3 cents per pound duty put upon it we now manufacture it here, and not only that, but supply the English market. Would any one say it was dearer now rhan before?"

"Not unless he was a Conservative candidate making a stump speech. He might just as reasonably say that cheese is dearer now than it was before the three per cent. duty was put on, as say that it is on account of the three cent duty that we now manufacture cheese here. One statement would be just as absurd as the other. Cheese is less than half the price it formerly was because we adopted the factory system. If Conservative orators really believe the price of cheese has been lowered by the imposition of the duty, why do they not apply the same reasoning to wheat, oats, and barley. Let them be honest about it, and tell the farmers that the effect of the duty they want to put on wheat, oats and barley, will be in a few years to reduce the price of these cereals one-half, the same as they say has been the experience with cheese. That is, if they believe it."

The above is almost too stupid even for on trade questions. The facts that cheese factories were established here on account of the protective duty, and that the price of cheese has fallen on account of the competition and of the article being manufactured in our midst, cannot be disputed. Grain is a product of the soil, not a manufacture, therefore the argument does not apply to it. Let the Globe try again.

Protection.

Free traders laugh boldly at the folly of Americans in protecting their own industries. How is that for a laugh? In the year 1875 their excess of exports over imports was $71,668,700.

1876	$120,213,102
1877	166,529,917
For single month of February 1878	17,866,942
For 8 months ending February, 1878	152,579,468

During the same period Free Trade England shows a balance on the other side of the ledger. In 1875 her imports exceeded her exports by £150,000,000.

1876	£174,000,000
1877	195,000,000

Let those laugh at the end who come out of the fire least scorched.

The Harness Trade.

The harness makers of Canada do not owe a debt of gratitude to the Government. They are called upon to compete against harness made by the convicts in the Auburn State Prison, whose labor is hired at 25 cents a day. In this case 17½ per cent duty is no protection, and there is no wonder that harness makers in this country find it almost impossible to make a living. It is bad enough for our mechanics to be obliged to compete against the labor of prisoners in the Canadian Penitentiaries, but to allow the product of foreign prison workshops to enter into competition with free labor at home is a gross and crying injustice, and the consequence is that the harness trade in Canada is in a ruined condition.

Incontrovertible Facts.

Mr. Charlton, M. P., for North Norfolk, and a Reformer, in 1876 laid down six propositions concerning the National Policy, which cannot be controverted. These are the following:—

1. A Government may be paternal and yet free.
2. No nation has attained to greatness in manufactures or commerce without having imposed exactions and restrictions.
3. That protection is especially necessary in a new country—to enable it to compete with countries where manufactures are established.
4. That judicious protection here fits the nation at large, and especially the farming interests that it created a home market for farm products, and that the purchasing power of labor is increased.
5. That the experience of the United States under protection was a clear and marked illustration of protection.
6. That the tendency of protection is not to increase but to cheapen prices to the consumer.

Where the People's Money Went.

Startling Facts from the Public Records.

FAVORITISM, WASTE, AND RECKLESSNESS.

The following is the profit and loss account of the Government with reference to the steel rails transaction:—

Cash paid in England for steel rails and fastenings	$2,938,900
The same quantity could have been purchased, delivered in Canada, in the spring of 1877, for	1,800,000
Loss on first cost	$1,138,900
Interest to 30th June, 1877, on ascertained payments	271,365
To this must be added the cost of 4,000 tons laid upon the Pictou and Truro Railway, a line that would not have been steeled had not the rails been on hand (The Government has taken authority to transfer this Railway in Nova Scotia to a private comp'y.)	235,120
Ascertained loss to 30th June, 1877	$1,645,385
Interest is running on at the rate of about $13,500 per month and is increasing; I estimate the further loss by interest before the rails are used at	$419,169
Total loss	$2,064,554

Further Items of Public Money Lost through Reckless Extravagance of Mr. Mackenzie's Government, brought to light last Session.

1. Loss on 5,187 tons steel rails bought without competition from Cooper, Fairman & Co., for which 10s. more per ton was paid than was paid at the same time to another house	$12,004
2. Loss on railway bolts and nuts, for which Cooper, Fairman & Co. were paid over the lowest bidder	1,365
3. Loss on transport of 10,000 tons of rails, for which $2.04 per ton was paid to Cooper, Fairman & Co., on behalf of themselves and of Norris & Neelon, St. Catharines, and Hope & Co., Hamilton, over the lowest bidder	20,400
4. Loss on transport of 15,141 tons, for which $3.30 per ton was paid to Red River Transportation Co. over the lowest tender ($49,965 U. S. currency)	44,969
5. Loss on Goderich Harbor contract	30,000
Loss on these five transactions,	$109,338
Grand total on the above transactions	$2,173,892

The Orange Question.

The following is a report of the proceedings in the Orange case at Montreal on the 28th inst.:—

COL. SMITH WAS CALLED AGAIN

to finish his examination, Mr. Brehaut, P. M., being called to the bench as the examination began under his supervision.

Q. Can you state whether any of the defendants, Grant, Hamilton, or Ingram, are members of the Orange Order?

Col. Smith—That comes right back to the question which the justices decided. I need not answer, as I could not do it without criminating myself.

Q. Did you know prior to the 12th of July whether the advertisement in paper A, over the signature David Grant, County Master, would appear in any of the newspapers of the city? A. I did not directly or indirectly know anything about it. Mr. Grant never spoke to me about it.

Q. Did you know at any time prior to the 12th that the programme in paper C would be published? A. I knew nothing about it whatever.

Q. Had you any conversation with either of the defendants, Grant, Hamilton or Ingram, either before or after the 12th of July in relation to the proposed procession to take place on that day? A. No, I had no specific conversation of the subject. They may have mentioned incidentally to me that the Orangemen were going to walk. I was not in their confidence, if there was anything confidential at all.

Q. Did any of the said defendants say to you that they intended to walk in procession on the 12th of July? A. As I stated before, I have no recollection of having had any definate conversation with them. They may have mentioned it casually.

Q. Look at the book produced by Constable Contant, purporting to be a book of subscription to the Orange banner fund, and state if you can whose writing is the signature, David Grant, County Master, on the first page of the book? A. I cannot swear in whose hand-writing it is, as I am not sufficiently familiar with Mr. Grant's writing to swear to it.

Q. State to the best of your knowledge whether the defendant Hamilton is the person indicated at the head of the first page of the said book, as Bro. F. Hamilton, being authorized to collect subscriptions? A. I know nothing about the collection of the said subscriptions. He may be a brother of the Orange Order or he may be a brother in the church for aught I know.

Q. Please look at the regalia now produced by Constable Contant, and state whether they are such as are worn by members of the Orange Order.

Col. Smith—I could only tell that they were such by admitting that I was a member of the Order, which I decline to do as it might incriminate me.

Q. Can you tell me before what notary the lease of the Orange Hall was made, as mentioned in the deposition of Dunbar Browne, Esq.? A. I could not, for I do not know.

Q. Did you form part of a deputation or committee who met on the evening of the 11th with some of the magistrates who signed the requisition calling out the volunteers with reference to the proposed procession of the 12th, and if so state who else beside yourself took part in that conference? A. I did not, nor do I know who did.

Cross-examined by Mr. Doutre—

Q. Have you ever been present as a citizen and part of the public at large, at any display of Orange regalia or flags, and if so, state if you have ever seen such flag or regalia calculated to offend the religious feeling of the Catholics or other religious creed? A. At the Hackett funeral I saw the two flags that were displayed there—one a Union Jack and the other a scarlet or crimson color, with a representation of King William III. on horseback on one side, and the open Bible, crown and sceptre on the other, and as the one represented one whom I have always read and believed to be a legitimate monarch, I do not see how it could possibly offend Roman Catholics, nor can I see how an open Bible, the crown and sceptre of Great Britain could be offensive to any one professing to be a Christian.

Q. Did you hear Sir Francis Hincks speak by certain [illegible] either liked or disliked so state under what circumstances and what he said. A. I had it from the undoubted authority of a gentleman who is ready to make an affidavit to it.

The case was then adjourned till to-morrow at 2 p. m.

Extraordinary Scandal.

A DOCTOR'S EOINGS IN LONDON—HOW HE TREATED A FEMALE PATIENT, AND THE TROUBLE IT HAS GOT HIM INTO.

(From the Hamilton Spectator.)

From London we have intelligence of a scandal in which an M. D. takes a most unenviable part. The medico in question has hitherto borne a very good character, and his fall from the good graces of his fellow citizens has been as sudden as it was unexpected. He has been a social reformer of no mean order—not only of provincial, or Canadian, fame, but has held forth on "temperance for the masses" on the other side of the Atlantic. The scandal has been known in select circles for some time, but has only just got to be the current talk of the gossips, under the following rather extraordinary circumstances:—The medical man, whose name we are unable to spell at the present moment, had under treatment a young girl of rather attractive looks. He attended her at her father's residence first; but subsequently on suggesting that he could better treat her ailment in his office, she was allowed by her parents to go there. This she did at intervals for several months past, and nothing wrong was suspected. But from what he learned, a friend of the family managed the other day to secrete himself on the premises, when he saw what convinced him that the girl's visits were such as to be highly detrimental to her moral standing. He lay secreted for two hours and calmly "took in" all the proceedings. In a day or so after the girl returned again and the neighbor thought he would endeavor to see what could be seen by means of the keyhole. Unfortunately for both himself and the doctor, he made a sufficient noise to cause the doctor to leave the girl and come to the door. Indignantly asking what was wanted, the medico threatened to kick the intruder down stairs, and being laughed at, he "tackled" his disturber, and ejected him from the building. The case was before the Police Magistrate, when we believe the doctor was fined for the assault. The scandalous part of the affair is as yet unsettled, but it is said an action will be raised by the girl's parents in reference to her extraordinary treatment. The doctor has a most amiable wife, whose feelings when the revelations were made public may be better imagined than described.

While Mr. Mackenzie was in opposition, and while the question of increased salaries was being discussed, he presented a resolution, (which he afterwards withdrew) that the salaries of the Cabinet should not exceed $75,000, and that they should be graduated according to the responsibilities and duties of the offices. These being Mr. Mackenzie's ideas, when he got into power of course he would see them carried out; and he did it,—but in this manner: Twelve Cabinet Ministers, $7,000 a year each, (no gradation) $84,000, additional $1,000 each sessional allowance, $12,000. Total $96,000. or $21,000 more than Mr. Mackenzie (in Opposition) thought they ought to get! "Oh consistency, thou art a jewel," but how seldom found decking the brow of a Grit Prime Minister!

OUR PARIS LETTER.

HOW THE EXHIBITORS ARE TO BE PROVIDED FOR.—DIFFICULTIES IN REACHING THE EXPOSITION.—THE EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITORS. —THE LION'S SHARE.—THE HISTORY OF SILK MANUFACTURE, &C., &C.

(From a regular Correspondent.)

Hotel du Louvre, Paris, Aug. 16, 1878.

The entries to the Exhibition are again surpassing the 100,000 daily, the visitors are chiefly of the artizan class and from all quarters; they have the air of thorough satisfaction; the want of cabs, owing to the strike among the drivers, is a serious inconvenience for many; if wise they will secure a place in the first char-a-banc that passes, as for a seat in an omnibus, such is impossible, unless at the termini of the lines. With a friend, I obtained on Monday a capital seat in a laundry cart to the Trocadero, the gamins en route, honoring us with the military salute, which we returned with the rigidity of Pomeranian soldiers. In France, always enter into the fun of a thing. The sum total of receipts under the head of tickets, for the two months ending June 30th, is 34 million francs; or an excess of three quarters of a million over the same period as compared with 1867. Those exhibitors and their name cannot be legion, who will not receive a reward or honorable mention, will be supplied with a certificate—apart from that they already possess of having paid the smart official expense connected with their installation, to the effect, that they were admitted to compete. With this document, and a good frame maker, a border with models of all the medals, of all the World's Fairs, if hung up at a Draconian height in a shop, ought to produce the same effect on customers, as the real vouchers of victory. Frame makers are very talented in France; one was recently decorated with the Leigon of Honor, a distinction many of the painters for whom he makes frames has not been fortunate enough to achieve.

The educational section of the exhibition devoted to France, is one of the most interesting in the whole building; it is in the parallel alley with the Rue des Nations. There is no more profitable spot to study; the exhibits force you to stop and examine them, and the intelligence must be very dull that does not derive profit from an excursion here. Education from the professional point of view, appears to have reached its perfect stage, if education ever can be perfect, and is peculiarly worthy the attention of English specialists. Since 1851, when England was shocked at her backwardness in industrial, &c., education until now, she has made great progress, but she has only to measure herself with France—to say nothing of other countries to realize what she has yet to attain. There appears to be a want of order and method in her plans of professional education, and no nation has greater necessity for such education, or could derive greater profit from it, than England. What sustains English industry is the admirable temperament of the English workman, his iron muscles, his patience, regularity, automatic precision, and heroic self-abnegation; he seems to have been formed for putting in motion wheels and pulleys, he seems to be stranger alike to ennui and fatigue; in the workshop as in the field, two Englishmen are equal to three or four French workmen. English industry has had the good luck to derive profit from all the commotions of the continent; proletaires, patricians, and sovereigns, alike fly to England for safety; she has received thus in turn, the flower of all parties, and the excellent artizans of all trades, from Europe; the ruin of Antwerp by the Duke of Parma sent to her shores the fabricants of silk, damask, taffeta, &c., the destruction of the Armada and the maritime ruin of Spain, opened to her all the seas; the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, secured her the cream of French industrial talent, and the senseless reigns of subsequent monarchs kept up the supply England has thus gained, and if she has lost America, it was only after making the States a second England, and maintaining a trade with the separated colony, superior to all her present colonies put

The display of silks—the Lyons Court, is one of the most luxurious in the Exhibition; it is a series of splendid wonders, pleasing and dazzling to the eyes. It was from the Italian Republics that Lyons became acquainted with the art of silk making. Louis XI. did all in his power to secure the monopoly of silk making for Tours. The primary matters for silk weaving came all from Italy, even as late as the time of Francois I., and it was only in 1540 that Lyons secured the right of centralizing the manufacture and sale of silk, and this pre-eminence she still sustains. Henry IV. by the impetus he gave to the cultivation of the mulberry, was enabled to secure a supply of raw silk in France; he converted the Tuileries Garden into a mulberry nursery, and sent the young trees to the valley of the Rhone. However the grand silk tissues, the patterns that Titian and Paul Veronese have familiarized us with—all were imported from Italy. In 1680 Lyons had 60,000 silk workers; to-day the number is only 50,000, although the industry is now vastly superior.

The International Socialistic Congress, which was announced as about to be held in Paris, on the 2nd of September, has, of course, been prohibited by the Government, and Karl Marx is endeavoring to persuade his friends to hold no Congress at all this year.

A French and a Persian architect combined to make the Persian pavilion an interesting construction, the perfect type of a rich Persian habitation. The chief entrance upon the ground floor, which reminds one somewhat of the ancient Roman atrium, has a small fountain in the centre, which keeps the atmosphere refreshingly cool. The basement is of earthenware tiles, and covered with rich carpets from Smyrna. The Shah of Persia spent much of his time in the pavilion during his visit to Paris. Sightseers are most impressed by a wonderful room in the pavilion, in wuich the light is reflected by thousands of loutres.

Serious Accident to an Excursion Train.

TWO CARS ROLL DOWN AN EMBANKMENT—THIRTY-FIVE PERSONS INJURED, THREE FATALLY.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 28.—A serious accident occurred to an excursion train on the Grand Rapids and Indian railway near Locbwood, Mich., to-day. Thirty five persons were injured, three fatally. Two coaches jumped the track and went down an embankment. The cause is supposed to have been a broken rail.

The following is a list of persons injured by the accident on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad to-day: Wm. Brown, Reed City, seriously in the back; D. M. Collins, Ludington, bad scalp wound; Chas. Ross, Baldwin, badly in the side and head; Mrs. Huggleston, skull fractured; P. Crowley, badly in the back; G. C. Townsend, severely in the back, head and shoulders; Judge White, Ludington, in the shoulder; E. S. Hazard, arm fractured and injuries. The cause of the accident is still a mystery.

For year ending June, 1873, under Sir John Macdonald, the Montreal Custom House collected $5,017,207, at an expence of $877,33. Pub. Acc. p. 5. In 1877. under Mackenzie, they had run the expenses up $117,689 for collecting $3,869,704, (Pub. Acc. p. 5,) or $30,256 more for collecting $1,147,503 less!

The Quebec Railway Coup D'Etat.

ATTEMPT TO SEIZE THE ROLLING STOCK OF THE M. O. & O. RAILWAY—THE QUEBEC GOVERNMENT TRYING TO CARRY THINGS WITH A HIGH HAND—AN UNEXPECTED FAILURE.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Yesterday a notary of this city, provided the necessary documents, waited upon Mr. McDonald, the contractor of the Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental R. R., and served him with the notice of the cancellation of his contract, and demanded of him to relinquish possession of the road, and to hand it over to Mr. Peterson. To-day Mr. Macdonald determined not to be outdone by the Ministers, but to be prepared for any emergency, went, it is said, to the Mayor and got five special constables sworn in, who were placed on guard at Hochelaga. This morning the notary before mentioned and Mr. Peterson, accompanied by a staff of officers to prevent harm, or to enforce authority, proceeded to Hochelaga, where they met Mr. McDonald. On being ordered to hand over the Montreal, Ottawa, and Occidental Railway, and the property belonging to it, to Mr. Peterson, Mr. McDonald refused to relinquish his control of the road until his claims against the Government for outlay upon it should be settled or acknowledged. The Government claims that Mr. McDonald has already been over-paid on his contract, and that they have claims against him, but why they refuse to grant a settlement of the matter by arbitration is not known, as it is alleged that Mr. McDonald's propositions to that effect have been characterized by the utmost fairness. However, when the officers would execute the warrant to seize the rolling stock, to their dismay there was none there, for Mr. McDonald had taken the precaution to have the locomotives and cars hauled away attached to the Laurentian railway's train just previous to the arrival of Mr. Peterson's party. What will be the next phase of this interesting affair is not known, nor whether or not the Government will continue to follow up the steps already taken in carrying into effect the recent order in council.

SANDBANKS.

AS the people in our Towns and Cities are prostrated with the past extreme heat, and our farmers' crops gathered, Picn-ics and pleasure excursions will be the order of the day. We expect thousands the next month on the Sandbanks, as recreation is an essential to health. Solomon says also, "as iron sharpeneth iron, so the countenance of another his friend." So come one, come all, 'tis here we have the enjoyment. We have a large saloon for dancing where the sweet breezes from the lake are flowing, and a first class violin player always on hand. Our tables are furnished with all the luxuries our country affords, as well as other refreshments to be found in our towns and cities. Yours truly—come!

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, AUG. 29.

City and Vicinity.

THE MARKET.—Barley was rather lower to-day, the price ranging from 80c to 86c.

THE SCHOOLS.—The High and Public Schools will reopen on Monday next, Sept 2nd.

MUSIC AT THE STATION.—The band of the 15th battalion will play at the Grand Trunk Station to-night.

THE CELLS.—There was but one prisoner in the cells last night, and no tramps sought protection.

PIC-NIC.—The annual pic-nic of Christ Church and St. George's Sunday Schools took place to-day. There was a large attendance.

THE GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.—We understand that a proposition for the completion of this line to Hastings during the present season is now under the consideration of the Directors.

PERSONAL.—Jas. Nosworthy, Esq., started to-day for the Paris Exhibition. He sails by the steamship Ontario, of the Dominion Line, from Montreal on Saturday. We wish him a pleasant trip.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.—A meeting of the friends and supporters of the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge will be held on the 1st in front of the Station School House to-night. Addresses will be delivered by Mr. Wallbridge and some of his supporters. The proceedings will commence at 7:30.

COLE'S GREAT SHOW.—Mr. J. V. Strebig, the agent for this extensive concern, which is to exhibit here on the 12th of September, was in town to-day making preliminary arrangements. Mr. Strebig is one of the most popular agents on the road and understands his business thoroughly.

EXCURSION.—One of the most pleasant excursions of the season will be held on Friday, September 6th, to Indian Point, under the auspices of the Mechanics' Institute. Those who desire it can proceed to Stella Point, as on that day there is to be a grand demonstration at that point. Particulars will be given in a few days.

THE ATHLETIC CHAMPIONSHIP.—Duncan C. Ross, of Toronto, publishes in the New York Clipper a counter challenge to that of Chief McKinnon, but the conditions of which are not satisfactory. A private letter states that Ross has accepted Mr. McKinnon's challenge, but we are sceptical on this point and will await further developments.

OPPOSITION PIC-NIC AT STELLA POINT.—Arrangements are in course of completion for a Bay of Quinte demonstration and Pic-Nic at Stella Point, Amherst Island, on Friday, 6th September next, at which addresses are expected to be delivered by Sir John A. Macdonald, George Kirkpatrick, M.P., Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Mackenzie Bowell, M.P., John White, M. P., J.S. McCuaig, and other representative men.

BELLEVILLE AND NORTH HASTINGS RAILWAY.—We understand that one of the Birkenhead locomotives of the Grand Trunk is now at Belleville Station for use on the Belleville and North Hastings Railway. Mr. Nunn has arranged to fit up the engine with one of the new steam pumps. This enables the engine to take water from any river or creek, thus dispensing with the use of tank houses. The engine will be ready to start work on Monday.

THE MADOC DEBENTURES.—The Madoc Review says :—"We have been informed that as soon as the Madoc Bonus Debentures have been placed in the hands of Trustees, as required by By-law, the money due the men will be immediately paid. Trustees already appointed are Thos. Emo, Esq., by the County Council, and J. J. Farley, Esq., by the Railway. The Government has not yet made the other appointment."

THE CONTRACTORS FOR THE NORTH HASTINGS.—We are happy to be able to state, says the Madoc Review, that Mr. Bickford has associated with him in his purchases from Mr. Pardee, Messrs. McDougall & Cowan, of Montreal. These gentlemen are large manufacturers of car wheels, which, as many of our readers are aware, are made from Charcoal Iron, or, as it is called on the other side, Car-wheel Iron. We understand they were attracted in this direction by the fine quality of iron in the Seymour and Moore mines, and have in consideration the propriety of erecting smelting furnaces in this immediate vicinity. They are now the only manufacturers of iron from the ore in the Dominion. Their furnaces are at Three Rivers in Quebec. The connection of these gentlemen with the enterprise augurs well for the future.

Here is more evidence that a Protective tariff ruins industry and swamps capital: In 1861, when the Morrill tariff came into force the exports of iron and steel from the United States amounted to $5,932,000; in 1876 they amounted to $16,176,000

BELLEVILLE VS. STIRLING.

An interesting match was played on the Belleville grounds between the Belleville and Stirling Clubs on Wednesday, 28th inst. Belleville went first to the bat, and scored 74, good form in batting being shown by Mills and Jenkins, who scored 18 each against the swift and true bowling of Allen and Conley. Stirling followed with 48, of which Bruce scored 25, the bowling of Peden, Thomas and Mills being very effective. In their second essay Belleville scored 68, but "time" was called when Stirling had lost seven wickets for 48 in their second innings, leaving the home team victors by 26 runs on the first innings. The score is as follows :—

BELLEVILLE.—First Innings.—Maybeeb. Allen 2 ; Drinkwater c. Greene b. Conley 1 ; Thomas c. Reynolds b. Conley 4 ; Savage c. Grass b. Conley 2 ; Mills st. Chard 18 ; Peden b. Conley 4 ; Jenkins c. M. E. General Conference.

WEDNESDAY MORNING SESSION.

Conference opened at 10 o'clock,—Bishop Carman, D.D., presiding.

The Secretary of the Conference read the minutes of the previous session, and the Conference proceeded with its regular business.

Rev. J. Gardiner, Chairman of the Committee on Rules of Order, read the report of that Committee, which, with one addition, was adopted.

The Committee on Nominations brought in their report number one, to fill up the names of the Committees ordered yesterday, with some slight alterations.

The report was adopted, and the personnel of the Committees settled.

The Committee on Book-room and Publishing Interests was recommitted to the Nominating Committee for the substitution of other names, those first named being already members of the Book Committee.

The Secretary was requested to furnish the Nominating Committee with the names of the Committees omitted from the report on Sabbath schools, and the reception of fraternal delegates.

Conference adjourned at noon with the benediction by J. R. Phillips.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Conference opened at three o'clock, Bishop Carman presiding.

Rev. J. R. Jacques, L.L.D., led the Conference in devotional exercises.

After filling the vacancies occasioned by the absence of delegates from the list of reserves, the Secretary read the minutes of the previous sessions, which were approved.

The Committee on Nominations presented their report number two. This completed the filling up of the Committees.

The rules of order in printed form were distributed throughout the Conference this afternoon for the guidance of the delegates.

A communication from the Methodist Episcopal Church of the United States touching the holding of an Ecumenical Council by all Methodist bodies of the world, and inviting the co-operation of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, was presented and read by the Secretary. Such an Ecumenical Council of Methodism would, it was suggested, tend very materially to secure the evangelization of the world, the strengthening of the bonds of Methodists of all bodies and lands. It would also promote the educational interests of the Church and the case of Sabbath Schools and temperance, as well as all other interests of our common Methodism, and would therefore be glorious in its results.

The Conference ordered that a Committee of seven be appointed to whom the communication should be referred.

The Conference having endorsed the movement and accepted the recommendation, it was ordered that the Secretary obtain one hundred printed lists of the Committees for the use of members.

The charters of the Missionary Society and of Alma College was referred to the Committee on Incorporation on motion of Rev. Dr. Pitcher.

It was moved by Rev. Dr. Pitcher, that the various topics of the Episcopal address be referred to their respective Committees.

Rev. Dr. Stone, editor and book agent, presenthd a statement of the assets and liabilities of the concern under his management, showing that during the last quadrennium the business of the book concern has flourished to an extent unprecedented in its history. The profits of the business during that time are very satisfactory. The document was referred to the proper Committee.

Rev. W. Pirritte moved that any one having any changes of discipline to submit, should state the same, time, line, and item to be changed, and also the amended paragraph in full.

The resolution was adopted.

It was decided that the order of business for Friday evening be the reception of the delegate of the M. E. Church of the United States.

Conference adjourned at 5 p. m., with the benediction by R. Sanderson.

RAVAGES OF YELLOW FEVER.

FRIGHTFUL STATE OF AFFAIRS.

Canton, Miss., asks for two nurses immediately. The fever is increasing. The fever is very fatal at Fort Gibson. There have been 230 cases and 35 deaths to date. Ice is wanted. The expenses are $150 per day. A report from Canton yesterday says not a single business business house is open except two drug stores. The former population of 3,500 is now only 75 whites. The Mayor and his family are sick and the alderman have fled. The Court House is locked up and the officers are gone. There is nothing but hearses and coffins on the streets. There are thirty-five or forty cases of yellow fever. Many negroes have died the last few days, and no person attacked has recovered.

The condition of Memphis to-night surpasses the most sombre imagining. For the past twenty-four hours ending 6 p. m. there were 62 deaths, of which only four were from other causes than yellow fever. Of these 47 were whites and 11 colored. The new cases number 119 during the day. The report of Dr. R. W. Mitchell, director of the medical corps of ten physicians employed by the Association, gives some idea of the condition of things :—"I need ten more physcians immediately. Scores of people are sick and dying without having been seen by physcians. The scenes of death and distress to-day and to-night are indescribable. The members of the relief committees have been called to see sick persons, and responding to the calls found, in some cases, corpses lying in beds or on floors without even a single watcher. The members of the Independent Order of Workmen to-day buried five members of that fraternity. They have exhausted their means, and call upon brethren for substantial aid in caring for the sick and burying the dead.

At Vicksburg it has been cloudy all day,—the thermometer at 72 ; a light rain is falling to night. There have been 125 new cases of fever the past 24 hours, and 15 deaths.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—Probabilities for the next twenty-four hours : For the Lower Lake region, light to moderate winds, and clear to partly cloudy weather. For the St. Lawrence, light to moderate winds, partly cloudy to clear weather. For the Maritime Provinces, light to moderate winds, and partly cloudy weather.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Indications :—partly cloudy, occasional rains.

The Yellow Fever.

SAD STORIES FROM THE THEATRE OF THE SCOURGE.

The New York Herald reporter describes some piteous scenes as coming under his notice in New Orleans.

In one room (he says) occupied by a man, or rather gir, of not more than twenty, were gathered two of our companions in misery. At one bed was a wretched wife. The fireplace was dirty and unswept. The bed, with one miserable mattress and two dirty sheets, and two broken chairs, were the only furniture of the room, while the sufferer tossed and murmured in her fever.

"Why don't you open the win low ?" I asked.

"The police makes us keep it shut," was the answer.

"Why don't you send for a doctor?"

"We did, but we had no money and he wouldn't come."

And so I passed out.

Two doors further down was one poor woman dying, further on was one dead, and I was told in that house that one had died yesterday and another the day before. Further on up Basin-street, near Poydras Market, were some low "dives," where Italian egg and chicken vendors lived, and the same premises were occupied by those who sold vegetables, or rather had been doing so.

"Where were they now? Gone !"

"No, no, indeed !"

"Not even away from the fever !"

"No, killed by the fever !"

In this house ten had died, and further down five more, all within a radius of fifty feet. And no wonder !

THE RECKLESSNESS OF DESPAIR.

In one place where your correspondent went he found four or five men sitting around a table playing cards. They were talking, laughing and singing.

"Is anyone sick up-stairs ?"

"No."

"Yes, they say there is."

A shrug of the shoulders as your correspondent passed up.

In the room just above was a man evidently dying. His heavy breathing, his dull stupor, his closed eyes—all spoke it. Around him were a crying wife and three small children. He roused himself, and said something unintelligible.

"What is it he says ?"

"He thinks you are the police."

"Why, is he afraid of them ?"

"Yes; they will take him away, and he doesn't want that."

The Yellow Fever at Matanzas.

A TERRIBLY AFFLICTED CITY.

The crew of the ship "Lane," now in quarantine below this city, were all down with the disease in Matanzas, Cuba, except the cook. With the exception of the master, Captain Shute, they were all placed in a hospital. Captain Shute, whose case was worse than all, was taken to a private house, where he was seized with the black vomit and died in a few days. One of his seamen also died, making four deaths in all on the two ships. Captain Shute's home was in Searsport, Maine, where he leaves a family. As soon as the news of Captain Shute's death reached the owners in New-York his brother, Captain Alonzo Shute, left New York for Matanzas to bring home the vessel. The latter is an old seaman himself, and has been numerous times before in ports where yellow fever was raging, "but," says he, "I never again want to see the sights I witnessed when I reached Matanzas. I was there about a week and left there on the 6th of this month. Every building seemed a lazar house where men were continually carrying in the sick and taking out the dead. The first night I spent in the fever-stricken city served to show me the situation in all its horrors. As I went up to my room in the hotel where I put up I saw a man lying on his bed in an adjoining room in his death struggles, gasping with the black vomit in his throat and mouth. In the rooms around me the cries and groans of the sick kept me awake all night. Early in the morning I left my room heart-sick, and determined not to pass through such another night if it was possible to help it. As I groped my way along the hall I ran against two colored men carring something down stairs. It was a coffin containing a dead body. When I got down stairs I saw two wagons drawn up before a side door. They were half-full of coffins, containing the bodies of those who had died through the night. The next night I steered clear of the hotels and went to sleep in a ship-chandler's establishment. Here I found the place equally as bad as the hotel. It was full of the sick and dying As soon as the seamen of the "Lane" were able to sail I left the place in command of her by appointment of the owners. This, as I said before, was on the 6th of August. We got out of my brother, the captain, in rum."—Philadelphia Times.

Thurlow Council.

August 19, 1878.

Special meeting.

PRESENT—H. Ashley, Reeve; O. R. Weese and J. H. Peck, Deputy Reeves; R. S. Watson and P. C. Burgess, Councillors.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

On petition of Wm. Hudson and others, $25 was granted to be expended, under the supervision of the Road Surveyor, on Anderson hill, between Thurlow and Huntingdon.

Moved by Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Burgess, that $40 be granted to School Sec. No. 5, Canifton.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Weese, seconded by Mr. Burgess, that the Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to take up the awards of the drainage arbitrators, and to pay the amount of claims of said award to John Bell, Esq.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Weese, seconded by Mr. Burgess, that the Treasurer be paid $25 additional salary for extra services.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Weese, seconded by Mr. Peck, that Mrs. Callery be paid $45.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Watson, that the Reeve advertise the sale of the different jobs for expending the grants received from the County Council, or such of said grants as may be deemed advisable by said Reeve in such manner as they may think desirable.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Weese, that a requisition from the Board of Education of the City of Belleville, requesting this Council to levy and collect a rate of four and a quarter mills on the dollar, on that portion of this Township, formerly known as section No. 13, and also that portion of the 2nd concession lying west of the River Moira, comprising of lots Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and a part of lot No. 6, in said concession, be received and filed upon, at the same time ordering the Township and County rates for 1878.—Carried.

On motion, the time for receiving tenders for dyking was extended till Monday noon, 26th inst.

The Committee on auditing the books of John Thompson ex-Treasurer, report a deficiency of $101.45.

The account of J.C. Overell for stationary, amount $5.27, was ordered to be paid.

The account of A. Sutherland for lumber for bridges, amount $11, was ordered to be paid.

Mr. Weese introduced a By-law empowering the Reeve and Treasurer to borrow a sum of money not to exceed $3,000, to pay the expenses of drainage, till the Government funds are available, the said By-law was read and passed.

Mr. Peck introduced a By-law to collect taxes in certain cases against lands returned by the Road Masters, the said By-law was read and passed.

Council adjourned.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside; and to facilitate this part of the work, additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householderin the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every care taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring the question of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, as there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more fully known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, sure of finding a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of the Laws of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value generally to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially increase its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Township, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz.: One page, $10.00; half-page, $6.00; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspering them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to ensure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render it a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Notices of the Press.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its original title of the New Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and has kept fairly abreast of the times, thanks to the enterprise of the publishers and the tact and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery and fiction, the average reader of to-day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expectantly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago; there is the same admirable variety of contents, and the same freshness and suggestiveness in the editorial departments now as then.—Boston Journal.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets.

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "Domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

For the Intelligencer.

Grits ever fair, but never true,
A stand rous, grasping, greedy crew,
Will smile to you, and smile again,
But villains still, are all the same.

The country's scourge, its direst foe,
The poor man's tyrants here below,
O give them not the power again
To starve the country, while they reign.

Their reign is o'er, their work is done,
Their jobs and contracts, how they run;
Men of honor will fill their place,
The men of truth, the men of grace.

Hark! who is he, who comes with power
To counteract the evil hour?
It is Sir John, and his true band,
With peace and plenty to the land.

A Cheap Country to Live In.

DEAR SIR,—While listening to the eloquent address of the member apparent for West Hastings to the Young Men's Liberal Association a few evenings since, the speaker quoted this favorite apothegm of our present beneficent and omniscient rulers. When doing so, however, he at once passed on to other topics without delaying either to illustrate or explain the expression. Having observed that the members and supporters of the Government have repeatedly enunciated it as a primary principle of their policy to make this a cheap country to live in, I have often wondered whether they really understood the true meaning of their own words, or were merely endeavoring to instil into ignorant or thoughtless minds an apparently plausible but truly absurd and self-contradictory theory. I will therefore attempt a brief inquiry into its true meaning and practical effect, if carried out, trusting that if in the wrong I may be corrected and my present delusion dispelled; but that if my premises prove well founded, and my deductions therefrom logically consistent, this may be admitted to be another proof of the blundering ignorance and imbecility of the Free Trade advocates.

What, then, is meant by making this a cheap country to live in? If the words mean anything they mean to reduce all prices; for if the price of the article be lowered while the rate of wages is unaltered, the laborer reaps the benefit of his employer's capital; while if wages decrease, other prices remaining unaffected, the employer pockets the fruit of the employee's unremunerated labor—wages of course being but the price of labor. The farmer, the mechanic, the laborer, every producer in fact would receive less for the product of his labor; but on the other hand, every article in the country could be purchased at a lower price than at present. But not only must all prices be reduced, but all must be reduced in exactly the same proportions, otherwise some will be benefited at the expense of others. Surely this, even admitting it to be desirable (which I do not), must be seen to be impracticable. For the sake of this argument, how ever, I will admit (contrary to the fact) that all prices as well as the products of labor in this country can be proportionately reduced. What is the result? Clearly that every producer, whatever his vocation, receives less than at present for the same day's work. Now this is perfectly consistent with the attitude of the leading Reform journal of this country and its managing director towards the workingman, but it is at least open to reasonable doubt whether or not it is equally satisfactory to the workingman. But it may be answered that as all prices are lowered, he is still equally well off, and his purchasing power is undiminished. If this be true I admit my present contention is futile.

What, then, fixes the price of any article? In all, save exceptional cases, governed by abnormal conditions, the cost of production. Add together the cost of the seed, the cost of sowing, the cost of reaping, the cost of carriage, the cost of maintaining the labor employed in these various occupations and such others as may be necessary to place the grain on the market, and the cost of the land, and you have the price, i. e. the general average price of each bushel of grain,—and the same applies to every manufactured article.

Postulating thus, then, we see that however, by legislation or other means, we may lower the prices of articles produced AT HOME, we have no means of lowering the price of those which we do not and cannot manufacture at home, but must import. Now the inevitable result of our present system of legislation, if continued, will be to make this an agricultural country, and extend our list of importations. The reader can therefore enumerate for himself the articles which (exclusive of such as tea, coffee, and spices, which cannot possibly be produced here), must be procured from abroad. Presuming, therefore, (which also the truth will not justify, as has been before shown,) that something might be saved in purchasing articles of home production, quadruple what was thus saved would be expended out of the balance of a diminished income to support the manufacturers of a foreign country. It must also be remembered that our Dominion owes over one hundred and thirty million dollars,—is rapidly advancing the amount,—and to say nothing of the principal, must meet the interest promptly year by year, unless our credit is to be sacrificed and ourselves excluded from the money market, when next driven by our necessities to this extremity. With incomes decreased and expenses comparatively increased, we are to undertake to lessen a debt incurred in more prosperous days.

Suppose an individual with an income of two thousand dollars per annum and a necessary expenditure of one thousand, running ten thousand dollars in debt, would any person dare tell another that with his income reduced to five hundred dollars per annum, his expenditure undiminished and his interest to be paid in addition, that he would ever meet his indebtedness! And yet this is practically what our would-be philosophers and financiers are trying to impress on the intelligent electors in this country.

They expend a large sum annually on emigration. Within the pass five years by judicious mismanagement, the careful selection of incompetent officials, and the persistent display of the brazen side of the shield, we have happily succeeded in decreasing the immigration while regularly increasing the expenditure to an extent that to our primitive predecessors would have been inconceivable. The last link in our chain of inducements would certainly be forged when we offered one-fourth of the wages obtained on the south side of the St. Lawrence. Thenceforth our sluggish agents might sleep serenely with redoubled comfort in the luxurious apartments of the Canadian Emigration Office, undisturbed either by the importunities of intending emigrants or the statistics per capita of troublesome Oppositionists.

Then will this fair Utopian scheme be realized; then will the halcyon days so long predicted and anxiously awaited have arrived; then will the tuneful hum of machinery and the busy murmur of teeming cities no longer be heard in the land; then will the agriculturist stand exultant, the sole representative of Canadian industries; then will taxation be impossible and a revenue unknown; then forgetting and forgotten by the Empire, the few straggling remnants of Canadian patriotism and intelligence will creep beneath the ægis of the protecting and protective Republic.

BONTAR.

The Woollen Interest.

The following letter, being refused a place in the Globe's columns was published in the Mail. It will be interesting to farmers who paid 12 cents per lb. into the American Treasury on their wool this year:

SIR,—I regret to see in the Globe of the 20th inst., an editorial article referring to the condition of woollen manufactures in the town of Almonte and neighborhood, and purporting to give a few facts in reference thereto, and so full of misrepresentations as to give false impressions to your readers and the country. The few facts given contain scarcely a word of truth, and I have no hesitation in stating without fear of contradiction, that amongst the factories in this neighborhood and throughout the country, large sums of money have been lost during the last three or four years, and little made, and that it is only a question of time with some, if matters continue as they are, when the whole capital invested in these enterprises will be wiped out.

To show the absurdity of the few facts, I will quote the only important ones given. "One of the largest mills has had expended on it lately not less than $10,000 in enlargements and adornments." This probably refers to the Rosamond Woollen Company, the adornments consisting of cleaning the mill yard and sodding a portion of the ground, and the enlargements in taking down and rebuilding the dyeing shed, which was in danger of falling. The second fact is equally absurd, "Another firm recently paid $9,000 for additional water power," referring, I suppose, to the purchase of a shingle mill property by Messrs. Elliott & Sheard some five years ago when times were good.

Your statement that some of the manufacturers attempted lately to stop the mills for three (or any number of days) in the week until after the election, in order to create a feeling on behalf of the Opposition," has not a shadow of a foundation.

It may be part of the tactics of the Government newspapers to scatter falsehoods and misrepresentations broadcast throughout the country, with a view of influencing the elections, reckless of the injury done thereby to the best interests of the country; but I trust that one effect will be that honourable men, at present among the supporters of the Government, will see the necessity of sacrificing party feeling to patriotism, and support only such candidates at the coming election as will support the National Policy.

LIVER IS KING.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want. Sold by all Druggists in America.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons :—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion ; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home ; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed ; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market ; will encourage and develop an active interprovincial trade ; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 30.

North and East Hastings.

The news which reaches us daily from the North and East Ridings of this County is of the most cheering character, and indicates the return of Messrs. Bowell and White beyond a peradventure, the question being now only as to the extent of the majorities.

In the North Riding a careful canvass has been made in nearly all the municipalities, which indicates that in Rawdon, Huntingdon, Marmora, Elzevir, Madoc and Stirling Mr. Bowell stands much better than ever before. In the four first named townships his majority will be much greater than in 1874, whilst in Madoc it need not surprise his supporters if the majority cast against him in 1874 be reversed, and in Stirling he will poll a majority. Mr. O'Flynn's hopes rest in the back townships, but what with the misdeeds of the Government, the disparity in ability of the candidates, and the protection of the ballot, which is absolutely secret, the calculations of the Grit candidate will be found to be very wide of the mark. The supporters of the Opposition candidate are actively at work, and will not cease to labor in the good cause until success crowns their efforts on September 17th.

Mr. White has made a personal canvass of a large portion of his constituency, and has met with most encouraging success. Hungerford will largely increase its majority in his favor ; Thurlow will do likewise ; whilst Tyendinaga, which has always been hostile to him, will this year be very close, if it do not give a majority in his interest. Mr. Aylesworth being a resident of Mill Point and in the employment of Mr. Rathbun, a large majority is expected there for the Grit candidate by his friends ; but here again the perfect secrecy of the ballot interposes to prevent intimidation, and Mr. White's supporters confidently anticipate a very equal division of the votes between the candidates. On this, as on former occasions, Mr. White will be found a very hard man to beat. His personal popularity is great, and his supporters were never more ardent in his behalf than now. Therefore, we anticipate his return by a large majority.

North and East Hastings are safe, and we have no doubt the West Riding is in the same satisfactory condition politically ; but we would urge upon the supporters of the Opposition candidates not to slacken their exertions on that account. Rather let the prospect of assured success nerve them to greater exertions, in order that the people of the noble County of Hastings may declare, by a decided—an overwhelming—majority that they are true to their past record and have confidence neither in the men who have governed the country dishonestly and without regard to its interests, nor in their supporters no matter what political garb they may assume in order to deceive the unsuspecting and catch votes.

Abandoning the Government.

Not long ago the Globe boasted that no public man of any prominence who had supported the Government in 1874 would be found opposed to it now. We took occasion to show at that time that the Grit organ's boast was without foundation, and later that a number of prominent gentlemen members of the late Parliament, had assumed an independent posittion, thus marking their disapproval of the conduct of the Government which they had supported, and showing as well their belief that public opinion had turned against the Mackenzie administration to such an extent that they themselves could not be re-elected on the old platform. The member for Montreal Centre, Mr. Devlin, was considered a very prominent man amongst his fellows of the Grit party, and he too has found it necessary to abandon the cause of the Government, as a supporter of which he could not hope for election in the important constituency which he represents. Of late Mr. Devlin has been in feeble health, and being unable to speak at any length at a meeting called in his interest on Wednesday night last, he prepared a written address, which was read for him by a friend, and in which he says :

"It is no easy thing to disrupt the political associations of years, to cut loose from those affiliations of party in which personal friendship ran side by side with public allegiance, and to surrender what, by many, would be considered the legitimate outlook of a long time devotion to ministerial leadership. But recent events in our city have left me no choice of sides. I am only on the side of an independent people. Thus free and unfranmmelled of all parties I, as an independent candidate, seek your independent vote to do your work independently in the Parliament of the Dominion. In order that there shall be no misunderstanding let me repeat my resolve. I look upon it that during the next session legislation is likely to arise of a kind imposing upon Catholic members the necessity of cutting the trammels of political parties and acting independently. Such necessity, if elected, I am determined to recognize and act upon, knowing no party but the party of the people, and sustaining no interest but which will guarantee by its measures the impartial protection of all citizens. One word on the vexed questions of Protection and Free Trade. The matter is too complex to deal with in the limits of an informal address of this kind, but let me say generally that I shall favor without hesitation any tariff having for its object the promotion of our manufactures ; the extension of our trade and the well-being of our banking and commercial position, and that I shall, as unhesitatingly, oppose any Government or any party that will not yield such tariff as may be acceptable to the trading and commercial interests of Montreal, or will throw obstacles in the way of the pass ge of such measures."

This is pretty strong talk, and shows that the gentleman who deliberately committed such sentiments to paper, considering his former prominence as a "Libaral," must be disgusted with the action of the party of which he was formerly an adherent. Still it is believed that the Grits will adopt Mr. Devlin as their candidate ; but in spite of this so strong is public opinion in Montreal against the Government that is believed Mr. M. P. Ryan, who is the Opposition candidate, will be elected by a large majority.

The defection from any party of members of the legislative bodies is always to be regarded as a matter of grave moment; but when men of ability and prominence, such as Mr. Devlin, Mr. John O'Donohue, of Toronto, and Mr. J. L. P. O'Hanly, of Ottawa, Reformers of proved fidelity, abandon a Government, such action on their part is a portentous sign of the times which bodes defeat to their former friends, as such men have thousands of friends throughout the country who will follow their example. We have long believed that the Mackenzie Government was doomed to fall in the coming elections, and the course taken by the gentlemen named above and many others of lesser prominence strongly tends to show that that belief is well grounded.

Conservatism in Bleecker Ward.

A Successful Gathering in the Opposition Interest.

The meeting announced to be held in the open air in front of the Station School House, took place last night, and despite the fact that a large number of the ratepayers were absent at the Christ Church and St. George's Sunday School pic-nic, and that others were attracted to the Station by the music of the 15th Battalion band, the gathering was large and the various speakers received an attentive and sympathetic hearing.

The meeting was organized by the appointment of Alderman Hambly to the chair, on motion of Mr. Wm. Alford, seconded by Mr. Mark Adamson.

The Chairman, in commencing the proceedings, expressed his hearty sympathy with the policy of the Opposition as best suited to the requirements of the country, and passed a warm eulogium upon the nominee of the party, the Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, a man whose ability had been proved and whom all would be proud to have as their representative in Parliament. (Applause.) Mr. Wallbridge had been absent in Port Hope during the day and was expected every minute by the train, but pending his arrival he would call upon Mr. Thomas Wills, M.P.P., to address them.

Mr. Wills, who was received with applause, said the present contest presented an extraordinary aspect. It was customary for the Government of the day to formulate a policy on going to the people, but Mr. Mackenzie's Government had failed to do so. Therefore the Opposition presented a policy—one which he was sure would meet the approbation of the people of this country, namely protection to our home manufactures. Mr Wills then proceeded to show the benefits of protection, which would result in the establishment of manufactures, giving employment to men now idle, and the retention in Canada of thousands of young men who are now driven to seek work in the United States. The advantage to the farmer would also be great, as not only would he have a home market for his grain, which is now sent to England and the United States in exchange for manufactured articles, but the other smaller products, such as butter, eggs, fowls, &c., on which the largest profits are made, would find a ready market at his own doors. Thus would he save the expense of transporting the grain to England and other foreign markets, and the additional cost of bringing goods here, which would naturally render the cost of the production of the manufactured articles here smaller than in the countries to which our surplus products are sent. He concluded by thanking the electors for the generous support given to him when a candidate for election in 1875, and by expressing the hope that an even more hearty support would be given Mr. Wallbridge. (Cries of "We will !" "We'll elect him !" and applause.)

Mr. Wm. Johnson, who was next called upon, stated that as a Conservative he had supported Mr. Brown for years, and it was painful to him now to be compelled to oppose that gentleman. His reason for doing so was, that Mr. Brown had betrayed the trust which had been reposed in him, and from being a supporter of Sir John Macdonald, had become a servile follower of Mr. Mackenzie, as the records of Parliament, and more especially those of last session, would show. When the present Government came into power, he had felt some sympathy with them ; but they very soon showed, by their desertion of every principle which they had advocated when in opposition, by their many acts of corruption, and by their exhibition of extravagance and incapacity, that they were unworthy of support. The speaker proceeded to give instances of the benefits of protection to home industries, shewing that in the few industries which have been left to us, the prices of the manufactured articles have decreased under a protective duty, instead of increasing, as the Free traders loudly asserted would be the case. Mr. Johnson's remarks were well received throughout, and he received loud applause at the close of his speech.

Mr. Jacob Wilson was next called upon, and after some introductory remarks he went on to show that a purely agricultural country, such as the present Government talked of making Canada, could not be prosperous. The only purely agricultural country in the world was Turkey, and they all knew How miserable her condition was previous to the war with Russia. On the other hand there were Belgium and Holland, small countries yet happy and prosperous because their people were principally engaged in manufacturing. It was contended that manufactures could not be carried on here to advantage, that we were but four millions alongside of forty millions ; but our advantages were greater than theirs, give us but British fair play and we could beat them. (Applause.) Mr. Wilson showed the admirable effect of the change in the tea duties made under the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald, which, by imposing a duty of 10 per cent on tea from the United States and admitting tea from Great Britain, China and Japan, free of duty, had built up a considerable direct trade, greatly to the benefit of our shipping interests. But Mr. Cartwright, on coming into power, did away with this discriminating duty and put on a specific duty of 6 cents per pound, and the consequence was that the tea trade was now in the hands of the United States. Whilst the poor man paid on his cheap tea 30 per cent duty, the rich man on his nigh priced tea paid but from 6 to 7 per cent. (Applause.) Mr. Wilson also showed how our sugar refining industry and our West India trade had been destroyed by the present Government and thrown into the hands of the United States, whose merchants, shippers and railway companies profit thereby, and concluded amidst applause.

Hon Lewis Wallbridge, who arrived whilst Mr. Wilson was speaking, received a very hearty greeting. He proceeded to speak for upwards of an hour on the various topics touched upon at the inaugural meeting in the Metropolitan Hall, which address was fully reported at the time. After ably exemplifying the advantages of Protection, he said his opponent, Mr. Brown, claimed to be as good a Protectionist as himself. Well, if Mr. Brown were really sincere in that declaration he would not be found supporting a Free Trade Government and proposing a piece-meal policy which bore absurdity on the face of it, and which he well knew could not be carried. Only a Government could deal with such a question, and the Government which Mr. Brown supported had refused to take any action. He (Mr. Wallbridge) would do his part, if returned, to turn out the Mackenzie Government, in order that that policy might be carried out and steady work given to the mechanics and laborers. (Cheers.) Mr. Brown denied that he was the nominee of the Reformers, but they all knew that that was not correct. Mr. Brown was nominated by the Reform Convention, of whose action he was apprised, and he appeared before them and accepted the nomination. (Applause.) Mr. Wallbridge concluded an animated, able, and logical address, which produced a highly favorable impression, amidst the cheers and loud expressions of approval of the audience.

The Chairman then announced that if Mr. Brown was present, or any friend who wished to address the meeting on his behalf a fair hearing would be given to him. After waiting some minutes, and no one accepting the invitation,

Mr. W. C. Nunn was called upon and having been warmly received by his old friends of the Grand Trunk, proceeded to speak upon the questions of the day. He denied the truth of the Free-traders' assertion that Protection had had a bad effect in the United States. As they were well aware, he was a great traveller, and had travelled in the United States from Maine to Georgia, finding gene rally that the depression was much less there than here, and that in several lines of manufactures there was undoubted prosperity. The stories of thousands of idle workmen were a myth, the great body of idle men there being those who had become tramps and refused to work at any price. He had himself seen this class of men offered $3 per day to work on repairs to the levees on the Mississippi, but they refused it. The purchase of the steel rails was a blunder-ing transaction, and a still greater blunder was committed in keeping them piled up in the open air, where they rapidly rusted and deteriorated greatly. Had the steel rails piled at Montreal, Kingston and other places been lent to the Grand Trunk or any other road in active operation, they would have been more valuable than they are now, as they have have become so oxydized by exposure that they will stand but little service. Mr. Nunn concluded a forcible and well delivered address amidst warm applause saying that as the hour was late he would not then address them further, but he would take another opportunity of speaking to them at greater length before the campaign was over.

Cheers were then given for the Queen, for Mr. Wallbridge, for Sir John Macdonald and for the Chairman, and the meeting came to a close.

A DENIAL.

Mr. Brown, in a published note, denies that he promised the Collectorship of Customs to Mr. Ketchan Graham, as charged in the Mail. We accept the denial without reservation.

EAST HASTINGS.

Meeting last night at Tamilton—Conservative Speakers refused the right to reply.—Grit Orators charge falsehood on their opponents, but clear out when the charge is being disproved but brought home to themselves.

A meeting called by Mr. Aylsworth, to which Mr. White was invited by letter from his opponent, was held in the town hall, Canifton, last evening. With the exception of frequent interruptions by a would-be Reeve of Thurlow, and a few excited individuals of the Grit faith, the meeting was exceedingly orderly.

J. J. Farley, Esq., occupied the chair.

Mr. Aylsworth was the first to address the meeting, and in a quiet speech of twenty minutes, made his debut as a political speaker. He charged Sir John Macdonald's Government with appointing a large number of officials just before quitting office. He described Mr. Cartwright as a great man, and said that the increased expenditure was owing to the obligations incurred by the late Government. He complained that there was nothing definite in the policy of the Opposition. He said the less duties imposed the better for the country, and asked were we to live within ourselves ? He came before them he said as a man that had been brought up a radical and who was still a radical, and if he were returned to Parliament he would support the Mackenzie Government.

Mr. White was the next speaker, and the enthusiasm with which he was received plainly indicated that even in Mr. Aylsworth's own meeting, he had the audience largely in his favor. He successfully refuted the charges of Mr. Aylsworth regarding the late Government ; he shewed that the appointments to which that gentleman had referred were those of official assignees and inspectors of weights and measures, necessitated by Acts of Parliament just passed, and appointments of officials in Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, which had just joined the Confederation. He shewed that deficits and borrowing money at a ruinous rate were the result of the administration of the department controlled by the man whom Mr. Aylsworth called great—Hon. R. J. Cartwright. Mr. Aylsworth's complaint that the Opposition policy was not definite, was shewn by Mr. White to be unfounded, as it clearly laid down that a readjustment of the tariff was necessary, not increased taxation. It would take duties off something, for instance tea, which we cannot produce, and put a higher duty on the goods which the Americans are now supplying, and which our money leaves the country to pay for instead of being paid to our own mechanics, who would in turn purchase the produce of the farmer. He clearly shewed that the amount of taxes to be raised would be simply the amount necessary to run the Government as it is now, but that a readjustment in conformity with the changed relations of this country with the United States would be made. The increased tax cry, Mr. White showed was a delusion. He next pointed out how some gentlemen supporting the free trade policy, of which Mr. Aylsworth was the representative, were practising protection every day because it was in the interest of their pockets to do so. The cheese presses sold in this county were made by a prominent member of the County Council, and on them he had a patent by which he obtained a profit of 100 per cent ; this was protection with a vengeance. Mr. Aylsworth's employer has so protected his timber limits that no poor man could obtain logs with which to run his saw mill. He practised protection in this, but he advocated free trade in corn because it was his interest to keep down the price of it and coarse grains, of which he used so much ; where was the sincerity of these men ? They desire to give alms to the poor—their poor selves. Mr. White defined his position regarding his future course—which is to sustain the policy of Sir John Macdonald in a readjustment of the tariff in the interest of the industries of Canada—the agricultural, the mining, and the manufacturing. He also reviewed his Parliamentary services briefly and took his seat amid great cheering.

Allusions were made by speakers during the evening to Mr. White's early education, but we affirm that for correct English, logical arguments, the evidence of a thorough knowledge of what constitutes sound statesmanship, and intimate acquaintance with the affairs of the country, his speech equalled those of the gentlemen who referred to this matter.

Mr. S. B. Burdett followed Mr. White, and discussed the dead issues of the past very ably. Representation by population, the Washington Treaty and the sins of Sir John Macdonald's Government were handled vigorously. His fondness for "lang syne" lingered with him till near the end of his speech, when, after pitching into the poor Indians of British Columbia for obtaining money from Ottawa by false pretences, and having so many Senators and Members in the Dominion Legislature he touched delicately on the tariff question. He challenged any speaker that would follow to put his finger on a wrong thing done by Mr. Mackenzie.

Mr. J. W. Johnson followed and at once took up Mr. Burdett's challenge. He proceeded to state the great principles which Mr. Mackenzie when in opposition contended were essential to good Government —principles which no man could say were not sound political dogmas, but it was because every one of those principles had been violated by Mr. Mackenzie since he came into power that the majority of the people of this county, as he believed would be shown on the 17th of September, considered him unfit—aside from the great question of protection to native industries to which Mr Mackenzie is opposed—to longer control the reins of power. He proved the complete desertion by Mr. Mackenzie and his party of the principles of no coalition, Independence of Parliament, economy, Parliamentary control of public money, purity in elections, and that instead of raising the standard of public morality it had fallen low in their hands. He referred to the tariff question, advancing and proving the propositions that it is desirable in the interest of the whole people to make Canada both a manufacturing and mining country as well as an agricultural one. That protection cheapens manufactured articles as shown in the case of salt, boots and shoes, etc., which we now make at home and sell cheaper than the price formerly paid for foreign goods. That readjustment of the tariff does not mean increased taxation. That to build up a nationality of power and strength within the Empire we must be able to produce for ourselves the articles which our daily life demands for many of which we are now dependent upon the United States and other countries. It was a policy of protection that made England great ; it was the same policy that made the United States, which during the war of 1812 could not manufacture a single blanket for her soldiers next to England the greatest manufacturing, the wealthiest and most prosperous nation in the world, and it was this policy that must accomplish a position equal to that of those countries for Canada.

Mr. R. C. Clute was the next speaker. He referred to what Mr. Macdougall said about the Intercolonial. He took up the points of previous speakers, and in bombastic style rounded every period with the word "falsehood." When trying to show the economy of the Government he picked out a few items of expenditure in the Department of Justice, which of necessity were larger under Sir John, owing to the Fenian raids and other causes than under Mr. Blake, and said that a previous speaker had stated a falsehood when saying that the expenditure was larger now than then. Mr. Johnson interrupted Mr. Clute and claimed that his personal honor was challenged and he must show the figures to prove his statement. Mr. Clute disingenuously gave a few items, but the whole expenditure of the department had increased under Mr. Blake, the figures being in 1872-3 under Sir John $49,200 and in 1876-7 under Mr. Blake $112,500.

Mr. Aylesworth said a few words in reply, but on Mr. White demanding that he had a right to reply also, he was peremptorily put down by the Chairman and prevented from speaking. Mr. Clute was leaving the room at this time, and Mr. Johnson requested him to remain till he would defend himself and prove on which side the falsehoods lay, but notwithstanding the Chairman's permission granted Mr. Johnson to speak, and the loud calls of the audience that Mr. Clute should remain, that gentleman vanished.

Cheers for the Queen and for each of the candidates were given and the meeting closed.

The magnificent maps, two being 26 x 32 inches, enable the reader to follow every step of Mr. Stanley's wonderful journey.
THE PUBLIC ARE CAUTIONED that the only book giving the complete history of the travels, explorations, important discoveries, and thrilling adventures of Mr. Stanley in Africa during 1874-1877 is now published, under the title which appears at the head of this advertisement as the Canadian COPYRIGHT EDITION.
Two spurious books, one entitled, "The Achievements of Stanley in Africa," and the other "The Complete Explorations and Adventures of Stanley" have been advertised. They are a rehash of Livingstone and other old books of African travel and of Stanley's letters. The first is the Original spurious book published in Philadelphia, written by T. J. Headley. The second is an inferior copy of the first. Both have mostly old illustrations. See that you get the genuine work written by Mr. Stanley. Each copy in cloth has a cut of the continent and the world "Africa" stamped on side.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, AUG. 30.

City and Vicinity.

Board of Education.—A special meeting of the Board, for the transaction of general business, is to be held to night.

Barley.—The market continues steady at yesterday's rates. The offerings are considerable, and the grain is generally of prime quality.

Oppressive.—It was generally remarked yesterday that the heat was oppressive—as much so as during the protracted "heated term."

Excursion.—The announcement of the Mechanics' Institute excursion to Indian Point on Friday, Sept. 6th, appears in another column. Those who wish to attend the Conservative pic-nic at Stella Point will be conveyed thither free of extra charge.

Counterfeit Bills.— An Ottawa report says: "There appears to be a great number of counterfeit bills in circulation here at present. At first the one dollar bills could be easily detected by the "i" in Mr. Harington's signature not being dotted, but now this difficulty has been got over and every bill is dotted. Experts, however, have infallible signs of detecting the counterfeits."

Large Apples.—Mr. J. D. Palmer, of Belleville, exhibited this morning two mammoth apples, grown in his garden, corner of Foster Avenue and Bridge Street. One of them weighs one pound nine ounces, and measures fifteen and a half inches in circumference; the other measures fifteen inches. They are called the twenty ounce apple, and are the largest reported this season.

Canadian Athletes at Boston.—A telegram from Boston informs that in the Caledonian games there yesterday, the following prizes were taken by Canadian athletes: Heavy shot—Johnson first; Ross second; Melrose third. Tossing the Caber—Johnson first, Melrose second. Heavy hammer—Ross (Chief McKinnon's opponent) first, 96 feet; Melrose second. Johnson got first for standing jump, running jump, high jump, standing and running long jump, and hop-and-skip. Reed got hurdle race, second in hitch-and-kick, and running long jump. The games were splendid.

New Skiff.—The members of the Bay of Quinte Rowing Club evidently mean business, as besides the skiffs owned by individual members of the Club, they have resolved to procure two double scull in rigged lap-streak skiffs from Messrs. Wharin, of Toronto, the celebrated builders. The first of these was received yesterday. She is a very handsomely modeled and nicely fitted craft, her dimensions being 22 feet 9 inches long, and 4 feet beam amidships, and fitted with sliding seats. The only possible objection seems to be that she is considered by many to be too short for a double, or even for a single scull.

"A Cheap Country to Live In."—We publish in other columns a letter from a correspondent on the above subject. "Bontar" treats the case very ably, but on one point his remarks will bear amplification. The policy of the Mackenzie Government may be to make Canada an agricultural country, but the farmers, owing to the heavy duties imposed on such of their products as are exported to the United States and the admission of grain into Canada from that country duty free, really suffer as much from the impolicy of the Government as any class in the community. Owing to the causes mentioned above, farming has almost ceased to be a profitable business in old Canada, as witness the departure of many thousands of yeomen for the Western States and Manitoba annually. The farmers, recognizing the unjust position in which they are placed, and having confidence in the policy of the Opposition, which is to protect the agricultural interests by imposing a duty on United States grain imported into Canada, and better still to build up a home market by protecting manufactures, will cast a heavy vote in favor of the National Policy at the coming election.

A Companion of Jehu.—On coming out of the house of a patient on Church Street to-day noon, Dr. Willson was surprised to find his horse and carriage gone. It transpired that the horse and vehicle had been run off with by a precocious boy of about two years of age. The writer happened to see this juvenile driver as he and his charge reached the top of the hill at the intersection of Bridge and Church Streets. The little fellow appeared to be in high delight, as with the lines held loosely in his tiny hands, he gave the word of command "gee up," in most approved style. The sagacious horse went down the hill at a good trot (the driver uttering expressions of delight and otherwise manifesting his joy) and finally pulled up with its precious freight safe at its owner's door. The precocious driver was sent home to his mamma. He certainly deserves to be numbered amongst the "Companions of Jehu," that son of Nimshi, who drove "even furiously."

Bears Captured.—Early on the morning of the 29th inst., an old bear with three cubs were seen crossing the road near Hudson's carriage factory, Roslin, apparently unconscious as to their fate. The news soon spread and a number of persons with rifles, revolvers, spades and hoes, were speedily on the war path, and after a considerable chase the old bear and two cubs were shot, the other succeeding in effecting its escape.

Death from Yellow Fever.—We deeply regret to learn of the death by yellow fever of Mr. R. M. Potts, of New Orleans, brother of E. F. Potts, of Belleville. The death took place yesterday afternoon, the 29th, and the sad news was at once telegraphed to his brother here. Deceased has been seven years in the employ of Messrs. Richards & May, of New Orleans, and was very much esteemed by his employers and respected by all who knew him. The news of his untimely death will be received with regret by a large circle of friends in this section of the country.

DISORDERLY HOUSE.

Sarah Bawden, up on remand on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment in gaol.

ABUSIVE LANGUAGE.

A charge of using abusive language preferred by Miss Elizabeth Dafoe against Mrs. Beckett was laid over till to-morrow for evidence.

A Caution.

The narrative of Stanley's expedition to Equatorial Africa, and his magnificent exploration of the Congo—one of the grandest achievements of modern times—is published by J. B. Magurn in one handsome volume, profusely illustrated with engravings from his own sketches, and ten splendid maps. It also contains two portraits of Mr. Stanle .

The story of this brave man's adventures, the travels accomplished, the perils through which he passed, the sufferings he endured, the wonderful discoveries he made, told in his own fluent and graphic style, reads like a romance of the old adventurous times, and no one who takes up the book will be willing to lay it down until the last page is finished.

For deep dramatic interest there is nothing in the whole range of modern travel equalling the scenes here described.

We regret, therefore, to learn that an attempt is being made to impose upon the public a spurious work, purporting to be a complete history of Stanley's achievements and explorations. It is a garbled and incomplete story, made up from letters necessarily imperfect and fragmentary. Compared with the book the letters in the Herald are a mere prospectus. Many most interesting details were omitted which appear in Mr. Stanley's book, and which are necessary to the complete understanding of the great work he has accomplished. To protect the interests of Canadian readers, we deem it proper to warn the public against attempts to palm off upon them this garbled and spurious narrative of his explorations. The only genuine and complete account of Stanley's achievements, written by himself, entitled "Through The Dark Continent" is copyrighted and published by J. B. Magurn, Toronto, by special arrangement with the Author; and whoever buys any other will waste his money and cheat himself out of the genuine book which English critics pronounce the most fascinating book of travel which has been produced in modern times.

Traffic Receipts.—The traffic receipts on the Grand Trunk railway for the week ending 24th inst., were $168, 408, being a decrease of $15,516 from corresponding week of last year.

Midland Railway.—A Port-Hope despatch says:—"Mr. A. Hugel, President of the Midland Railway, sent in his resignation to-day. A special meeting of the Board was held, when Mr. G. Cox, of Peterboro', was elected President, and Mr. Charles Percy, Manager.

Maclennan Shows the White Feather.—The Lindsay Warder says:—"Mr. James Maclennan, Q. C., the Grit candidate in North Victoria, not being able to see his way very clear to a successful issue, has, after conducting a quiet canvass for some days, and being met with flat refusals from former supporters, thrown up the sponge and left for home in disgust. Mr. Hector Cameron will very likely walk the course."

Interference of Government Officials.—The Montreal Star says:—"Charges are made against several Government officials of mixing themselves up with the elections, canvassing and doing other services which members upon both sides the House have, from their places in Parliament declared as highly improper for them to do. The matter requires looking into."

Vice-Regal Residence in Montreal.—The Montreal Gazette says:—"The proposal to erect a residence for the Governor-General in Montreal, continues to be received with very general favor. There is no doubt that it would be a very great advantage to the city, if, by the erection of a Vice-Regal residence, the Governor-General could be induced to spend a portion of the year in Montreal, and this view is so self-evident, that all well-wishers of the city will wish the movement success."

Cheering Accounts.—The Mail publishes a card from the Hon. Frank Smith and two other Roman Catholic gentleman, stating that they, having represented to Archbishop Lynch that there were rumors of a serious difference and misunderstanding between himself and Sir John A. Macdonald, were assured that there was no foundation whatever for them. The same journal says cheering accounts of success are coming from all parts of the Dominion, and although the Ministerialists are making a most determined fight, they will be utterly routed all along the line.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

EUROPEAN.

London, Aug. 30.—The Times Paris correspondent says the American delegates to the monetary Conference seem to have succeeded in dispelling the idea that the Bland Bill was designed to the prejudice of bond holders, or that the Conference originated in self-interested motives.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 30.—The Savings Bank in Concordia, La Fayette County, was entered by robbers yesterday, who compelled the Cashier to open the safe. The robbers took all paper money, it amounting to between $3,000 and $4,000 and escaped.

Concord, N. H., Aug. 30.—A train with fire engine was sent to Raymond depot station buildings and hotel on fire. It is feared the village may be burned.

Dayton, O., Aug. 30.—A collision on the C.C.C. and L. between two freight trains this morning, near Enon, a dozen cars were telescoped, and a colored man fatally hurt.

New York, Aug. 29.—Specials report the two cases of yellow fever at Philadelphia will not result fatally.

The Board of Health of New Orleans believe the fever must now run its course unless some rare meteorological change takes place. The city will probably be swept throughout by the epidemic. A strange feature is the mortality among the negroes is nearly 60 per cent.

A convalescent young lady was so frightened by a flash of lightning yesterday that black vomit and death followed.

Many physicians are so overtaxed they refuse new cases.

In Memphis there is hardly a house not entirely vacant which does not contain sick or dead. The increase of fever among the negroes is frightful. Many burglaries occur. O. J. Kennedy, while on guard at his stable last night, mistook a young man living with him who had gone to the barn to relieve Kennedy for a burglar and shot him dead.

New York, Aug. 30.—Total subscription for fever sufferers is over $60,000.

A cargo of sugar consigned to Young & Co., has been seized for alleged frauds in weight, by which the Government suffered.

A British ship yesterday brought news that the brig Bribe of France, was cut down by the ships Geo. Bell of Nova Scotia, on August 10th and sunk, two sailors were drowned.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Madrid, Aug. 30.—The Prefect has decided to send four gend'armes with each express team to Pijamences. Another republican plot has been discovered at Larina. Eight arrests.

Glasgow, August 30.—The ironmasters of west Scotland have decided upon a reduction of 10 per cent in wages.

Rome, Aug. 30.—The Liberta Opinione, Economista d'Italia, and Gazetta Dicineza, argue that the establishment of Austria on the Albanian coast renders the possession of Trieste necessary to the maintenance of Italy's commercial position in the Adriatic.

Vienna, Aug. 30.—There is no news from General Szapary. Sinister rumors continue.

Ragusa, Aug. 30.—The Austrians have occupied Zarina. It is reported that the insurgents garrisoning Trebinge are short of provisions and disposed to surrender.

Paris, Aug. 30.—The Official Journal says the delegates to the monetary conference not being authorized to bind their respective Governments, could not effect an international arrangement, but discussions will facilitate study and the solution of questions affecting the monetary system of the several countries.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 30.—Last night at Raymond a fire destroyed the hotel, depot, freight house, a thousand cords of wood, the telegraph office and several stores. Loss $16,500.

Laon, Aug. 30.—At a complimentary banquet given to the Senators of the department of Aisne, M. Waddington, Minister of Foreign Affairs, said he considered the general peace of Europe perfectly secure.

Cohoes, N. Y., Aug. 30.—A malignant type of fever prevails to an alarming extent in the 5th ward. Alderman Silcock died this morning, and C. F. Kelley, editor of the Democrat, is dangerously ill.

Antwerp, Aug. 30.—Arrived, the steamship Dehuyter.

News Condensed.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

Political Notes.

Mayor Bangs has accepted the nomination of the Reform party in Ottawa.

Information from Amherst Island gives us to understand that it has gone from Mr. Cartwright, and that his majority of 65 at last election will be turned in a minority.

The city of Detroit produces annually $35,000,000 worth of manufactured goods, giving a labor-employing capacity of 18,000 hands. This is not a bad showing in a country which is hoarding the doctrines of the starvation party in Canada, is ruined by protection.

Maritime Province papers complain of Mr. Mackenzie's downright rudeness while on the stump there. That is nothing new. Many a time he has had to be called to account in the House of Commons on account of his insulting and overbearing manner towards members.

The New York World gleefully rubs its hands over the destruction of the Canadian fishing interest, and says that it sent four hundred industrious families to the United States.

The Liberal-Conservatives of Lunenburg county, Nova Scotia, have nominated their candidates Edwin Kaulback for the Dominion, and Messrs. James and Smith for the Local House.

At the last general election there were only two Conservative German newspapers in Canada, and there were five Grit German papers. Now there are eight Conservative and but two Grit German newspapers in the Dominion.

In 1867-8 Indian corn and flour and meal paid a duty of $137,079. Last year they came in free, and who is the richer for it ?

Well authenticated statistics show that Chicago has 1800 manufacturing establishments giving employment to 55,000 hands, and making products to the value of $150,000,000 annually.

The American people have taken up since the 1st May last not less than $37,000,000 of four per cent U. S. bonds—or nearly $1 per head of its population. And yet self-protection is ruining them !

Nepanee Standard :—"Hathbun's shipyard at Mill Point is closed, and Calnan has a policy which Mr. Cartwright says is building up the country. The Oswego shipyards are open, and last week the following vessels trading at ports on the Bay of Quinte were there undergoing repairs, viz : Scud, Tranchemontagne, David Aubrees, Nellie Sherwood, and Forest Queen. Government supporters say the United States policy is ruining that country. O, for a deluge of such 'ruin !'"

A country whose products are mainly exported can rarely or never boast of a substantial and intelligent and virtuous yeomanry ; the condition of the latter is too precarious and dependent—his average reward too meagre. It may have wealthy capitalists and merchants, but never a numerous middle class, nor a flourishing, increasing proportion of small but independent proprietors.—Horace Greeley.

Stratford Herald :—"The Hon. George Brown went to Washington at an expense of thousands of dollars to the people of this country and offered the Americans value to the estimated amount of thirty millions of dollars if they would give Canada reciprocity of tariffs ; therefore the great conundrum of the campaign is—Why did he do so if the United States tariff hurts the United States and hurts not Canada ?"

Says the Colborne Express (Independent) : "This is becoming "a cheap country to live in"—just what the Hon. Mr. Mackenzie declares publicly he is determined to make it—but of what advantage is it to have cheap flour, meat and other necessaries, if you have not money to buy them ? Good paying prices all round, the world knows, make good good times generally—for the farmer, the mechanic and the laborer ; as for the other classes, they'll have a good time anyway ! Save us from "a cheap country to live in"—it means the degradation of the farmer, the mechanic, and the laborer."

When Ministerial candidates and their friends endeavor to pooh-pooh the figures given by Mr. Macpherson in his pamphlet and speeches it will be well for the electors to bear this simple but telling fact in mind, namely :—That Mr. Macpherson has "challenged" his opponents to agree to leave it to the General Manager of the Bank of Montreal, Mr. Angus ; the General Manager of the Merchants' Bank, Mr. Hague ; the General Manager of the Permanent Loan and Savings Society, Mr. Mason ; and the General Manager of the Canada Life Assurance Co., Mr. Ramsay ; or to any two or three of these gentlemen to say whether he has or he has not taken his figures correctly from the Public accounts, and that this challenge has not been accepted.

Extracts from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B., October 10th, 1876.

MR. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR : In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better. The doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun, and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. I do not bleed any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick ; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement, which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorize you to give it publicity in my name.

I am, dear sir, yours truly,

(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phosphorical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

(Signed) ALEXANDER BENNETT, J. P.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

Prospectus of the COUNTY OF HASTINGS DIRECTORY FOR 1878-9.

IN 1869, the third Directory of the County of Hastings and Town of Belleville was published. A great many changes have taken place since that time, and there being a very general demand for the NEW DIRECTORY, the INTELLIGENCER Printing and Publishing Company have decided to issue a new and improved edition, on or about the first of January, 1879.

The general plan of the work will be similar to that of the former Directories, but SEVERAL IMPROVEMENTS WILL BE INTRODUCED, which will render the Directory of great value to business men.

It will contain a complete list of the householders, alphabetically arranged, of each Village, Town and Township in the County, with street, or concession and lot upon which they reside ; and to make this part of the work of additional value, it is intended to give the POST OFFICE ADDRESS of each householder in the various Townships.

The descriptive information will be very full and complete, and every pains taken to have it correct. Special pains will be taken to bring to the notice of our mineral wealth before the country, with a view to its development, and there can be no doubt, when the facts which will be given in this work are more widely known, capitalists will be induced to come in and invest their means, and thereby find a remunerative return. There will be a of the Trades and Professions of the City of Belleville. An abstract of each of the County and City By-laws as are of public interest will appear in the work, as well as a large amount of statistical, local and general information.

The Map.

The Map accompanying the Directory will contain all the latest surveys, and will be a great improvement on the former one. To make the map of greater value general to the County and to the various towns and villages within the Corporation, it will contain a plan of Belleville, Trenton, Stirling, Marmora, Madoc, Bridgewater, Tweed, Shannonville, and Mill Point.

While this greatly increase the expense of the work, it will materially enhance its value, and be of special value to the different Corporations.

Prince Edward.

The County of Hastings being commercially connected with a portion of the County of Prince Edward, and with a desire to cement more closely by those business connections, it is intended to give an alphabetical list of the inhabitants of the Township of AMELIASBURG, in that County, together with other information respecting that and adjoining Townships, which will be of general interest to our merchants, mechanics, and professional men.

To Advertisers.

The Directory for 1878-9 will have a much larger circulation than any that have preceded it, and will therefore afford a much more valuable medium for advertising. The terms, however, remain the same as formerly, viz. : One page, $10.00 ; half-page, $6.00 ; quarter page, $4.00. The same plan will be adopted as in the last edition,—that of interspersing them among the alphabetical list of names,—which will render them of additional value.

The subscription price will be two dollars per copy.

The benefit of such a work to business men in the City of Belleville and the County, is too apparent to need anything said in its favor. The publishers guarantee that the most studious efforts will be made to secure correctness in the details of the work, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the work a credit to this growing and enterprising City and County.

Orders for the Directory, or for advertisements, may be left at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Belleville.

By CHARLES WILKINS, Auctioneer.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of lands and premises situate, lying and being

PARCEL I.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being composed of part of lot number twenty-nine on the East side of Front Street, in the City of Belleville, and County of Hastings, and better known as subdivision number one in the plan called the Campbell Estate, deposited in the Registry Office on the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D., 1865, commencing at the East side of Front Street at the North West corner of said lot No. one, then Easterly parallel with the side line of said lot twenty-nine to the centre line of the block, then Southerly, following the said centre line twenty-two feet more or less to the land sold to John McKeown, then Westerly, parallel with the first mentioned course to Front Street, then Northerly along Front Street twenty-two feet more or less to the place of beginning, reserving along the centre line of the block on the East end of the lands hereby sold a way twelve feet in width for the use from time to time of the occupants of said lot twenty-nine as well as of the lot twenty-nine on Pinnacle Street, their servants, agents, and workmen. Also all that other part of and lot twenty-nine East side of Front Street, commencing at a point on the line of the East side of Front Street, fifty-one and a half feet South of the North-West corner of said lot number twenty-nine commencing at the South-West corner of part of said lot sold to one Thomas Walters on said side of said Front Street, then Easterly to the South-East corner of said Walters' lot, thence Southerly parallel to Front Street twenty-three feet, thence Westerly to Front Street, thence Northerly twenty-three feet to the place of beginning, reserving thereout and therefrom a right of way twelve feet in width for the use from time to time of the occupants of said lot twenty-nine as well as of the lot twenty-nine on Pinnacle Street their servants, agents, and workmen.

PARCEL II.

All and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being the East half of Lot number twenty-five in the first concession of Thurlow, in the County of Hastings, extending from the travelled road northerly to the Grand Trunk Railway, said to contain one hundred and forty acres, more or less. Also all that part of the West half of Lot number twenty-six, in the first concession of Thurlow, lying between the land owned by Peter and Joseph McDougall and the road travelled from Belleville to Kingston, and being the south half of the said west half of said lot.

Parcel one is situate on the east side of Front Street, between Hotel and Campbell Streets, in a good business location.

Parcel two is situated on the Kingston road, about five miles from Belleville.

On the east half of Lot No. 25 is a stone dwelling house one and a half stories high,—barns and shed in good repair. There are about forty acres of hard wood,—beech and maple.

On the west half of Lot No. 26 is a frame house. The whole is cleared.

The whole is of an excellent clay loam soil, and is well watered.

As Parcel two consists of Farms which must be sold, a bargain is offered.

Terms and conditions made known at time of Sale, or in the mean time on application to

Notices of the Press.

The veteran Magazine, which long ago outgrew its original title of the New Monthly Magazine, has not in the least abated the popularity it won at the outset, but has added to it in many ways, and has kept fairly abreast of the times, thanks to the enterprise of the publishers and the tact and wisdom of its editors. For whatever is best and most readable in the literature of travel, discovery and fiction, the average reader of to day looks to Harper's Magazine, just as expectantly as did the reader of a quarter of a century ago ; there is the same admirable variety of contents, and the same freshness and suggestiveness in its editorial departments now as then.—Boston Journal.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a sequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave,—all of which as a rule are first caused by deviating from the path of nature and over indulgence.

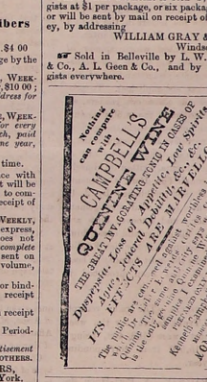

Before Taking. After Using.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study, and many years of experience in treating these special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The Specific Medicine is sold by all Druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge," of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

IF EACH MOMENT.

BY E. NORMAN GUNNISON.

If each moment of infinite gladness
That unto us mortals is given,
Were not followed by infinite sadness,
Then this earth might seem dearer than Heaven.
If our joys were not followed by sorrow,
If our woes did not shadow our bliss,
We should not care for any to-morrow,
But rest well contented with this.

If our hearts were but sure of each pleasure,
If we saw not an end to each joy,
We should lay not in Heaven our treasure,
Where no rust can corrode or destroy.
But there is not a joy without sadness,
And there is not a bliss without pain,
And the pattering footfall of gladness,
Lies close to the drip of the rain.

He knows what is best for us ever,
Or whether 'tis laughter or woe,
He leadeth our footsteps, that never
Can stray if He bids them to go.
The way may seem darksome and weary,
And clouded and shadowed may be,
But the heart it can never be weary,
If only it lean upon Thee.

So close when the sunshine is fuming,
And closer when shadow shall fall,
We follow Thy way without turning,
And go where the Master my call.
We answer Thee, Lord, without pleading;
Or whether by day or by night,
Contented to follow Thy leading,
And knowing it endeth in light.

PATIENCE.

Weeping may endure the night,
Joy will come with morning light;
Purest joys that mortals know
In their life while here below
Spring from suffering hours of pain,
Proving an eternal gain.

Sunshine only cannot bring
Into life in early spring
Tiny plant or beauteous flower;
Darkened clouds and rainy shower,
Too, are needed to produce
Things for beauty and for use.

God Himself, that rules o'er all,
Ever lists to human call;
Yet his wisdom may decree
What will seem most grievously
Checking hope and life and aim,
Proving whence the motives came.

Be the trial what it may.
Certain limits has its sway;
All-sufficient for the need
Is the grace of God indeed;
None are ever made to wear
Heavier cross than they can bear.

Oh, the night is not too long,
Nor its trying vigils wrong.
When our Saviour's helping hand
Beckons to the "Better Land!"
Joyful will the morning be
Waking in eternity!

Sunday Reading.

A Word to Women.

There are many women who now fold their hands in dependence and receive dole from grudging male relatives, who are quite capable of making their fortunes, who, left to the guidance of their own instincts, would have done it long ago. But it was not given them to do what they could. They timidly asked everybody's advice, and everybody said "absurd." Everybody always does say "absurd," when a new idea is suggested. Before one has done anything all the world declares it impossible.

What is in you, you know, and you only obey the cry of your soul. You may disobey it, but if you do, you will never be happy. Your heart may say to you be a domestic woman—minister to others' daily wants; and if it does, then do that, and you will be honored and respected, and your children, or those of some one else, will arise and call you blessed. For blessed indeed is the woman who can make good ginger bread, and whose coffee is always clear. But if, looking into your soul, you feel that you would like to be a physician, and run in and out all day and be called up at night, and be called Doctor instead of mother—if this is the very dream of your heart, don't take advice from your Uncle Tompkins and forsake your mission, and marry young Smith, and make him as uncomfortable as you are yourself. It is some women's mission to marry, and they always know it well enough. If it is not yours do not pretend that it is. So, if you want to paint, to teach, to sing, to write, make sure you can, and then "go ahead."

As a rule, the individual fitness for a calling should decide the matter; and by steadily insisting upon being allowed to do that particular work in the world for which you know yourself to be fitted, you will do more to give all women their "rights" than you could in any other way.

Reticence.

We all know what a nuisance it is to endure the everlasting babble that would-be, but misguided, friends create around us, in our presence and out of our presence, by an incessant commotion of the tongue in relation to absent friends, their peculiarities of disposition, their fortunes or misfortunes. The positive, sanguine person boils over with indignation as the recital about that person's private wrongs—almost slander—is poured into his ears; wrongs which no one but the individual personally can ever avenge, and which common-sense should teach reticence in regard to. But the bilious party, with a tonguey imprudence that would do credit to a shrew, rattles on, and ere he or she is aware, has told enough of what that party heard or that party said, to set a whole neighborhood a-fire with second-hand gossip, which, long before it reaches the second house, has assumed the proportions of a slander.

But the party of the sanguine, positive disposition has a vein of phlegmatic quiet and contentment in his mental and physical make up. Instead of taking a share in the fun to be had in slandering the fair reputation of that friend, he thinks to himself of the mischief that this endless string of nonsense will do him, and straightway the talebearing party is given his short but curt disapproval of the whole affair. This may silence him or it may not. Certainly it should be the duty of every one to give a tale-bearer the cold shoulder—or, indeed, a lesson in the manly art of self-defence would not be a bad plan, if every other way of bringing him to his senses should fail. But, after all, a man who keeps peace with his tongue, says little about other people's affairs, except to congratulate them personally, is morally honest, temperate in all things, and is prompt in keeping promises, is a man to be held up before his fellow begins as a practical example of what a reticent man should be.

Reticence that does not amount to sullenness is a much more valuable gift than volubility. We soon grow to be dissatisfied with a person who has plenty of tongue but very little common-sense—for that is the one who will continually thrust his immatured projects before us. Let us, then, use our spare time in reading such books as shall give us the soundest ideas upon practical life, and the right way to treat our fellow beings.

He Died Rich.

How hard some men strive all their lives to have it said of them when they have passed hence—"He died rich!"

Relatives and friends who are left behind, seem to consider it a sort of compliment to the dead to dwell upon the theme—"he died rich!"

And now comes up the question. Is it an honor to a man to die rich? Is the world any better for a man to die rich than it would be if the same man died poor? Is the man any happier in the next life on account of it?

If the spirit be conscious after death, is it any satisfaction to that spirit, in the other life, to know that he left a hundred thousand or two for his relatives to quarrel over, and break his will over, and on account of which they are to be at sword points with each other through all time?

Is the man who died rich mourned for any more sincerely than the man who died poor? And when we come to talk about that is it really desirable to have people mourn for us after we are dead? It is exceedingly uncomfortable for them, and what benefit can it be to us?

Tears, eminent authorities tell us, are a luxury, but is it a luxury to mourn for those who are gone from us never to return? Would we purchase forgetfulness at any price? Would we forego weeping for the sake of comfort, and ease of mind?

The good old country deacon comes to our memory just here. He lost his wife, and at the funeral was observed to weep very freely—much more so than it was believed to be consistent with his character. A friend said to him:

"Deacon Jones, try and be comforted. So much weeping over one whom God has called is sinful. And, besides, it will make you ill!"

"I ain't crying particularly over Sally!" replied the deacon. "She was about old enough to die, but I have the catarrh in my head, and crying kinder clears it out! And whenever my nose feels stopped up I think of Sally, and crying brings relief."

But we wander from our text.

It is amusing to note how the people at large, and the newspapers in general, speak of the man who died rich. They go into every particular of his peculiarities, and remark on the way he wore his old hats, and hoarded up his mustered out boots and old stockings; and they will tell you anecdotes of his eccentricities, and allude to his dogs and horses, and mention the fact that his wife and family are overwhelmed with grief.

Who says anything when the poor man dies about his old hats and stockings? He may have hoarded them quite as religiously as has his wealthier neighbor, but there is nothing said about it. His lean dog is not thought worth a newspaper paragraph. His wife's grief is not so noteworthy as that of the rich man's lady, and his children's tears are never immortalized in printer's ink.

But when the grand account is made up, and God judges, will it make any difference whether a man died rich or poor?

Looking back to the life which has been, will any human soul believe that it has been worth the struggle to have it said—"He died rich?"

We cannot think so; but we do believe that it is worth toil, and trial, and tribulation, to be so filled with the peace which comes from right doing, that when we die it may truely be said of us—"He died rich!"

How to Have a Loving Wife.

A correspondent sends the following to the Phrenological Journal.

If you would have a loving wife, be as gentle in your words after as before marriage; treat her quite as tenderly when a matron as when a miss; don't make her the maid of all work, and ask her why she looks less tidy than when you first knew her; don't buy cheap, tough beef, and scold because it does not come on the table "porterhouse;" don't grumble about squalling babies if you cannot afford to keep up a nursery, and remember that baby may take after his papa in his disposition; don't smoke and chew tobacco and thus shatter your nerves, spoil your temper and make your breath a nuisance, and complain that your wife declines to kiss you; go home joyous and cheerful to your supper, and tell your wife the good news you have heard, and not silently put on your hat and go out to the club or lodge, and let her afterwards learn that you spent the evening at the opera or at a fancy ball with Mrs. Dash. Love your wife; be patient; remember you are not perfect, but try to be; let whiskey, tobacco and vulgar company alone; live a decent, Christian life, and your wife will be loving and true—if you did not marry a heartless beauty, without sense or worth; if you did, who is to blame if you suffer the consequences?

Trust.

Life would be impracticable unless it were the primary rule to believe what is told us. There is not a single relation in adult life in which we are not compelled to depend upon the word of another—of a husband, a wife, a friend, an agent. We believe certain things representing them—in their honor, their chastity, their affection, their faithfulness. To what kind of condition would life be reduced if we apply to these matters "the universal duty of questioning all that we believe?" In some, at all events, of these relations, it may be observed, it is in the nature of the case impossible that we should have "sufficient evidence" for our belief. It is an unquestionable fact that many a man who has been trusted, and who has for years borne an unexceptionable character, has proved faithless; and it is quite impossible I can be sure upon grounds of evidence respecting any particular man that he is incapable of this baseness. But the first condition of a genuine and honest friendship is to believe this, to refuse to entertain a doubt of it, and, if need be, to uphold a friend's honor until he is absolutely proved dishonorable. With respect to trust exercised in commercial relations, it might perhaps be said that it is a more application of the principal of probabilities. As a matter of experience, if customers are trusted, the majority of them will fulfil their engagements. It may be doubted whether tradesmen really do act in practice on this mere calculation of probabilities; at all events the principle does not apply to the other relations of life just referred to. It would be an insult to a friend to say you trusted and loved him because you thought it more probable he was true than that he was false. He expects from you, as the primary condition of true friendship, that you believe firmly concerning him that of which you cannot possibly have certain evidence.

Pleasures can be supported by illusions, but happiness rests upon truth.

The Light of a Cheerful Face.

There is no greater everyday virtue than cheerfulness. This quality in man among men is like sunshine to the day, or gentle, renewing moisture to parched herbs. The light of a cheerful face diffuses itself, and communicates the happy spirit that inspires it. The sourest temper must sweeten in the atmosphere of continuous good humor.

As well might fog, and cloud, and vapor, hope to cling to the sun-illumined landscape, as the blues and moroseness to combat jovial speeches and exhilarating laughter. Be cheerful always. There is no path but will be easier travelled, no load but will be lighter, no shadow on heart or brain but will lift sooner in the presence of a determined cheerfulness. It may at times seem difficult for the happiest tempered to keep the continuance of peace and content; but the difficulty will vanish when we truly consider that sullen gloom and passionate despair do nothing but multiply thorns and thicken sorrows.

Ill comes to us as providentially as good, and is as good if we rightly apply its lessons. Why not, then, accept the ill, and thus blunt its apparent sting? Cheerfulness ought to be the fruit of philosophy and christianity. What is gained by peevishness and fretfulness—by perverse sadness and sullenness?

If we are ill, let us be cheered by the trust that we shall soon be in better health; if misfortune befall us, let us be cheered by hopeful visions of better fortune; if death rob us of the dear ones, let us be cheered by the thought that they are only gone before to the blissful bowers, where we shall all meet to part no more.

Cultivate cheerfulness, if only for personal profit. You will do and bear every duty and burden better by being cheerful. It will be your consoler in solitude, your passport and commendator in society. You will be more sought after, and trusted and esteemed, for your steady cheerfulness. The bad, the vicious, may be boisterously gay and vulgarly humorous, but seldom or ever truly cheerful. Genuine cheerfulness is an almost certain index of a happy mind, and a pure, good heart.

Agreeable People.

Rest assured, you cannot be pleasing at all times and seasons, or to all persons, without trying to be agreeable. You must not be too brilliant. Clever things cannot be said unobtrusively enough. A person so brilliant as to make others feel that your efforts are above theirs will be detested. If you are well satisfied with yourself, and sure of pleasing, you will be apt to succeed. Characters pleased with themselves please others, for they are joyous and natural in mien, and are at liberty from thinking of themselves to pay successful attention to others. Still the self-conceited and the bragging are never attractive, self being the topic on which all are fluent and none interesting. They who dwell on self in any way—the self-deniers, the self-improvers—are hateful to the heart of civilized man. Try to adjust yourself to the peculiarities of others, and appear interested in them. The belle is a lady who has an air of enjoying herself with whomsoever she talks. We like those who seem to delight in our company. You must not overdo it, and thus make yourself suspected of acting; but do not imagine you will please without trying. Those who are careless of pleasing are never popular. Those who do not care how they look invariably look ugly. You will never please without doing all these things, and more. After all, what a Pecksniffian business it is to go into—what constant subjugation of self is required! No wonder there are so few thoroughly agreeable people.

Don't Fret.

Some people are fretting from early morning to dewy eve. It does no good either to themselves or others. Such persons simply make themselves and those around them uncomfortable. There is a great deal in the cultivation of an agreeable temper with respect to trivial events. A certain degree of indifference is essential to comfort. We may safely say of many things, "Well, it will not make much difference, after all," when, if we gave way to a natural feeling of disappointment and irritation—perhaps indignation—they would keep us awake. There are few things about which a sensible, reflecting person need be unhappy or over-concerned. People make themselves unnecessarily uncomfortable, and their own voluntary discomfort extends to others.

Gems of Thought.

Innocence is always unsuspicious.

Patience and gentleness are power.

Joys are our wings, sorrow are our spurs.

What is joy? A sunbeam between two clouds.

Rats and conquerors must expect no mercy in misfortunes.

A man's own manner and character is what best becomes him.

No padlocks, bolts or bars can secure a maiden so well as her own reserve.

I have been reasoning all my life, and find that all arguments will vanish before one touch of nature.

Music—we love it for the buried hopes, the garnered memories, the tender feelings it can summon at a touch.

Hill and valley, seas and constellations, are but stereotypes of divine ideas appealing to and answered by the living soul of man.

Jealousy is a painful passion; yet without some share of it the agreeable affection of love has difficulty to subsist in its full force and violence.

Women and men of retiring timidity are cowardly only in dangers which affect themselves, but the first to rescue when others are endangered.

The most accomplished persons have usually some defect, some weakness in their characters, which diminishes the lustre or their brighter qualifications.

The instruction received at the mother's knee and the paternal lessons, together with the pious and sweet souvenirs of the fireside, are never effaced entirely from the soul.

A Bible and a newspaper in every house a good school in every district, all studied and appreciated as they merit, are the principal support of virtue, morality and civil liberty.

Let it not be imagined that the life of a good Christian must necessarily be a life of melancholy and gloominess; for he only resigns some pleasures to enjoy others infinitely greater.

If there be one thing on earth which is truly admirable it is to see God's wisdom blessing an inferiority of natural powers, where they have been honestly, truly and zealously cultivated.

No man who is fit to live need fear to die. Poor faithless souls that we are! How we shall smile at our vain alarms when the worst has happened! To us here death is the most terrible word we know. But when we have tasted its reality, it will mean to us birth, deliverance, a new creation of ourselves. It will be what health is to the sick man. It will be what home is to the exile. It will be what the loved one given back is to the bereaved. As we draw near to it a solemn gladness should fill our hearts. It is God's great morning lightening up the sky. Our fears are the terrors of children in the night, The night, with its terrors, its darkness, feverish dreams, is passing away; and when we awake it will be into the sunlight of God.

THE COMING STRUGGLE.

Our Battle Cry: "Protection to Home Industries."

The Opposition Policy.

The commercial policy of the Opposition is represented in the following resolution moved by Sir John Macdonald in the House of Commons:—

"That this House is of opinion that the welfare of Canada requires the adoption of a National Policy, which by a judicious readjustment of the Tariff will benefit and foster the Agricultural, the Mining, the Manufacturing and other interests of the Dominion; that such a policy will retain in Canada thousands of our fellow-countrymen, now obliged to expatriate themselves in search of employment denied them at home; will restore prosperity to our struggling industries, now so sadly depressed; will prevent Canada from being made a sacrifice market; will encourage and develop an active Interprovincial trade; and moving (as it ought to do) in the direction of the reciprocity of Tariffs with our neighbors, so far as the varied interests of Canada may demand, will greatly tend to procure for this Country, eventually, a reciprocity of Trade."

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUG. 31.

A Grit's Idea of Protection.

A Grit Free-trader commences a dreary epistle addressed to a contemporary as follows:—

"Much is said and written at the present time about protection. By this I suppose they mean putting on heavy duties so as to enable all classes of industry to realize higher prices for the products."

This gives a fair idea of the average Free-trader's knowledge of the policy of the Opposition, which, totally failing to comprehend, they abuse without stint. Let us repeat, for the benefit of such mistaken persons as the scribe in question, that the policy of the Opposition is not to put high duties indiscriminately on all articles, but to readjust the tariff by placing an increased amount of duties on such articles as can profitably be manufactured in this country, and reduce the impost on the raw material used in those manufactures as will give our manufacturers control of their home market. At the same time the experience of the United States is that high protective duties do not increase prices, otherwise the manufacturers of that country could not send their goods into Canada and successfully compete with the manufacturers of Free-trade England, neither could they export their goods to England itself and sell at a profit as they do.

An Unholy Alliance.

Let the electors of West Hastings note well the fact that Mr. Brown's newspaper organ and the gentlemen who do his political speaking for him, hold and express views precisely contrary to those of their candidate on the great question before the country, namely, the fiscal policy. At the same time, they are also opposed to Mr. Brown's course on almost every other point of public policy. Surely if ever there was an unholy alliance it is that between James Brown and the Grits, whose convention placed him in nomination for West Hastings.

Grand Junction Railway.

We understand that Mr. Bickford had a very satisfactory interview with the Finance Committee of the Grand Junction Railway Company yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bickford, after the situation had been discussed, submitted an undertaking to make a contract to complete the line to Hastings this season on condition that one-half of the Belleville bonus be paid when the road is finished to Hastings. Thereupon the Committee resolved to allow Mr. Bickford to use the road for the transport of material to complete the North Hastings Railway.

Address to Lord Dufferin.—A Toronto despatch says:—"Acting Mayor Close has received a telegram from Mr. J. MacMillan, Guelph, stating that no alteration can be made in the presentation of the joint municipal address to the Governor-General, and that the presentation will take place on the 5th September at Quebec, as original ly arranged."

The Yellow Fever Scourge.—The N. Y. Herald publishes statistics of the ravages of the yellow fever in New Orleans, by which it is shown that the losses for this year are small by comparison with those for years that the people of New Orleans regard as bad ones. August 22nd of this year, for instance, is the worst day so far—the day against which is recorded the greatest number of deaths. This number is fifty-eight. But against the same day in the year 1853 are recorded two hundred and fifty-four deaths, or more than four times as many. Another fact worthy of notice as to this particular date is the apparent law that from that date onward in the well marked years the number of deaths regularly diminishes. At that date or by a day very near to it the fever seems to have reached always its maximum of virulence and loses force with each successive day thereafter. The total deaths during August 1853 from yellow fever was 5,356. Up to the 28th the deaths during the present month were 715. August seems to have been the worst month in the year when yellow fever raged.

The Mackenzie Government Arraigned.

WHAT A FORMER SUPPORTER HAS TO SAY OF IT.

In a previous issue we spoke of the meeting of Roman Catholics in Toronto called by Mr. John O'Donohoe, formerly the Grit M. P. for East Toronto, but who was deserted by a large number of members of that party when the ballot gave them an opportunity of concealing their action, and defeated at the polls. Mr. O'Donohoe, in a long speech at the meeting referred to, strongly condemned the Mackenzie Government and moved the following resolution expressive of his opinion and that of many others of his friends, of their course:

"1. Whereas the principles of the Reform party, as enunciated through its recognized exponents—conventions, press, and leaders—may be summarized as follows:—

1st. Government by party, or no coalition of opposing political parties.

2nd. Independence of the people's representatives of the power of the "Crown" or Executive.

3rd. The absolute control of Parliament over all public moneys, the utmost vigilance over all appropriated expenditure, a stern reprobation of the practice of unauthorized expenditure by the Executive, and that every sum voted should be for a specific and definite purpose.

4th. Economy and efficiency in the administration of public affairs; 5th. Strict conformity with, and faithful adherence to the theory and practice of the responsibility of Ministers to the people.

"2. And whereas, these principles and professions commended themselves to the good sense of the people, who believed that their practical application would redound to the country's benefit, and with faith in the promises and pledges of their accredited leaders, accorded them a hearty support and generous confidence to enable them to inaugurate and carry them out.

3. And whereas, after five years trial, with the most ample opportunity of giving effect to the professions and proving their own sincerity, backed by a majority in the House of Commons, unexampled in the constitutional history of this country, all the principles, professions and pro mises of the Reform party have either been ignored, forgotten or broken, a coalition taking the place of the pure party Government, the independence of Parliament violated, members contracting with Government, wide spread corruption of members of Parliament, which required a white-washing Act to shield the delinquents; members from the first Commoners downward, tempted by a venal Government; the Speaker, a Minister of the Crown, and several other members compelled to vacate their seats, while others, fearing the ordeal, absented themselves for a whole session; control of Parliament set at naught in giving contracts without being submitted for its approval; moneys expended without being appropriated; the cost of administration in every department of the public services increased notwithstanding the crippled resources of the people and an unusually severe commercial depression; pledges of retrenchment disregarded; and while pretending to be the custodians of popular liberty defending the violation of the principles of responsible Government by sustaining the Lieut-Governor of Quebec in dismissing a Ministry possessing the confidence of the people's representatives.

"Be it therefore resolved that the Mackenzie Administration has, in the opinion of this meeting, forfeited the confidence reposed in it in 1874; that it is justly chargeable with much of the distress to-day prevailing in the country, that any further lease of power would augment the destitution brought on by incapacity and extravagance, and that it is the duty of the electorate, irrespective of party bias to unite in displacing a Goverment whose record is made of broken pledges, abnegation of principles and unblushing hypocrisy."

The Cornwall Demonstration.—There were fully 2,000 people at the Conservative demonstration at Cornwall on the 30th inst. Speeches were delivered by Sir John Macdonald, Hon. W. Macdougall, Mr. Plumb, Dr. Bergin (the Opposition candidate for the Riding) and others. The meeting was highly successful, and the speakers were enthusiastically received.

Heavy Receipts of Wheat at Montreal.—The Montreal Star says:—"Our very recently expressed opinions to the effect that farmers would market their grain more freely this year than last, have been promptly verified by the fact that 322,575 bushels of wheat were received at this port from Kingston during the week ending yesterday, whereas for the same period last year the receipts were only 75,247 bushels.

The Gubernatorial Residence.—We notice that it is proposed to take up subscriptions throughout the Dominion for a Gubernatorial residence in Montreal for the Marquis of Lorne, it being alleged as a "national undertaking." This is rich, decidedly rich. If Montrealers want a residence in their city for the new Governor-General let them erect it themselves, and not go begging throughout the Dominion. If it is to be a "national undertaking" other localities have as good a right to claim the residence as Montreal.

Vice-Regal Movement.—The Quebec Chronicle of the 30th inst. says semi-officially:—"A statement has made its appearance in the columns of our Western contemporaries, to the effect that it will be necessary for His Excellency to return to Ottawa before leaving this country. This, we learn on good authority, is entirely a mistake. The Vice-regal trip to Toronto, to open the Provincial Exhibition in the latter part of September, will, it is said, be the last tour prior to His Excellency's departure, and it is fully expected that the Earl of Dufferin will make his last public speech in that city. If this be the case, the Torontonians have a rich treat in store."

"Who is Bastiat?"—In answer to a correspondent, we would reply that Bastiat seems to be his editor of the Globe at present, judging from the number of quotations from his writings which appear daily in that journal. Whether this be correct or not, certain it is that he is one of those French doctrinaires whose teachings were rejected by his countrymen, the effect of which action has been that France, under a protective tariff, paid off her enormous war indemnity to Germany in less than half the stipulated time, and is now prosperous and happy. If Canada will but follow the example of France, as we have no doubt she will, similar results will follow in our country.

Mrs. Wright, of Collingwood, lost a valuable cow the other day from a somewhat singular cause. The cow took sick, and although two cattle doctors attended her they could do nothing to relieve her sufferings. A post mortem examination was made, and a crooked darning needle was found sticking in her heart.

News Condensed.

—The Countess of Dufferin sails from Quebec for England to-day.

—France exports annually to England upwards of 455,000 cwt. of butter.

—The peach crop in the Niagara district is said to be of an exceptionally fine quality.

—A young man named Bradshaw was drowned at Brockville on the 30th inst.

—A girl aged 12 years, named Gardelin, fell out of a boat on the 30th inst, and was drowned.

—The Queen's income is fixed at £385,000, but about £17,000 is deducted from this for the Civil List pensions.

—The British Government pays annually pensions to the amount of $13,478,380. Pretty stiff item that.

—The Magog and St. Francis rivers, Que., have risen between five and six feet since the recent heavy rains set in.

—Robert Wigles, of Mersea, Ont., has threshed 415 bushels of wheat, the produce of ten acres of well-drained land.

—Another party of agriculturists from Perth, Acton and other places, will leave for Manitoba on the 4th September.

—Twelve clergymen are said to have withdrawn from the Church of England within one month, to join the Church of Rome.

—A firm carrying on phosphate mining has purchased a steamer, for the purpose of carrying phosphates from Portland to Buckingham.

—The Quebec corporation pontoon at the Champlain market wharf sunk again on Thursday night in twenty-five feet of water.

—The Emperor of Austria, the King of Belgium, and the King of Holland are expected in Paris in September, to assist at the distribution of awards.

—Can an editor enter the kingdom of heaven?"—Elmira Gazette. Yes; a good many editors are like little children, and of such is the kingdom of heaven.

—The Paris Jardin d'Acclimatation lately acquired seven elephants, ten lions, fourteen giraffes, and other animals from Nubia, at a cost of $50,000.

—Miss Beckwith recently accomplished the feat of swimming from Westminster bridge to Richmond and back to Mortlake—a distance of 20 miles.

—A mysterious mortality prevails among the lambs in the neighborhood of London. They are found dead in the fields without any apparent cause.

—The Grand Trunk Railway Co. will publish, in a day or two, their report on the crops. We are assured that it will show the harvest to be a satisfactory one on the whole.

—The salmon fishing in British Columbia has been more successful this year than in any previous season. The salmon are sold along the banks of the Fraser river at one cent each.

—The sugar crop of British Guiana will, through drought, be forty thousand hogsheads short this year. The Dominion Government has reduced the export duty on raw sugar in order to attract foreign capital.

—Business men from Manitoba, on their way to Montreal and Toronto, after fall stocks speak highly of the prospects of an increasing trade for the fall and winter on account of the fine harvest.

—Mr. Macdonald, the Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental Railway contractor, has positively rejected the overtures of the Quebec Government with a view to the surrender of the road, and there will now have to be recourse to force.

—M. Waddington, the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the representative of France at the Berlin Conference, considers the peace of Europe perfectly secure. Italy advises Greece to come to some friendly arrangement with Turkey.

—In the stomach of a horse recently shot by Mr. Wright, of Waterloo, Ont, were found seventy-two shingle nails and about a pound of gravel stones. The points of the nails were broken off, and had the appearance of having been swallowed years ago, being worn very smooth.

A Flatter Contradiction.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to say, in reply to Mr. Clute's letter in last night's Ontario, that the statement in the Mail which he calls a "falsehood" is absolutely true, as is the report of the same matter in the Intelligencer of the 28th. The Mail applies the general principle laid down by Mr. Clute, which the Intelligencer's report states was applied to me in particular. That Mr. Clute stated that I had no right to address the electors, and that the reason he gave was that I was only a few years in this country, and not a native of Canada, can be established out of the months of hundreds of witnesses who heard him.

Is not the question I asked when Mr. Clute sat down, and which he declined to answer, proof in itself that he declared I had no right to speak for the reason stated? The question was, "Will Mr. Clute inform the audience how long a man must be in this country before he can exercise the rights of citizenship" and to prove that others than native Canadians exercised political power in Canada, I instanced Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Mackenzie, who are Scotchmen by birth.

I did state that Hon. Mr. Jones had spoken disloyally, and that members of the present Cabinet had declared themselves in favor of annexation, which everybody knows are facts, but the remarks were called forth in defending the Conservative party from the disloyalty cry of the Globe. The word "falsehood," personally applied, falls altogether too glibly from the lips of Mr. Clute in political debate; he should remember that—

"Good name in man or woman is the immediate jewel of the soul;
Who steals my purse steals trash; 'twas mine, 'tis his,
And has been slave to thousands; but he that Filches from me my good name, robs me of that Which not enriches him, but makes me poor indeed."

Yours faithfully,
J. W. Johnson.

THE EFFIGY BURNING.

For the Intelligencer.

Statement of Mr. Daniel Ackerill, Custodian of the Orange Hall.

On Monday evening the 19th August my attention was called to a procession of boys which had come southward along John Street and had halted in front of the Orange Hall. Having observed who they were and what their object was, and knowing how strongly opposed to such a gathering all the Orangemen were, I went and ordered them away from the hall telling them very plainly what I thought of their conduct. Some of the twelve or fifteen boys who were carrying torches listened to me and commenced to extinguish their torches, but a young man very much under the influence of liquor, but whose name for his family's sake I forbear from mentioning, used such improper language as led them to again light their torches. Every Orangeman whom I have spoken to condemns the whole proceedings.

Daniel Ackerill.

Belleville Aug. 30th, 1878.

Statement of Mr. John G. Moore, Grand Treasurer Ontario East.

On Monday evening, 19th inst., hearing that a number of boys were to form a procession at the Orange Hall for the purpose of burning the effigy of Mayor Beaudry of Montreal on the Market square, I went up to the Orange Hall and tried to disperse them, telling them that if they wished to make blackguards of themselves and try to put the onus of the affair on the Orange institution, they had better go somewhere else, as the Orangemen of Belleville had nothing to do with it, nor did they countenance it in any manner. A number of torches were put out and some of the boys moved off, but whoever was their leader prevailed upon them to remain and finish their procession. On the time I spoke to them there was not an Orangeman among them.

John G. Moore.

Belleville, Aug. 30, 1878.

Statement of Mr. Wm. Johnson, Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East.

Having learnt through the columns of the Ontario that it was proposed to hold a demonstration, at which Mayor Beaudry was to be burned in effigy, I immediately commenced to make enquiries to find out if there was any truth in the rumor published by the Ontario. After considerable enquiry I found that several members of an organization known as the True Blues, had talked of such a thing, and proposed to carry it out. I immediately went to those boys to find out from them what their object was in holding such a demonstration, and having got at that I then urged them by every consideration to give it up. To this they refused to accede, but later in the day when I again met them, they promised to give the demonstration up. Between my first interview with them in the morning and the one in the afternoon, I called upon nearly all the principal officers of the Orange, Orange Young Britons, and Prentice Boys organizations, and with them all I found but one opinion, and that a very strongly expressed and unanimous condemnation of the proposed demonstration, and this opinion was expressed by these officers, in the Intelligencer of the 23rd. The feeling of opposition to the Demonstration was very strong. I don't think I ever remember hearing my brethren express themselves so strongly as they did in reference to this, and what seemed to annoy them most was that two or three boys, who ought to be at work instead of loafing around the streets should have proposed that which we all feared would lead to discord, perhaps bloodshed, and which would materially injure our Order.

Wm. Johnson.

Belleville, 30th Aug. 1878.

Statement of Mr. Chas. Gillen, District Master of the Orange Young Britons.

During last week I heard of the proposed demonstration to be made by some members of the True Blues. In conversation with them I urged them to give it up, as I could not see that it was going to benefit them and might cause a great deal of trouble. During that conversation with them, the two to whom I was then speaking, namely Messrs. Hambly and Tuite, told me, that as a supporter of Mr. Brown had encouraged them to go on with the demonstration and had promised them $10 towards procuring a band for that demonstration.

The Orange Case.

This case was resumed on Friday by the examination of Mr. Charles Frederick Hill, auctioneer, Montreal.

Q. Your office is in St. James street, is it not? A. Yes, at No 61, a little to the east side of the building, part of which is occupied as a lodge room by the Orange Order of Montreal.

Q. Were you in Montreal on the last 12th of July? A. I was, and on the day previous.

Q. You knew that the Orangemen intended to walk on that day? A. I saw by the advertisement that they did, but otherwise I knew nothing about it.

Q. Are you aware they met in their lodge room on the morning of the 12th? A. I am not aware whether they were Orangemen or not.

Q. Were you an Orangeman yourself? A. I have never been in the room, Sir.

Q. Have you had any conversation with Mr. Grant on the 12th of July or any day previous? A. I never had any conversation with Mr. Grant, and personally never knew him until the 7th day of August, when I was returning from the Court House, and I met him and was told that he was Mr. Grant.

Q. Did Grant ever admit to you he was an Orangeman? A. He did not.

Q. Are you aware that he is? A. I decline to answer, because to do so I must be an Orangeman.

Q. Are you an Orangeman? A. That I decline to answer.

Q. Were you ever one? A. That I decline to answer, as I might criminate myself.

By Mr. Doutre.—Q. Did you ever hear any one express any apprehension of a breach of the peace on the 12th of July last by the Orangemen? A. Not on the part of the Orangemen, neither on the 12th nor on any other day for anything that can it be proved that the Orangemen have interfered with any one or committed any act of violence, unless forced or in self-defence. This closed Mr. Hill's testimony.

Ladies' Regatta.—The girls are determined to have some share in the aquatic laurels which are being bestowed so freely this season. A grand ladies' regatta is to take place tomorrow afternoon off South Rutherford, N. J. The course will be one mile, and the sports will consist of single sculls and double sculls in working boats. Among the prizes is a handsome set of jewellery, a gold watch, a gold locket and chain, and various other valuables. Several entries have already been made.

The criterion of true beauty is that it increases on examination; of false, that it lessens. There is something, therefore, in true beauty that corresponds with right reason, and is not only the creation of fancy.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, AUG. 31.

City and Vicinity.

Personal.—Rev. Dr. Wild, of Brooklyn, is in town, attending the General Conference of the Episcopal Methodist Church. He looks exceedingly well.

Bridge St. Methodist Church.—Two of the most esteemed Ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, are to preach in the Bridge Street Church to-morrow.

Street Work.—A considerable amount of work is being done at present in the grading and gravelling of streets and in the repairing and relaying of sidewalks. Still, there is so much to be done that the work seems to be progressing slowly, though in reality such is not the case.

Charge of Fraud.—Two men named M. S. and George Thompson were arrested here yesterday on a warrant charged with obtaining goods under false pretences at Pembroke. An officer arrived from that town and took the prisoners thither for trial.

Peach Festival.—We are informed that the Ladies of Holloway Street Methodist Church purpose giving a Peach Festival in the City Hall on Thursday Evening next 5th September.—A Poll will be opened between the Candidates, Hon. Lewis Walbridge and James Brown, Esquire. A pleasant and interesting time may be expected. 1t

Prince Edward Railroad.—A new by-law of the town of Picton, Ont., to assist the Prince Edward County Railway Company, by giving $20,000 by way of bonus and to issue debentures therefor, and to authorize the levying a special rate for the payment of the said debentures and interest, will be voted on by the electors on the 9th September.

The Schools.—The High and Public Schools will re-open on Monday, when pupils ought to present themselves, in order not to fall behind those who are prepared to attend during the fall term. There have been rather a greater number of changes in the staff of teachers than usual, but it is believed that excellent substitutes have been procured to fill the places of those teachers who have retired.

The Mechanics' Institute Excursion.—This excursion, which is to take place at Indian Point on Friday next, promises to be very successful. The locality chosen is a very pleasant one, and those who prefer to avail themselves of the opportunity of listening to Sir John A. Macdonald and the other gentlemen who are to address the Conservative gathering at Stella Point, Amherst Island, only a few miles distant, will be conveyed thither free of additional charge. This is a privilege of which many will doubtless avail themselves, the more particularly as the fare for the round trip will be but 50 cents. The steamer will leave her wharf at 7 a. m. sharp. The Oddfellows' band will accompany the excursion.

Charity Pic-Nic.—The charity pic-nic which is to be held on the Agricultural Grounds on Wednesday next, under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul Society promises to be a grand affair. In addition to an extensive programme of games, there will be an election between the Parliamentary candidates for West Hastings, for a handsome meerschaum pipe to be presented to the gentleman receiving the largest number of votes. Doubtless the friends of both candidates will be prepared to "come down handsomely" in their support, more especially remember that to the poor, who have a hard winter before them, the proceeds will be given. The polls open at 11 a.m. We hope that the weather will be favorable, in which case the pic-nic cannot fail to be a great success.

Put Up or Shut Up.—A certain loud mouthed Grit in town who is noted for having a great deal to say about what he knows little of, was as usual making great boastings on the street yesterday, of the certain success of the Grit candidate in West Hastings, and offered to bet $50 that Mr. Brown would be elected at the coming election, which bet was at once taken up by a gentleman present, when he made the excuse that he would not lose his vote for $50 but would bet $500, which sum was at once "planked" and the blowhard quietly requested to "put up or shut up." He decided on the latter course, and a short time after a number of gentlemen might have been seen emerging from a neighboring saloon, where they had been "wetting their whistles" at the expense of the intellectual friend of the Grit candidate. Evidently the Grits have little faith in the election of the candidate who disowns them.

Arrival.—A telegram from Mr. Wesley Bullen announces his arrival, as well as that of Mr. Angus McFee, by the steamer due at Quebec to day. They will probably reach here to-morrow morning.

For the South.—We understand that Quentin Macinder, Esq., and family, are to leave Belleville for Georgia, on Monday the 23rd September. His many friends will wish him a pleasant trip.

Duck Shooting.—The season for duck shooting will commence on Monday, and already a number of local sportsmen have furbished up their weapons and departed for the marshes and rice beds, in order not to be behind time.

Promote perspiration in colds and chills with Sanford's Jamaica Ginger.

Fire in Trenton.—We understand that a fire in Trenton early this morning destroyed the dwelling, waggon shop and marble factory, owned by D. R. Murphy, on Main Street, immediately opposite Gilbert's Hotel. The dwelling was unoccupied. The waggon shop was occupied by Jacob Empy, who succeeded in saving nearly everything. The marble factory was occupied by Cornelius Bonter, who lost considerable by the breaking of marble and stones. The fire is supposed to have been caused by an incendiary.

The True Blues' Demonstration.—In noticing the burning of the effigy of Mayor Beaudry by a few members of the True Blues' organization on Monday evening last, we called attention to the fact that the action had been taken in defiance of the previously expressed disapproval of the leading Orangemen of the city, and also expressed the opinion that the whole thing was a political dodge, on the part of the supporters of Mr. Brown. In another column will be found statements sent to us for publication by the parties most nearly concerned, which completely disprove the mendacious insinuation that prominent Orangemen secretly approved whilst publicly expressing their disapprobation of the action of the True Blues. It is well to note, also, that those who actively interested themselves to prevent the "demonstration" are supporters of Mr. Wallbridge.

Firemen's Tournament at Kingston.—Circulars and posters have been issued announcing that the fire department of Kingston intend holding the first dominion firemen's tournament at Kingston, on the 26th and 27th of September next, open to Canada and the United States. Prizes to the amount of $1,000 will be awarded for steam fire engine test, hose company trials, etc., etc, after which a chief engineers' convention will be held, at which all the chief engineers or their representatives in the United States and Canada are most respectfully invited to attend for the purpose of discussing matters connected with fire departments. Arrangements have been made with all steamship and railroad companies running into the city, to carry uniformed firemen at half fare and their apparatus free. Suitable arrangements have been made for the housing of all apparatus. Hotel arrangements have also been made, whereby reduced rates will be obtained for visitors.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Friday, Aug. 30.

The Board held a special meeting this evening.

Present.—Messrs. Shepard, (Chairman,) Newbery, McGinnis, Backus, Peterson, I. Diamond, Docter, Glass, Johnson, Rev. J. W. Burke, A. Diamond, Tennant.

The Chairman decided that the business should be proceeded with in the order in which it appeared on the requisition.

Mr. Peck moved, seconded by Mr. Peterson, to proceed with the notice of motion of Dr. Tracy for reconsideration of the report of the Committee on School Management, which on motion of Mr. Tennant was laid over until the next regular meeting.

In making his motion, Mr. Peck said his object was to settle the question of salaries and get the contracts signed with the teachers.

Mr. A. Diamond contended that it would be out of order to consider this subject, as the meeting was not a regular one.

The Chairman, on being appealed to, ruled in accordance with Mr. Diamond's objection.

Mr. Peck said that then the basis of the business of the evening was done away with, and they had better adjourn.

Some discussion ensued on the point of order.

The Chairman said he would have liked could this subject have been re-opened and settled on a more satisfactory basis, as some salaries had been increased, of which he did not approve. He could not, however, having regard to their rules, give any other decision than that which he had given.

Mr. Peck moved that no contracts be entered into with the teachers until the matter of salaries had been definitely settled.

Mr. A. Diamond objected that no notice had been given, and the motion was ruled out of order.

The Board adjourned.

—Did the prophet Isaiah ever eat at a railway station? It certainly looks so, for how could he have described it so literally if he had not: "And he shall snatch on the right hand and be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied."

MORNING DESPATCHES.

EUROPEAN.

London, Aug. 30.—A Pera despatch to the Telegraph, dated Thursday night, says it is reported that Gen. Todleben has received orders to discontinue the embarkation of Russian troops, because the British fleet is not withdrawn from the island of Principos.

Rome, Aug. 30.—The Radical organ, Dovere, announces the departure of a body of Italian volunteers from Anco to join the Bosnians.

London, Aug. 30.—A despatch to the Times from Bucharest says the Bulgarians appear determined to elect a native Prince. The Russians desire a foreigner, but so far have nominated nobody.

London, Aug. 30.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Vienna represents that negotiations for a convention are at a dead lock.

New York, Aug. 31.—A London special says that a severe storm prevails on the British coast. A fishing smack was wrecked at Folkstone, and 12 lives lost.

AMERICAN DISPATCHES.

New York, Aug 31.—A special from the south says, number of dead persons were found in a house in Memphis. Dr. Watson who had labored earnestly during the epidemic was missed. An investigation disclosed his dead body in his room with all the appearance of fever.

Indignation against Mobile and Galveston for their indifference is strong in commercial circles, neither has thus far contributed a cent.

The latest tendency of fever in fatal cases is to congestion of kidneys.

At Vicksburg yesterday the highest number of new cases was reported, with very low death rate, showing that the type of fever is materially changing for the better.

New York, Aug. 31.—Egbert Rhinehart, yesterday, heroically rescued two drowning ladies at Brighton Beach.

Lizzie Francis, after having been discarded by her lover last night tried to stab him, and being unsuccessful swallowed paris green. Recovery improbable.

By a collision at Seagirt, N. J., yesterday, three engines and a parlor car were damaged on the Long Brach division of the Central New Jersey Railroad. Loss $10,000.

Barant Anthony, a young clerk, disappeared on Thursday night, and his hat was found near the river. Foul play or suicide is suspected.

The Tribune publishes a despatch to Tilden dated Nov. 14th, 1876, signed by Randall, Lamar, Watterson and Ottendorfer, urging that he make at once to Hayes the proposition they had communicated. The Tribune says the proposition was that both candidates withdraw and request Congress to provide a new election, but it was never made to Hayes.

Milwaukee, Aug. 30.—Mambrino General won 2.28 class race after Don Pedro had taken two heats; time 2.30½, 2.27, 2.28¼, 2.29, 2.31. Between heats Hopeful trotted a mile in 2.21¾, and Edwin Forest did likewise in 2.15¾. The free for all race was won by Albemarle in 2.24¼, 2.20, 2.24, Adelaide 2nd, Little Fred 3rd, Great Eastern 4th, Lucille 5th.

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Failures—Rev. Dr. Everts, liabilities $80,000; assets $35,000. M. A. Bartlett, pump maker, secured debts $112,000; assets nominal. Geo. R. Chittenden, of Highland Park, unsecured debts $445,000; assets $400,000 nominally. Nellie M. Chittenden, of Highland Park, debts $163,000; assets nominally $204,000. Niegelsen & Chields, liabilities $100,000; assets nominal. Thos. L. Hempstead, of Jefferson, liabilities $125,000; assets $64,000. Edwin A. Rice & Thos. Picking, unsecured debts $204,000; assets nominal. Robt. C. Givens, real estate and lawyer, liabilities $150,000; no assets. E. B. Guthrie, liabilities $125,000. John F. Eberhardt, of Lake, debts $104,000; assets nominal. 165 new petitions were filed, and the indications are that to-day's number will be largely increased.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Paris, Aug. 31.—There is much dissatisfaction among exhibitors at the Exhibition in consequence of a report that the official list of awards will not be published until the 22nd day following the distribution of prizes, and only nine days before the close of the exhibition. French journals demand that successful exhibitors be promptly notified. One paper asserts that the Minister of Commerce and Director-General Krantz have agreed that satisfaction shall be given to exhibitors by informing them individually of their prizes, and authorizing them to affix upon their exhibits the nature of their award. This proposal will be submitted to a Council of Ministers. It is stated that the British Commission have resolved that all enquirers shall be privately informed whether their names appear on the list communicated to the Commission by the French authorities, and it is thought that other foreign commissions will follow this example. All lists thus far obtained are partial and unofficial.

The grand prizes by the United States are for McCormick's reaper, Edison's telephone, Gray's telephone, Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machines, Wheelock's steam engine, and Tiffany's silver work. The gold medals will be bestowed on the following: Dodd's horse-rake, Russell & Erwin's hardware; Whiteley's champion harvester, Burt's shoes, Deere's plow, Gale's plow, Dedericks's hay press, Reynold's fruit dryer, Dixon's pencils, Perse's oils, Thurber's cotton seed oil, Wharton's nickle, Fairbanks' scales, Howes' scales, Philadelphia & Reading Company's coal, Mason & Hamlin's organs.

Paris, Aug. 31.—The French ambassador to Constantinople, on leave of absence, has been ordered to return to his post forthwith.

The canard about Gambetta's proposed marriage is sufficiently refuted by the fact that the lady named has been married five years.

Madrid, Aug. 31.—The Spanish Minister of Justice and 150 functionaries left on Friday for the Escurial to attend Queen Christina's funeral. The late Queen left all her property, valued at 8,000,000 francs, to her children by the Duke of Riarzares having in her lifetime given their portions to Queen Isabella and the Duchess of Mont Pensier.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The Consul at Demarara, British Guiana, urges the establishment of an an American line of steamships to that country, and says the Government has expressed its willingness to grant $240,000 subsidy in its favor. Merchants are purchasing American cottons, boots and shoes, hardware, &c., and many would like to send their children to American schools.

To day the discharge of 60 or 70 male and female clerks will be made from the office of the Commissioners of land office. The reduction is forced by a lack of funds, and not because there is not work.

Portland, Me., Aug. 31.—The schooner Volent, for Nova Scotia returned, reports that she was run into by a schooner, the captain was knocked overboard and drowned on Thursday.

Mobile, Aug. 31.—One case and death from yellow fever this morning.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., 31.—This morning an explosion of black-damp in the new tunnel of the Stanton Mine, prostrated seven men, one fatally.

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. THE BEST COW IN PERIL.

Old farmer B. is a stingy man,
He keeps al he gets and gets all he can,
By all his neighbors he is said to be
As tight as the bark on a young birch tree.
He goes to church and he rents a pew,
But the dimes he gives to the Lord are few,
If he gets to heaven with the good and great,
He will not be let in at the smallest gate.

Now farmer B., besides drags and plows,
Keeps a number of fine calves and cows.
He makes no butter, but sends by express
The milk to the city's thirstiness.

"What do the city folks know about milk?
They are better judges of cloth and silk.
Not a man who buys I vow can tell
If I water it not, or water it well—
If they do not know then where's the sin?
I'll put the sparkling water in."
Thus talked to himself old farmer B.,
How mean he is young and old can see.

One night it was dark, oh, fearfully dark—
The watch-dog never came out to bark—
Old farmer B. in his bed did snore,
When rap, rap, rap, nearly shattered the door;
And a voice cried out in hasty breath,
Your best cow, neighbor, is choking to death!

Clipping off the end of a rousing snore,
Farmer B. bounded out on the bedroom floor,
And the midnight voice was heard no more.
He pulled on his pants, he knew not how,
For his thoughts were all on the choking cow;
He flew to the yard like a frightened deer,
For his stingy soul was filled with fear;
Looking around by his lantern's light
He found that the cows were there all right.

"I will give a dime," cried Farmer B.,
"To know who played that trick on me,
May the hand be stiff and the knuckle sore
That knocked to-night on my farm-house door."

And with a scowl on his face and a shaking head.
Farmer B. again sought his nice warm bed.
No good thoughts came—they were o'erpowered—
The little good nature he had had soured.

When he went to water the milk next day
The midnight voice seemed again to say,
As he pumped away with panting breath,
"Your best cow, neighbor, is choking to death."
The meaning of this he soon found out,
For a stone was driven in the old pump's spout.

Old Farmer B., when he drives in town,
Now meets his neighbors with a savage frown.
They smile, and ask, as they kindly bow,
"How getteth along the best cow now?"

A Boy in the Case.

Catharine Medici Convers lives next house to Antony Caesar Daybell. She is a widow and he is a widower. She has a cat and he has a dog. Catharine, Anthony, dog and cat got along all right till one of the bad boys saw a chance to make other hearts ache by untruthfulness. He got the animals to clawing each other, and in a week Catharine Medici wanted to pull all the hair from Antony Caesar's aged head. Bad become worse, and the climax came the other day when the boy visited the old man and said:

"I don't want to widen this 'ere breach but that old woman says you are a murderer hiding from justice."

Then he skulked into Catherine Medici's house and said:

"Seeing it's you, and seeing I shovel off your snow in winter, I'll just remark that the old rascal over there says you killed your husband and buried him under the floor."

They met on the sidewalk—Catharine Medici and Antony Caesar. They clinched. They fought. He pulled her nose, and she almost broke his leg with a kick. He got away, but she was arrested.

"Oh! I wish I'd killed him!" she hissed, as she stood before the bar in court.

"Madam, be calm—be composed and serene," remarked the court.

"Serene! Why, I'm dying to pull his hair!" she exclaimed.

"Madam, this excitement may result in insanity. Please compose your mental system."

"I'll compose nothing, sir! I'm a lone woman, and I've been slandered by a man who can't even chop wood. Thunders! but why didn't I kick him with both feet at once!" she shouted.

Madam— !"

"I won't!"

"Madam— !"

"I won't, I tell you!"

The court leaned back and contemplated a bust of Andrew Jackson which Bijah had made out of a banana and peach stone, and when she had stopped to catch her breath, he said:

"The fine is three dollars all the same."

"I'll pay it, but Anthony Caesar must beware—beware!" she said.

She paid, and as she left the room she added: "When I find him—when I get my clutches on him—when I make shingle nails of his lathy frame—oh-h-h-h!"

Says I, "Are you a relation?" He promptly answered, "No." friend "No." In Yankee fashion I said, "Why attend his funeral and look so sad?" He said, "In fact I am troubled with dyspepsia. "'Spect not, but I've got more'n butes to look after!"

"Who was that boy?"

"That boy? Why, he's got a chattel mortgage on this 'ere new brush, and I run across there to ask him how was his health. I don't propose to be sot down on and wound up into bankruptcy, jist because I can't talk sweet to Billie and stave him off till I wear the bristles clear off the brush!"

Extracts from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkhite, Esq.

CANTERBURY STATION, York Co., N. B.,
October 10th, 1876.

Mr. J. H. ROBINSON.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or taken.

I was ordered by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify.

I was unable in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue. I can now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumber man. Have not bled any since I took your preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement same as before I was sick; have also gained in flesh, my weight in the summer was 173 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which is pretty well up to my former weight.

The foregoing is a correct statement which I am prepared to swear to, and I hereby authorise you to give it publicity in my name.

"I am, dear sir, yours truly,
(Signed) C. H. S. CRONKHITE.

We, the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of Robinson's Phospherical Emulsion on the person of Mr. Cronkhite, and do assert that the statement is correct in every particular.

AN UNDENIABLE TRUTH.

You deserve to suffer, and if you lead a miserable, unsatisfactory life in this beautiful world, it is entirely your own fault and there is only one excuse for you,—your unreasonable prejudice and skepticism, which has killed thousands. Personal knowledge and common sense reasoning will soon show you that Green's August Flower will cure you of Liver Complaint, or Dyspepsia, with all its miserable effects, such as sick headache, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach, habitual costiveness, dizziness of the head, nervous prostration, low spirits, &c. Its sales now reach every town on the Western Continent and not a druggist but will tell you of its wonderful cures. You can buy a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Three doses will relieve you. d&w.

CATARRH

Sneezing Catarrh, Chronic Catarrh, Ulcerative Catarrh, permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH is a safe, certain, and permanent cure for Catarrh of every form, and is the most perfect remedy ever devised. It is purely a vegetable distillation, and is applied locally by insufflation, and constitutionally by internal administration. Locally applied, relief is instantaneous. It soothes, heals, and cleanses the nasal passages of every feeling of heaviness, obstruction, dulness, or dizziness. Constitutionally administered it renovates the blood, purifies it of the acid poison with which it is always charged in Catarrh, stimulates the stomach, liver, and kidneys, perfects digestion, makes new blood, and permits the formation of sound, healthy tissue, and finally obtains complete control over the disease. The remarkable curative powers, when all other remedies utterly fail, of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE, are attested by thousands who gratefully recommend it to fellow-sufferers. No statement is made regarding it that cannot be substantiated by the most respectable and reliable references. It is a great and good medicine, and worthy all confidence. Each package contains a Treatise on Catarrh and Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, and full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.

An Enthusiastic Friend of Sanford's Radical Cure.

MCHATTON, GRANT & BOWEN'S FIRE AND MARINE INSURANCE AGENCY,
225 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 7, 1877.

A. A. MELLIER, Washington Av., City.—Dear Mellier: I have for some years been troubled with Catarrh, and for the past two years have suffered seriously with it. Noticing your advertisement of SANFORD'S REMEDY (RADICAL CURE), I decided to try it. I have used only two bottles, and as a result I feel so much relieved that I presume on our personal relations and write this to you and ask that you take some measures to get it more prominently before the public, that others may have such relief as I have. I have recommended it to quite a number of my friends, all of whom have expressed to me their high estimate of its value and good effects with them.

I really think it particularly adapted to wants of St. Louis people, and they all ought to know of it, and those who need it should try it. I will risk the assertion that 1000 1 oz. vials (as a sample) to be given away will sell as many bottles.

Try some plan. Let the people have it; they need it. I believe I could sell 5000 bottles myself—of course you could largely increase this number. Why not try it? Yours truly, WM. BOWEN.

LAME BACK AND RHEUMATISM

CURED BY

COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—One year ago I was seized with a severe attack of Rheumatism in my right hip, to which I was subject. I tried the various liniments and rheumatic cures, but without the least benefit, when my son, a druggist, suggested one of your COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS. The effect was almost magical, for, to my grateful surprise, I was almost immediately well again, and was able to work upon my farm as usual, whereas, before the application of the Plaster, I could do nothing, and every step gave me pain. A few weeks since, one year from the first attack, the disease returned, but I am happy to say the second Plaster proved as efficacious as the first, and I am now well. My wife wishes me to add that one Plaster has cured her of a very lame back. We think there is nothing in the world of remedies that can compare with the COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTERS for Rheumatism and Lame Back, and cheerfully recommend them to the suffering. Yours very respectfully,

ORLAND, ME., June 6, 1876. ROBERT COTTON.

NOT A QUACK NOSTRUM.

Gentlemen,—I hereby certify that for several years past I have used the VOLTAIC PLASTERS in my practice, and have never known them to fail in affording speedy relief in those cases for which they are recommended. They are not a quack nostrum, but a remedial agent of great value. Very truly yours, W. C. COLLINS, M. D.

BUCKSPORT, ME., May 27, 1874.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Be careful to obtain COLLINS' VOLTAIC PLASTER, a combination of Electric and Voltaic Plates, with a highly Medicated Plaster, as seen in the above cut. Sold by all Wholesale and Retail Druggists throughout the United States and Canadas, and by WEEKS & POTTER, Proprietors, Boston, Mass.

1878.

THE FOUR QUARTERLY REVIEWS AND BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.

The Leonard Scott Publishing Co
41 BARCLAY ST., NEW YORK,

CONTINUE their authorized Reprints o

THE EDINBURGH REVIEW (Whig),
THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal).
THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW (Conservative),
THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW (Evangelical,
AND
BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH REVIEW.

These Reprints are not selections; they give the originals in full, and at about one-third the price of the English Editions.

The latest advances and discoveries in the arts and sciences, the recent additions to knowledge in every department of literature, and a the new publications as they issue from the press, are fully reported and discussed in the pages of these periodicals, in language at once clear, forcible and comprehensive. The articles are commonly more condensed and full of matter than the average books of the period.
